PRIZE FIGHT.—A prize fight took place in Boston Corner, near the boundaries of Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York, on Wednesday last. The spot was doubtless selected for the purpose on account of the peculiarity of its position. It is at present within the territory of Massachusetts, but cannot be approached except by passing out of the State. The inhabitants, who numbered 61 at the time of the State Census in 1850, sensible of the inconveniences of their isolated situation, are desirous of being set off to New York; and a bill to effect this object was passed at the last session of the Massachusetts legislature: the measure requires the assent of Congress and of New York within two years.

The prize fighters were of course uninterrupted, since if the sheriff of Berkshire County, in Massachusetts, had arrested them, he could not have brought them before a magistrate without going out of his jurisdiction, by passing into New York or Connecticut. The peaceful inhabitants of the district must have been much annoyed at the occurrence.

It is said that the fight was witnessed by three thousand persons. The engine of the Harlem Railroad express train was violently detached by some of the passengers who desired to be landed near the spot, although the train did not usually stop there. The combatants were James Sullivan (Yankee Sullivan) and John Morissey. The fight lasted fifty-five minutes, thirty-nine rounds. It ended in a dispute and the stake holder will not give up the $2000 in his hands to either party, both claiming to be victorious. It is said that the judges decided in favor of Morissey. The faces of both combatants were shockingly mutilated.—Boston Advertiser.

This prize fight sends a chill of horror through the reader, as he thinks of battered faces and bleeding bodies, and it is really horrible—but after all, how much worse is it than any other fight? Alexander, Cæsar, Napoleon, what were they and their hosts, but prize fighters on a grander scale of slaughter and misery?

A telegraphic report states that Morissey, the victor, is dead.

THE FATAL AFFRAY IN PROVIDENCE.—The coroner's jury, in their report upon the case of Neal Dougherty, the Irishman who was brutally murdered a few days since at the fire in Providence, state that while standing peaceably near the Gaspee fire engine, to which he was attached, the deceased was, without real provocation, attacked by a crowd of men, headed by a number of the members of Niagara Co. No. 2, who assaulted him with blows and kicks, injuring him severely.

He defended himself at first, when cornered, with an axe, but laid it down at the engineer's request, and fled. He was pursued, and beaten to death, with shame we say it, by drunken American citizens. The jury find that the prime cause of the affray lay in the custom among shop and bar-keepers of distributing liquors gratuitously in the vicinity of a fire.

New York, Oct. 14.—The Firemen to-day made an imposing show. There were in the procession 45 engine companies, 54 hose, and 8 hook and ladder companies belonging to New York, and many from out of town. The whole number on parade is estimated at 10,000. Forty bands of music were on the ground.

THE LONG ISLAND OUTRAGE.—Gov. Seymour has offered a reward of $1000 for the detection of the parties concerned in the violation and murder of Catharine Quigley, a girl 15 years old, at Jamaica, L. I., on Sunday.—The citizens of Jamaica had previously offered $500.

The steamship Baltic, for Liverpool on Saturday, has already engaged 120 passengers and nearly $700,000 in specie.

GAVAZZI.—A deputation of gentlemen from Louisiana, is in this city to invite Father Gavazzi to visit and lecture in that state.

INDIANA STATE FAIR.—Lafayette, Oct. 14.—The second State Fair has just closed. It has been quite successful, and is among the best ever held in the West. 40,000 persons were in attendance, and 30,000 of them were present yesterday. The number of cattle and horses exhibited was 500, and the total receipts amounted to $7,000.

MELANCHOLY CASUALTY.—On Friday evening last, Joseph D. Thurston, of Ellisworth, Me., a young man of excellent character, while laboring under a fit of temporary insanity, escaped from his friends, and was found on Sunday in a drain leading from a ravine to the margin of the bay, near the foundry of Ingraham & Thurston. The unfortunate man traversed the drain to the depth of one hundred and thirty feet, and there fell upon his face, and died from exhaustion.

In reference to the protest of the Ulema, calling upon the Sultan to declare war against Russia or resign his throne, the Boston Traveller says the Ulema is a sort of College or Corporation of learned men, including the three classes of the Turkish Hierarchy—the Muftis, or Doctors of Law; the Imams, or Ministers of Religion, and the Cadis, or Administrators of Justice. These men have been operated on by the war party, headed by the Sultan's brother, an aspirant to the throne, and induced to address the Sultan in a tone which has called for an apology from the President of the College, the Mufti of Constantinople.

OLE BULL.—Ole Borneman Bull, the most celebrated violinist of his time, was born at Bergen, Norway, in 1810. Consequently he is now 43 years of age. He is now about to retire from public life to the charge of his farm and colony, in the State of Pennsylvania.

FAST PRINTING PRESS.—We learn from the New York Tribune that Mr. Victor Beaumont of New York has invented a printing press, which at a moderate rate, will deliver thirty thousand sheets printed on both sides in a single hour. Its movement combines the original principles of Napier, which are applied by Hoe in his great press, with some new and beautifully simple arrangements and devices of the inventor.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?
That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life as sage when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.
IN AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is
MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every
WIFE AND MOTHER
Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself
YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.
SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled
THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.
BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not
SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,
Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly HALF A MILLION COPIES
she old have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.
UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES
Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.
CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.
BE NOT DEFRAUDED!
Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.
LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!
No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.
To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful inroads upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.
When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.
☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding), "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. HOW TO TELL A STORY.—The Charlestown Advertiser understands the art; witness the following specimen.

An amusing case came before one of our Justices, yesterday, which shows that the blood of "Old Virginny" is still good, whether running in the veins of a white or black man. It appears that a certain master of a Southern coaster had a colored cook or steward, whose heighth was about six feet four inches; whose teeth would defy a dentist's art, and whose head was covered with just about the quantity of "wool" that would delight an abolitionist.

These two worthies had had some little trouble on the voyage from Baltimore to this port; and while here, in our waters, the Captain ordered the cook to do extra duty, which he declined on account of illness. This irritated the Captain, and he settled down on the cook's "top piece," and afterwards shivered a handsaw over his back, and finally turned him ashore without hat, coat or shoes. This fact came too late for Uncle Tom's Cabin. However, the steward feeling himself abused, turned up the white of his eye and went in search of justice. He wandered about till he reached the Square, and espying the brightness of a burr on somebody's hat, went up to that authority and related his wrongs.

The "perfect white man" told him that "Jordan was a hard road to trabble," but, as he had his coat off, if he would just "roll up his sleeve," he would see him righted. The "bond and free" were brought fact to face in Court, and it would have done an upholsterer good to have seen the curled hair uncurl itself. The Court having ascertained exactly how matters stood, asked the steward if he wished to retract any of his evidence. He replied like this: "Yah, yah, Mr. Gentlemeus, what I has tole you am true as de win' dat blows dis day, an' I wud tole it ober an' ober again on a stack of Bibles as high as myse'f." The Court considering this to be conclusive, fined the Captain "accordin."

PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring furnitors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The sales of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be done prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1853. VOLUME 3. NO. 68.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE is published by FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER, At No. 4 Exchange Buildings, Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, payable half-yearly; or $3 strictly in advance. If payment is made for a year, within six months of the time of subscribing, fifty cents will be deducted.

The Weekly Chronicle, A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING Promptly executed.

V. B. Palmer, American Newspaper Agent, is the only authorized Agent for this paper in the cities of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and is duly empowered to take advertisements and subscriptions at the same rates as required by us. His receipts will be regarded as payments.

THE FIVE POINTS MISSION.

If there is a man on earth that is Heaven-missioned, I believe it to be Mr. Pease of the Five Points House of Industry.

A few years since, Mr. Pease was appointed colporteur, by a Missionary Association, to pray and converse with, and to distribute Bibles and tracts among, the degraded inhabitants of that far-famed locality. At that time, so reckless and powerful was the vice there embodied,—so many subterranean outlets and passages were there for criminals, (kown only to the initiated,) that police officers were set entirely at defiance. Drunkenness and debauchery there met one at every step. Gray hairs, sunny locks and prattling infancy, all wallowed together in the same deep slough of sin.

Such was the state of affairs when Mr. Pease commenced his labors. He went fearlessly from house to house; his whole warm heart in his work. He spoke to them affectionately; he carried them back to the days of childhood's innocence; he painted to them, in glowing colors their present degradation, and the dark future.

They, weeping, said, "It is all true. We don't need you to tell us this: we feel it: but how shall we break our fetters? Nobody will harbor us; nobody will employ us. How shall we escape? Tell us what to do. Show us any means by which we can earn an honest living, and thus escape this horrid life, and we will gladly embrace it; no matter how hard we may have to work."

There was force in their replies; Mr. Pease felt it. He went back to those who had sent him, and reported these words. The reply of the sapient Committee was, "Our Constitution will not permit us to do anything more. Go back: preach to these misguided people: give them Bibles: remonstrate with them."

Did he go back to mock their misery in this way? Did he torture them with harrowing pictures? goading the serpent Remorse to sting them to madness, and then leave them, without relief, to drown their misery in the oblivion of deeper recklessness?

No! Thank God, he had a heart and common sense. He despised such bigoted charlataury and miserable inconsistency; and, trusting in God for aid, he went forward, single-handed, to the rescue. He opened a shop, on his own responsibility, and furnished remunerative employment to any and all who wished to break their fetters. And they availed themselves of this door for escape; for, no man chooses to hunger, or thirst, or go naked; no man chooses to shrink from the burning eyes of night, lest he should read his soul's dark secrets; no man likes to think of an unshriven death-bed, and an eternity of remorse.

Yes; they flock round him, those poor outcast men and women; confiding to his untiring ear their individual stories of mystery and suffering, for they knew he was in earnest, or he would not have come down and taken up his abode in this wretched neighborhood, and with his own hands have cut out the garments on which they were to toil for honest bread, in the face of the remonstrances of his missionary brethren, who rebuked him for "stooping to such an unclerical proceeding."

Yes; they knew he was in earnest, when he opened a school in his own house, and gathering in all the ragged little urchins in the neighborhood, gave them not only primers and Testaments, but bread and butter, afforded a home to the orphans, and kept during the day (supplying them with dinner) those who had parents, in order to keep them as much as possible under correct influence.

You should go into that school; you should see those children, some of them bright and beautiful as your own, and hear the lips that once lisped the horrid curse singing the holy hymn; you should see them, in the intervals of school duties, bounding about the house, with cheerful faces and lightsome steps, catching Mr. Pease by the hand with childish abandon, and looking up into his face with love-lit eyes. And if your heart didn't leap within you, and your eyes fill with happy tears, to see the lambs thus safely folded, all I can say is, that you are quite qualified to serve on the committee that first employed Mr. Pease.

Hundreds of men and women (besides these children) have been rescued, by the efforts of Mr. Pease, from lives of shame and crime, and a felon's death; and now that the ground is ploughed, the seed sown, the harvest ripening, and the sheaves being gathered in, bigoted Pusillanimity steps forward and claims the reward of the self-denying labors of this untiring husbandman!

For the especial benefit of Pusillanimity, I will close with a short story.

A young girl came to New York, from the country, to learn dress-maker's trade. She succeeded in acquiring it, and being skillful with her needle, for some time found constant employment. The summer season came on; patrons left the city; business became dull; with all her efforts she could find no work to do. In the mean time, her board-bill went on. Her landlord was urgent and inexorable. She pawned first one dress—then another—then another, to meet his demands; returning each evening foot-weary and heart-sick from her unavailing efforts to find employment. Then the Tempter met her. What need had she to toil! she, so young and fair! She turned shuddering away—and parted with the remainder of her wardrobe, including her undercloths, 'til she had literally only her outside dress left for her covering; thus fighting off, with the energy of despair, the monster, Sin—(Curses upon the unmanly fiend, who, instead of helping the faint and weary-hearted one to fight the battle of life, pilots her struggling bark through the gathering gloom, upon the rock of Despair!)

Well; it is the old story, The poor girl gave up, at last—sold soul and body for bread. Unfortunate wasn't it? Particularly, as some pious persons, just at this crisis, with one hand tightly grasping their purse-strings, offered her a—Tract! FANNY FERN.

LOOSE ENDS OF POLITICS.—The new independent daily in Lowell, has a leader on Politics; from which we clip the following sentence.

Some men like to be politicians. They are born politicians, grow up and live politicians. They like it, and were they deprived of the privilege of enjoying a political crisis, and 'saving the union' as often as once in three or four years, they would think themselves deprived of a luxury.

Now we never cared much about politics.—Not but that we have our political bias, and feel an interest in the triumph of certain political principles; but in these days, when such principles are made subserviant to the aggrandizment of a few party leaders, we do not feel much like mixing in. We are not a natural politician, and so can make a better living at something else. Our vote is all we have to devote to the cause, and we generally throw that on whichever side we think it will do the most good.

Parties now are strangly mixed up; and were a dead politician of no longer than a dozen years standing, (pardon our seeming levity) to come out of his grave to-day, we are inclined to believe that it would puzzle him to tell where he belonged. There is plenty of quarreling, and from the noise that is made one unacquainted might possibly think that something of the utmost moment was pending.—Hear one side and you will readily believe that the opposition is the most notoriously wicked party that the world ever knew. Hear the other side and you reverse your judgement Take a truly honest man of either side and ask him what he is fighting for, and he will tell you, to whip the opposition! Party triumphs—"loaves and fishes"—these constitute the sum and substance of politics at the present day. It is very true there are many points of practical importance to be contended for among politicians.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, OCT. 18, 1853.

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRAT.

We have received the first number of a handsome weekly paper printed in Boston, with this title, which says:

The National Democrat will be what its title indicates. It will support Democratic principles, measures, and men, without any admixture of abolitionism, or its concomitants, free soilism and coalitionism. We shall yield a cordial and hearty support to the administration of President Pierce, in all things consistent with the principles and measures of the Democracy of the nation, as sanctioned by their representatives in council at Baltimore, and as declared in the President's Inaugural Address.

We shall oppose every attempt to subvert those principles, however specious the device by which the character and tendency of those attempts are disguised.

It is decidedly a "Hard" paper. One of its principal articles is what we should call a translation of Secretary Guthrie's letter to the Collector of New York, and the substance of what this National Democrat deems a suitable answer from Collector Bronson. We copy it, not only as a specimen of the matter in the new paper, but also of the levity with which many democrats treat the present administration. The Democrat says:

The Letter purporting to be from Secretary Guthrie, from its character we conclude to be a hoax. We are unwilling to believe that a letter so contemptibly silly could emanate from one occupying so distinguished a position. The substance of the letter, in plain English, without the usual circumlocution of such documents, is this:

HON. GREENE C. BRONSON,—Sir:—The Cabinet at Washington, forgetful of every high and honorable consideration, setting aside all principle, considering that a matter with which none but "old fogies" should trouble themselves, and incapable of conceiving any other or higher idea of statesmanship, has resolved itself into a mere partizan caucus of political demagogues. In this character they have considered what the interests of party require, and have come to the following conclusion:

The interests of the party require the purchase of that contemptible faction in New York, which in 1848, in connection with the abolitionists of Massachusetts and Ohio, followed the lead of Martin Van Buren in his efforts to defeat the Democratic party of the Nation. The faction stands ready to sell itself. The administration has the means to purchase it. It is to be paid for with government patronage. You, Mr. Bronson, have a portion of that patronage placed in your hands for that purpose, and we expect you to be a mere tool to carry out the above design, the highest and most honorable design of which our capacity enables us to conceive. In future, therefore, you are expected to dispose of the patronage placed in your hands in the purchase of the Free Soilers of your State.

(Signed) JAMES GUTHRIE, &c.

The above is substantially the contents of the letter. We repeat our conclusion, that it must be a hoax. No statesman, no honorable, high-minded man, could or would have written such a letter.

But if it be true that such a letter has been written to Judge Bronson, from the opinion we entertain of his character, we can imagine something of the character of his reply. It would be likely to be something as follows:—

HON. JAMES GUTHRIE, Secretary, &c.—Sir:—I have received your note upon the subject of patronage &c.;—and though surprised and disgusted with its contents, I feel bound, out of regard to the position you occupy, to reply:—

I am a National Democrat. I never have been anything else. President Pierce was always considered to be a consistent, reliable, national Democrat, opposed to all coalition, or connection with the Abolitionists or Free Soilers. It was the clear record of his political life upon this subject, that secured for him the nomination of the Baltimore Convention, and his subsequent triumphant election by the people to the exalted position he now occupies.

With a perfect knowledge of my political character and position, he appointed me to the office which I now hold. With the record of his political life before me, I accepted the appointment. Under these circumstances, I have determined not to compromise my own political character, or that of my distinguished chief, by applying the patronage which he has placed in my hands, to the purchase of that contemptible faction of political hucksters and renegades, whose efforts in 1848 defeated the election to the Presidency of one of the greatest living statesmen of the age.

If, therefore, you expect me to prostitute my position and the patronage placed at my disposal, to such an ignoble purpose, you must allow me, in the language of the refined and dignified Capt. Chucks, boatswain of his Majesty's ship the Diomede, "to hint, that is to intimate, just to insinuate, in the most delicate manner imaginable, that I will see you politically (———) first."

(Signed) GREENE C. BRONSON.

DELAWARE.—The people of Delaware have just rejected the new Constitution submitted to their vote. The majority against it was 1954,—large, in a State where the whole vote is so small. All the counties gave majorities against it.

OHIO.—The returns indicate the defeat of the Temperance party. In the northern portion of the state the Maine Law is carried, but the south gave a large majority against it.—The impression is, that the Whigs have not elected more than 12 of all their candidates for the Legislature. The increased Democratic majority in Cincinnati is attributed to a large number of Whigs having voted the Democratic ticket because of their opposition to the Maine Law.

MUNCIPAL COURT, BOSTON.—In this Court on Saturday, Peter Bean, who was convicted of manslaughter by causing the death of his wife, was sent to the State Prison for ten years. It is to be hoped that this judgment will serve as a caution to the scoundrels whose chief daily exercise consists in brutal assaults upon their wives.

James Feely, the fellow who was convicted of an assault on Mrs. Ellen McLoud, was sentenced to three months confinement in the common jail, and a fine of $25 and costs of prosecution. This is a "righteous judgment," only the imprisonment is too short, and ought to be at hard work. We always wish to see such fellows earn their living. Honest men do this—why should not rogues. There ought to be at least a treadmill in every place where such rascals are confined, that they might amuse themselves by grinding their own corn into meal.

FROM THE BAY.—A letter from a Gloucester captain, dated at Cascumpec, P. E. I., Sept. 30, has the following:—

We are now lying in Cascumpec harbor, after having experienced a heavy gale of wind—the heaviest that has been known for a number of years. There are twelve vessels ashore here. We have not heard from other places, but expect the damage and destruction must be great.

We have been here a week waiting for a chance to go out. A part of the fleet went out a few days before the gale came on; for them we feel worried. It has been a hard summer at the Bay. The last four weeks we have not caught as many mackerel as we have eaten; but we are in hopes to get some by and by. We have none as yet to speak of. If you have a chance, I wish you would send us some provisions, as most likely we shall be short by Christmas. We are all well. Mackerel scarce, catters plenty, and steamers numerous, except American. The latter we have not seen.

The Gloucester Telegraph adds—"Several despatches have been received in town this week from Canso, which inform us that there has been another gale, but no vessels lost. Mackerel were plenty."

A German colony has been for a couple of years settled in Pickens district, South Carolina, on a tract of 20,000 acres of land, which it has purchased in common, to be divided among the several families of the community. Houses have been erected and a village laid out, named Walhalla, and schools and churches have been instituted; and according to the Charleston Standard, it is 'one of the most beautiful specimens of primitive society to be met with in any country.' The propriety of encouraging foreign immigration was doubted by the papers of the interior of the State.—This prejudice has, however, been dissipated, and property is rising in value, all about them. One reason for the change may be found in the following extract, which we cull from a long communication on the subject in the Standard:

"It has been objected to the immigrant, that he is an enemy to our peculiar institutions.—That such is very far from being correct, is proved every day by actions of the adopted citizens, who become slave owners as soon as they can spare the means. And more especially in regard to the German settlement, one of the great objects of their union being to assist such of their members as have not immediately the power to purchase a family of slaves."

BOUGHT AND SOLD.—A friend of ours who lived on Grosse Isle, who had an eye to a good horse, and who is always open to a trade, was accosted near his door last week, by a stranger who wanted to enquire the way.—The stranger had under him a smart, lively pony, which, it struck our friend, was near enough like one of his own to make a good mate; he therefore asked the wayfaring man what he would take for his beast. "Well, I don't come to sell him, but if I let him go, I must have forty dollars." Our friend held his pony at eighty, and the stranger's animal appeared every whit as good; so he offered thirty-five dollars, and was taken up, and the money paid over. The afternoon was occupied by our friend in searching for his pony, which all of a sudden came up missing, and could not be found. Putting that and that together, our friend was induced to examine his new purchase a little more narrowly, when he discovered by the aid of his family, that he had been buying his own horse! The "stranger" being tracked up, turned out to be the hired man of his neighbor G———, upon whom our friend had cracked many practical jokes in his time, but none among them at all equal to this.—Detroit Advertiser.

SUNRISE AT LAKE WINNEPISSIOGEE.

Brightly, gloriously breaks the day
Over the calm waves of the crystal bay,
As when across thy bosom blue
The red man launched his frail canoe.

As bold around thy peaceful shore
Thy green browed mountains, as of yore,
Like lover jealous of thy charms,
Girdle thy beauties in their rocky arms.

Thy lonely isles in verdure rest,
Like jewels sparkling on thy breast;
The wild bird from her covert springs,
Then spreads on high her dusky wings.

Thy woods, thine isles, thy mountain crest,
Thy shores where limpid waters rest—
What burning words, what song portray
How fair thou art, oh lovely bay!

"Smile of the Great Spirit!" thought sublime,
Excels the bards of modern time,
That in the red man's heart awoke,
When first thy beauty on his vision broke.

THE WAR IN NEW YORK.—The Albany papers have a list of ten National Democrats removed by the Canal Board of that state, on political grounds. They were all appointed or re-appointed last spring, but the 'soft shell' majority of the Board has no further need of their serveces.

COURT COMMON PLEAS—ROCK. CO.

PORTSMOUTH, Oct. 17.

This Court convened at the Court House in this city, on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, after a vacation of two weeks.

The case now in hearing is the State vs. Edward Piper, of Northwood, for disfiguring a mare. The Court is now occupied in hearing the evidence for the State.—Hatch for State; Wells & Bacon for respondent.

MACKEREL FISHING.—The Schr. Eliza, Andrew Furber Jr. master, arrived yesterday from the Bay of St. Lawrence, with 120 bbls. mackerel, the result of three months' fishing with a picked crew of seventeen men. The weather has been such for the past six weeks in the Bay, that 15 bbls. only have been caught in that time. The schr. Ann Eliza, also of this port, passed through the straits of Canso at the same time with the Eliza. She had about 90 barrels.

The above, even at the high prices that now rule for mackerel, will hardly pay the expenses of outfitting the vessels; and the dividend to each of the hardy men will be but small pay for a three months' cruise. But they have done much better than the average of all in the Bay. Capt. Furber cofirms the report made by Capt. Hunt, of his vessel being ordered away from an anchorage harbor, to sea, during a heavy blow: but "with a stout vessel and crew he sailed tho' the storm came down," and weathered the gale handsomely. To pay the cost of procuing mackerel this season, allowing a fair compensation to vessels and crew, No. 1 should bring $25 per barrel.

SONS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE IN BOSTON.—The mass meeting of the "Sons of New Hampshire," holden at the Tremont Temple, on Saturday evening, for the purpose of selecting a President of the approaching Festival, and to fill vacancies in the list of Vice-Presidents, which have occurred through death, was full and animated, and came up to the successful preliminary demonstration which was made in 1849.

One question was presented in the meeting, which it is a matter of regret on all sides that it cannot be carried out, and that is that the daughters of New Hampshire should be included in the festival. There is no hall or public place in Boston which could contain such a multitude as the sons and daughters of New Hampshire, resident in this city, in full meeting assembled, would present.

The venerable Deacon Samuel Greele presided with much dignity and sanvity, and a committee, of which Charles A. Wells was Chairman, was appointed to select a candidate for President, and to fill the vacancies among the Vice-Presidents. They reported Marshall P. Wilder for President, and for Vice-Presidents, in Mr. Wilder's place, Fletcher Webster; in place of Samuel Appleton, Joseph Bell, H. A. S. Dearborn, John Mc Neil and James C. Merrill, who have died since the last celebration, Joel Parker, Charles H. Peaslee, Charles A. Wells, Samuel W. Waldron and Silas Durkee. Mr. Wilder was the first Vice-President of the association, and has always been active and untiring in support of its objects. He made an appropriate speech in answer to the compliment, referring with much feeling to his predecessor in the office of President. The report was unanimously accepted.

During the evening some very eloquent speeches were made by Francis E. Parker, Charles L. Woodbury, Dr. J. V. C. Smith, Charles B. Hall, N. C. Betton, Dr. Durkee and A. H. Twombly; and Rev. Mr. Worcester, H. G. Hutchins, Archelaus Wilson, A. B. Hutchinson, and others, who were called ont, excused themselves on account of their health and for other reasons. The meeting closed soon after nine o'clock, in good humor, and with the expectation of reassembling in much larger numbers at the festival, which is to be holden November 2.—Courier.

As to the shutting out the "Daughters," we do not like it, and therefore propose a "Compromise." It is well known, that at the meeting four years ago, wines were introduced at the dinner, against the wishes of many who were there, who of course were overruled by those who strongly wished for such luxuries.

Now they might have two dinners, one of which should be furnished wines of all sorts, brandies, cordials and segars: to this no woman should be admitted. At the other dinner there should be neither wines, brandies nor tobacco, but the "daughters" should sit down and feast with the "sons."

WORK ON THE EASTERN RAILROAD.—The work of building a bridge over Broadway, Somerville, is progressing. The granite abutments have been laid, and the bridge will probably be completed the present month.—The location of the Somerville depot has not been determined, but will doubtless be near the spot where at present stands the ruins of the depot on the Boston and Maine Railroad.—Boston Chronicle.

SHADRACH.—The editor of the Portland Inquirer has been to Montreal, and says he called upon the fugitive Shadrach, adding:—He is on Notre Dame street, not far south of the church. He has neat eating-rooms—is doing an excellent business—is highly respected for industry and integrity—has a smart wife and fine baby—and provides as good food as we found anywhere. His sign reads:—"Shadrach. Uncle Tom's Cabin."

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

IMPORTANT NEWS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.

The Steamship Atlantic arrived this morning, at ten o'clock, with two hundred passengers.

The news by this arrival is important.

The Eastern question has taken another turn. The Olmutz meeting of the Emperors is over, and a new proposition is to be offered to the Porte.

Austria again puts herself in accord with France, England and Prussia in conference at at Vienna, and negotiations are resumed, giving promise of a peaceful and speedy settlement; but a telegraphic despatch from Constantinople of Sept. 26th states that a Grand Council of the Ottoman Empire had recommended the Sultan to declare war against Russia, which caused an immediate meeting of the British Cabinet, and much apprehension is felt by the public.

The Sultana's decision was not known.—A courier was hourly expected at Marseilles.

Constantinople, and Turkey generally, were tranquil. No hostilities have commenced.

Troops have been ordered by the Russian Minister of War to winter in the Principalities.

The fleets still remained in the Bay of Besika.

Martin Kozsta was to embark on the 21st inst. on board the American bark Mimosa for the United States, Austria assenting to his embarkation. Mr. Brown was at Smyrna to see him off. [The Mimosa would sail for Boston.]

The cholera had increased slowly at Liverpool.

The packet ship Isaac Wright, with six hundred passengers for New York, struck on the Irsh Coast, and sprung a leak. She was brought into Liverpool, with twenty deaths on board.

The term of suspension of duties on corn and flour brought into France in foreign vessels is extended to July 31st 1854. Another decree prohibits the export of potatoes and dried vegetables until July 31st, 1854.

Materials of any kind for railways may be imported into Spain, duty free.

At Civita Vecchia there was a riot, but it blew over before the reinforcement sent for from Rome could arrive.

The duty and free export of bread into Neapolitan ports is extended until May, 1854.

VIENNA, October 3.—Declaration of War. The Divan, at the grand council held to-day, [!] resolved upon a declaration of war against Russia, against the advice of the four powers. The Sultan had signed the declaration os war.

Report says that hostilities have commenced.

Omer Pacha had previously urgently demanded leave to fight before winter should set in.

The Russians were supposed to be moving to attack the Turkish position at Boustchouk.

[These latter paragraphs, the reader will perceive, are contradictory to the rest of the news—and rather strange in their own statements and construction.]

CINCINNATI, Oct. 15.—The Woman's Rights Convention last night was well attended. Lucy Stone, Lucretia Mott, Mrs. Jenkins and others, were psesent. Weather here is fine. Money is scarce. Flour dull.

BALTIMORE, October 16.—The total number of deaths in Mobile on Monday and Tuesday was 13, of which 9 were from yellow fever.

The fever has appeared at Demopolis, Alabama.

The Pensacola Gazette of the 8th says the fever has entirely disappeared from that place.

DREADFUL ACCIDENT IN NEW YORK.—About 8 o'clock on Saturday morning, the new sewer being built in Madison street, between Rutgers and Pike streets, caved in, and six laborers were buried. Four were extricated alive, but two were suffocated.

CORN IN ENGLAND.—The prices of breadstuffs and cotton in England, vary from day to day, as the news fluctuates backward and forward between peace and war on the continent. One Liverpool house, under date of 4th inst. says:

Markets the past three days receded, with considerable business, at the decline of 3 a 6d a bbl on flour, and 2 a 3d on wheat.—Indian Corn unchanged. The rumors however, which depressed Cotton raised Breadstuffs, and the markets closed without much variation from the prices of Friday, say, for W C Flour 33s 6d a 34s; Philad and Balt 34s 6d a 35; Ohio 35 a 36s; Indian Corn, white 41 a 42s, yellow, 40 a 41s.

DEATH FROM INTEMPERANCE.—A seaman, named George Fredericks, dropped dead while shaving himself in his boarding house, Clifford place, Boston, on Sunday morning. He had been drinking Ann street grog to excess for several days, and his death, the coroner states, was the result of intemperance.

FARE TO SAUGERTIES RAISED.—On and after to-day the price of liquor will be ten cents per glass. Saturday evening we noticed quite a number of persons who, in anticipation of this advance, had evidently purchased several extra glasses. The Boston Chronicle says this, and as that paper is good authority on such subjects, we think the report may be depended upon.

THE PRICE OF RUM AND ALCOHOL.—The Herald says that the distillers of Boston, at their regular meeting on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, decided to raise their price to 38 a 39 cents for rum, and 68 a 70 cents for alcohol.

CAPE COD RAILROAD.—The laying of the rails on the track of the Cape Cod railroad, between Sandwich and Hyannis, has been begun, and it is expected the road will be completed before the end of the present year.

A man cannot possess anything better than a good woman, nor anything worse than a bad one.

New and Elegant Gift Books.

JOHN S. HARVEY, No. 7 Exchange Buildings, has just received from the Trade Sales of New York, the following splendid Annuals and Gift Books for 1854:

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequence of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity for acquiring the competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy minds. And what parent, that knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as her, or every husband who has the love and affection of his wife in heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband need cause her to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1324, New York City, Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

200 BAGS ROCK SALT, for sale by s27 R. K. OXFORD.

A singular chain of events occurred in Cincinnati the other day. An old man, named Heritage, was employed in painting the walls of a house, and falling from a scaffold, he injured himself to such an extent that he had to be conveyed home. His fall frightened a horse, attached to an express wagon, which ran off, and in his mad career down the street ran over a hog and killed it. The hog was owned jointly by a couple of men, who skinned it, and had a fight over the carcass. As a finale the belligerents were taken before a magistrate, and paid a fine of five dollars and costs.

GOOD SWIMMER.—It is a very curious circumstance, that one of the men, a Canadian, who was swept overboard from the Lady Elgin, in the face of the gale of Thursday last, managed to get off his clothes, and what is still more wonderful, to swim ashore. He reached a raft at Carouge, and remained on it with only his shirt on from between 9 and 10 o'clock until 5 next morning, when he was found in an exhausted state. It is proposed to get up a subscription for him.—Quebec Gazette.

A sect called the Mennonites or Harmless Christians, in Ohio, have recently divided on the question of the morality of wearing buttons on their coats instead of hooks and eyes. The Buttonites wear long tails to their coats, and split the tails with greater freedom than the adherents to hooks and eyes; they are altogether too fashionable for the kingdom of Heaven.—Oswego Times.

Of 492 females married in the city of New York, during the month of July last, 295 appear by the reports to have been over 30 years of age. The returns for August, however, are not by any means so favorable to old maids; more than eight ninths having been under 30.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves. Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous: when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and this was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the Island of the vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S

VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

DEVINES' COMPOUND PITCH LOZENGE

COLDS COUGHS ASTHMA CONSUMPTION

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

FANNY FERN VERSUS CIGARS.

In the last number of the New York Musical World & Times, Fanny Fern comes down on cigar smoking in the following manner, under head of "Tabitha Tompkins' Soliloquy."

Have I, Tabitha Tompkins, a right to my share of fresh air uncontaminated? or have I not? I ask the question with my arms a-kimbo. I might as well say what I've got to say, pop gun fashion, as to tiptoe round my subject, mincing and curtesying when I'm all a-blaze with indignation.

I ask again: Have I a right to my share of fresh air uncontaminated? or have I not?

Do I go out for a walk? Every man I meet is a locomotive chimney. Smoke—smoke—smoke—smoke:—great long tails of it following in their wake, while I dodge, and twist, and choke, trying to escape the coils of the stifling anaconda, till I'm black in the face. I, Tabitha Tompkins, whose grandfather was one of the "signers" of the Declaration of Independence! I feel seventy-six-y! I have borne it about as long as I can without damage to hooks and eyes.

If I try to escape it by getting into an omnibus, there it is again! If it does not originate inside, some 'gentleman' on the box or top, wafts it into the windows. If I take refuge in a ferry boat, I find 'gentlemen requested not to smoke,' (as usual) a dead letter—no more regarded than is the law against gaming or the Sunday liquor traffic. Do I go to a concert at Castle Garden, and step out on the balcony between the performances for a breath of fresh air?—myriads of lighted Havannas send me dizzy and staggering back into the concert room. Does a gentleman call to see me of an evening?—the instant he shakes his 'ambrosial curls,' and gives 'a nod,' I have to run for my vinaigrette.

Do I advertise for lodgings; and after much inspection of rooms, and wear and tear of patience and gaiter boots, make a final selection? Do I emigrate with big trunk, and little trunk, and a whole nest of bandboxes?—Do I get my rocking chair, and work table, and writing desk, and pretty little lamp, all safely transported and longitudinised to my fancy? Do I, in a Paradisaical state of mind, (attendant upon said successful emigration,) go to my closet some fine morning and take down a pet dress?—asafoetida and onions, what an odor! All the 'pachouli' and 'new mown hay' in New York wouldn't sweeten it. Six young men the other side of that closet, and all smokers!! Betty, you may have that dress; I would'nt touch it with a pair of tongs.

Do I lend a masculine friend my copy of Alexander Smith's Poems?—can I ever touch it again till it has been through quarantine?—Does he, by mistake, carry home my tippet in his pocket after a concert?—can I compute the hours it must hang dangling on the clothes line, before it can be allowed to resume its place round my neck?

Do I go to church on Sunday, with a devout desire to attend to the sermon?—my next neighbor is a young man, apparently seated on a nettle cushion; he groans and fidgets, and fidgets and groans; crosses his feet and uncrosses them; kicks over the cricket; knocks down his cane; drops the hymn book, and finally draws from his coat pocket a little case, takes out one cigar after another, transposes them, applies them to the end of his nose and pats them affectionately; then he examines his watch; then frowns at the pulpit; then, glancing at the door, draws a sigh long enough and strong enough to inflate a pair of bellows or burst off a vest button.

With a dolorous whine, this same young man deplores (in public) his inability to indulge in the luxury of a wife, "owing to the extravagant habits of the young ladies of the present day." I take this occasion to submit to public inspection a little bit of paper found in the vest pocket of this fumigated, corkscrewed, pantaloonned humbug, by his washerwoman.

Consistent Stubbs! But, then, his cigar bill is not receipted!

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT—IS IT SO?—A late number of the Exeter (England) Times has an ably written review of a sermon by the Dean of Exeter, entitled "The Sacredness of Human Life, and Doom of Murder." The Dean's text is that oft-repeated passage, "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed." The reviewer denies that the original Scripture so reads. He says:—

"I say, these are not the words of God. It may seem strange for a layman to contradict a clergyman, and a Dean to boot, on such a point; but this is not the first time that ecclesiastical dignitaries have been set right in their theology; nor will it be the last. I must, therefore, be pardoned for my presumption. The words of God are these: "Whatsoever sheddeth man's blood, its blood will be shed;" and if Mr. Lowe asks me how I prove this, I refer him to the original Hebrew, to the Septuagint, to the Vulgate, and to the versions (among others) of Wickliff, Calmet, Scio, and Osterwald. The words 'by man' are an interpolation, and were placed in the passage by the 'Bishops, Priests and Deacons' who produced our common version, and dedicated it to that Solomon of British Sovereigns, 'the most high and mighty Prince James,' who burned thousands of old women for witchcraft, upon Bible authority."

Is this so? Will some one versed in Hebrew lore ascertain?

LORD ELDON'S FATHER.—After the death of his first lady, he rose one morning with the whimsical resolution of marrying any one of his maids who should first appear on his ringing the bell. He rang, and the chambermaid came up, to whom he abruptly said, 'Get yourself ready, and go with me to be married.'—The girl, treating the affair as a joke, refused, and withdrew. He rang the bell a second time, when the cook maid appeared, to whom he said, 'Well, my girl, I intend this day to make you my wife; go and dress yourself with the best you have, and order the coach immediately.' She took him at his word, dressed herself, and, coming down stairs, was met by the chambermaid, who asked her where she was going? 'Abroad—I have my master's leave.' She had scarcely uttered these words, when her master came down, and took her by the hand to the coach, which drove to St. Benet's church, where they were married.—Lives of the Chancellors.

RAIN WATER A PREVENTIVE OF CHOLERA.—Mr. John Lea, of Cincinnati, in a long communication to the Gazette, states as a fact, that that "cholera never becomes epidemic in any district, or city, where rain or pure soft water is used;" and supports his statements by many important facts. He also states that, during five years past, not one well authenticated fatal case of cholera has occured where rain water was exclusively used.

The Nevada (California) Journal mentions it as a curious fact that many of the Chinamen in that region are Protestants, who take oath on the Bible in courts of justice, and say they were converted in China by the labors of a missionary, whom they name with much love. They are peaceable and industrious, and give practical evidence that "their faith is illustrated by works."

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 19, 1853.

THE REASONS WHY.

A writer in the Lowell News favors the repeal of the Massachusetts liquor law, says "the people have determined" to repeal it, and gives, among others, the following reasons why it should be repealed.

"It is a curious fact that the operation of the restrictive laws against liquor have increased the demand for alcohol in all its forms, and as a natural consequence, the prices have been raised. It will be difficult to convince the Maineacs that such has been the effect of their wonderful reformatory measure, but the community will be very generally brought to admit the truth, for those who do not use alcohol as a beverage have a practice of burning it in their lamps, and the burning fluid has advanced eight cents per gallon by the quantity. Thus are facts brought home to our citizens, in cans as well as bottles, that a prohibitory law has enhanced the value by decreasing the consumption of alcohol. This is not surprising to us, for we have always observed that the demand for liquors have been increased in direct ratio with the fanaticism, bigotry, and coercion brought to bear against it. The liquor trade was never more brisk than now, and it is impossible for our distilleries to supply the demand upon them.—Molasses, and the grains used in distilling, have all advanced in price, and it is evident that the most stringent laws cannot prevent people from using such beverages as they choose in this free country. The small quantity of liquors that have been seized and destroyed under the law, would not produce any effect upon the prices, and the only result of those seizures has been to stamp the arbitrary act as one of the most ridiculous and tyrannical measures ever invented."

Now we are quite certain we cannot answer or refute the above, but not at all certain that we understand it. Nevertheless we will try, by analysis, to undertand one thing at a time, and then see what we can make of the whole.

1. The price of alcohol has been raised, because the demand has increased.

2. Temperance men burn alcohol in their lamps, and therefore it has advanced eight cents a gallon.

3. The price of alcohol has been raised because the consumption has been decreased.

4. The prohibitory law has caused this decrease of consumption.

5. Coercion always increases the demand for liquor.

6. The liquor trade is better than ever, and distilleries cannot supply the demand.

7. Molasses and grain have advanced.

8 and lastly,—The amount of liquor destroyed, is too small to affect prices,—and the law is ridiculous.

It appears to us that No. 3 contradicts Nos. 1 and 2: that number 4 and 5 contradict each other: and that No. 6 contradicts 3 and 4.

No. 7 does not exactly contradict the statement in No. 1, but it assigns a different reason for the same fact. No good merchant supposes that the rise in corn is chiefly owing to distillation.

Finally, we concluded that the amount of argument here expended is too small to do much hurt or good, and that the logic of the extract, as we understand it, comes very close to that line which is supposed to divide the sublime from the ridiculous.

DEGRADATION OF WM. F. WALKER.—In St. John's chapel at half past 9 o'clock Friday morning, the Rt. Rev. the provisional Bishop (Wainwright) of the diocese of New York, in the presence of a number of the clergy and laity, pronounced the canonical sentence of degradation from the ministry upon Wm. F. Walker, (lately a presbyter in the Protestant Episcopal Church, and rector of St. Thomas's, Brooklyn,) he having been found guilty of grave offences by a competent court. The clergy, who, as the canon requires, set their hands, as witnesses, to this act of discipline, were the Rev. Dr. Berrien, and the Rev. Mr. Hobart, of Trinity church, and the Rev. Mr. Eigenbrodt, of All Saints.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

This is all well—but why not tell us wha? the man has done? Is he an idolater, a drunkard, or an adulterer? a liar or a thief?

We have often been amused, and sometimes a little vexed, at the unnecessary indistinctness of some such clerical statements. Some years ago, a minister requested a dismission from a clerical association in New England, on account of an avowed and specified change in his views of doctrine. The association, in their answer, took no notice whatever of his statement or request, but began with a "Whereas," and went on to say that Mr. A. B. had made "an aberration from the truth," [which might mean either that he had told a lie, or that he had believed one,] and finished with "Resolved" that we withdraw our fellowship, &c. &c.

A clerical friend a hundred miles off, seeing the preamble and resolution, was so mystified thereby, as to write a letter to the dismissed man, inquiring what he had done?—A single plain word or phrase would have removed all doubts from that reader, and perhaps from hundreds of others who read the proceeding with a veil over their understanding.

THE Crystal Palace in New York closes the last of December. It is proposed to keep the building standing, and to continue to use it as a permanent exhibition of manufactures.

THE BEGINNING OF THE END.—The failure of a large dry goods jobbing house, on Saturday last, is the beginning of a long series of disasters and failures which are as sure to follow the period of high living and extravagance of the last two years, as night follows day. As a people, we are over head and ears in debt, and can pay only by bankruptcy. We owe for our large free stone stores; we owe for our elegant mansions; we owe for our horses and carriages; we owe for our Russ pavement; we owe for our railroads; we owe for the luxuries we enjoy; we owe for our gold watches and jewelry; we owe borrowed money; we owe our servants; we owe our neighbors; we owe everybody. "I owe you" is the currency of the country, and its circulation has extended through all the various branches of trade, industry and speculation.—N. Y. Day Book.

We know the credit system in this country was stimulated by the government loans made to settle up for the Mexican war; and has since been further stimulated by the influx of gold from California; and perhaps also by our system of duties which are supposed by many to operate in that way. We should not, therefore, be surprised to witness a crash of weak houses. But the Day Book paints the matter blacker, as we think, than the reality, which is bad enough.

The impending crash, which may, as the Day Book suggests, be already commencing, will doubtless be followed in due time, not long after, by others. And these things will make way for what we greatly need, a general and permanent National Bankrupt Law.

The former law of this kind, had the misfortune to be enacted, almost, or quite, as a party measure,—and the equally great misfortune to be repealed in the same manner.

It was generally regarded merely as a back door, out of which the bankrupt debtor might go, as a freeman. But it had also a front door, into which a creditor might enter, and compel his debtor to make his egress as above mentioned.

The fact that the largest commercial States in our Union have bankrupt laws mainly on the same plan, is stronger than a pile of arguments in favor of a national law. These State laws, however, having only a local operation, secure only a small part of the benefits which might be realized from a law covering the whole Union,—and in particular, they afford little or no protection against excessive credits, as a permanent National Bankrupt Law might do.

When the sober second thought of the people calls for this law, it will come. Present and passing events are tending to produce this call.

"THE BONES OF PAGANINI."—A paragraph with the above startling head has been going the round of the newspapers. It seems that the bones of the great violinist have been turned into bones of contention, by the priests who have refused to bury them. Several lawsuits have taken place, and there has been one appeal to the Court of Nice, which treated the mater as a nice question. This court refused the request of Paganini's executors, who were anxious to get the bones buried; but rather than submit to the decree, without making any further bones about the matter, they appealed to Genoa, which it seems is somewhat over nice, for it superseded Nice in its decision. A further appeal, has, howeverbeen made to Turin, which reversed the judgment of Genoa, and a reference to the Holy See is now spoken of. "There the matter rests," say the papers, but where the bones will ultimately rest remains a problem.—Punch.

These facts form a fine commentary on superstitions about burial. The ground about the grave of a departed saint, is holy, no matter whether men have consecrated it or not.—We respect and honor that care for the dead, which consecrates ground to hold the dust of our friends. And at the same time we would bury our deadliest foe there, if he happened to fall dead at our feet. We would have our burial grounds open to, and occupied by all classes of men who suffer death and need burial.

The policy which says "stand by thyself, come not not near to me, for I am holier than thou," has no charms for us in any department of life; and in death and burial nothing can be more out of place.

MADAM OTTO GOLDSCHMIDT.—Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Cox, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has deemed the rumors which have been circulated that Jenny Lind's husband had been unkind to her, to be of sufficient importance to call an article from his pen contradicting most fully and implicitly the calumny. His information is derived from correspondence of Madam G. herself with a worthy lady, a member of the church under his pastoral care. He says, "it is enough for me to say, that, herself being witness and judge, "the reports of unkindness on the part of her husband, "are all totally false; that envy and malice, or foolish loquacity, coupled with ignorance, invented them all; that nothing but the diametrical reverse is true," In conclusion Dr. Cox says, "her letter is in other respects excellent; breathing a sincere and kind spirit, expressing noble sentiments, and answering the maternal sympathy, as well as the gratitude and the hope of the discipline of our glorious Redeemer."

The public tender their thanks to Doctor Cox for the good account he gives of Jenny, albeit the Reverend Doctor is somewhat late with his news. The newspapers settled up that matter of unkindness, all square, some months ago, long before "the baby" was born.

LOCAL.

TEMPERANCE.

At the meeting of the friends of Temperance, held in the Temple on Monday evening last, the committee appointed at a previous metting to take the subject into consideration and recommend some course of action for awakening a new interest, reported:

That a regular series of meetings be held during the coming winter, once in two weeks—a Lecture or Address to be given on one evening, and a social meeting to be held on the next,—and so on alternately as far as practicable.

The report was adopted, and it was voted, that these meetings be held on Sunday evenings. The friends of Temperance in this city may therefore expect that meetings will accordingly be held at the Temple on every other Sunday evening, particular notice of which will be given in due season.

COURT COMMON PLEAS—ROCK. CO.

PORTSMOUTH, Oct. 18.

The Court was occupied through the day, with the case, State vs. Edward Piper, for disfiguring a mare, by cutting off the hair of the tail and mane. The case was given to the jury between 4 and 5 o'clock.

PORTSMOUTH AND DOVER RAILROAD.—The corporators of this road held a meeting in this city on Monday, to adopt preliminary measures for the commencement of the enterprise. We understand that it is intended to have the road in running order by the first of July next.

An engineer is to be employed forthwith; the proper steps are taken to make this road a public corporation, to procure the sanction of the railroad commissioners, and to procure subscriptions to the stock.

☞ We saw a beautiful oil painting at the residence of Capt. Marcy, representing the ship Frank Pierce under full sail, up the Mersey river, at Liverpool; in the distance the ship Levi Woodbury is seen coming round Bell Rock, and the Peter Marcy is just being taken into her dock. It was executed by an artist in Liverpool, and is one of the finest paintings we ever saw. The frame is very handsome and costly, being carved and gilded. It is intended as a gift to the President, and would grace any room in the White House.

The old Town Clock (we beg pardon, it is a City Clock now) in the North Church, having undergone the wholesome operation of cleaning, will be in the performance of its usual duties on and after this day. We understand it was last cleaned, sixteen or seventeen years ago.

ROCKINGHAM FAIR.—Persons to whom premiums were awarded at the late Fair, can have the same by calling on the Treasurer, MR. RETIRE H. PARKER.

☞ The British government are taking measures to release Miss Cunninghame, who was imprisoned in Tuscany, for giving away a bible, &c. The very instant the intelligence of the outrage reached England, the cause of the young lady was taken up in right earnest by the Foreign Minister, who described the violence of which she has been the object as being "not only contrary to the principles of the Gospel, but to the spirit of the age."

Mrs. Lydia Pryor Miller, who recently shot dead William Rugg, the watchman of the steamer St. Paul, while on her passage from Keokuk to St. Louis, has been examined and discharged from custody. The deceased had repeatedly offered to take indecent liberties with the lady, who shot at him, as she says, to frighten him, and thus make him desist, but accidentally killed him.

Seven men were drowned in mud scows, in New York Harbor, on Saturday, by the rapid motion of a steamer which was towing the scows, and caused them to sink.

SETTLED.—The famous prosecution against Lewis E. Josselyn, of Lynn, for frequently refusing to pay his fare on the Eastern Railroad, last June, is disposed of. It will be recollected that Mr. Josselyn was ordered to pay a fine of ten dollars and the costs, by the Salem Police Court, and that he appealed to the Court of Common Pleas. We are informed that on Saturday last, (the prese nt term of the C. C. P. commencing on Monday,) application was made for leave to withdraw the appeal, which was done with the consent of the District Attorney, and the fine and costs were paid on Monday. What is to become of that triumphant vindication "by a jury of his countrymen" of which the Lynn Bay State made so many promises, we are unable to say. It is but just to Mr. Josselyn to add, however, that his removal to another State is the reason assigned for his wish to withdraw his appeal—Salem Observer.

Mr. Careful having been told by his physician that he must take gentle exercise, replied, that he had for some time back practised cutting his toe nails twice a week.

Mr. L. K. Lippincott, clerk in the Treasury Department at Washington, has resigned his post. He will be married this week to "Grace Greenwood," (Miss S. J. Clarke.)

A little boy at Newburyport the other day, reading our motto, "The Union, it must be preserved," full of wonderment and surprise, asked his father "how preserved Unions tasted, and whether he couldn't get his mother to make some."—Newburyport Union.

John Morrisey, the prize fighter, denies that he is dead, and says the referee has given him a written decision in his favor, stating that he had won the fight fairly and honorably.

Vermont Legislature.—The Vermont House of Representatives was finally organized on Monday, by the choice of Horatio Needham, of Bristol, as speaker. He was the free soil candidate, and was elected by the united votes of the democrats and free soilers, receiving 119 votes, while G. W. Grandy, the whig candidate, received 85, and Bingham, democrat, 2. The strength of the several parties was indicated by the first balloting, which took place on Thursday last.—It stood, Grandy, (whig) 93, Bingham, (dem) 81, Needham, (free soil) 39. There have since been thirty or forty ballots, with nearly the same result.

Chalon F. Davey, whig, the clerk of the last house, was unanimously elected clerk.

Pennsylvania Election.—The Philadelphia North American says that the election of the independent legislative ticket in that city secures a radical change in thefire department; the consolidation of the several districts under one municipal organization; a change in the present mode of collecting taxes, which the North American characterises as "expensive and unsatisfactory;" a suitable change in the license laws; and lastly an early reformation in the character of the whole state legislature, consequent upon the election of better men to seats in the assembly.

Georgia Election.—According to the returns in the Savannah Republican of the 15th, Jenkins has majorities in 50 counties, and Johnson in 49; but Jenkins's whole vote outnumbers Johnson's by 348, and he is accordingly elected Governor by that small majority, in a State which can cast a hundred thousand votes.

Perhaps this is correct;—but we shall wait for the official statement, before we are positive. Mr. Jenkins was run for Vice President, on the Webster ticket.

Georgia.—The Savannah Republican says Johnson's (Democrat) majority for Governor is only 348. In the 3d Congressional district the vote is close, and the result doubtful.—Letters from Washington state that the publication of Secretary Guthrie's letter to Mr. Bronson before the Georgia election would have more than turned the scale against the Democrats.

Savannah.—The Mayor of Savannah issued a proclamation appointing Thursday, Oct. 13th, "as a day of Thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessings vouchsafed to our city during the past year."

The Cholera.—At Newcastle upon the Tyne, Oct. 1st, there were eleven deaths by cholera; on the 2d only one. Total deaths, so far, 1,392. At Gateshead the total number of deaths had beeen 385. At London eleven fatal cases had occurred. The disease in a light form had appeared among the troops at Portsmouth, but yielded to medical treatment. It had also appeared at Liverpool.

At Hamburg and various towns in Denmark, Norway and Sweden, where thousands have been carried off, the disease is subsiding; but in Berlin from forty to fifty cases are reported daily, about one half of which are fatal. Several entire families have been swept away.

New York, Oct. 17th.—The Saxony Wollen Mills at Little Falls, in this State, were burnt on Tuesday. Loss $10,000—insured.

The Hamburg barque George Nichols, from Navy Bay for Cienfuegos, was recently picked up at sea with captain and all hands dead, except the mate, and he was sick. The vessel was carried into New Orleans.

A Supposed Highwayman Discovered by a Dog.—As Mr. Zaccheus Holmes, bank watchman, was passing through Green street in Boston, very early on Sunday morning, a highwayman came behind him and struck him a severe blow with an iron instrument.—Mr. Holmes turned upon his assailant, who fled in a westerly direction. A couple of watchmen joined in the chase, but the man succeeded in escaping through an alley-way in Billerica street. Soon after this, Mrs. Rogers, who resides at No. 2 Billerica st., was aroused in consequence of the barking of her pet dog. She looked from her chamber window, and saw a man rolled up in a comforter which she had placed upon the lines the evening previous. She called her husband, who is a policeman, and he got out of bed, raised the window, reached forward and seized the sleeper, who gave his name as William Murphy.—The fellow resisted for a while; but Mr. Rogers actually hauled him into his bed room, and asked for an explanation. Murphy was impudent, and Rogers, with the aid of his wife, put a pair of handcuffs upon him. Thus bound the prisoner sat quietly upon the bedside while Rogers dressed himself. Murphy was then handed over to a watchman. Subsequently Mr. Holmes, hearing of the arrest, went to the jail and recognized Murphy as the person who made the assault upon him in Green street. And thus the man, who had successfully eluded the pursuit of three wakeful men, was discovered and captured through the agency of a lap-dog.

On Monday, Murphy was examined by the Police Court, and committed to prison on the charge above named.

The Oldest Person in the city of Boston, is supposed to be a Mrs. Boston, a colored woman, resident in Southac street, who is 109 years old, and wonderfully retains her faculties.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?
That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.
Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.
IN AFTER YEARS,
When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.
What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is
MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING
To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every
WIFE AND MOTHER
Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself
YEARS OF MISERY,
And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.
SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS
By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.
In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled
THE MARRIED WOMAN'S
Private Medical Companion.
BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,
PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.
One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.
[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]
First published in 1847, and it is not
SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,
Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly
should have been sold.
It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.
UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES
Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.
CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.
BE NOT DEFRAUDED!
Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and sorrepitious infringements of copy-right.
LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!
No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.
To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.
When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.
☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

MY FIRST RIDE.

'Twas five and twenty years ago
My mother fell asleep,
When I was quite too young to know
That I had cause to weep;
And yet I knew her sleep was sound,
And they would put her in the ground.

The house was very still that day,
And father spoke more mild;
And when they mother took away,
He sobbed just like a child;
They bore her to a garden fair,
And I rode with my sister there.

I wore a little new white hat,
Trimmed with a broad crape band;
And in the carriage as I sat,
I felt quite pleased and grand,
And wondered why my sister cried
when I enjoyed so much the ride.

But when I reached the bright, green place,
With flowers bespangled o'er,
And saw my sister's tear-stained face,
I wondered yet the more;
And asked her why she looked so sad,
And if 'twas wicked to be glad.

"The birds," I said, "are singing here,
And roses bloom around,
And pure white marble stones appear
All scattered o'er the ground;
If birds are happy, why should I
In such a place, dear sister, cry?"

"I hear the birds upon the trees,
And smell the flowers," she said;
"But, oh, my heart is not with these,
My thoughts are with the dead!"
And then her grief burst forth anew,
Till I felt almost solemn, too.

They put my mother in a tomb
That looked just like a house,
Which only had one little room,
And that seemed very close;
I told them when we came away,
I'd rather in the green grass lay.

I knew not then what 'twas to die,
Nor what was sorrow deep;
I thought 'twas pleasant here to lie
And dream in happy sleep;
But after years have taught me well
What woe speaks in the passing bell.

'Twas five and twenty years ago,
Since I was thus bereft;
I wonder oft so sad a blow
No sad impression left;
It seems so strange my sweetest ride
Was when my sainted mother died.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———.

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. The bottle advertised itself. The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade to an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wfm je22

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous illnesses arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST RESORT for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST FAMILY medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Duman, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchantile and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of Dyspepsia.

I am respectfully yours,

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub.ic as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE.

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

IMPRESSIONS OF EUROPE.

The Newark Daily Advertiser publishes the following "extract of a letter from an eminent American Statesman on his travels, to his friend in New Jersey":—

GENOA, Sept. 7.—Since spending forty most agreeable days in London, we have been constantly on the go. We have ransacked thoroughly, Ireland, Scotland, Belgium, the Rhine from Colonge to Basle, and Switzerland, more beautiful by far than either. In all these countries we found a state of public and private prosperity which suprised us greatly—Ireland excepted. Even there, a great change is being brought about by harsh measures; and the Protestant portion of it are prosperous as the other States to which I have referred.—These are the direct effects of a long peace, and go far beyond what we at home have any idea of. In England there is an obvious change in the habits and disposition of the people, and the action of the Government.—Liberal principles and feelings are clearly ascendant, and the House of Commons rules in fact everywhere. I cannot convey this idea more clearly or authoritatively to you, than to repeat a remark of Lord H——'s (a descendant of a high tory family, whose father I heard make the ablest speech which was made against the Reform Bill, and who is himself a man of nature age, and highly respectable talents,) at the breakfast table of Sir R. J., himself an inveterate tory in 1830, but now quite liberal in his feelings—the change, said Lord H., that has already taken place in the Constitution, and others which are inevitable, have made England virtually a Republic, and it is to be regretted that everybody is not sufficiently impressed with this truth, to induce them to unite in efforts to preserve the people, by educating them, for the safe enjoymetn of rights which they must inevitably possess! This is, I have no doubt, a just description of their political condition.

The Queen and Prince Albert are discreet and exceedingly well disposed people, who are content to eat their cake in peace. In every branch of the government the greatest care is taken not to offer any unnecessary affront to that public opinion, which every one feels, governs the country; and the House of Commons, conscious of its power, is content to tolecate, and I doubt not in the absence of tyranny and intolerable oppression by the Crown—to sustain the monarchy with its pageantry and parade. But the degree of oppression which would now be considered intolerable would be very different from the idea which prevailed in the time of the Stuarts, and for many years after.

In Belgium, where we spent some days with great satisfaction, they enjoy very nearly all the rights that belong to a Republic. Their King, Leopold, is not a man of extraordinary talents, but is, I am sure, very upright in his intentions, and certainly moderate, in an exemplary degree, in his conduct. He told them in 1848, that if they desired a change, he would spare them the trouble of a forcible Revolution, by resigning, and they have been quiet, and obviously contented ever since. They have a Legislature fairly chosen, and their institutions with the single exception of the throne, are very liberal. I was so much pleased with all I saw in his dominions, that I caused the Minister of the King's house to be informed through a private subject, (our Minister being absent,) that if it would be agreeable to him to receive me and my friends in citizen's dress, it would afford me great pleasure to pay my respects to the King. I received in a short time a letter from the Minister, informing me that he had submitted my suggestion to his Majesty, at Sacker, his country residence, who had directed him to say to me that he would with pleasure come to the city the next day, and receive us at the Palace in the form proposed. He did so: and we had, comparatively without ceremony, a long and pleasant conversation with him. It is the apprehension of breaking up this extended private and public prosperity in Europe, and disturbing its present quiet, which has been the effective negociator in the Eastern affair. The moment it was definitely settled that France and England would unitedly resist every attempt to carry into effect the long cherished views of Russia upon Turkey, it became also certain that it must cost a general war in Europe if Russia persevered. The Emperor had not the moral courage, if he had the disposition, to assume the responsibility of so tremendous a change in all Christendom. He delayed the conclusion until it became absolutely certain that the alliance between France and England could not be broken up. They were themselves opposed to war, and willing to yield almost anything but the main point—the quasi independence of Turkey.

COMPARATIVE ECONOMY.—If our farmers and their wives would commence to-morrow to live as do the majority of mechanics and the better-paid laboring men, one-half of them would be bankrupt in two years. As a general thing, a farmer and his wife, worth two or three or even ten thousand dollars, practice an economy in food and clothing, that would quite shock the self-respect of a coal-digger and his wife.

The great difference between Mr. Dumars and ourselves lies in our different interpretations of decent clothes and decent food. We say fip calico for clothes, and mush and molasses for food is decent, and that we would dress in and live on it, rather than spend our life at the mercy of our employers, or any body else. Nor would there be the least danger of our dying from want, on a working man's limiting himself to such scanty fare. At a dollar per day—and few get less—a family of five can be comfortably clothed and fed, and sheltered, leaving half of it to secure an independence. That once secured he has an opportunity to display his taste, and proclaim his self respect in the quality of his food and clothes.

On our return from Harrisburg, we travelled in the cars with a family who illustrated what we mean—a journeyman machinist, wife and child. He was in a suit of best French broadcloth, and every little while he went on the platform to smoke a Spanish cigar. She was in a rich silk dress, at not less than a dollar a yard, made with flowing sleeves, and under these were fine lace sleeves, heavily embroidered; of the cost of which we have no idea, as we should never think of asking the price of such an article; but from their delicate texture, their flowing dimensions, and the rough usage they got while the wearer nursed an unruly boy of sixteen months, we suppose they would be done for before the journey was ended.

Those sleeves, we imagine, cost as much as our entire dress, yet we thought ourselves decently and suitably dressed; but, to be sure, we are one of those who "know nothing about poetry," and live in a comforable house, while she is one of those whom society and capital are oppressing sorely. The cost of the dress her child wore, with braid and braiding, would have purchased him two suits more comfortable, more appropriate, and therefore prettier. Their carpet-bag was well supplied with oranges, candies and cakes, while they took regular meals at the hotels where the cars stopped for that purpose. According to our opinions, the tables were loaded with everything requisite, and a good many superfluities—luxuries that nobody should eat—but both at one meal when they sat near us, complained of the quality of the viands.

In the same train was an Ohio farmer, wife and child,—he in a suit of jeans at about thirty cents per yard, she and the baby in shilling prints—in their carpet-bag a large supply of home-baked cakes, spiced with fennel from their own garden. They did not go in for meals, ate their cakes and drank water; yet anybody could see they had a home to go to; and were accustomed to walking over their broad acres and sleeping under their own roof.

The difference in the outfit and travelling expenses of the two families would have secured a homestead—paid "the first gale," and left the possessor free from tax of rent—quite out of the power of those grasping landlords.—Mrs. Swisshelm.

THURSDAY, OCT. 20, 1853.

A COUPLE OF HARD ANSWERS TO THE SOFT LETTER.

The New York Herald contains about a page of letters, viz. one from Collector Bronson to Mr. Secretary Guthrie, and an other from Mr O'Conor to the Washington Union: both of which are really answers to the celebrated Soft Letter of Mr. Guthrie, and also no less really condemnations of the recent course of the Administration, of which in this matter, the Union appears to be the organ and exponent.

Only a few papers can find room for the whole of these letters; we have not for a quarter part of them.

Mr. Bronson, in his letter, speaks thus of the time chosen for Mr. Guthrie's letter to him.

It was after the rapture, and nomination of two tickets at Syracuse, and the two ratification meetings in this city; after the Collector had been denounced by the Free Soil leaders and presses, and the President had been called upon to remove him; after hungry office seekers and bitter politicians had visited Washington to misrepresent and traduce that officer, and to whose clamors, as you well know, he never made any reply; after the Union had taken the ground against the ticket of the national democrats, and in favor of the ticket of their opponents; then it was that you first discovered cause for complaint of any kind against the Collector. You had approved of his nominations, with a single exception, and in that case the office was abolished.—Down to the receipt of your letter of the 3d inst., you had never intimated to the Collector, in any form, that you disapproved of his appointments, or of the manner in which they had been distributed.

He closes in the following manner:

This is, I believe, the first instance in which a member of the Cabinet has interfered with the discretion of a collector, marshal, post master, or any other government officer having patronage to bestow, and laid down a rule for his government in the selection of his deputies, clerks or other agents; and it certainly is the first instance in which a public officer has been instructed to go into an inquiry about sections, and see that a just distribution of offices was made between them.—You have a right, by law, to give instructions on many subjects connected with the collection of the revenue, and such instructions it will be my duty to follow. But when you go beyond that, and undertake to direct in matters which the law has confined to my discretion, no such obligation exists.

As to some officers of the customs, the Collector has the right of nomination, and the Secretary the right of approval or rejection; and, as to other officers, the power of appointment is vested in the Collector alone.—I shall not interfere with the exercise of your powers, and I trust you will render the like justice to me. If you, or any other higher officer of the government, desired the appointment of a particular individual, I need not say that it would give me great pleasure to comply with his wishes. But I respectfully deny that you have any right to issue instructions for the government of my conduct in making selections for office.

So far as relates to the mere dispensation of patronage, without regard to my responsibility for the acts of persons appointed, I would gladly transfer the trust to another. I have no taste for such matters, and my comfort—aspirations I have none—would be greatly promoted if some one else would perform the service for me. But the law and my commission have cast the burden upon me, and I cannot surrender it to another without a dereliction of duty.

As you have given your letter to the press, saying "the subject is a public one," I shall give the same direction to the answer.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant, GREENE C. BRONSON.

Mr. O'Conor goes more into the history of parties, and writes a longer, letter from which we have room only for the following paragraphs.

Neither when I consented to accept office from the President, nor at any other time, had any human being the slightest reason to suspect from any act, word or acquiescence of mine, that I stood pledged to the principles and policy in relation to the distribution of offices between "sections" or "portions" of the democratic party, mentioned in the letter of the Secretary of the Treasury, or that I would give "influence or co-operation" in aid of the policy mentioned in the Union. No one who ever spoke to me, or with me, on the subject, could possibly have doubted that I stood pledged against those principles and that policy.

It is intimated that these principles and this policy are embraced in the Baltimore platform, and were indicated in the inaugural address. I cannot find that the slightest countenance is offered to them in either document. "Principle" it cannot be called; but if the "policy" of keeping the democratic party, in this or any other State, for ever divided into contending and jealous sections, by recognizing their leaders, could be found in the platform or in the address, I should at once withdraw from the former my adhesion and from the latter my admiration. * *

It is said by the Union that the President's announcement of his Cabinet was a distinct avowal of his policy. His enemies have often said so. I never gave credit to their assaults, assertions or opinions. When the New York appointments were published, it was said that the names of Mr. Dickinson and myself were merely used to whiten the sepulchre in which lay entombed the mutilated hopes of the national Democratic party. I did not subscribe to this imputation on the motives of the President. * * *

We are told in the Hon. Secretary's letter that the President has adopted this policy.—I trust and believe that the assertion is founded in as great a misapprehension of his real views as seems to exist in relation to the import of the Baltimore platform. I know him to be pure, upright and patriotic; I am sure that under the embarrassments which have surrounded him from the hour of his election, he has exerted a high measure of ability; and if he has not overcome them all, it is from the impracticable nature of his task, and not from any failure on his part, in diligence, mental power, or fidelity to the constitution. New York, Oct. 17. CH. O'CONOR.

These things amount to a declaration of war against the Cabinet, and to almost a declaration against the President, unless he shall wash his hands of all connexion with the Soft Letter policy; Mr. O'Conor's closing paragraph, to be sure, expresses great confidence in President Pierce—but the rest of the letter does not agree with it, for it represents him either as in league with the free soil wing, or else as their dupe For example, speaking of Gen. Dix, O'C. says:

"Common fame reports that the President desired to give this gentleman a seat in his cabinet, and was only deterred from so doing by information that in consequence of his free soil associations he could not be confirmed in the Senate."

Mr. Bronson's confidence in the President is also at the same low ebb. Speaking of the Union newspaper, which he calls a co-laborer with the free soil prints in New York, he says:

"Though that print is not in itself of great importance, yet when it professes, without rebuke, to do these things as the organ of the administration, much mischief may be done.—It matters little what disclaimers there may be in private circles, so long as there is no public declaration that the paper speaks without authority. However unfortunately the election may terminate, the responsibility will rest upon others, and not upon me."

This sentence, wherein we have marked a few italics, has an "awful squinting" at somebody in the bushes; and we can see nobody there but the President himself.

ANOTHER TEMPERANCE MOVE.

At a Ministerial Association, held in Marlow, N. H., Oct. 11, a committee was appointed to consider the subject of Temperance, and the following Report was presented and unanimously adopted:

Your committee being impressed that something more should be done to give greater efficiency to the Temperance movements of this State, and believing that Ministers of the Gospel may do much in creating a healthy public sentiment, and in securing correct action on this subject; and union of effort being indispensable to success, would recommend the adoption of the following resolutions, viz:

1. Resolved, That a new Temperance Organization is demanded; not in opposition to any now existing, nor to any political party, but to unite those of ALL PARTIES in securing the success of this most important enterprise.

2. Resolved, That we will use our best endeavors in securing signatures to the following

Pledge.—"We will neither use nor furnish to others any intoxicating liquors, as a beverage; and we who are legal voters will use the elective franchise in securing suitable legislative enactments prohibiting their sale."

3. Resolved, That the name of this new organization be the New Hampshire Temperance League, and we recommend towns and counties to adopt this name and this Pledge in connection with the name of the county or town.

4. Resolved, That we request temperance people in all towns and counties of the State to form Temperance Leagues to carry out the intention of this organization.

5. Resolved, That we earnestly solicit the co-operation of clergymen of all denominations in this work.

6. Resolved, That copies of this Report be furnished to the several editors in this State for publication.

JARED PERKINS, Chairman.
C. M. DINSMORE, Secretary.

ROMANTIC WEDDING.

A marriage took place in Boston last week under the following romantic circumstances: A young clergyman of the Episcopal church, resident in Canada, was engaged to a lady in England. Circumstances not favoring his undertaking the voyage to his native country in order to meet his lady-love, she took passage on board the Canada, to come to her future home, alone and unattended. Arrangements had been made by the gentleman to have the marriage ceremony performed in an Episcopal church in Boston, upon the arrival of the bride, and the rector was ready to have the church opened at an hour's notice. The steamer reached East Boston about 11 o'clock on Friday night. The bridegroom was upon the wharf anxiously awaiting the appearance of his betrothed, whom he had not seen for three years. The parties soon met, and a friend was despatched to have the church opened and the clergyman at the altar. The arrangements were made after a short delay, as the Bishop and the Priest who were to officiate had retired for the night. The bridal party drove from the steamer to the church. The candles in the altar gave but a dim light, and the scene was quite peculiar. During the marriage ceremony, the clock in the church struck the midnight hour, so that some confusion arose respecting the proper date to give the marriage certificate. The party in the church consisted of but five persons—the bride and bridegroom, the two clergymen of the church, and one witness. The married clergyman took part in the religious services of two churches in the vicinity on Sunday, and left for the place of his residence in the early train on Monday morning.

VOLUNTARY SERVITUDE.—A female slave, the nurse of a southern family visiting Boston, has been brought, by a suit of habeas corpus, before a court, and informed by the judge that she could be free if she chose; but such was her attachment to the family, or to her southern home, or both, that she chose to remain as she was, and return with the family to which she belonged.

LOCAL.

HON. ICHABOD BARTLETT.

Died, in this city, on Wednesday morning, Hon. Ichabod Bartlett, an eminent Counsellor at Law, aged 67.

Mr. Bartlett was a graduate of Dartmouth College in 1808, and was admitted to the bar in 1811.

He has been a member and Speaker of the New Hampshire House of Representatives; was a member of our Constitutional Convention; and was a Representative in Congress from this State for three successive terms; a the close of which he declined further service in that line, and was succeeded by Franklin Pierce. As a lawyer and politician he had few equals; and as a pleader at the bar, especially in criminal cases, none went before him. As a public speaker in Congress and elsewhere, he always commanded attention, and often produced a strong effect. One instance of this is well known. When he entered Congress, Mr. Clay was there, at the very summit of his reputation, and spoke in rather a cavalier style of the new member; but the brief and apt reply of Mr. Bartlett, in that tone of indignation which none used better than he, at once arrested Mr. Clay's attention, and their acquaintance soon ripened into intimacy and friendship which were never broken.

At a meeting of the Rockingham Bar, on Wednesday, John Porter, Esq., President of the Bar, announced the death of the Hon. Ichabod Bartlett, and made some appropriate remarks in respect to his character, and the public stations he had held.

On motion of Wm. Claggett, Esq., a committee consisting of D. M. Christie, G. Marston and A. W. Haven, Esq., was appointed to draft resolutions on the occasion, and make such arrangements as may be deemed proper, and the President of the Bar was requested to announce the event to the Court.

Reported for the Chronicle.

COURT COMMON PLEAS—ROCK. CO.

PORTSMOUTH, Wednesday, Oct. 19.

The jury in the case State vs. Edward Piper, for disfiguring a mare, could not agree, and were discharged; so this mare's nest remains a bill of cost to the county, and the culprits, as yet, are neither condemned nor acquitted.

The case State vs. Wm. Currier, for resisting an officer, was taken up and finished.—The jury at half past 2, P. M., on the opening of the afternoon session, came in with a verdict of guilty.

John Porter, Esq., announced the death of Hon. Ichabod Bartlett of this city, an eminent member of the bar, stated that the event so affected the members as to render them indisposed to business, and moved an adjournment.

Whereupon the Court adjourned to 9 o'clock on Thursday morning.

THE "STRAWBERRY BANK."—Engine Co. No. 6 in this city, are to have a new tub in place of their old worn out "Franklin."—Messrs. Hunneman & Co. of Boston, are building two for the City of Portsmouth, at a cost of about $800 each—one for the above company, and the other to take the place of "Cataract," No. 1, at the South end. The 6's have named theirs "Strawberry Bank." They are to have a uniform in keeping with their new machine, which is to be similar to "Laconia," No. 2. The rig is to be blue frocks, grey pants, blue glazed caps, with belts, leggins, and simple but neat decorations. The company numbers 40 men; F. W. Ham, Foreman.

THE BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL.

We give below, a note from Mr. Kimball, in reply to a notice published in the Messenger of last week; and also some remarks by the editor of that paper.

THE HIGH SCHOOL AND MR. KIMBALL.—We publish to-day a note from Mr. Kimball, the late teacher of the Boy's High School, which will be read with interest by all our readers. It is evident that the committee in effect acknowledged the injustice of their course towards Mr. K. when they desired him to resume the school; and that being the case, the people we think will agree with him that "the cost of the mistake should be with those who made it."

For the Messenger.

MR. EDITOR:—The notice in your paper of the 12th inst. concerning the High School, so far as it relates to myself and the referees to whom the pending difficulties between the high school committee and myself were submitted, requires this brief notice from me, in order to prevent any misunderstanding as to my own position in the matter.

First. So far as I am concerned, there was no advance made toward the committee in view of a reappointment to the office of high school teacher. The committee voluntarily made the proposition to me, and asked me on what terms I would RESUME the school.

Second. In regard to the matter of salary, which was one of my terms, it is necessary to say, in order to prevent any wrong impressions, that inasmuch as the committee had tacitly disclaimed their former action toward me, through which I was subjected to much inconvenience and loss of time, it seemed to me but right that the COST of the mistake should be with those who made it.

Third. Concerning the correspondence between the referees, which is asked for publication, I would say that, as the chairman of the high school committee now disclaims the correspondence as in any wise belonging to or involving the committee, it is withheld from the public as a simple act of courtesy to one of the referees, who is absent from the city. I would however add that, had I known that there was no authority in the correspondence so far as the committee are concerned, there would have been saved much time, writing and anxiety. Yours &c. ISRAEL KIMBALL.

EXCOMMUNICATION.—On Friday, says the N. Y. Express, just before the adjournment of the General Episcopal Convention, sentence of deposition, in accordance with the provisions of the canon adopted by both Houses on Thursday, was pronounced, in the presence of the lay and clerical delegates, by the presiding Bishop, (Brownell), upon Levi Silliman Ives, D. D., late Bishop of the diocese of North Carolina. It was an exceedingly impressive and solemn ceremony, and no one could fail to remark the great moderation and Christian charity observable in every line of the document in question, when contrasted with the awful anathemas fulminated in such cases by the Church of Rome, when she was in the full zenith of her power.

THE WILKESBARRE SLAVE CASE.—The decision of Judge Grier, in the habeas corpus case, in relation to the validity of the proceedings against officer Jenkins and Crosson, has been published. The officers, it will recollected, were arrested on a warrant issued by a justice of the Peace, for an assault on a fugitive slave whom they attempted to arrest at Wilkesbarre. They were brought before Judge Grier on a writ of habeas corpus, and discharged on grounds which are stated below. The Court recapitulated the facts in this case, and concluded with the following remarks:—

We are unable to perceive in this affair anything worthy of blame in the conduct of these officers in their unsuccessful endeavors to fulfil a most dangerous and disgusting duty; except, perhaps, a want of sufficient courage and perseverance in the attempt to execute the writ. A careful examination of the testimony sufficiently exhibits the reason why those who were acquainted with the facts of the case have been unwilling to prosecute the officers for their unsuccessful attempt, and left it to those who, to use their own language, "knew nothing about it under heaven." In conclusion, as we find the prisoners are officers of the United States, in confinement for acts done in pursuance of a law of the United States, and under process from a Judge of the same, that they have not exceeded the exigency of the proofs under which they acted.—That this prosecution has not been instituted, nor is now acknowledged by the state of Pennsylvania, but had its origin in some association living at a distance, and wholly ignorant of the whole transactions which they have volunteered to investigate. That the information on which the warrant to arrest the prisoners is founded, was sworn to by one who did not know whether the matter of the affidavit presented to him was true or false, and that by a statement of but half the truth, it is wholly false.

The prisoners are therefore discharged.

Judge Grier must take care how he talks about slave-catching as "a most disgusting duty." Somebody will be sending him a letter presently, calling in question his patriotism, and suggesting that he must have begun to wish for some higher law than the fugitive act of '51.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 28.—Letters from Santa Fe state that Col. Aubrey in his recent journey over the plains, found gold at the crossing of the Colorado, and in other places, and silver and copper ore in great abundance.—The Indians on the route were very numerous and hostile, and had fought Aubrey's party for 30 days; nearly all of the latter were wounded, Col. A. having received eight wounds at different times. The fighting was chiefly with the Gazotes, a tribe of Indians west of the Sesne, who had gold bullets for their rifles.

It is believed at Santa Fe that Governor Lane will get the certificate of delegate to Congress.

Fort Atkinson is entirely abandoned.

The road from Fort Union to Council Grove is now entirely unprotected, and Indian depredations are anticipated.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 18.—The cars containing the Eastern mail, due here this morning, and Livingston & Fargo's express packages between Cleveland and Columbus, took fire last night by sparks from the locomotive.—The mail was entirely lost, but part of the express packages were saved.

Father Gavazzi lectured in this city to a full house last night. There was no disturbance.

The Annual Convention of the American Christian Bible Society assembled this morning in the Christian Chapel; among the delegates is the venerable Alexander Campbell.

Lucy Stone is lecturing here to crowded houses.

The money pressure still continues in this market. Flour is very dull at $5.25.

ARREST OF TWO PRIESTS IN CINCINNATI.—The Cincinnati Times of the 10th inst. gives an account of the arrest of two priests in that city, under the following circumstances. A few nights previous, a lady found two small boys in her yard, who said they had no where to sleep, and she took them into her house; but discovering something peculiar in their appearance, she took them to a police officer's house, who on closely questioning them, drew out the confession that they had run away from the St. Aloysius Orphan Asylum, an institution sustained by the German Catholics. The reason assigned for their conduct, was, that they had been dreadfully and unreasonably beaten by two priests connected with the Institution. In proof of their story, they bared their bodies, which were covered with stripes and bruises, showing in some places the marks of the cow-hide deep in the flesh. A warrant was made out, and the two "Fathers" (?) Bernard Cyrill and Bernard Force, were arrested, and gave bail for their appearance before the Police Court.

THE INGRAHAM TESTIMONIAL.—The New York Times says, that the committee appointed to select a design for the medal to be presented to Captain Ingraham have chosen the one submitted by Mr. F. Casali, which is described as follows:—

On one side is the figure of America, her head ornamented with a tiara, and her breast covered with a cuirass. She holds out her hand in a protecting attitude towards a boat in the background containing Koszta. Her other hand grasps a spear resting on a pedestal, and surmounted by a cap of Liberty. Behind this figure are represented the bay of Smyrna, the American and Austrian vessels, and the boat containing Koszta before alluded to. The whole is encircled by a wreath bearing the following motto:—

"Do you claim the protection of the United States? Then you shall have it," and "Ingraham, Smyrna, July 11, 1853." On the reverse side the American eagle is represented seated on the globe, and bearing on its breast the arms of the United States. Immediately above the head of the eagle is the rising sun. This side of the medal bears this inscription:—Civil Liberty and Religious Independence throughout the World." Mr. Casali offered to execute the die free of cost, and his liberal proposition was accepted.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT!

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily deriving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglects to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHEREVER SHE MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but rather has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with a sketch of the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

For sale by Hotchkiss & Co., 13 Court st.; Redding & Co., 18 State st.; Fetredge & Co., 15 State and 72 Washington sts.; and Wm. V. Spencer, 128 Washington st.—Boston, Mass.

AFRAID TO TRAVEL.—A gentleman residing in this city, was summoned as a witness to attend the court now in session in Lawrence. Being summoned in the afternoon he remarked, "if I am to go there tomorrow morning, I must start immediately." On being informed that a train of cars would leave in the morning, to arrive at Lawrence in season, he said he preferred to walk instead of risking a ride in the cars, and did actually walk to Lawrence rather than incur the risk of the railroad. He never sails in boats or vessels, and would not ride in the cars to Boston, or go to New York in a steamboat, if he could have the cities by doing so.—Newburyport Union.

THE WIFE'S CONSENT.—The Missouri Legislature has a bill before it, in accordance with a suggestion in the Governor's message, to provide that no man be allowed to endorse a note without the consent of his wife, and that no endorsement shall be valid without such consent.

THERE are now built, and in process of building, no less than Seven Roman Church edifices in Chicago. One of these, now building, will be worth $100,000, and two others, already erected, are estimated to be worth $50,000 each.

ROME AS IT IS. Rome, as it appears from a recent census, contains a population of 175,000, divided into 54 parishes, and amongst them are 29 bishops, 1280 priests, 2082 monks and members of religious orders, 1689 nuns, and 537 ecclesiastical pupils.

The entire sum of money raised by the churches of Great Britain for missionary purposes is about $1,750,000; by those of America $750,000; making altogether $2,500,000, and yet this sum hardly exceeds the annual gifts of the Kalloo's Temple, Calcutta.

The King of Prussia, at his own expense, circulated 307,314 copies of the New Testament, and 3,155 Bibles, among the troops in his army, from July, 1831, to May, 1849.—They were printed in six different languages.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those part in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Tunnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus we built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 28, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. R. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Duman, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.
JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

CELIBACY AND CHASTITY.

The New York Sunday Times says that one favorite project of the Pope has been to concede to the clergy the right to marry; and that Cardinal Wiseman has suggested to him that great numbers of the clergy in England and the United States would join the church, if they could be admitted to holy orders and retain their wives. We do not know whether such is his wish, but if so, he will fail in the design, and we are not certain, though Protestants assert it, that it would improve the morals of the clergy. It is as often found that married men are unchaste as single men; and in many instances, especially in missionary labors, wives and families might be serious embarrassments to priests. That it were a great sacrifice for a man to live alone, to separate himself from family and friends, to die with the termination of himself, leaving none behind him of his own flesh and blood in whose life and acts he should still exist, is true; but the clergy should not hesitate at any self denial, setting themselves apart for any sacrifice, and in doing so, hold themselves still above all reproach and suspicion.

If any man supposes that priests, monks, nuns and shakers, are purer, holier or in any sense better, than the average of other people, he must have the bumps of reverence and credulity fully developed.

That the design alluded to will fail, we think is quite probable; and perhaps it is best that it should. If any one system could embody all the beautiful superstitions, and at the same time exclude all the horribles and absurdities, the consequence would be a grand rush in that direction. But such a state of things does not exist. This feature of celibacy in the Roman church, will operate, in this country, as one of the disagreeable and repulsive aspects, and so tend somewhat to retard its growth.

The writer of the article in the Sunday Times, betrays his sympathy with the anti-scriptural idea that a christian minister should be in any way morally different from other good men. That is a false idea, as applied to ministers. As to priests, the old testament regulated, but encouraged their marriages.

A TOUCHING INCIDENT.—The affection of Indian parents for their children, and the deference which they pay to the aged, is a beautiful and touching trait in their character.

One extremely cold, wintry day as I was huddled with my little ones over the stove, the door softly unclosed, and the moccasined foot of an Indian crossed the floor. I raised my head, for I was too much accustomed to their sudden appearance at any hour to feel alarmed, and perceived a small woman standing silently and respectfully before me, wrapped in a large blanket. The moment she caught my eye she dropped the folds of covering from around her, and laid at my feet the attenuated figure of a boy, about twelve years of age, who was in the last stage of consumption.

'Papouse die,' she said, mournfully clasping her hands against her breast, and looking down upon the suffering lad with the most heartfelt expression of maternal love, while large tears trickled down her dark face. 'Moodie's squaw save papouse—poor Indian woman be much glad.'

Her child was beyond all human aid. I looked anxiously upon him, and knew, by the pinched up features and purple hue of his wasted cheek that he had not many hours to live. I could only answer with tears her agonizing appeal to my skill.

'Try and save him! All die but him.'—(She held up five of her fingers.) 'Brought him all the way from Mutta Lake* upon his back, for white squaw to cure.'

'I cannot cure him, my poor friend. He is in God's care; in a few hours he will be with Him.'

The child was seized with a dreadful fit of coughing, which I expected would terminate his frail existence. I gave him a teaspoonful of current jelly, which he took with avidity, but could not retain a moment on his stomach.

'Papouse die,' murmured the pooor woman, alone—alone! No papouse; the mother all alone.'

She began re-adjusting the poor sufferer in her blanket. I got her some food, and begged her to stay and rest herself; but she was too desstressed to eat, and too restless to remain.—She said little, but her face expressed the keenest anguish, she took up her mournful load, pressed for a moment his wasted, burning hand in hers, and left the room.

My heart followed her a long way on her melancholy journey. Think what that woman's love must have been for that dying son, when she had carried a lad of his age six miles, through the deep snow, upon her back, on such a day, in the hope of my being able to do him some good. Poor heart-broken mother! I learned from Joe Muskrat's squaw some days after that the boy died a few minutes after Elizabeth Iron, his mother, got home.—Roughing in the Bush. By Mrs. Moodie.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE,

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

The Fall Session of this Institute will be held in the VESTRY of the 1st Congregational Church in EXETER. The exercises will commence on MONDAY, Oct. 31st, at 10 o'clock A. M., and close on Saturday, November 5th. The usual hours for commencing will be half past 8 o'clock in the morning, and 2 and 7 o'clock P. M.

The services of the following eminent instructors are engaged:

Prof. DANA P. COLBURN, in Arithmetic and Geography;
Prof. J. G. HOYT, in Algebra;
" S. S. GREEN, of Brown University, in Grammar;
Prof. T. J. WHITTAKER, in Drawing and Penmanship;
DANIEL BARNARD, Esq., in reading;
JAMES W. CLARK, in Music;
CALVIN CUTTER, M. D., in Physiology and Hygiene.

There will be a lecture on Monday Evening, by Rev. ASA MANN, of Exeter. The other evenings will be occupied by Lectures of a general character, by some of the Instructors, on subjects connected with their respective departments.

Each member of the Institute is requested to have present a Bible, Dictionary, Russell's School Reader or Town's Fourth Reader, and a small Blank-book; and to have his or her full name and residence written on a slip of paper or card, ready to hand to the Committe of Reception, on entering the Institute, so as to expedite the organization. Arrangements will be made for commodious boarding places, at reasonable rates.

Committee of Arrangements, Visitation and Report: Rev. A. MANN; WM. G. PERRY, M.D., C. F. GERRY, A. B., and E. G. DALTON, A. M.

Arrangements have been made to render the institute every way worthy of the hearty support of the Teachers of the County. The interests of our Common Schools demand such a support. It is therefore earnestly desired that every resident teacher of the County, and those residing in other counties who propose to teach in this, young and old,—the patriarchs of the profession, as well as the fresh candidates for its hard earned honors, should be present at the opening of the Institute, and continue to its close.

Prudential Committees are respectfully requested to defer the commencement of the Winter Schools so far as to allow the Teachers to attend the Institute; and it is hoped that they will encourage their attendance. And the Commissioner invites the attendance of Superintending and Prudential Committees and parents, of the older pupils in our Schools, and of the friends of our Common Schools generally, upon the Institute.

☞ The Committees and other citizens, who receive circulars, are requested to see that they are suitably distributed through their towns, and posted up in the most public places.

School Commissioner for Rockingham County.

FRIDAY, OCT. 21, 1853.

A SAVORY DISH OF POLITICS.

The Richmond Enquirer, quoted and approved by the N. H. Patriot, says, of President Pierce's appointments, &c.

No compromise of principle or dereliction of duty is involved in this policy, or can be imputed to the administration. We have the distinct and emphatic declaration of President Pierce that he would appoint no man to office who does not honestly endorse the Baltimore platform, and would summarily cashier any individual who manifests the least sympathy with abolitionism—we have the energetic action of the United States marshals in the execution of the fugitive slave law and the cordial sanction and support of their conduct by the cabinet, as a guarantee of the faithful enforcement of the safeguards of Southern rights by the present administration.

The Manchester American, a whig paper, says:

Mr. Andrew Dearborn of Concord has been appointed to a place in the Boston Custom House. He is a free-soiler, and has been, within two years the candidate of that party for the legislature.

To this, the New Hampshire Patriot replies:

The above is entirely false; the gentleman referred too has not "been appointed to a place in the Boston Custom House," but if he had been, it would not have been so gross "an insult and an outrage upon the sterling Democracy of Concord" as was the appointment of a leading whig to the best office under our City Government—an appointment made through the influence of the man who first published this story about Dearborn.

The Manchester Democrat (Free,) says:

The dodge of a few of the hunker press in denying the appointment of Mr. Dearborn, to a clerkship in the Boston Custom House, is characteristic. They cannot deny that he has been employed for several weeks past, and of course gets his pay. If his name is not on the list of new appointments, it is because the threats of Burke, Barton & Co. have scared the Collector out of an open record of the fact.

The President has appointed Fisher Ames Hildreth, Postmaster at Lowell, vice Thomas P. Goodhue, deceased. Mr. Hildreth is a well known politician and editor of the Coalition School. The appointment indicates that the sympathies of Gen. Pierce are with the coalitionists, and of course with Gen Wilson as the next Governor of that State.—Our "hard shell" neighbors may as well "cave in" at once, and crawl upon the Free Soil platform with as good grace as possible. Before six months you have got to do it, or be denounced at Washington as rebels.—Mark that.

The Concord Independent Democrat, under the head of "the New Shibboleth," gets off this libel on the President.

We hear it rumored that since the "hard" bolt in New York, Gen. Pierce is strongly inclined to give up the Baltimore Platform altogether, and place the administration plump and flat upon the platform laid down in his celebrated speech at New Boston, and hereafter no person will be appointed or retained in office unless he gives satisfactory evidence that he "loathes the Fugitive Slave Law."

The Richmond Enquirer remarks:

Disaffection and disorganization are no new things in the Democratic party. Disappointed aspirants for political distinction have come forward under almost every democratic administration to preach a crusade of reformation and purity; and, with scarcely an exception, they have found themselves soon in harmonious co-operation with their former political enemies. These movements are always embarrassing until they result in open coalitions with the enemy, and then they are overwhelmed by the united energies and power of the true men of the democracy.

And lastly, the N. H. Patriot moralizes thus:

The history of the Democratic party, even within the remembrance of comparatively young men, affords instructive lessons as to the fate of factionists and disorganizers—lessons which might now be studied with profit by those who are fomenting hostility to the administration under the shallow pretence of correcting its illegal errors. From the days of Gen. Jackson until the present, such movements have frequently been made by disaffected men in our ranks, both in respect to the national administration and the party in our own State. The ruling motive has been the same in all cases—insatiate ambition to rule the party and monopolize the honors and profits of office. And the result has invariably been the same to the leaders in these factions and disorganizing movements; they have ultimately found themselves in the ranks of the enemy.

New Periodicals.—The Popular Educator, No. 6, for October, 1851; 48 pages quarto, price 25 cts., published by F. Parker Boston and Lowell: contains an engraving, of the Crater of Vesuvius, and other illustrations; and a large amount of valuable scientific matter in a handsome style of execution.

Practical Draughtsman's Book of Industrial Design, No. 4: New York: Stringer & Townsend, publishers. Where are the other numbers?

Ohio—A friend in Ohio writes to the Manchester Democrat under the date of Oct. 15th that the Whigs are utterly prostrate in that State; and that the Democrats, though with a heavy majority in both branches of the Legislature, have a deadly feud in their ranks which no engineery of caucusing can curb or control. There will be open war when the legislature meets in January.

Rapid Work.—A negro in Red River County, Texas, committed murder on Monday, Sept. 20, was indicted on Tuesday, tried on Wednesday, and hung on Thursday.

Suicide.—There seems to be an absolute mania for suicide just now. We record a great many cases; but do not mention all of them. One has just occurred in this State.—Mrs. E. W. Bartlett, of Bath, committed self-destruction on the afternoon of Monday last, by cutting her throat. Her husband had been gone from home, and on his return, not finding her as usual, made search, and at length found her under a bed, weltering in blood, then flowing warm, and life not entirely extinct. She leaves five small children to mourn the loss of a mother. There is no cause assigned for the act, she having been always, to appearance, perfectly sane, and had just returned from Manchester, where she had been on a visit to her friends. The act itself, however, is to our mind, strong proof of insanity.

HORSE EXHIBITION.

The Boston Chronicle contains a report of the great National Horse Show at Springfield, Mass., in the form of a letter, dated the 19th, at 1 P. M., from which the following are extracts:

The marshal ordered all the horses on the ground to muster on the track, which duty occupied nearly half an hour. The half mile could not hold them in single file, so the greater part of the line was two deep. The whole number on the ground, as we were enabled to count them on their passing round, was 239, of which two-thirds were stallions.—There was one four horse and 24 double teams, finely matched, and two draft teams. The display was one of the most exciting and beautiful we ever witnessed.

So soon as all were ranked up in order, at the request of Hon. Marshall P. Wilder, three stunning cheers were given for the "First Great National Exhibition of Horses," ever held in the world.

The assemblage of horses then encircled the track once, after which they were ordered to take what style of progress they preferred. Some good trotting sports followed, and universal Jehuism was in the ascendent.

As I came down hill from the Armory, I noticed more than a dozen horses proceeding towards the show ground, none of whom had previously been there. The obliging secretary informs me that there are now 350 entries—which number will embrace over 400 horses, and the list is not yet filled by a long way.

A PROCLAMATION

For a Day of Thanksgiving and Praise:

BY THE GOVERNOR.

The revolving seasons again remind us of that time-honored, annual New England Festival, Thanksgiving.

Again God has blessed the labors of the husbandman in the products of the field, constraining us to acknowledge that although we may plant and water, it is He alone that giveth the increase. Every department of industry has yielded us ample returns; we again have been the receivers of that unfailing bounty which supplyeth every want; and while some of the States of our Union have felt the blighting scourge of pestilence, scattering death and sorrow wherever it went, yet we have been happily preserved from the ravages of epidemics within our borders. Peace, health and plenty; religious, moral, industrial, scientific and literary instruction; freedom, order, prosperity and the benign influence of the gospel of Christ, are the common possessions of the people of New Hampshire, without an intervening element portentous of their interruption or abridgement. These benefactions are sufficient incentives to a renewed observance of the day with increased fervor.—God has been truly good to us, and in return should have the best affection of our hearts.

By a people thus favored, the ennobling sentiment of gratitude should find expression in public assemblies as well as in private households.

That the people of this State may have an opportunity to express in a collective manner their grateful acknowledgements to our Heavenly Father for the many inestimable favors they have received from His bountiful hand during the past year, I do, with the advice of the Council, appoint Thursday, the twenty-fourth day of November next, to be observed as a day of Thanksgiving and Praise throughout the State; and the people are requested to abstain from their accustomed avocations, and to assemble in their respective places of religious worship, and there, with united and fervent hearts, to render such ascriptions of thanksgiving and praise to the Almighty as are due to his preserving care, and becoming in us as rational, accountable and dependent beings.

Given at the Council Chamber, in Concord, on the twelfth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, and of the Independence of the United States the seventy-eighth.

NOAH MARTIN.

By His Excellency the Governor, with advice of Council.

JOHN L. HADLEY, Secretary of State.

Liquor Dealers in New York.—The hotel keepers, grocers, importers, and other dealers in liquor in New York, had a meeting on Tuesday evening, to organize an effectual opposition through the ballot box to the proposed Maine law. After some conversation as to the best means to operate, several subcommittees were appointed whose business it is to canvas the wards and organize all who agree with them into joint associations, so as to secure as large a vote as possible against the Maine law candidates. They also propose to form a central organization, and by small weekly or monthly assessments, raise a fund to pay counsel to defend any legal points that may be raised against them. The Tribune says:—"There are already several associations formed, and the probability is that the entire liquor selling interest will work as one man at the polls."

It is one of the strongest interests in that city, and if it can combine the consumers in united action with the sellers, any party which it opposes must be defeated in the city for a time. But a city government, organized by and from such a party as this liquor coalition must be, would tear itself in pieces before the year went out.

LOCAL.

MUNICIPAL.

In Board of Aldermen, last evening, the city clerk reported that the old school house at Gravelly Ridge had been sold for $54, to Joseph Wiggin.

Wm. B. English requested permission to give a Concert on Saturday evening—refused.

A gas light was asked for on corner of Fleet and Court sts.—granted.

The Collector was directed to act as the Solicitor should advise concerning a delinquent tax payer.

Committee of School Dist. No. 3, requested a furnace for Haven school—referred.

Committee of School Dist. No. 1 represented that Miss Ham's room in the Franklin school house was not large enough—referred.

Reported for the Chronicle.

COURT COMMON PLEAS—Rock. Co.

Portsmouth, Thursday, Oct. 20.

A new trial was commenced, of the old case, Scammon vs. Selectmen of Stratham.—This is an action of trespass for taking personal property of the plaintiff in the usual manner, by the Collector of Taxes under a warrant from the Selectmen, for the over payment of taxes assessed upon the plff's estate. The defence is that the Selectmen illegally doomed the plf. for omitting to give in the full amount of his taxable property in the inventory which he exhibited to them.

LECTURES TO YOUNG MEN.

Having received an invitation signed by about one hundred of the young men of Portsmouth, to deliver another Series of Lectures to Young Men, on Sabbath Evenings, permit me to say, through your paper, that it will give me pleasure to comply with this request. The time of the first Lecture will be announced in the papers.

WILLIAM LAMSON.

Portsmouth, Oct. 19.

The above announcement will be gratifying to a large number of young men and others. Mr. Lamson is indefatigable in his exertions for the young, and his last year's course of lectures evinced much study and thought, and were finely delivered. They were very fully attended, and we are glad to see were not forgotten. With the temperance meetings at the Temple once a fortnight, it is to be hoped there will be some house of public worship open every Sunday evening during the winter.

☞ Mr. Aurin M. Payson, A. M., yesterday entered upon his duties as preceptor of the Male High School in this city.

Capt. Furber—An error has made a captain of this name for the schr. Eliza, whose captain's name really is Andrew Frisbee jr.

☞ Mrs. Mary And Brown has been appointed Postmistress of Seabrook.

GREAT FALLS & CONWAY R. R.

The annual meeting of this corporation was held at the Town Hall, in Great Falls, on the 12th inst. A good number of the stockholders were present, and perfect unanimity of feeling prevailed. The report of the Directors shows a decided improvement in the business and prospects of the road since the last report. The grading and masonry between Milton and Wakefield is nearly completed. The Great Falls and South Berwick Branch, connecting with the Eastern road, is under contract, and the work is going on rapidly.

A. A. Perkins was chosen Clerk of the corporation, and D. G. Rollins, S. D. Whitehouse, Oliver Hill, Asa Beacham, John Moulton, Samuel Horn, John Smith, Thomas M. Wentworth, and John Tredick, were chosen Directors.

The Directors were authorized to make arrangements with the Branch and P., S. & P. Roads for running trains to Portsmouth, and the Eastern road.—Great Falls Journal.

Daring Robbery. On Friday morning last, the house of Mr. Joseph Dudley, of Rollinsford was entered by a robber, who knocked Mrs. Dudley, (who was alone at the time,) down and robbed her of about twelve dollars, and then left for parts unknown, before any alarm could be given. The selectmen of Rollinsford have offered a reward of $200 for the detection of the robber.

Caution.—A colored woman, calling herself Ellen Gilchrist, and representing herself to be a fugitive slave from Canada, on a visit to the States for her health, came to Concord (says the Democrat,) on Monday last, from Manchester. It is believed that she is an imposter who has travelled the country for a few years past, under various names. She is tall and slender, with stooping shoulders, light yellow complexion and black eyes. She is an inveterate user of opium and tobacco. She left town Monday afternoon, for Manchester, but has probably sought some other place for her imposition ere this.

Spunky.—A Virginian, speculating on the posibility of a division of the surplus revenue among the several States, says: "We should rejoice to see every dime of it sunk in the Potomac, rather than to hear of the reception of a solitary cent of it by Virginia."

An exchange wisely remarks that no dust affects the eyes so much as gold dust. We might also add, that no glasses affect the eyes more unfavorably than glasses of brandy.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.

The steamship Asia, which left Liverpool on Saturday, Oct. 8th, arrived at 3 this afternoon, with three days later intelligence, and 162 passengers; among them Rowland Hill.

The ship Annie Jane, of Quebec, 1300 tons, with a valuable cargo, and 400 souls, passengers and crew, was wrecked off the Hebrides, and 300 persons perished. She left the Mersey Sept. 9th, for Quebec.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times of Friday evening says, the confirmation of the declaration of war by Turkey has reached Paris.

The Paris correspondent of the London Post, on the same evening, says that the Porte has fixed four weeks as the furthest time in which the evacuation of the Principalities must take place.

A terrible accident happened on the Great Southern and Western Railroad, near Dublin, by which 14 persons were killed, and 50 were wounded—many being horribly mangled.

Whitworth & Co.'s extensive mills at Lee Bridge, Yorkshire, were burnt down. Loss from $300,000 to $400,000. Fourteen hundred hands were thrown out of employment.

The cholera was committing greater ravages than ever, among the Russian troops on the Danube.

Before Nicholas left Olmutz, a courier was despatched to St. Petersburg with orders to raise a new levy of troops.

A corps of 18,000 troops was to leave Toulon to reinforce the French army in Rome.

Martin Koszta embarked from Smyrna on the 23d ult., for the United States.

According to the best accounts, which are yet imperfect, it appears that the Sultan has not signed the Declaration of War, but the Grand Council had voted that war against Russia be declared, leaving to the discretion of the Executive when to proclaim hostilities.

The Council merely resolved that no more concessions could be made, and that preparations for war must be carried on with increased energy.

Many rumors were current, all doubtful, that General Cambert will go with 10,000 men to Constantinople; that the French and English will occupy the forts on the Bosphorus, and that the combined fleets will reach Constantinople on the 7th inst.

It is authentically stated that the Czar at Olmutz, declared his strong wish for peace, to enable him to back out of the difficulty.—Nothing is really known with certainty.

The cholera had caused from 50 to 100 deaths on board ships Isaac Wright and Silas Greenman.

Mr. Soule had arrived at Madrid on the 27th ult., and would be received by the government in a friendly manner.

LATEST.—Saturday, 10 A. M.—Nothing more definite by mail this morning. The Times letter writer from Paris says, that the French and English governments had notified Russia in strong notes that it is now too late to issue more modifications, and that France and England would support the integrity of Turkey.

Commander Inglefield had returned from the Arctic regions, but brings no intelligence of Sir John Franklin.

Commander McClure had sailed through from Bherings Straits to Davis's Straits, thus settling the question of the Northwest passage.

Cotton is again dull, from the Eastern warlike news; prices were irregular in all, but middling, being variously quoted from scarce a quotation, to 1-3d lower on the week.

The corn market was quicker. Speculation had ceased, prices favoring the buyer to the extent of one and two pence on wheat, and sixpence on flour. Indian corn unchanged. American Western Canal flour 33s 6d a 34s; Baltimore, Ohio and Philadelphia 34s a 34s 6d. Indian Corn—Yellow 39s a 41s; white 40s a 42s.

Freights from Liverpool to the United States were rather firmer. Dead weight was more plentiful. Steerage passengers were tolerably abundant at about £3 10s.

FROM HALIFAX AND NEWFOUNDLAND.—A grand Agricultural Exhibition was held at Halifax on the 3d and 4th inst., concluding with a dinner on the 4th, at which the toasts and speeches occupy several columns of the Halifax papers. Sir George F. Seymour, the Vice Admiral on the station, being called out, spoke at some length, in the course of his remarks, he said:

"As to your Fisheries, we know that they are inexhaustible—all I am afraid of is that your difficulties are inexhaustible also.—(Cheers and laughter). If, however, your people would embark in this pursuit with the same spirit, and build the superior class of vessels which the Americans employ, I have no doubt you would soon be in advance of all competition in your waters."

The papers from Newfoundland express fears of great distress there the coming winter for want of provisions.

The St. Johns Ledger of the 30th ult. says:

We understand that no less than 50 bbls. of mackerel have been taken at White Bay within a very recent period;—we hope this may be the precursor of a general return of this delicious fish to these coasts, after an absence of five-and-twenty years.

TRAVEL.—The noon train from Boston today the 17th, and the noon train from New York on Saturday, each had nine full cars, or about 600 passengers, and the other trains in proportion. The receipts of the railroad thus far in October show a larger increase over last year than any previous month.—Hartford Times, 17th.

THE LATE PRIZE FIGHT.—The Albany Register of Tuesday says:—"We are gratified to learn that Governor Seymour, with a promptness becoming his character and position, has taken energetic measures to bring all parties and accessories in the late brutal prize-fight at Boston Corner to justice, and to cause such punisement to be administered to them as the violated laws and outraged decencies of life require. Governor Seymour, we understand, has corresponded with, and secured the co-operation of the authorities of Massachusetts and Connecticut in enforcing the law against the offenders."

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the fail consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years! And what days and nights of anguish we might not have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title-page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband can be willing to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, together with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be Ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

ON A WEDDING.

You are soon to be married, Mary;
This hour, as I silent lie
In the dreamy light of the morning,
Your wedding hour draws nigh.
Miles off, you are rising, dressing,
To stand 'mid a bridal throng,
In the same old rooms we play'd in,
You and I—when we were young.

Your bridemaids—they were our playmates;
Those old rooms, every wall,
Could speak of our childish frolics,
Loves, jealousies, great and small.
Do you mind how pansies changed we,
And smiled at the word "forget?"
'Twas a girl's romance—yet somewhere
I have kept my pansy yet.

Do you mind our verses written
Together? our dreams of fame?
Of love—how we'd share all secrets,
When that sweet mystery came?
It is no mystery now, Mary;
It was unveiled year by year:
Till—this your marriage morning,
And I—I am lying here.

I cannot picture your face, Mary,
The face of the bride to-day;
You have outgrown my knowledge
In years that have slipp'd away;
I see but the girlish likeness,
Brown eyes, and brown falling hair;
God knows, I did love you dearly,
And was proud that you were fair!

Many speak my name, Mary,
While yours in home's silence lies:
The future I read in toil's guerdon,
You will read in your children's eyes.
The past—the same past with either—
Is to you a soft, pleasant scene:
But I cannot see it clearly,
For the graves that rise between.

I am glad you are happy, Mary!
These tears, did you see them fall,
Would show, though you have forgotten,
I have remember'd all.
And though my cup is left empty,
And yours with its joys runs o'er,
God keep you its sweetness, Mary,
Brimming forevermore!

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves. Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidence of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d3w6m je22*

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of the adjacent vicinity where this compound is in potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.
JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE:

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"[$00 05] On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.
WILLIAM DEVINES."

CHINESE DEDICATION.

Yesterday morning, says the San Francisco Herald, the Chinese dedicated their Joss house, which is situated on the westerly side of Telegraph Hill. Through the politeness of Mr. Norman Assing, we were invited to witness the ceremonies. At sunrise, the gorgeous crimson banner of the Celestials was hoisted on a flag staff at the corner of the house, and the Chinese began to assemble in crowds about nine o'clock. The performances commenced by placing three tablets or signs, one over the top of the door, and the other two, upright, on either side. As soon as these were fast, fire was applied to about a thousand Chinese crackers and squibs. Then two carved images or josses, resembling hideous owls, the presiding deities of the place, were placed on either side the steps, and another tremendous explosion of crackers ensued.

The company then entered the building. The centre is a quadrangular court, having on two sides rooms and apartments for the residedts; opposite the entrance is a recess, like the stage of a theatre; on this stage were the priests and priestesses, some ten or twelve, and a band of music. The officials were dressed in the most gorgeous robes of embroidered satin and silk that can be imagined, in the same style as shown in the pictures.

An ear-splitting blast from the broken trumpet called the meeting to order; then followed in overture by the band, a most horrible discord from gongs, trumpets, cymbals, fiddles and screaming pipes. It seemed as if the Goddess of Discord had sent her favorite imps to blow this sorry strain as a grand finale of the winding up of the discordant sounds of the late political strife. At the end of this symphony, the performers came forward two at a time, to the front of the stage, and kneeling down, made adoration to a sacred tablet; they followed a recitation and chorus, and another band performance. Then a priest and priestesses stood with their backs to each other, and recited a response.

A little doll, as we supposed, a young joss, indicative of the infant state of the new building, and probably the presiding divinity of the place, was introduced; and to it the priest made a long harrangue. The whole company then danced round it, waving their fans and shaking their horse tail beards, the band in the meantime in full blast, while crackers were exploding out side the house. The sacred tablet was then introduced, and the high priest, after making to it an invocation, extended his arms and made to the audience a short address, to the effect, as we are informed, that all good friends of China wished success to the new house. After he had ceased speaking, the band struck up, an immense explosion of crackers succeeded, and the performances closed.

The house is named Yung Wa. These ceremonies were exceedingly novel and intiresting, and we could not help thinking while there, if some of the zealous friends of the missionaries could have been present, they would have found that we have as ample a field for missionary laborers in our midst, as to send them to the Sandwich Islands, and distant regions in the South Seas. Opposite the house, the new Chinese theatre is erected, which promises to be a very novel place of attraction.

THE OPERA.

The question is raised by the New-York Herald, whether the National Opera can succeed in this country.—The writer thinks it cannot, and offers the following facts and reasons against it.

The opera, or musical drama, originated in Greece many centuries ago; but then its form and qualities were rude and barbarian. The germ of opera was the chorus of the old Greek tragedy. It was revived in Italy in the middle ages, and may be considered a natural emanation from the splendor, the beauty, and the morality of the Catholic Church and the catholic clergy in that period. During the last few centuries it has grown and become developed till it is now almost a social and artistic institution in every great capital of Europe, connected with its highest classes, and partaking of the policy of the government and the forms of society.

With some few exceptions, the Italian opera in Europe has presented the highest characteristics of musical excellence, of artistic skill and genius, mixed and blended with voluptuousness of manners and general immorality of principles in social life. The whole line of artists—male and female—partake of the characteristics of the privileged classes, and contribute to their pleasures, either as artists in public or as favorites in private life. The addition of a beautiful, spendid and voluptuous ballet to the musical drama, has only presented a wider developement of the same great social principles which accompany the opera in all the capitals of Europe.

The greatest artists of the age, Grisi and Mario, only presented, in their own history and in their own persons, the same characteristics which have marked the institution of the Italian opera from its origin to the present day. The highest developements of art, music, personal beauty and grace, singularly blended with voluptuousness, corruption, and all that wild enthusiasm of manners which characterize the privileged classes of Europe in the present day; and even with all these fascinations, it is a matter of historical fact that in no capital of Europe does the Italian opera subsist on its own attractions alone.

Every government of the old world has either directly or indirectly to sustain that splendid and voluptuous institution, by large subsidies and subventions of money. And still, with these aids, the recklessness, dissipation, extravagance and wildness of managers and their artists, always tend to sink them in ruin and bankruptcy.

Can such an institution, with such characteristics—beautiful, enchanting, and engaging in one respect; questionable, doubtful, and immoral in another—be blended with and suceed in a Protestant republican country, where religion is spiritual, and not voluptuous as in Italy—where morals are not yet absolutely gone; where society in some of its aspects is only in the first stages of corruption, and where public opinion, guided by strong principles of morality, is yet paramount over all other private influences or interested enterprises?

PAPER PLATFORMS.—The prevalent custom among party leaders and orators, of adhering to political "platforms" by profession, but repudiating them in practice, is well hit off by D. S. Dickinson, in a speech made at a 'Hard' Democratic ratification meeting at Rochester on Thursday evening last. In speaking of the empty "spoils-hunting" declarations with which the ears and votes of the people are so often caught, Mr. Dickinson related the following anecdote:—

"A gentleman in Philadelphia having purchased a large number of wild pigeons, put a dozen alive into a basket, tied a cloth over it, and sent his Irish servant, who had just come over and was quite green, but not so soft, as Irishmen never are, to carry it to his friend in another part of the city, with a note, begging his friend to accept the pigeons as a present. Not knowing what was in the basket, and hearing a fluttering, Pat untied the cloth to look in, and the pigeons flew out and were off. He tied the cloth carefully over again, and went on to the gentleman and delivered his note.—"Ah, my good fellow," said the gentleman, "I see you have a dozen live pigeons for me—give my thanks to your master, and here's a quarter for you." "And is it upon the paper that you said they they were?" enquired Pat. "Certainly," says the gentleman, "the paper says you have a dozen live pigeons." "By St. Patrick," said Pat, "I'm glad you find 'em on the paper, for the ——— a one is there in the basket.

M. ARAGO. The death of this celebrated French astronomer, of which we have intelligence by the Atlantic, will cause a profound sensation throughout the world of science and letters. Arago was in the sixty-eighth year of his age at the time of his death. He entered the Polytechnic at the early age of eighteen, and at twenty was appointed Secretary of the Bureau of longitudes, since which period, with the exception of a few brief interludes, his life has been devoted to astronomy and kindred sciences.

The discoveries of Arago in science have been numerous and important. His determination of the diameter of planets was subsequently adopted by Laplace. His discovery of Colored Polarization, and that of Magnetism by Rotation, gained him the Copley medal. As Secretary of the Academy of Science, he had a vast field for research, and published notices of new applications and discoveries. He was a member of nearly all the scientific societies of Europe, and of some in this country.

It was not alone as a scientific man that Arago achieved celebrity. He was distinguished in literature, in oratory, and in politics. During the brief existence of the provisional Government in France, in 1848, he held the important post of Minster of Marine, and ably discharged its duties. The passing away of such a man may cause less immediate sensation than the death of a King or an Emperor, but all the crowned heads of earth could not fill the real void caused by the withdrawal of so learned, just and noble a spirit from the fields of science, and from among men.—*N. Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, OCT. 22. 1853.

PERSONAL IDENTITY.

Many an unoffending man has been killed, in consequence of being mistaken by his murderer for another intended victim of revenge or cupidity. And not a few innocent persons have been imprisoned and even put to death, for crimes committed by other persons, to whom they bore a real or fancied resemblance.

We have a case of such error before us, which terminated in acquittal. In New York, on the 17th inst., at the Court of General Sessions, a woman named Mary Mason was arraigned for stealing clothes and jewelry from Mrs. Rowland, who testified that she hired the prisoner from an intelligence office, as a domestic, in 1851; that she staid in her house only a few minutes, left, and carried away the stolen goods. She was sure that the prisoner at the bar was the same person that she hired at the intelligence office. Had not seen the defendant since she left the house on the 1st of November, 1851, until within a few days ago. Witness was quite positive that the defendant was the woman she hired, because she knew her by the shape of her face and the expression of her eyes.

Emeline Sackett deposed that she knew the defendant, Mary Mason; was quite sure that she was the woman hired by Mrs. Rowland, the plaintiff, as a servant. Witness lives in the same house with complainant. When the girl came to the house she saw her, and also saw her several times during the day. Witness never saw her since the 1st of November, 1851, until within a few days ago, when she was arrested by the officers, at the instance of Mrs. Howland. She identified the prisoner by her countenance alone.

The keeper of the intelligence office was not so positive, and could not conscientiously swear that the defendant was the person whom he hired to the plaintiff. Her cheek bones were not quite as prominent as those of the woman that the plaintiff engaged at his office.

On the defence, it was averred that the prisoner was born at Albany, is the mother of several children, and was married to her present husband three years, and to her former husband five years, and was never in service during the whole period of her existence.

These facts were proved by her mother, her sister, by a man from whom she had hired a house for the last four years, and by a woman who had boarded with her. And she was of course acquitted. But just suppose, what is quite supposable, that the accusers had pounced on some other person of similar countenance, who could not prove a negative—and great hardship must have ensued from the ignorant perjury of two confident women.

JOHN NEAL ON TEMPERANCE.

We have looked in, vain for some days past, in the State of Maine newspaper, for our friend John Neal's articles against the Maine Law, and bringing out his substitute for it. At last we hear that "the State" refused to publish any more, and so he has gone into the Expositor.

PORTLAND, Oct, 17, 1853.

MR. EXPOSITOR;—Mr. Poor of the State of Maine being afraid to publish the following communication, even with my name to it—under a notion that it may lessen my influence—or inujre my character, I must beg you to give it a place, forthwith, leaving me to take care of my own character in my owu way. JOHN NEAL.

We quote, from Mr. Neal's article, extracts which embody its substance:

What shall be done? The prodigious evils of intemperance being admitted by all—a remedy being wanted by all—and the hopeless inefficiency of what is called "the Maine Law," having been clearly demonstrated in practice, and by facts, as well as arguments, the next question is, what shall be done?

A license law we must have. Nothing else will do. * * *

For the same reason that you license—or regulate by law, for such is the true meaning of a license, the sale of gun powder, the billiard room, or bowling alley, the pawn broker, the pedler, or wood measurer, and weigher and gauger, you should license the grog shop, the gaming table and the brothel. What you cannot stop altogether—or do not desire to stop, it matters little for what reason, you may nevertheless control, so far at least, as to protect the young men and women of this great commonwealth, from the most offensive and alarming of its mischievous or evil tendencies.

We fancy that most respectable liquor dealers will not feel much pleased with Mr. Neal's fancy of placing their business cheek by jowl with gaming tables and brothels. Nor do we suppose that temperance men generally, have great confidence in license laws.

FROM HAYTI.—Letters from Aux Cayes to the 28th ult., state that the yellow fever was raging there, with almost incredible destruction to human life. Of foreigners frequenting that place, 7 out of 10 fall victims to the scourge. Native produce was very high and scarce. Business extremely dull.

A Virginia farmer has introduced successfully, a beautiful variety of wheat, called the White Mediterranean, from which he has obtained the extraordinary yield of forty-two bushels to the acre.

THE NEW YORK HERALD.

The Herald is a great paper, and is said, no doubt truly, to have a great circulation. We use it considerably, and like it for its full reports of trials, meetings, &c. The Herald the 20th contains an editorial, which claims for itself a daily circulation of 52,000, and a Sunday and weekly circulation of 51,000, while it estimates the Daily Times at 17,000, and the Tribune at 13,000.

The whole article is one of the most extraordinary specimens of self-glorification which we have ever read, not even excepting Godey's puffs for his own Ladies' Book.

The Herald says of itself:

"Of the degree of favor it enjoys, some conjecture may be formed, from the fact that the rivalry between the Times and Tribune is now a mere struggle for the surplus subscribers whom we are unable, from want of mechanical means, to supply with a morning paper."

And here is what it says of others:

"Take the bundle of newspapers received at this office every morning from all parts of the country, and see how much reason, how much logic, how much instruction, how much sense are to be found in them. A sorry show, in truth! Squabbles between Snooks and Jenkins, political discussions reduced to mere scrambles for plunder, puffs of everything in Heaven above, in the earth beneath, or in the waters under the earth, disquisitions stolen from the New York papers—without a spark of original intellect—the whole conveyed in a heavy and "slangular" style—such is the epitome of their "editorial matter." And yet the people of Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, &c., are not generally considered to be intellectually inferior to their fellow citizens of new York; though it seems they cannot produce a first class newspaper, and have to rely in this respect, upon the metropolis.

If the Herald speaks the truth of its "bundle of newspapers" received daily, then it must have a very bad exchange. And if its writers fancy that their paper is so immensely superior to all others, and that all the sparks of intellect in the country are found within their own skulls, their bump of self esteem must be most inordinately extended, and cover the whole crown.

STATE OF MAINE.

A PROCLAMATION

For a Day of Thanksgiving and Praise:

BY THE GOVERNOR.

With the advice of the Executive Council, I appoint Thursday, the seventeenth day of November next, to be observed by the people of this State as a day of public thanksgiving and praise.

We are again to approach the season of the year which has long been marked by the recurrence of New England's "family festival." It again draws near to us, laden with precious memories and joyous anticipations. It calls upon us to gather up and re-unite the scattered links of the chain which binds us to fatherland and home. The recollections of childhood and the more hallowed associations of maturer life, cannot fail to ensure the observance of this time-honored festival.

But amidst the enjoyments and festivities to which the day gives birth, gratitude to HIM who affords us the occasion and opportunity for this public expression of Thanksgiving and Praise should occupy the chief place in our hearts. The pestilence that walketh in darkness and the destruction that wasteth at noon-day have not visited us. Blessings innumerable have marked each day as it passed, and the year is crowned with his mercy.—For all these mercies and blessings, let us as individuals and a people, be thankful.

Surrounded by the comforts of life, the endearments of family and home, let not the poor, the homeless, or the stranger within our gate be forgotten. Let the solitary heart be gladdened, and the bereaved heart comforted. Let the naked be clothed, the hungry fed, and the oppressed set free. Let our gratitude to God be manifested in works of love and charity to man, that the hearts of all may be filled with Thanksgiving, and all lips utter His Praise.

Given at the Council Chamber, in Augusta, on the 17th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, and of the Independence of the United States the seventy-eighth.

WM. G. CROSBY.

FROM WASHINGTON,—It is reported that Ithamar W. Beard, of Lowell, is appointed Sub-Treasurer of Boston, in place of Mr. Davis, who declines the appointment.

It is reported that information had been received at Washington, that Lord Howden, British Minister in Spain, had succeeded in making a treaty with Spain, by which the English cruisers are to be permitted to search the plantations of Cuba, for newly imported slaves.

DEATH OF ISAAC ILSLEY.—The Portland Argus announces the death of Isaac Ilsley, which took place in that city on Monday evening. He was 88 years of age. He was appointed Collector of Portland by Jefferson, and held the office till some time after the close of J. Q. Adams's administration. He left a large estate.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—Madame Sontag, in stepping ashore from the Staten Island Ferry Boat Friday evening, fell between the boat and the wharf, and was badly bruised. A little more headway in the boat, would have crushed her to death. She was taken to an apothecary shop; and afterwards proceeded to Brooklyn, where she gave a concert, while suffering much pain.—N. Y. Evening Post.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—There were one or two failures yesterday, among the dry goods dealers. Messrs. Diamond & Co., sugar refiners, carrying on business in Bristol R. I. have also suspended payment. Their liabilities are reported to be about a half a million.

DEATH OF JERRY.—Jerry, the fugitive slave, who was taken by his rescuers to Kingston, Canada, died on the 10th instant. Several of the Abolitionists who rescued him from the hands of the United States authorities, have yet to undergo a trial for the offence.

LOCAL.

FREE DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

The Free Democrats of this city met on Thursday evening last. Dr. Perry was chairman, and Wm. A. Conant Secretary.

The following gentlemen were appointed a prudential and nominating committee, viz.: Ward 1, J. P. Morse, E. M. Robbins, Benj. Cheever: Ward 2, Elisha Tripp, C. C. Whittemore, S. Gilbert: Ward 3, A. T. Joy, Wm. G. Nowell, T. J. Whittem.

The following delegates were appointed to attend the State Convention:

Brackett Hutchings, John Goodrich, Elisha Tripp, E. M. Robbins, C. C. Whittemore, Daniel L. Stover, William B. Lowd, William Claggett, Joseph H. Berry, Emery A. Dresser, Samuel Sherive, F. C. Staples, Wm. R. Hatch, William Cheever.

The meeting passed Resolutions,—approving the Pittsburg Platform of 1852; disapproving the two Baltimore Platforms; condemning the fugitive slave act as a violation of the Constitution and the law of God; and engaging to organize in the defence of freedom.

They also passed a resolution, eulogizing the Free Democratic members of our last legislature, for saving thousands of dollars to the State, by resisting the extravagance of other parties,—and another pronouncing it "inexpedient for the Free Democracy of Portsmouth to coalesce in the coming election with any other political party, for the choice to important offices of any persons who subscribe to the Baltimore Platforms."

Reported for the Chronicle.

COURT COMMON PLEAS—ROCK. Co.

PORTSMOUTH, Friday, Oct. 21.

The case, Scammon vs. Selectmen of Stratham, was given to the jury. Verdict for defts.

State vs. Charles H. Doe. The Deft. was indicted for breaking and entering the store of Arthur Branscom, in April last at New Market, with intent to steal, and taking about $100 in Bank bills. Upon being arraigned and called upon to answer to the indictment, he answered that he would not contend with the State.

No. 119. Sarah Adams vs. James Hill: this trial commenced in the forenoon. The action is to recover Dower in the farm of the deft. in Greenland, which he purchased of the late Samel Adams, deceased, to whom the plf. was married. The plea was that the said Adams had not such an estate in the premises as to entitle the plf. to Dower therein. Verdict for plff.

Both Juries were discharged, and the Court adjourned over to Monday, on account of the funeral of Hon. Ichabod Bartlett.

☞ At a meeting of the Rockingham Bar, in this city, on Thursday last, J. Warren Towle Esq., formerly of Epping, was admitted to practice in courts of this State. Mr. Towle will open an office in this city.

FOREST TREES.

Our forest trees, under the influence of autumnal frosts and sunshine, present a vast variety of the most beautiful colors. Among them, the sugar maple and beech are conspicuous for the splendor and richness of their foliage. Within less than an hour's walk from Market Square, may be seen a few of the most magnificent sugar maples which are any where to be found.

These are on the Sagamore Farm, a few rods from the bridge, on the eastern side of the gate. One of them, the largest, is of symmetrical form, and beautiful in its foliage, though quite advanced in years. It used to be freely and frequently tapped, about the close of the last century, by former tenants.

GEOLOGY OF SCRIPTURE.—Rev. Mr. Willis, of the Universalist Church in this city, has been delivering, for several successive Sundays, a series of morning lectures, on the Mosaic Account of Creation, as elucidated and confirmed by modern discoveries in Geology. The closing lecture of this series will be delivered to-morrow morning. The whole course has been highly interesting and gratifying to the hearers, and is worthy of repetition to audiences elsewhere.

A GOOD CORN YEAR.—Our Indian Corn, in all this region, has yielded a heavy, handsome crop. We have now before us a little trace of a dozen ears of corn, from the farm of Mr. Oliver Philbrick, in Kittery, all the ears of which measure about a foot in length.

☞ In yesterday's Chronicle we published Gov. Martin's proclamation for Thanksgiving in this State. To-day we give the proclamation of Gov. Crosby, for the benefit of our readers in Maine. Our readers in New Hampshire need not read it;—but not a few of them hope to eat part of a turkey that day.

☞ Fine Paintings, Statuary, Furniture, &c.—at Auction this day at 10 o'clock, by H. F. Wendell, State street.

Furniture Auction by Towle & Co., Congress block, same hour.

OUTRAGOUS.—As a young lady just out of the Portsmouth Steam Mill, was passing from Parker into Islington street, about seven o'clock Friday evening, a miserable booby of a fellow, perhaps eighteen or twenty year old, separated himself from four others with whom he was walking, and as the lady passed him, inflicted a severe blow with a knife or other sharp instrument, across her nose and cheek. The fellow is unknown, but should be ferreted out.

P. & C. R. R.—The meeting of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, at Raymond on Friday, was well attended. It was voted that the Directors issue certiffcates of the Preferred Stock recently authorized by the Legislature. About two thousand shares were taken on the spot.

INFORMATION.—On Wednesday, says the Chronicle, the case, State vs. Wm. Currier, for resisting an officer, was taken up and finished; but how finished we are not informed. —Journal.

In the same paragraph, part of which is above quoted, the Chronicle said "the jury brought in a verdict of guilty." We should think that a finish.

☞ The funeral of Hon. Ichabod Bartlett will take place at the Stone Church, this afternoon at half past two o'clock.

The Cheapest and Best.

THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

☞ All Postmasters will act as Agents, and any person sending five subscribers, with pay for a year, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION IN NEW YORK—Conclusion of Eleventh Day.—A resolution was offered by Rev. Dr. Potter of New York, to the effect that the House of Bishops be requested to take into consideration the urgent necessity now existing for the increase of the number of young ministers devoted to the cause of the extension of the church.—Considerable discussion ensued upon the subject, pending which the order of the day was called for—which was the report of the special committee on the expediency of preparing and publishing a standard edition of the Bible. This report was discussed by several gentlemen, and was finally recommitted to the committee.

Twelfth Day.—A committee was appointed to take leave of the English clergy, who were to leave for home on that day. On motion of Rev. Dr. Van Ingen of Western New York, a resolution with a preamble, bearing testimony to the devotedness of the Southern Episcopal clergy during the late pestilence, and enumerating several of their number who had fallen victims to its ravages, was adopted. The committee on canons, to whom had been referred the subject of so altering the second article of the constitution as to require that no persons be eligible to the convention except such as are communicants of the church, reported a canon to that effect.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20.—New Orleans papers of Wednesday and Thursday are received.

Vera Cruz dates to the 8th had been received. The decree re-establishing the Jesuits in Mexico, had been published.

General Arista has written a letter, in which he proposes to witness the operations between Turkey and Russia, should war break out.

In consequence of the defalcation of their cashier, the Sisters of Charity have been rendered bankrupt, leaving debts to the amount of many hundred thousand dollars.

The steamboat "McDaniel" exploded her boiler at the mouth of the Mississippi, killing three persons and scalding others.

CUBA AND ITS SLAVERY.—Washington, Oct. 20th.—The Union says the British policy to Africanize Cuba is now consummated in the scheme to introduce apprentices from Africa into Cuba, with the consent of Spain, and under the protection of ships of war. It further says, that wealthy Spaniards in Cuba are now negotiating for the sale of African apprentices at a fixed price in anticipation of importation, for which arrangements have been made with the government at Madrid, sanctioned and guaranteed by the British government. The Union treats the scheme as a transfer of Cuba from Spain to Britain.

TENNESSEE LEGISLATURE.—Louisville, Oct. 20th.—Balloting for a United States Senator took place to-day in the Tennessee Legislature. The third ballot stood as follows:—John Bell, 26; Henry, 4; Nelson, 12; Cave Johnson, 40. After this ballot Johnson withdrew.

A CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION.—Cincinnati, Oct. 20th.—In the Martha Washington case, the counsel for the defence to-day made a motion to quash the indictment, on the ground that the United States had no jurisdiction over the inland waters; and if they had, then that the law giving it was unconstitutional. Judge McLean decided that the United States had jurisdiction, and that the law was clearly constitutional. The motion was overruled.

CHOLERA ON SHIP BOARD.—Ship Sagadahock of Bath, Capt. Fisher, 53 days from Gottenburg, for Boston, was spoken, (by ship Havre, at New York) 9th inst, latitude 42 42, longitude 58 1-2, with the cholera on board. Fifty passengers had died, and the captain's wife and fourteen passengers were in a low state. The Sagadahock was supplied with small stores and other necessaries.

A SERIES OF DARING ROBBERIES.—A courageous Woman—Pursuit of the Robbers.—On Thursday of last week, at Salmon Falls, a young man who had disguised himself so as to be taken for an aged beggar, entered the house of Mr. Dudley, of that place, the family being all out except Mrs. Dudley and her child. The intruder said that he wanted something to eat, and food was given him.—He then asked for money, and as Mrs. Dudley drew her hand from her pocket he grabbed a key which she accidentally dropped and started towards a drawer. Mrs. Dudley went towards him to prevent his opening the drawer, when he knocked her down, and commenced to rummage the drawer, obtaining about $15. Mrs. Dudley then seized an old pistol, which had not been discharged for fifteen years, pointed it at the ruffian and threatened to fire if he did not leave, which he did.

On Sunday last, a man belonging to South Berwick was on the York road, when he was seized by a man demanding his money. He struggled to get free, but an accomplice came out of the woods and knocked him down with a stick. A third then came out, presented a pistol, and succeded in getting $25. The young man afterwards tracked the robbers to the river, where he found a receipt which he had stolen from him torn up. One of these robbers, it is stated, was the one who entered the house of Mrs. Dudley.

On Thursday three suspicious personages were seen about the Salmon Falls depot, one of whom said to the other that he would bet that he could not borrow five dollars from that Irishman. The other went up to the Irishman, who upon being told the circumstances loaned the money, with which the other decamped, but was pursued by a Mr. Wood, overtaken and the money recovered. Between eight and nine o'clock, the house of J. S. Messerve, in Salmon Falls, was broken open and robbed of sixty dollars belonging to a boarder. These accumulated outrages at length aroused the citizens to pursue the gang, supposed to consist of three persons. Accordingly, some half dozen armed themselves with guns and proceeded towards Dover. It is stated that the robbers were afterwards found in a barn near Dover, in company with two females, but managed to escape. They will no doubt be eventually captured.

The selectmen of Salmon Falls on Saturday offered $200 reward for the detection of the persons who robbed Mrs. Dudley, and bills to this effect were posted in every direction, but during Saturday night they were all torn down.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence,

WHY IS IT?

That we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life broken in health and spirits with a complication of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a condition of health, should be predominant.

Many of the causes of their sufferings at first—perhaps years before, perhaps during girlhood, or the first years of marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed, and of course neglected.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and moan, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not give to possess, in early life, the knowledge we obtain in after years? And what days and nights of anguish we might we have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still,—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind, necessarily devolving upon him from sickness of the wife, without a competent income to enable him to acquire that competence which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would secure the happiness of himself, wife, and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is exonerated if she neglect to avail herself of that knowledge in respect to herself, which would spare her much suffering, be the means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and confer upon her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

Private Medical Companion.

BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU,

PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN.

One Hundreth Edition. 18mo., pp. 250. Price 50 Cents.

[ON FINE PAPER, EXTRA BINDING, $1 00.]

First published in 1847, and it is not

SURPRIZING OR WONDERFUL,

Considering that EVERY FEMALE, WHETHER MARRIED OR NOT, can here acquire a full knowledge of the nature, character and causes of her complaints, with the various symptoms, and that nearly

should have been sold.

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriage, but no female desirous of enjoying health, and that beauty, consequent upon health, which is so conducive to her own happiness, and that of her husband, but either has or will obtain it, as has or will every husband who has the love and affection of his wife at heart, or that of his own pecuniary improvement.

UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES

Have been SENT BY MAIL within the last few months.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

BE NOT DEFRAUDED!

Buy no book unless "Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, 129 Liberty Street, N. Y." is on the title page, and the entry in the Clerk's Office on the back of the title page; and buy only of respectable and honorable dealers, or send by mail, and address to Dr. A. M. Mauriceau, as there are spurious and surreptitious infringements of copy-right.

LET EVERY WIFE AND HUSBAND PONDER!

No excuse for Ignorance, when Ignorance is Misery to those we hold near and dear, and when to dispel our Ignorance is within our reach.

To enable every one to decide upon the indispensable necessity of possessing a copy, and that no wife, or mother need remain uninformed upon the many causes, which, sooner or later, are destined to make fearful ravages upon her health, unless guarded against, and that no considerate and affectionate husband have cause to upbraid himself with neglect of the welfare of his wife—a pamphlet of thirty-six pages, containing full Title-page and Index of Contents, with extracts from the book, will be sent free of charge to any part of the United States, by addressing, post-paid, as herein.

When Knowledge is Happiness, 'tis culpable to be ignorant.

☞ On receipt of One Dollar (for the fine Edition, extra binding,) "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION" is sent (mailed free) to any part of the United States. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Box 1224, New York City. Publishing Office, No. 129 Liberty Street, New York.

TELEGRAPHIC FIBS.—The telegraph is an excellent and very convenient invention.—Nevertheless, like all other good things, it may be abused. Several days ago, a despatch from Cleveland, Ohio, purporting to describe the Woman's Rights Convention, contained these statements:

"The harmony of the assembly was soon threatened by the introduction of a letter from Rev. T. W. Higginson, of Worcester, asking the Convention to take up a collection for the purpose of raising a fund to print cheap tracts on Woman's Rights.

Mrs. Barker and Abby Kelly objected, denouncing the Rev. gentleman as a heretic. To this charge, Lucy Stone replied in indignant terms; after which a collection was taken up."

To this, Mr. Higginson replies in the Worcester Spy:

So far as I can ascertain, this startling statement was manufactured out of the whole cloth—(the clerical cloth.) I have examined, with some curiosity, the Cleveland and Cincinnati newspapers; they give full reports of the debates, but make no kind of allusion to any such scene as is here described. I suppose it, therefore, to be an absolute invention of the anonymous personages who control the telegraph in that region. It could not be a thunder storm which deranged the wires in this remarkable manner, for the laws of nature do not tell such lies. All I can say, is, that when my friend, Abby Kelly Foster, calls me a heretic (except to her theory of the Constitution) "may I be there to see."

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Furnaces, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a dozen upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is annecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous which the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it by and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wóm je22*

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration, and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"[$00 05] On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

THE ROMANCE OF REALITY.

The Romance of Reality is no less wild and startling than that of fiction. The Havana correspondent of the New York Herald, under date of October 6, 1853, tells us, that a few days since a negro man found his way to the office of the American Consulate, and there claimed protection as a free-born citizen of the United States. His deportment and the singularity of his story, which surpassed the power of invention, attracted the most respectful attention, and his tongue was evidently touched with the fire of truth, for all that heard believed. He solicited in terms that could not be resisted, that his case might be investigated, and that he might be restored to the freedom for which he had been waiting in chains for forty years. He represents that he was born in Charleston, S. C., gives the names of father, mother, one brother, and two uncles, and states that they were all free, and they emigrated from Charleston in 1808, or near that time, went to Florida, and subsequently went to Nassau, New Providence; that he was quite small, but that he remembers every occurrence with the greater distinctness for having had nothing else to reflect upon from his youth to old age; and that he had nearly made up his mind to struggle for the freedom of which he had been deprived by robbers. He remembers, and thinks he was about twelve years of age, when his mother, seeking something for him to do, hired him to the captain of a small trading sloop, as a cabin boy, by whom he was carefully treated, and he thinks he (the captain) was in no way accessory in his being kidnapped. That in the course of his voyages among the islands, the business of "Captain Jim" took him to Havana with a small cargo of shells and goods bought at Nassau. That being ashore at the village of Regla, at the head of the bay, and waiting by the boat for the return of the captain, or some of the men, to go on board the sloop, he was suddenly seized by a white man, of the class of boatman of the harbor, and carried off with violence. That when he endeavored to make an outcry, he found such violent pressure that it seemed like death, and he was afraid to attempt it more, under the impression that if he persisted in it, he would certainly be killed, as he had heard many stories of the pirates of Havana and of their cruelties. that he was carried apparently to the back part of the town, into a house of low and disagreeable appearance, where he was placed in the stocks for safe keeping, in the back part of the premises. In this position he remained some hours, when he was taken out, he thinks near midnight following his capture, and placed upon a horse, with another man, which was put to his speed for the country; that in this way, at a slow pace when the roads were bad, and fast when good, they travelled until the dawn of day, when they reached some farm houses, where he was taken off the horse and placed in a cabin, chained; that he was put at work the following day, under the immediate eye of his master, and that when there was not an armed white force over him sufficient to keep him from getting away, he has always worn chains—and they were scarcely an inconvenience to him, so accustomed had he become to them; that as soon as he acquired language, he explained to his pretended master how he had been taken, that he was free, and demanded that he might go to Havana to make application for his his release. Finding this only increased their vigilance, he made no more efforts, but determined to wait quietly until an opportunity should occur, which he believed would come sooner or later, and that he would have justice.

He says he has kept himself from losing the knowledge of the English language he had at twelve years by constantly repeating the story of his life, to himself in English, enumerating every incident and all the names of his family and friends. That his master, residing near Canasi, about eighteen or twenty miles from Havana, died in 1846, and that his estate was only distributed among the heirs some few weeks since, when he was brought to Havana by parties having no knowledge of his former history, having been purchased or apportioned to them, he knows not which. Being here, the past seems to have aroused the sleeping energy of theman, and his first business was to find out "the America," which being finally understood and explained meant the American consulate. His remarkable case will be brought to the immediate attention of General Canedo, and under the auspices of the acting commercial agent, will undoubtedly have favorable issue for the poor negro. The small planter who bought "Ben," was known as Don Antonia Catajeno, and the person who carried him from Regla to Canasi, was his nephew, who is now living in this vicinity and has been recognized by "Ben," who took him to the office of the American consul, where his admissions were quite sufficient to establish the truth of "Ben's" story, without implicating himself in the crime of kidnapping.

The daughters of the late Pref. Webster have sailed for the Azores.

ASSIDUITY OF A CHEVALIER D'INDUSTRIE.—The Albany Transcript records the doings of a Chevalier d'Industrie who answers to the name of E. Gustavus Perkins. He arrived in that city on the afternoon of Thursday of last week, and within three days thereafter picked a gentleman's pocket—took lodgings at a genteel boarding house—advertised for a wife, and gave audience to fifteen ladies, old and young, who believed themselves qualified to make him happy—accepted six of them, and received a gold ring from each as a pledge of her return to complete the nuptial arrangements—broke open his landlady's cup-board, and stole all her silver spoons—was detected in the act of rumaging a fellow boarder's trunk—got kicked out of doors—was pursued through the streets by a brother of one of the anxious applicants for matrimony, who tried to inflict summary vengeance upon him—took refuge from his pursuer in a millinery shop—stole four pieces of satin from his kind protectress, the bonnet maker—was met and recognized by another of the ladies with whom he had contracted a martrimonial alliance—was charged by the young lady with obtaining her heart and ring under false pretences, and was soundly thrashed by a big drayman, who volunteered as champion of the injured virgin. Next he obtained a lot of assorted hardware from a merchant, by representing himself as the partner of a mercantile firm in Chicago—took passage for Buffalo—was arrested in the cars at Utica, and taken back to Albany, where he underwent an examination and was consigned to the lock-up. All, be it remembered, in three days.

Many of the newspapers are making merry at the idea of Mr. Walker's having subscribed ten millions of dollars to the Pacific Railroad. That tremendous subscription seems to have had the effect of destroying all confidence in the company and the charter. Mr. Walker's "antecedents" so far as money is concerned, are notoriously not at all creditable. The New York Tribune says: "When Jeremy Didler himself offers to invest ten millions in a great public enterprise, it is time for solid men who value their credit to stand back."

A gentleman from Philadelphia, on Friday, while proceeding west to purchase land, with his wife and two children, suddenly drew a dirk in the cars and attempted to stab himself. He was seized by his wife, who was sitting alongside him, and with the assistance of some of the passengers, secured until he reached Greensburg, where he was carried into a house, and medical aid procured. His wounds are thought to be mortal. He was a man of considerable wealth, as upwards of $6000 were taken from his person after the occurrence, and given to his wife.

BIG PEARS.—I. S. Coleman takes the premium on pear raising in old Somersworth, he having raised upon a scion set one year ago last spring, several large pears, one of which weighed 17 1-2 ounces, and measured 12 1-2 inches in circumference. The pears are of the Duchess d'Angouleme variety.

BREAKING INTO A CHURCH.—Hawes place church, South Boston, was entered a few night since by rogues, who climbed up the lightning rod and got in by the scuttle. They left a note, stating that they could find nothing of value to steal.

COURT COMMON PLEAS—ROCK. Co.

PORTSMOUTH, Saturday, Oct. 22.

DEATH OF ICHABOD BARTLETT.

At the coming in of the Court this morning, Hon. John Porter, President of Rockingham Bar, made a brief and pertinent speech, at the close of which he offered the following resolutions, which were read to the Court by Gilman Marston, Esq., of Exeter:

Resolved, That the members of this bar feel deeply the loss which they have sustained by the recent decease of one of their most esteemed associates, the Hon. Ichabod Bartlett.

Resolved, That the distinguished talents, the high sense of honor and integrity, and the generous courtesy of manner which marked our deceased brother, require from us the expression, not only of our grief at his loss, but of the estimation with which these traits of character have impressed us, and render appropriate every token of respect which we can render to his memory.

Resolved, That the proofs of public confidence which our departed brother has so often received by his election to office in the national and State councils, and the pre-eminence which has always been accorded to him whenever he has taken a part in the general affairs of the community, have been less an honor to him than have been the uprightness, fidelity and talent with which the discharge of these public duties has ever justified the confidence of his constituents and friends.

Resolved, That the members of this bar, in testimony of their respect and of their regret, will attend the funeral of their lamented friend, and will wear the usual badge of mourning for the term of thirty days.

After the reading of the resolutions, Hon. John S. Wells addressed the Court as follows:

May it please your Honors—In the last two years the records of mortality have been largely increased by the death of eminent members of our profession. From the Bench, the Bar, and the Halls of legal learning some of the highest ornaments have been removed, to be there known no more forever.

These repeated events must tend to chasten allour hearts, and impress with saddening memories, the members of the Bar Association.—We are now here preparing to join our friends in the mournful duty of bearing away the remains of one whom we and all who knew him, loved and respected.

When we were last here, attending upon this Court, he came among us taking each and all kindly by the hand, and gave us a brother's greeting. Now that hand is cold in death, and the tongue which uttered only kindness, is silenced forever.

My first acquaintance with Col. Bartlett was on coming to the Bar twenty-five years ago. To view him then fairly and justly the gage of all was upward.

New Hampshire at that time presented a body of eminent legal men; no one of whom exceeded in brilliancy our friend just fallen.—Mason was then here wielding his mighty battle-axe, but the polished shield of Bartlett successfully warded his hardest blows. Sullivan also stood here to measure lances with him. They were perhaps better matched than any of their talented compeers. Greek then met Greek, and often their contests ended, as did the trial of physical strength between the ancient warriors, when "Fingal said that Swaran fell, but Swaran swore he stood."

In the Bar of New Hampshire are many young gentlemen who hope for length of days and high professional attainments. Some light must guide them on, but they need not look beyond the life of him we mourn for a model, worthy of their careful study. His life must influence theirs, for he has made his mark, deep and enduring, upon the minds of all our citizens. He performed his task nobly and manfully, and has fallen like a shock of corn fully ripe. He was the last of the old circle of learned and talented New Hampshire lawyers. He rendered valuable aid to a learned Court, and won the admiration of Smith, Richardson, Woodbury and Livermore, by his brilliant eloquence and cogent reasoning power.

Swan loved him like a brother. Ezekiel Webster was his constant friend. Atherton, Henderson and Joseph Bell, each measured strength with him, and frankly owned his power. But he and they are gone; he lived to fill his measure full, and died when he had no more to do.

His fame and memory are worth our cherishing. He commenced his brilliant career advocating the great and just cause of religious toleration, and closed his public efforts urging upon the freemen of New Hampshire fidelity to the Union and the Constitution.

W. H. Y. Hackett Esq. said that perhaps there was no occasion, after the eloquent address to which we have just listened, that any thing more should be added, but he asked the indulgence of the Court for a moment.

The Bar has lost one of its ablest members, and the State one of its most distinguished sons. For a third of a century Ichabod Bartlett has stood among the foremost men of our profession in the State—with such men as Mason, Woodbury, Smith, Sullivan, Webster, Bell, Atherton, Fletcher and Parker, as competitors. In this position, he held for many years, a practice quite as large as any lawyer in the State. The brilliant ability and scrupulous honor with which this practice was conducted, is known throughout the length and breadth of the State, and were often witnessed by those of us who have reached or passed middle age. They were suited to secure the confidence, while they excited the admiration of the Court and Bar.

He was for a long time a Representative in the Congress of the United States, and immediately won a national reputation, and held a high position during the whole of his Congressional career.

He has resided in this city about two-thirds of his life time, where he has always exercised an important influence, and filled many important trusts. He has for many years represented Portsmouth in the State Legislature, and always with the ability and integrity which marked his conduct in every trust public or professional. In 1821, he was Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Hackett said that he had occasion daily to notice, not only the power, but the diligence with which he discharged his duty as a member of the Legislature during the long session of last winter. He was always at his post in the committee room, and in the House, and nothing escaped his notice. The labors of the session wore upon him, and he was immediately after his return home attacked by the illness of which he died.

In this city his death will long be felt as a public loss, and by the members of the Bar—many of whom were educated in his office—the memory of Ichabod Bartlett will be cherished with affectionate regard, and his death mourned as an individual bereavement.

Hon. William Claggett, addressed the Court as follows:

May it please the Court—Prompted by my feelings, and, perhaps, a sense of propriety, as no one present is so fully acquainted as myself with the early career of our deceased brother, I would offer a humble tribute of respect to his memory. The number of deaths of our professional brethren, which have occurred within a short space of time, cannot fail to remind us of the transitory scenes of human life, and what shadows we are and what shadows we pursue.

My first acquaintance with Ichabod Bartlett was at Dartmouth College in 1805. In that institution he evinced talents of a high order, and held a high rank in his class. At that period there were Gen. Fessenden and Albion K. Parris of Portland, Richard Fletcher of Boston, Matthew Harvey of Concord, Levi Woodbury, Joseph Bell, and Amos Kendall, members of the institution, known to public fame, but not of the class of graduates in 1808, of which Ichabod Bartlett was a member, but of that class the public have heard of George Grennell jr. of Mass., and Isaac Fletcher of Vt., who have held seats in our national Legislature—Ichabod R. Chadbourn of Eastport, Leonard M. Parker of Charlestown, James Morrison of Londonderry, afterwards Mayor of Savannah, George Newton of Mass., Samuel Osgood of New York, and some others who have filled up the measure of their usefulness in the Literary Medical, and Clerical professions. Some of them are numbered with the dead. Upon leaving College, he was appointed one of its Tutors, but his taste and genius led him to prefer the legal profession. In 1808 he entered as a student the office of a distinguished counsellor at law, Parker Noyes, of Salisbury, where with industry he pursued his studies until 1811 when he was admitted by the Hillsborough Bar to the practice of law, which in 1812 he commenced at Durham, and there continued in successful practice until the Fall of 1816, when he removed to Portsmouth. The Court will excuse me for here mentioning an incident of his early life. During the war of 1812, he was so patriotically devoted to the cause of his country that he volunteered as a militia soldier in the defence of this place. In 1819 he was elected by the Democratic party of Portsmouth as a Representative to the General Court, was several years reelected and was elected Speaker of the House in June 1821. He had previously (1818) been elected Secretary of the Senate. In 1822 he was chosen by the Democratic party as a Representative to Congress, and took his seat in 1823. He was afterwards elected by the other party to the 19th and 20th Congress. Prior to the expiration of his term he was appointed Chief Justice of the Circuit Court of Common Pleas, but declined the appointment. Within the last few years of his life he has been elected as one of the Representatives of this city to the Constitutional Convention, and to the State Legislature, where, although opposed to the political sentiments of the party in the ascendent, he exercised great influence. In the various stations to which he has been called by his fellow citizens, he has performed his official duties with independence of mind, integrity, and ability. I need not allude to his moral, intellectual, and legal attainments already set forth in the resolutions of the Bar and the eloquent language of those who have preceded me.

A. W. Haven Esq., remarked substantially, that one prominent point in the character of Mr. Bartlett had been omitted by the preceding speakers—a characteristic of humanity, which above all others endears itself to mankind. This was his invariable kindness of heart, and liberal yet unostentatious charity. In the practice of his profession, this trait of his character was exemplified by his willingness to espouse the cause of the poorest client. His services were never refused to an honest man in an honest cause. This was the distinguishing trait of our departed brother,—and it is one which above all others exhibited his kind heart, and which will long entitle his memory to the respect of all who knew him.

Judge Sawyer assured the members of the Bar that the Court fully responded to the sentiments expressed in the resolutions and in the eloquent addresses which had been made;—that in accordance with their own sense of what was appropriate, and with what was supposed to be agreeable to the Bar, the Court would order the resolutions to be entered at length on their record, and proceeded to say:

The death of Mr. Bartlett has removed from our midst the last of those eminent men to whom all of us connected with the legal profession, who have arrived at middle life, have been accustomed to look as the great luminaries of the law in our State. Smith, Sullivan, Mason, Bell, Woodbury, Livermore, Atherton, Webster, and—now added to the list Bartlett: what a roll of venerable names, and what lustre have their abilities shed upon the bar of New Hampshire.

When any such man is taken from us, it is well to turn away from other subjects of contemplation, that we may recall to mind his excellencies, pay a becoming tribute of respect to his memory, and receive a fresh impulse from the lessons which the teachings of his life and character may afford.

To review the professional and public life of one whose character is so full of interest and instruction as that of Mr. Bartlett—useful as such a review might be—is not the work of an hour like this. The last sad office to hi earthly remains is yet to be performed, and the heart is still oppressed with a sense of bereavement; but so conspicuous in him were many of those estimable traits which have ever been held to be the highest ornament of the human character, that they come up before the mind with every thought of his loss.

With the public life of Mr. Bartlett, in our State and National Councils all are familiar. Many years have elapsed since his Congressional career terminated, and yet, now, among the people of the State, there is cherished, in no small degree, a high pride in the signal ability and fearlessness with which he discharged his duties as their representative.

In the Legislature of the State, he has exercised a commanding influence, limited to no party, and always directed to patriotic ends. In early and middle life, with strong party attachments, party and self were wholly forgotten in deference to right and the public good. And in later life, when obligations to party were not acknowledged or but faintly recognized, his perfect integrity, his high sense of honor, his manly independence, his disregard of self interest, and his contempt for the arts and intrigues of scheming politicians secured to him a degree of influence with all parties seldom attained by any man, even among political friends. It was the involuntary homage paid by our common nature to high and noble qualities.

But it is in the contemplation of the professional character and career of Mr. Bartlett, that the Lawyer finds most to instruct and delight.

Among all the great names—his cotemporaries and competitors in the forum—none excelled, if indeed any equalled him in the brilliant and effective character of his arguments to the Jury. Sparkling with wit, which when fraud or injustice roused his indignation was converted into withering sarcasm, they were also logical and argumentative—addressed to the reason, never to the prejudices—so clear and plain as to be readily understood and appreciated by the uneducated, and yet rarely offending the most cultivated taste; and urged with an honesty and earnestness of manner, carrying conviction of his own sincerity. Indeed some of his addresses to the Jury may be said to have been almost perfect models of forensic eloquence.

Master of such eloquence, with a quick perception of character and great tact and adroitness in the conduct of a cause before a Jury, he was peculiarly fitted for the able and successful performance of the duties of an advocate, and will long be remembered as an ornament to the profession in this branch of the practice.

Few may hope to be gifted with the intellectual endowments requisite for such an advocate. But there were other, higher and more estimable qualities in his professional character, though not so dazzling, open to the attainment of all, and equally essential to the highest success in he profession. With an integrity perfectly unspotted, he frowned upon the slightest approach to unfairness in the practice; rebuking his own client who might attempt to gain an improper advantage as sternly and as indignantly as he would rebuke his adversary for a like attempt; not unfrequently throwing up a cause which the party had attempted to sustain by falsehood or other unfair means, and for that reason, and at least on one occasion within my own knowledge, refusing a retainer in a case of some importance, that he might not be instrumental in placing upon the stand a witness whom he suspected of being tampered with by the party.

This same severe, uncompromising integrity, he carried into all the relations of life.—No trace of deception was ever left in all his intercourse with men. Too honest for the devious ways of mere political life, the straightforwardness of his character, while it tended to bar his preferment to the high places for which his great abilities eminently qualified him, nevertheless secured to him universal respect and admiration, and the unwavering confidence alike of political friends and enemies.

But it is not alone for these, the sterner and more striking traits of his character, that his memory should be revered and cherished.—Courteous yet dignified, in his intercourse with his professional brethren, he was not unaccustomed to exhibit still more graceful qualities towards his juniors. Affable, kind and sympathizing, he was always ready to lend his counsel and aid to the inexperienced. Some present, may perhaps, like myself, have made their first efforts in the Courts under his lead as senior counsel, and the heart swells with grateful emotions at the recollection of the kindliness of heart and manner with which he was always ready to hold out the helping hand or speak the word of encouragement. Let us cherish his memory with a pious regard, and above all, let us heed the lessons to be derived from his example. In early life raised by his eminent abilities to prominence and distinction, he has ever occupied a conspicuous place among us. And now taken away in the fulness of his years, he has left with us his life and character, now belonging to history—known by us all, to be studied by us all.

The profession of which he was so shining an ornament, may cherish his memory with a just pride. And long may it be before the influence of his high professional character shall cease to be felt.

The Funeral of Mr. Bartlett was attended on Saturday afternoon at the Stone church, by a large number of citizens.

The services were 1, a Funeral Chant; 2, reading selections from the scriptures; 3, Hymn, "Through every age, &c,"; 4, an appropriate Prayer, offered by Rev. Dr. Peabody; 5, Dirge. The whole scene and services were solemn and impressive.

At their close, a procession was formed composed of Capt. John McClintock, Ebenezer Wentworth, Esq., Peyton R. Freeman, Esq., John Rice, Esq., and Capt. Lewis Barnes, as pall-bearers; relatives and household; judges and members of the bar; city government; citizens.

Hon. Albert Thorndike, President of the Eastern Railroad, has resigned his office, as President of the Beverly Bank.. Mr. Thorndike has been constantly connected with the bank from early boyhood, having entered it as messenger; and his career has been one of such success as ability, integrity and courtesy always ensure, and which should be a pattern for all young men entering upon a business life.

Mark R. Foye, convicted of robbing the mail between Newburyport and Georgetown, has been sentenced to two and half years imprisonment in the Jail at Newburyport.

On the night of October 8th, the store of Messrs. Lord & Wentworth, in Saco, was entered, and Broadcloth, Cassimeres, &c., stolen therefrom to the amount of $400. On Thursday, the 20th, Capt. T. K. Lane of Biddeford, found Drs. Kittredge of Biddeford, and Stevens of Saco, engaged in peddling these clothes among the Irish shanties at Lewiston. The Doctors, with about $150 of the property, are now in custody at Biddeford, and it remains to be ascertained how the goods came into their possession.—Eastern Journal.

Dr. J. P. Woolley's All-Healing and Strengthening Salve.

THIS salve is a sovereign remedy for lame back, local rheumatism, pain in the side and breast, scalds, burns, bruises, fresh wounds, bruises, sprains, weakness in the joints, crick in the back, old sores, chilblains, swellings, numbness, ague in the face and breast, cracked hands, biles, corns on the feet, and occasional sores of most kinds to which the human kind is subject.

This Salve is a rare and valuable combination of warm, stimulant and anodyne ingredients, and will be found far superior to any other article of the kind heretofore discovered for the above complaints. There has never appeared a medicine which possesses the penetrating and healing power in so great a degree, while at the same time it cannot by any possibility produce injurious effects. By its action on the skin it moves all obstructions to the insensible perspiration—excites a healthy circulation of the blood—strengthens and invigorates the nerves—gives elasticity to the joints, and imparts strength to any part of the system which may have been weakened by sedentary habits or disease. THE LAST REPORTED FAILURE IN NEW YORK.—We copy the following from the N. Y. Tribune. It doubtless refers to the rumors current in financial circles:

At the Second Board, Mr. Stebbins stated that as there had been current rumors in the street of the failure of Mr. Jacob Little, he was authorized to state that these rumors were false. Mr. Little had been unexpectedly called upon for a large amount of call loans, which, in the present state of the money market, it was useless to attempt to respond to.—He had informed the lenders that, in case they must have their money, they could sell the collaterals, and any deficiency he was ready to pay. Whereupon the Board exhibited their good feeling towards Mr. Little by cheering him when he came in. With Mr. Little's stock contracts there is no difficulty.

EXCITING SCENE IN COURT.—At the Supreme Court in Alfred, Me., on Friday, William E. Haskell, who was convicted on two indictments for Store-breaking, being asked by Judge Howard if he had anything to say, made some hypocritical remarks calculated to propitiate the Judge, and received sentences of two years in the State Prison on each indictment. County Attorney Drew observed that the prisoner was a dangerous man, and should have had a more severe sentence, and Haskell replied in some personal remarks, which brought down the audience in a perfect uproar, so that some time elapsed before order was restored. The Sheriff then informed Haskell that Deputy Lord would take him back to jail, but the prisoner objected, and expressed a willingness to go alone with Deputy Moulton. This arrangement was not approved by the Sheriff, and when an attempt was made to take Haskell out of the dock, a tremendous fight occurred, sheriffs, police and lawyers assisting to bind and carry off the prisoner, who fought like a madman. For this break the Judge reconsidered one of his sentences, and sent him to Thomaston for seventeen years instead of four. He had prepared a heavy bludgeon with which to knock down Sheriff Moulton, which was the reason for his anxiety for the pleasure of the company of the latter to the jail.

PRICES OF BREADSTUFFS.—In a review of Boston Market for the past week, it is stated of Flour, that the stock continues light, particularly of the lower grades. The demand has been moderate, and prices have not varied materially since last week, though the tendency, if any thing, is rather in favor of the buyer. Sales of Ohio and Michigan superfine, in lots to the trade at 7,37 1-2 and to arrive at 7 25; extra Genesee 7,75 a 8 per barrel cash.

For corn the market is unsettled, but prices are lower and the tendency is downward. Sales of yellow at 85c; mixed 83 a 84c; white 80c per bushel, closing dull at these rates.

BLACKSMITHS STRIKE.—The Blacksmiths in this city, Dover, Somersworth, Rollinsford, Rochester, New Market, North and South Berwick, have entered into a mutual arrangement, whereby they have adopted a uniform scale of prices, a little higher than those formerly charged for their work. They have been induced to take this step in consideration of the rise in the prices of iron, steel and coal. We doubt not but mechanics of every class will be obliged to raise the price of labor, in order to meet the increased expenses accruing from the rise in almost all staple productions.

Baltimore, Oct. 21.—We have no mail south of Wilmington, N. C., to-night. The mail boat from Charleston for Wilmington, on Wednesday encountered a hurricane, and did not arrive till twelve hours after the usual time.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad have decided after the 1st of November to increase the toll on coal from Cumberland to $2 25 per ton. It is now $1 75.

New York, Oct. 21.—Jullien's Concert at Metropolitan Hall, this evening, attracts a brilliant and overflowing audience in spite of a rainy night, and over 1000 persons were unable to obtain seats. The troupe leave for Boston in the morning.

Lancaster, Oct. 21.—A collision occurred on the railroad bridge at Coatsville this morning, between a freight train going down and a passenger train coming up. Both engines were disabled, and two men named Williams and Davis on the freight train were killed, and another, name unknown, severely injured. Owing to a short curve near the bridge, the trains were not going at more than four miles an hour, consequently no one on the passenger train was injured, and in the last car the shock was scarcely felt.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Government is said to have received advices of the presentation of J. J. Seible, Charge to Belgium, in citizen's dress.

The Star of this evening expresses its settled belief, that within forty-eight hours Collector Bronson will receive a note saying, in the fewest possible words, that the President has no further occasion for his services.

Louisville, Oct. 21.—A terrible fire is raging here. The office of the Daily Journal; the warehouse of the Rolling Mill, containing a large quantity of iron; Holbrook's tobacco warehouse; the immense wholesale warehouse of Wilson, Starbird & Smith; three dry goods stores and a trunk manufactory are already burnt, together with their entire contents. The block from Bullet half way down to the water on Fifth street, is entirely demolished; the fire is still unsubdued.

MELANCHOLY SUICIDE AT NASHUA, N. H.—We learn that David Baldwin, Esq., of the firm of Noyes & Baldwin, well known as the active managers of the Nashua Lock Company's extensive business, committed suicide last evening by hanging himself in his store. Mr. Baldwin was nearly 50 years of age, quite wealthy, and the cause for his fatal deed is not apparent. He was greatly esteemed by his townsmen, and widely known in business circle.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE,
ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

The Fall Session of this Institute will be held in the VESTRY of the 1st Congregational Church in EXETER. The exercises will commence on and close on Saturday, November 5th. The usual hours for commencing will be half past 8 o'clock in the morning, and 2 and 7 o'clock P. M.

MONDAY, Oct. 31*st*, at 10 o'clock A. M.,

The services of the following eminent instructors are engaged:

Prof. DANA P. COLBURN, in Arithmetic and Geography;
Prof. J. G. HOYT, in Algebra;
" S. S. GREEN, of Brown University, in Grammar;
Prof. T. J. WHITTAKER, in Drawing and Penmanship;
DANIEL BARNARD, Esq., in reading;
JAMES W. CLARK, in Music;
CALVIN CUTTER, M. D., in Physiology and Hygiene.

There will be a lecture on Monday Evening, by Rev. ASA MANN, of Exeter. The other evenings will be occupied by Lectures of a general character, by some of the Instructors, on subjects connected with their respective departments.

Each member of the Institute is requested to have present a Bible, Dictionary, Russell's School Reader or Town's Fourth Reader, and a small Blank-book; and to have his or her full name and residence written on a slip of paper or card, ready to hand to the Committe of Reception, on entering the Institute, so as to expedite the organization. Arrangements will be made for commodious boarding places, at reasonable rates.

Committee of Arrangements, Visitation and Report: Rev. A. MANN; WM. G. PERRY, M. D., C. F. GERRY, A. B., and E. G. PALTON, A. M.

Arrangements have been made to render the institute every way worthy of the hearty support of the Teachers of the County. The interests of our Common Schools demand such a support. It is therefore earnestly desired that every resident teacher of the County, and those residing in other counties who propose to teach in this, young and old,—the patriarchs of the profession, as well as the fresh candidates for its hard earned honors, should be present at the opening of the Institute, and continue to its close.

Prudential Committees are respectfully requested to defer the commencement of the Winter Schools so far as to allow the Teachers to attend the Institute; and it is hoped that they will encourage their attendance. And the Commissioner invites the attendance of Superintending and Prudential Committees and parents, of the older pupils in our Schools, and of the friends of our Common Schools generally, upon the Institute.

☞ The Committees and other citizens, who receive circulars, are requested to see that they are suitably distributed through their towns, and posted up in the most public places.

EXETER, Oct. 4th, 1853. A. H. HOYT,
School Commissioner for Rockingham County.

The New Lyceum.

AGREEABLY to published arrangements, a course of fourteen or more Lectures, under the direction of the MECHANIC ASSOCIATION, will be given the approaching season.

AT THE TEMPLE,

Prof. R. D. Hitchcock, of Brunswick.
Prof J. G. Hoyt, of Exeter,
Josiah Quincy, Jr., of Boston.
Henry Ward Beecher, of Brooklyn.
A. Burlingame, of Cambridge.
Timothy Bigelow, of Boston.

Other popular Lecturers will be added should circumstances permit.

The Directors of the Portsmouth Lyceum having decided to suspend their course the present season, the Lectures will be given on Tuesday evening of each week, commencing, Nov. 8th.

The price of tickets will be one dollar, to be had at the Bookstores, and of the Directors, C. W. Brewster, W. P. Gookin, Charles J. Colcord, Thos. Norton and James M. Carr.

By order of the Directors.

C. J. COLCORD, Sec'y.

Portsmouth, Sept. 1, 1853.

City Lyceum.

UNDER the above title, arrangements are being made for

A COURSE OF FOURTEEN (OR MORE) LECTURES,

to be delivered during the ensuing Winter, one On THURSDAY EVENING of each week,

AT THE CAMENEUM.

Lectures may be expected from Rev. Drs. Burroughs and Peabody, Rev. Messrs Lamson and Moore, and from other gentlemen at home and abroad favorably known in this vicinity as able Lyceum lecturers. Seasonable notice will be given when the arrangements are completed.

The price of GENTLEMENS' TICKETS has been fixed at $1, and of LADIES' TICKETS at 50 Cts., for the Course. A limited number only will be offered.

The Lectures will be under the direction of the following gentlemen:

A WOMAN AT THE BAR.—The Cleaveland Plaindealer says that Mrs. Emma R. Coe has been pursuing a course of legal studies, for the purpose of qualifying herself for the practice of that profession.

If she is only good looking we shouldn't be afraid to trust a case in her hands—no difference, however important it might be. A handsome female pleader would be too much for any twelve men we ever saw in a jury box.

THE NORWEGIAN COLONY.—A paragraph has been going the rounds in reference to this colony, which we understand is incorrect.—The facts, as represented to us, are that the colony has not been abandoned, but the best men that went there at first still remain there. So far as we can ascertain, Ole Bull has got into no law suit and lost no money by the enterprise.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

IMPORTANT QUERY.—The Providence Journal is publishing the facts connected with the quarrel between the Administration and those who advocate the election of the successful candidates, pertinently asks: "Is telling the truth out of spite any worse than telling falsehoods in the hope of reward?"

SHIP BUILDING IN SHORE.—Mr. Francis Hannaford of Cape Elizabeth, is building a schooner, of 120 tons, in C. E., in shore from the Ocean House road, about one mile from the water. When the snow comes, he calculates to have her done, and then draw her to the water, and have a launch.—Portland Argus.

VISIT OF FATHER CAHILL.—A private letter from Ireland received at New York, states that Father Cahill, the celebrated Irish Roman Catholic priest, is shortly to visit this country, with a view of checking the defection of the Irish from Romanism.

WILD DUCKS AND GEESE.—The Cambridge (Md.) Chronicle says an unusually large number of wild geese and ducks are daily passing over that town and vicinity, which, it says, betokens a severe winter.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS, Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 900,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETIZER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers even in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be given in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

READ! READ! READ!
DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Duman, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.
JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

POOR BOY.

We said this on Sunday evening as we came down Broadway. We have said it twenty times since that, aloud, and five times twenty mentally, we have repeated those two words, "Poor boy!" They are little words, common words, only seven letters, easily spoken, often spoken, yet they have a great deel of meaning—painful meaning sometimes. They had on Sunday night. They often tell a whole story. They did in the present case. This is it.

Our ear was first attracted by a little hum of voices, voices of boys, singing a march; it was the Rogue's March. What could it be for? We looked and listened. Half a dozen boys with sticks, imitating those children who carry guns—one had tied his handkerchief upon his stick to imitate a flag—were singing and marching behind another boy. He was about twelve years old, and carried a bundle in his hand, tied in a common cotton handkerchief, such as we carried when about the same age. His dress said, just as plain as his language, "I am just from the country." His tormentors, for such they were, were in high glee. Their glee made us sad, and we said, "Poor boy!" and walked away. We could not go on, and so we went back. The poor boy had stopped to remonstrate with his persecutors.

"What do you want to follow me a singing that air for? I wish you would let me alone. I hain't done nothing to you."

"Ain't that rich, boys? Hurrah for greeny!"

We cried poor boy! again, and then we told the boys they should not torment the poor boy, and asked "what did they "do it for?" "'Cause he's got no spunk. Why don't he "show fight? He's a greeney." Yes he was green. That was enough for city boys, well-dressed boys of parents whom no one would dare to say were not "respectable." Could they say themselves, that it was respectable to let their boys run in the streets on the Sabbath, singing and marching like the wild young savages, after a poor boy from the country, whose only fault was that he had not learned to be as wicked as themselves—he was green—he would not fight. He did not look like a fighting boy; his face was a mild pleasant one, rather pensive, amd he had a soft blue eye. But he was green. He had been green enough to sit down upon a door step to rest his tired limbs, and that was enough to draw a crowd of idle boys around him with their jibes and their jeers, and insulting provoking remarks upon his appearance, his homespun coat, and unfashionable cut garments, and when he replied and told them to go away and let him alone, they set up a shout of derision at his countryfied language. Then he got up and thought he would walk away, and so get clear of them, but he could not shake them off. Poor boy! he had left his country home among the mountains of Northern New-York to seek his fortune in the city, and this was the first fortune he had met with. It was unkindly welcome. We drew him aside and questioned him why he come to the city. "I came because I had read so much in the newspapers about the prosperity of the city, and how everybody gets great wages and money right down every week; and I thought that was a good place for me, as I was poor, and my mother was poor, and I wanted to try to do something to get a home for her and me too. Now I have got here, I don't know what to do, or where to go to stay all night. I have been walking all through town till I am dreadful tired, and I hav'nt seen a single tavern sign. Can you tell me where to find one?" We told him where to go to find a plain lodging place, and advised him to turn his face northward in the morning. Go back to the country; poor boy he is green in the city, and not disposed to fight his way through life, so he must go back to the country. He always will be a poor boy here.—N. Y. Tribune.

OFFICIAL VISIT TO BORNEO.—The National Intelligencer publishes some extracts from the letter of an officer of the U. S. ship Powhatan, dated at Hong Kong, Aug. 1st., giving an account of a visit to the Sultan of Borneo, for the purpose of exchanging the ratifications of a treaty negotiated with him a year or two ago. The ship anchored off the city of Brune, July 8, 30 miles from the city of Brune, where the Sultan resides, and Capt. M'Cluney, accompanied by a number of officers and a detachment of marines proceeded in four boats to the city. The letter gives the following account of the excursion:—

We reached the city about sunset, July 10th, and were met by the Sultan's Prime Minister in a State barge, who kindly offered us the Sultan's reception palace for our accommodation during the night. The city is built in the river on piles, and contains, it is said, about 30,000 inhabitants. They resemble our Indians. The houses are made of bamboo, and thatched with a species of palm leaves, and boats are used in going from one house to another.

The Sultan received us the next day, July 11th, at 11 o'clock, in the presence of his chief officers. The marines and band were formed in the reception hall in front. The Sultan's officers occupied a position on his right, and ours on his left; at 11 o,clock, according to appointment, his Majesty entered the hall, followed by some of his officers, when the marines presented arms, the drums gave three rolls, and the band played a march. The Sultan took the seat prepared for him in front of a throne with out speaking to any one, and the band ceased playing. After a few moments' conversation between his Majesty and Capt. McCluney, through the interpreter, Prince Makatah, his first Minister, and Capt. McCluney signed the treaty; immediately after which a salute of twenty-one guns was fired from our boat howitzers in front of the palace, which was returned by a battery on shore. His Majesty then rose, and, after shaking hands with all our officers, left the room; the marines again presented arms, the drums beat, and the band played as they did when he entered.

The people are swarthy, and go almost naked. Their religon is Mahometan. The women have much fairer complexions than the man, are delicately formed, and rather pretty. The turban is worn by the men. The Sultan is about five feet six inches high, rather robust, of a mild countenance, and probably fifty-five or sixty years of age. His palace is made of the same materials as the other houses, but in better style. It has but one floor, with partitions of cane, but on entering it the purple curtains, Turkish mats, throne, and other decorations show to fine effect.

We returned to the ship in the evening of the 11th of July, and sailed next morning for Labuan, where we arrived same day.

CRAZY PEOPLE.—Miss Dix, the philanthropist statss that among the hundreds of crazy people with whom her sacred missions have brought her into companionship, she has not found one individual, however fierce and turbulent, that could not be calmed by Scripture and prayer, uttered in low and gentle tones. The power of religious sentiments over those shattered souls seems miraculous. The worship of a quiet, loving heart, affects them like a voice from Heaven. Tearing and rending, yelping and stamping, singing and groaning, gradually subside into silence, and they fall on their knees, or gaze upwards with clasped hands, as if they saw through the opening darkness a golden gleam from their Father's throne of love.

TUESDAY, OCT. 25. 1853.

HOW PRESIDENTS ARE NOMINATED.

Mr. Burke, the editor of the Old Guard, was one of the delegates to the Baltimore Convention, which nominated Gen. Pierce for President. That nomination seemed to be spontaneous, and to some people almost like a special interposition of providence.

But now, Mr. Burke, in his Old Guard revelations, explains away every jot and tittle of the romance, and gives the public to understand that the great event was brought about by the tricks and traps of three or four crafty New Hampshire politicians, of which Mr. Burke himself seems to have been the chief.

Mr. Burke says that the reason why the Patriot has been battling him, was to avenge an old grudge which the Concord coterie owe him, for denying that John H. George saved the democracy from the effects of John Atwood's treachery. They, (the coterie in the Patriot,) have assailed Burke, as Gen. Pierce's enemy, in whom he has no confidence.

To rebut this, Burke goes on to show the close personal and political intimacy existing between him and Franklin Pierce; and in doing this, he shows to the gaze of an admiring public, the modus operandi by which the Hon. Edmund Burke wrote up Hon. Franklin Pierce's fame as a speaker when in the Senate; aided him in getting to be a Brigadier General; defended him from libels against his conduct in Mexico; and finally, wrote and managed, with the other politicians alluded to, so as to secure Mr. Pierce's nomination, and subsequent election to the presidency.

Mr. Burke says—

On one occasion during the time he was a member of the Senate, we rendered to him a personal favor at his own request. Gen. Pierce desired us to be present during the delivery of his speech, and to make such comments upon it through the press as we thought it deserved. We did attend, did notice and criticise it in the most friendly and complimentary manner, in letters which we addressed to certain newspapers.

Our relations continuing of the most friendly character, when we held the office of Commissioner of Patents, such friends of his as desired his appointment to the office of Brigadier General in the army sent to Mexico, enclosed their letters recommending him for the office, (or many of them certainly,) to us, and they were passed through our hands to President Polk. With reference to this matter we do not affirm that Gen. Pierce sought the office of Brigadier General. It is not necessary to our case.

Mr. Burke says that for months before the Democratic National Convention met he became convinced that neither Cass, Buchanan nor Douglas could get the nomination, and that the convention would agree upon a compromise candidate; and he was satisfied that Pierce stood a better chance than any other man. "But his only chance," says Mr. Burke, "was to keep him out of the ring of competitors, who were sure to destroy each other." He then goes on to expose the wires which he set in operation to secure the nomination. After alluding to his extensive acquaintance with the Democratic politicians throughout the country, and of the opportunities which his presence at Washington gave him to see many of them, he says:

For months before the Baltimore Convention, we took especial pains to see and converse with those gentlemen upon the subject of the Presidental nomination. We took pains, on all occasions, to suggest the name of Gen. Pierce, as a compromise candidate, in the event that the Convention should not agree on either of the prominent gentlemen above named in connection with that office.—We saw and conversed with from fifty to one hundred of the leading politicians of the Union on the subject, on all occasions introducing the name of Gen. Pierce. After satisfying our own mind that Gen Pierce could be nominated, we wrote to Gen Pierce our views and opinions at length, expressing our belief that he could be nominated. He answered our letters.

We also communicated the project of the friends of Gen. Pierce to the shrewdest and ablest letter-writer at Washington, and procured him to throw out in the papers to which he corresponded, the idea that, in the event of a failure by the Convention to nominate either Cass, Buchanan or Douglass, Gen. P., would be brought forward by his friends as a compromise candidate. That gentleman did as we requested, in several adroit and ingenious letters, published in the Philadelphia Ledger and Baltimore Sun, which were neutral papers, and therefore the best mediums through which to communicate such designs."

Mr. Burke goes on to say that about four weeks before the Convention he came home and corresponded with Gen. Pierce in relation to his nomination. He desired that the delegation from New Hampshire should meet at Concord to consider the matter, and requested Mr. Burke to write to some of the delegates and request their attendance. This Mr. Burke did, but was unable to attend the meeting himself. In a letter, however, he suggested a plan of operations. Gen. Pierce wrote to his letter, acknowledging its receipt and stating that the delegates present agreed in its views. What that plan of operations was will appear presently. Short-[illegible] Burke and General Pierce had an interview at the request of the latter, and fully discussed the plan, which was carried out almost to the very letter at Baltimore.

In the following extract, Mr. Burke fully exposes the cunningly devised scheme which, under the artful management of shrewd politicians, secured the nomination of General Pierce as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency:

"At that time Gen. Pierce expressed his desire that our delegation should not cast its vote unanimously for any one candidate before the Convention. The reason he assigned was, that in consequence of the high character for fidelity to principle which the Democracy of New Hampshire enjoyed among the brethren of the Union, the united vote of her delegation, though small, would have a greater moral force than the votes of delegations much larger in numbers; and, if given for any leading candidate in the outset, would endanger the ultimate end we had in view.

We then went to Baltimore, having some weeks previous engaged rooms for our entire delegation at the Eutaw House, one of the best hotels in that city. The Convention assembled, and throughout the session we exerted every energy to carry out the wishes of General Pierce. On some of the first ballots I gave my vote for Mr. Douglass, in accordance with what I knew was Gen. P.'s express desire in regard to our delegation giving a united vote. Subsequently we all united on General Cass; and then we again divided, Mr. Atherton and myself voting for Mr. Buchanan, and our colleagues voting for General Butler, of Kentucky. At length the delegation from Virginia, introduced the name of Gen. Pierce, and then our delegation gave him a united vote until he was nominated. These facts the records of the Convention abundantly prove."

In continuation, Mr. Burke speaks of his own services after the nomination, and says, among other things, that he, "in co-operation with an eminent and distinguished naturalised citizen, aided in inducing Kossuth to take ground in favor of the Democratic nominees, which he subsequently did."

The remainder of the article is occupied with an exposition of the personal relations which have existed between himself and General Pierce since the nomination. The article, it will be remembered, is in reply to the reports industriously circulated that the General was personally hostile to Mr. Burke. In this connexion an extract from one of the private letters of General Pierce is given, in which he says:

"I can state distinctly that the charge that I am your enemy has, so far as I know, NO FOUNDATION IN ANY WORD OR ACT OF MINE."

Subsequently General Pierce personally assured Mr. Burke that he did not countenance the reports. Mr. Burke says "we prefer to believe that he is a man of truth and honor, and that they (Butterfield, George and others who have circulated the reports) are base and infamous calumniators of both him and us.

Our readers can put their own interpretation on the following sentence:

"We have seen several Presidents in our day. And we have learned to look upon them as men, and not as gods. We approach them with no fear nor trembling. They are men, but the office which they fill is the most exalted of human honors. It represents the majority of the people, and whoever fills it, is entitled to the respect of the people while in office. But there is one character far above the President; it is the GENTLEMAN. That implies truth, honor, integrity and justice.

A President personally may be without those eminent qualities; but a gentleman never. The President who represents and carries out our principles will have our political support if he is no gentleman. The pretended friends of General Pierce would attempt to show that he was destitute of truth and honor, and therefore no gentleman. We prefer to believe that they are of that character, and not he. The facts we have enumerated, go to show that they are the ones who are destitute of truth, integrity, and honor, and not General Pierce."

THE BATTLE BEGUN.

Telegraphic despatches from Washington, on Saturday, state that Heman J. Redfield has been appointed Collector at New York, vice Bronson, removed; J. R. Brodhead, soft, Naval Officer, vice Redfield; John G. Cisco, Sub-Treasurer, vice John A. Dix, resigned; and John L. O'Sullivan, Charge to Portugal.

The reader will please to observe that the head which is here said to have fallen, is of "the tall and wise" species, though not perhaps exactly "reverend;" and that it now "lies as low as ours;" perhaps a little lower.

He will also observe, if he looks sharp, a few days hence, that a multitude of smaller heads will be rolling in the sand beneath the platform; and as we are just now in the mood of poetical quotations from Dr. Watts, we will copy a stanza for their benefit, ante mortem, suggested by their impending fate, together with the reasons which led to it.

"False are the men of high degree,
The baser sort are vanity:
Laid in a balance both appear
Light as a puff of empty air."

THREE SAD DEATHS.—Two Irishmen, named John Holland and Owen Fagin, who were sent to Deer Island, in Boston Harbor on Friday, as common drunkards, died soon afterwards of delirium tremens.

In the same city, an inquest was held on Saturday, on the body of Michael Patrick Levens, found in the dock at Long Wharf.—The jury returned a verdict that he came to his death by jumping from the brig Itaska into the water, while in a fit of delirium tremens. Deceased was about 25 years of age, and a native of Fredericktoo, N. B.

PORTSMOUTH, Oct. 24.

PETIT JURORS—SECOND WEEK.

Thomas C. Braw, Thomas Anderson, Candia; Charles Chase, Amos Southwick, Chester; J. B. Cilley, George W. Prescott, Deerfield; Benjamin L. Merrill, Wm. Philbrick, Exeter; Nelson Ordway, Caleb Moulton, Hampstead; Jonathan Rodman, David M. Leavitt, Hampton; George Vennard, New Castle; Ephraim Pickering, Newington; Simeon Brown, North Hampton; Enoch H. Pillsbury, John G. Mead, Northwood; Joseph Gile, Jacob Davis, Nottingham; Charles C. Dow, Abel Brown, Kensington; Lorenzo D. Towle, Orlando Hunt, Kingston; Charles J Colcord, Geo. W. Drake, } Ward 2, Portsmouth; Elwin Jewell, Stratham.

Thos. Anderson was appointed foreman of the first jury, and Enoch H. Pillsbury foreman of the 2d jury.

The case Whidden vs. Dorr was taken up and postponed.

Case 123.—Manning and Stanwood vs. J. L. Clendenin, was taken up and judgment ordered in accordance with the Master's report.

Case 118.—D. Griffin vs. Wm. H. Fellows & al. Christie and Bacon for plf., McMurphy and Marston for deft. This—an action of assumpsit on a promissory note—is now on trial.

THE ICE TRADE.—We learn that several business men of this city, have contracted with Mr. Thos. Norton, who is to build two Ice Houses, capable of containing 4000 tons of ice each, in the vicinity of Jones' Pond, Raymond. The same company have hired the pond for eleven years, intending to furnish ice to our own citizens at a moderate charge, and also for shipment to our Southern and East India friends. This will make an important item of freight on the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad.

MACKEREL FISHING.—Schr. Lydia, of Newburyport, from Bay of St. Lawrence, with 440 bbls. mackerel, put into our lower harbor on Sunday, and reports another vessel coming out of the bay at the same time, with a fare about equal to that of the Lydia.

THE CHRONICLE IN NEW CASTLE.—Persons in New Castle wishing the Daily or Weekly Chronicle delivered promptly at their residence or place of business, will be supplied on the same terms as our city subscribers, by applying at the store of Mr. T. S. Frost, or to our carrier, Langdon Yeaton.

We have made arrangements to publish a series of articles relative to the history of this ancient town, from its 'settlement to the present time. They will be written by a gentleman well acquainted with and interested in the matter, and cannot fail to highly interest our large number of subscribers there, as well as elsewhere.

AN OLD FERRIER.—The papers notice the death, in Detroit, Mich., of Mr. Daniel Stuart, aged 86 years. He was one of John Jacob Astor's Fur Company, and visited the mouth of the Columbia in 1810. He was born in Callender, Scotland, and came to this country before the commencement of the present century, and for more than 30 years was actively engaged in the fur trade.

SHIP WESTERN WORLD.—The ship Western World, Capt. Moses, from Liverpool, went ashore at Squam Inlet, on Friday night. Her passengers, 600 in number, were all landed safely, and the ship was making no water, and would probably be got off.

THE DESTITUTE CELESTIALS.—Mr. G. B. Dennis, of Boston, has given a free passage to the members of the Tung-Hook-Tong Dramatic Company to China, and they are to leave this city next week. The Commissioners of Emigration have agreed to furnish them with provisions during the voyage. These unfortunate men are now in charge of the commissioners.—New York Evening Post.

FRENCH PRIZES FOR VIRTUE.—Virtue is rewarded in France by prizes. A prize of 2000f. has been awarded to Etienette Chanouny, a faithful servant, who has served her mistress, unhappily married, through every vicissitude and reverse of fortune, supported her and her daughter in poverty, and now at sixty years of age cleans apartments in Paris to support her mistress, who is poor and ill. Such devotion deserves reward.

GAS EXPLOSION.—On Thursday evening, in New York, Dr. Griswold, becoming aware that gas was leaking from the pipes somewhere in his house, went through the rooms, accompanied by a child 12 years of age, to ascertain the place. Upon opening the door of a small room in the third story, a tremendous explosion occurred instantly, destroying two or three windows, breaking a partition, and consuming curtains and other furniture in that part of the house. Dr. Griswold, who was very feeble, with the child, was thrown back upon the floor of the adjoining room, but he quickly recovered himself, and emerged with the child from the flames. The gas was stopped at the meter, and the fire in the upper part of the house extinguished.

Dr. Griswold was burned in his face and neck, but his hands suffered most from his efforts to save the child, whose body was for a moment wrapped in fire. It was discovered that the skin was hanging loose from the fingers and backs of both hands, and that several of the nails must be removed. Dr. Griswold suffered intense agony. The child was much less seriously injured. The damage to the house amounts to three or four hundred dollars.

LUBIN'S EXTRACTS for the Hdkf. W. R. PRESTON has just received from New York a very full assortment, comprising 30 different kinds, some entirely new and choice. 3t o22

Dr. J. P. Woolley's All-Healing and Strengthening Salve.

THIS salve is a sovereign remedy for lame back, local rheumatism, pain in the side and breast, scalds, burns, freezes, fresh wounds, bruises, sprains, weakness in the joints, crick in the back, old sores, chilblains, swellings, numbness, ague in the face and breast, cracked hands, biles, corns on the feet, and occasional sores of most kinds to which the human kind is subject.

This Salve is a rare and valuable combination of warm, stimulant and anodyne ingredients, and will be found far superior to any other article of the kind heretofore discovered for the above complaints. There has never appeared a medicine which possesses the penetrating and healing power in so great a degree, while at the same time it cannot by any possibility produce injurious effects. By its action on the skin it moves all obstructions to the insensible perspiration—excites a healthy circulation of the blood—strengthens and invigorates the nerves—gives elasticity to the joints, and imparts strength to any part of the system which may have been weakened by sedentary habits or disease. PATENTS.
American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby one applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,
AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,
At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

FEVER AT GALVESTON, TEXAS.—The ravages of the yellow fever at Galveston have been great beyond all précedent in this country, the deaths having in the space of thirty-five days amounted to five hundred and one out of a population of three thousand. The pestilence broke forth on the 5th of September, and on the 9th was decreasing rapidly, the number of victims being then reduced to about eight or nine per day; but in the brief space embraced between those dates the mortality was frightful. All trade was suspended, the people from the country holding little if any communication with the devoted city, which is in an isolated position. The degree of mortality among the negroes was much less than among the white inhabitants.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The upward freight train on the Lowell Railroad, this morning, was thrown off the track by the misplacement of a switch at the Winchester station, and several of the cars were badly smashed, but no person was injured. The first train from Woburn Centre was delayed about a quarter of an hour by the accident. It appears that some person maliciously unlocked and shifted the switch. One hundred dollars reward is offered for the detection of the offender.—Boston Transcript, Oct. 22.

AN OX AND A LOCOMOTIVE.—The engine of a freight train on the Naugatuck Railroad was on Wednesday last attacked by an ox, which suddenly leaped upon the track. The engine ran over the ox, but it was itself overset, and thrown into the river, and two cars were thrown off the track. A brakeman received some severe bruises, but no person was seriously injured.

SILVER CHANGE.—The Assistant Treasurer at New York, has issued the following circular:—

The Secretary of the Treasury with a view to the accommodation of the business community of New York, has placed to the credit of the undersigned, at the Mint at Philadelphia, the sum of two hundred thousand dollars in new silver coin, for the purpose of introducing it into circulation. The undersigned on receiving from any bank in this city the sum of two thousand dollars in gold, will give his check for the same amount payable in silver coin by the Assistant Treasurer of the United States at the Mint in Philadelphia.

JOHN A. DIX, Sub Treasurer, U. S.

GOOD ORDER.—In giving an account of the great Horse Show at Springfield, Mass. the Boston Advertiser says:

We cannot refrain from alluding again to the decorous behavior of the immense crowd assembled in and about the grounds of the exhibition. Not a single intoxicated person was seen or heard of; there was no gambling, and no disorderly noises or disturbances of any sort. The presence of a considerable number of ladies doubtless had much to do with this complete subjection of the jockey and rowdy element which it might have been feared would get the upper hand upon such an occasion; and we presume that to the "Maine Law" part of the credit is due, although as the grounds of the exhibition belonged to the United States, it had been suggested that law would not apply to sales of liquor within the enclosure. We believe that a bar was opened there; but it was closed with commendable promptness by Col. Ripley, Commander at the Armory.

EMIGRANTS.—On Friday last, nine ships from Liverpool and a bark from Bremen, arrived at New York with passengers, numbering in all 3779. One of the ships, the Benjamin Adams, lost 15 out of 620 passengers, by cholera, and there were 16 deaths on board the New York, supposed to have been mostly of the same disease. Within the preceding 40 days, 18 vessels had arrived at the same port, 6 from Liverpool, 4 from Havre, 3 each from Hamburgh and Bremen, and 1 each from London and Glasgow, bringing 6,661 emigrants. On board these vessels there occurred 328 deaths, a considerable part of which were probably of cholera.

A MINISTER DIVORCED.—They had a divorce case decided up in Ashland last week. Rev. L. S. Everett, a few weeks since, applied to the courts for a divorce from his wife, the late widow Hoyt, of Buffalo. The application was refused by the County Judge of Loraine. He then removed the venue to Ashland county, where he was successful, and last week was married to Miss Wright, a niece of the rejected wife.—Cin. Enquirer, Oct. 16.

This may be all right; but it looks very like a trick.

GREAT FIRES IN WESTERN CITIES.—In Cincinnati, on Saturday night, two large pork houses, three heavy liquor stores, a bakery, and some smaller establishments were destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at some $300,000, and about half insured.

The fire in Louisville on Friday, destroyed property to the amount of $200,000. Insurance $160,000, of which $55,000 was in New York and Philadelphia offices. The Louisville Journal was burnt, but the paper was issued next morning as usual.

COOPER'S HOUSE.—It is announced that the house of the late James Fenimore Cooper, at Cooperstown, N. Y., upon the southern borders of Otsego Lake, celebrated in many of his Indian novels, was wholly destroyed by fire on Friday night. Since the death of Mr. Cooper, the building has been used as a public house.

We regret to learn that Brevet Brig. Gen. Thos. Childs, one of the bravest and most distinguished officers of the Army of the United States, died at Tampa Bay, Florida, of yellow fever, on the 8th inst.—National Intelligencer.

"I should think these omnibus wheels would be fatigued after running all day," observed Sam. "Well, yes," replied Seth, taking a squint at them, "they do appear to be tired."

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE,
ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

The Fall Session of this Institute will be held in the VESTRY of the 1st Congregational Church in EXETER. The exercises will commence on and close on Saturday, November 5th. The usual hours for commencing will be half past 8 o'clock in the morning, and 2 and 7 o'clock P. M.

MONDAY, Oct. 31st, at 10 o'clock A. M.,

The services of the following eminent instructors are engaged:

Prof. DANA P. COLBURN, in Arithmetic and Geography,
Prof. J. G. HOYT, in Algebra;
" S. S. GREEN, of Brown University, in Grammar;
Prof. T. J. WHITTAKER, in Drawing and Penmanship;
DANIEL BARNARD, Esq., in reading;
JAMES W. CLARK, in Music;
CALVIN CUTTER, M. D., in Physiology and Hygiene.

There will be a lecture on Monday Evening, by Rev. ABA MANN, of Exeter. The other evenings will be occupied by lectures of a general character, by some of the Instructors, on subjects connected with their respective departments.

Each member of the Institute is requested to have present a Bible, Dictionary, Russell's School Reader or Town's Fourth Reader, and a small Blank-book; and to have his or her full name and residence written on a slip of paper or card, ready to hand to the Committe of Reception, on entering the Institute, so as to expedite the organization. Arrangements will be made for commodious boarding places, at reasonable rates.

Committee of Arrangements, Visitation and Report: Rev. A. MANN; WM. G. PERRY, M.D., C. F. GERRY, A. B., and E. G. DALTON, A. M.

Arrangements have been made to render the institute every way worthy of the hearty support of the Teachers of the County. The interests of our Common Schools demand such a support. It is therefore earnestly desired that every resident teacher of the County, and those residing in other counties who propose to teach in this, young and old,—the patriarchs of the profession, as well as the fresh candidates for its hard earned honors, should be present at the opening of the Institute, and continue to its close.

Prudential Committees are respectfully requested to defer the commencement of the Winter Schools so far as to allow the Teachers to attend the Institute; and it is hoped that they will encourage their attendance. And the Commissioner invites the attendance of Superintending and Prudential Committees and parents, of the older pupils in our Schools, and of the friends of our Common Schools generally, upon the Institute.

☞ The Committees and other citizens, who receive circulars, are requested to see that they are suitably distributed through their towns, and posted up in the most public places.

EXETER, Oct. 4th, 1853. A. H. HOYT,
School Commissioner for Rockingham County.

The New Lyceum.

AGREEABLY to published arrangements, a Course of fourteen or more Lectures, under the direction of the MECHANIC ASSOCIATION, will be given

EFFECT OF CLIMATE ON CONSUMPTION.—It appears that the medical faculty are beginning to question the opinion which has so long prevailed among medical men, that a change of climate is beneficial to persons suffering with the consumption. Sir James Clark, of England, has assailed the doctrine with considerable force, and a French physician named Carriere, has written against it; but the most vigorous opponent of it is a Dr. Burgess, of whom a recent article in Chambers's Edinburgh Journal, which we find condensed in a Philadelphia paper, gives an account. Dr. Burgess contends that climate has little or nothing to do with the cure of consumption, and that if it had, the curative effects would be produced through the skin, and not the lungs. That a warm climate is not in itself beneficial, he shows from the fact that the disease exists in all latitudes. In India and Africa, tropical climates, it is as frequent as in Europe or northern America.—Boston Post.

THE GREAT METROPOLIS.—They have a funny way of doing things in New York. On Saturday, guns were fired in the Park, to commemorate the liberation of John S. Austin from the Penitentiary, whither he had been sent for aggravated assault and battery upon Augustus Schell, Esq., in the Tammany Hall election row! Mr. Austin would probably break Mr. Schell's head again for half the powder, and a moiety of the honor.—The whole proceedings attending the trial, sentence, and pardon of this notorious ruffian, are disgraceful to the Judiciary and Executive of the Empire State.

BEARS AT THE RISK OF THE OWNER.—The Supreme Court have decided an important principle; bears on railroads are at the risk of the owner. The case was reported in our columns yesterday. A bear from California was put upon the freight train of the Stonington Railroad. He broke out of his cage, gnawed through the car and made his escape, after having greatly frightened the passengers and all hands, and took to the woods, where he was shot. The owner brought an action against the company, but the jury, under the ruling of the court, decided that "bears are at the risk of the owner."—Prov. Journal.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c., but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Furnace, &c., for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 850,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as Nature's Kindest Remedy for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 70th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the pub ic as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($500 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

WILLIAM DEVINES."

GRACE GREENWOOD MARRIED.

Grace Greenwood, the popular and gifted American poetess and author, was married on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the village church adjoining her parents' residence at New Brighton, Beaver county, Pa., to Mr. Leander K. Lippincott, of Philadelphia.

The following article in relation to this marriage has been the rounds of the papers and it takes no more liberty than the press has a right to claim in regard to popular authors, who must expect to be subjects of comment and criticism, in like manner with other people in public life.

MERRIAGE IN HIGH LIFE,—for what life is higher than that spent in cloud-land, and now so nearly approaching heaven?—One who has been of us, if not always with us, is about to enter that state which an inexorable law forbids, for life, the fugitives return. Grace Greenwood is about to be married. Prior to her departure for Europe, a mutual attachment existed between herself and a young clerk, originally of a mercantile house in Philadelphia, afterwards advanced, it is said through the interests of his enamorata's friends, to a clerkship in Washington. This gentleman is the bridegroom elect; distinguished, at present, for nothing but the favor of the poetess who has resolved to be his bride. Like Madame De Stael, Josephine, Jenny Lind, and some other distinguished women, Grace is to be united to a man much her junior; and in all marked characteristics, her apparent inferior; "She loves love, not the lover,"—said one of her, who professes to know of these affairs; but during these last years, she has displayed honorable loyalty towards her absent betrothed.

Indeed, it was even said to have been her own proposition that the nuptial noose should privately be cast over her neck, before she crossed the great waters; but her friends demurred, perhaps, hoping that time and distance might dispel what to them seemed a strange illusion.

Grace is a tall, well formed woman, in the prime of life; a clear brunette in complexion, with bright, black eyes, and rich black hair. She has lips so thin as to be almost shrewish in their expression, and their appearance does not improve when in action, for there is some irregularity in the vocal organs, visable in their workings, and audible in something like a lisp. She is said to be a fast rider, if not a fast woman; a lover of strong tea and late hours; in short, with all the charming faults, of a nervous, excitable temperament.

Her writings are well known, she being one of the best epistolary correspondents of the day. She is now about to devote her talents to the edification of children; and perhaps her husband will assist her, as his official duties at Washington are at an end. Rumor says that, with a ruthless disregard of his increasing responsibilities, "the powers that be" reduced his salary, instead of raising it, as should have been done, in view of his approaching marriage, and it may be that in this event the bride will take credit for something like martyrdom to her well known abolition principles. The happy bridegroom, it is to be observed, is a free soiler, who received an appointment, under Gen. Taylor, in the Treasury Department, through the influence of Dr. Baily, of the National Era.

But, blessings on them both! She is a "smart woman," "Young America" in muslin and corals; and he,—if she thinks him good enough to be her "lord and master,"—is a remarkable man notwithstanding he appears but as "one of the boys;" and, as a good Quaker described him to a female friend has a cheek and chin "as smooth as thy hand."

VERNET THE PAINTER.—The Paris correspondent of the New York Times tells the following story of this artist:

I told you some months ago that Horace Vernet had painted a sign for a hotel-keeper, in a small town of Algeria, and that in consequence the run upon the house of mine host was considerably increased. I have now a somewhat similar anecdote to relate of the great painter. He was hunting in an oasis, and having brought down a partridge, whistled to his dog to pick it up. As he was waiting, a magnificent animal sprang forward, seized the bird, and brought it to Vernet.—The artist was struck with the admirable proportions of the dog, and said involuntarily aloud, "Why, I'd give an impossibility for that creature!"

"Take it sir," said a voice at his side; "too happy to make you a present of it."

Vernet protested, but finally accepted. The donor was a barber of Algiers. A week after, the artist sent the barber a portrait of the dog, with a charming landscape in the background. He had taken pains with the picture, and had, moreover, signed his name in one corner.—The barber hung it in his shop, and in a few days, such was the increase of custom, he took two additional apprentices. First and last, says the Akhbar, the picture will be worth to its owner something like five thousand francs.

THE TRUTH.—In Babbage's Bridgewater Treatise, occurs the following extract from the sermons of the late Archbishop of Dublin. It is well worth reading, as it enforces the sound doctrine that the truth should never be stifled, and least of all in the cause of religion, as it cannot lead to evil, but must always lead to good.

"Lastly, as we must not dare to withhold or disguise revealed religious truth, so we must dread the progress of no other truth. We must not imitate the bigots who imprisoned Galileo; and step forward Bible in hand (like the profane Israelites carrying the Ark of God into the field of battle,) to check the inquiries of the geologist, the astronomer, or the political economist, from an apprehension that the cause of religion can be endangered by them. Any theory on whatever subject, that is really sound, can never be inimical to a religion founded on truth; and any that is unsound may be refuted by arguments drawn from observation and experiment, without calling in the aid of revelation. If we give way to a dread of danger from the inculcation of any scriptural doctrine, or from the progress of physical or moral science, we manifest a want of faith in God's power, or in his will to maintain his own cause. That we shall indeed best further his cause by fearless perseverance in an open and straight course, I am firmly persuaded; but it is not only when we perceive the mischiefs of falsehood and disguise, and the beneficial tendency of fairness and candor, that we are to be the followers of truth; the trial of our faith is when we cannot perceive this; and the part of a lover of truth is to follow her at all seeming hazards, after the example of Him who 'came into the world that he might bear witness to the truth.'"

STATE OF MAINE.

The State of Maine newspaper, having obtained quite a currency for and by Mr. John Neal's letters against the Maine Law, now shuts him out as ultra, and he goes into the Expositor. The next step is for the State of Maine to give its own editorial view of the law.

We copy all the material parts of this article, omitting only such parts as are controversial or unimportant, and add to it a few notes.

We do this because we choose to present all sides of this important question as fairly as possible before our readers.

To charge upon all men who are opposed to the Liquor Law, a necessity of adopting the doctrine that urges the licensing of brothels, is a stretch of presumption that savors of weakness or falsehood. The friends of temperance* are the last men to be charged with this by any man of a sound mind.

The opposition to the Liquor Law of Maine has come more from the old and tried friends of temperance than from any other quarter.† There have been some men that have opposed it from a belief that it was an unjust interference with their personal rights in the use of liquors.

Opposition from this quarter has, in a great measure, ceased, from the entire inability of the law to restrain its use. Parties who desire to drink, find no difficulty in obtaining a full supply of all their wants.

We believe, that while there is far less liquor drank in Maine than formerly, and that there is a steady and constant advance in the cause of temperance up to the time that the law was passed. We are quite as certain, that the effect of the law has been, and now is, to increase the amount of drinking in the cities and large towns of the State. This is obvious at a glance.

Go to the State Capital for instance, and among the members of the Legislature, during its session. Men who were elected as friends of the "Maine Law," and owed their seats to the effect of pledges previously given, kept supplies in their own rooms for the use of themselves and friends, leading to more wholesale drinking than under the former system, when there was no law against it.

It was not the Liquor Law that made them love drink, nor did the law extirpate this passion. The necessity of secrecy to maintain their position as temperance men, led them to lay in larger supplies than they would otherwise have required, and this fact encouraged, rather than restrained their excessive use.

The Liquor Law of Maine, pretends to assert the doctrine "that the drinking of liquor is a crime."

If it had done this in fact, the law we think might have been maintained, so strong is the temperance sentiment of Maine. By making liquor in outlaw, by declaring its manufacture, its sale, and its use a felony, the law might possibly have been enforced. But when it permitted liquors to be sold in any town in the State, for mechanical and medicinal purposes, it left the doors open for abuse. The law licensed the sale, but it undertook to change the responsibility of determining its use, to agents appointed by the town or city authorities, rather than leaving it to each individual. The result in practice was found to be an entire inability on the part of town or city agents to discriminate between the proper and the improper use of liquor, and finally led to an overthrow of the agency, or an abuse of its powers. Portland broke up its agency, while in Bangor the sale through this channel was found to exceed the medicinal and mechanical uses contemplated by the statute.

Again, the Law of Maine authorized any man to purchase and bring into the State any amount of liquor he desired for his own consumption. Gentlemen who desired to drink and not violate the law, imported from St. John, New York and elsewhere out of the State their own supplies, and the use of liquors in Portland, is just as free as ever in private, and no law need be violated thereby.

This result was as clearly foreseen by the friends of temperance * before the law was passed as now. Mr. Edward Fox, of this city, who is understood to have had some hand in framing the original bill, declared to us, that the law as passed was entirely inadequate to the purpose attempted to be reached. The law threw more obstacles in the way of obtaining liquor, but it contained other provisions calculated to irritate and stimulate the passion for drink, by arousing a feeling of hostility to the law of the mode of exacting its provisions.

Nothing is so fatal in attempting moral instruction as to arouse this sentiment of opposition. Allow a man to do as he pleases, to act freely upon his own responsibility, and his manliness revolts at doing wrong. Place restraints upon him and he rebels and often rushes into excess.

Now no reasonable man will contend that the use of liquor under all circumstances is criminal. It is harmless or otherwise, according to the circumstances of its use. Temperance is the legitimate and proper use of it ‡—Any excess in the use of liquor, however slight, becomes intemperance at once. The line that separates the proper from the unlawful use of liquors, does not depend upon any arbitrary rule, or any established law. It depends in every instance upon the peculiar circumstances of the case itself.

Now, what every temperate man, and every temperance ¶ man desires, is, to so far regulate the price of liquors as to prevent excess. Upon this idea, License laws are provided.

We do not advocate a License Law with a desire to increase thereby the sale of liquors, but because in no other way do we see how the evils of drinking can be restrained or controlled.

In this connection we think it proper to say that there is one feature in the Liquor Law of Maine, which, though not original in it, gives it its principal value. We mean that portion of the law that gives the right of search and of seizure. This was borrowed from an United States Statute regulating the sale of liquor among the Indian tribes.

With a License Law suitably guarded in its provisions, and a right of search and seizure in case of any violation of it, the sale and use of liquors, as we believe, might be regulated and restrained. We do not ourselves see any intermediate course between its entire outlawry and a prohibition of its use, and the granting of a system of licensing.

It may be too late in the day for any one to contend for the entire prohibition of the manufacture, sale, or use of liquors. This principle, friends of the Maine Law do not own. It was contended for years ago by very many friends of temperance.

In our estimation it is impossible for the friends of the Liquor Law of Maine to any longer maintain its "entire perfectibility."—They must go forward and extirpate the liquor, or fall back upon the ground of a proper license law.

The advocates of the Maine Law have done one new thing—they have made tempeance a political party question¶. This was, in our estimation, the fatal step, and every man who has attempted to ride this hobby will find it so to his sorrow.

NOTES.

* By the "friends of temperance," this writer all along means the friends of good liquor in moderate quantities.

† The former note is the key to the meaning of this sentence, we suppose. But if not, and the writer means that the opposition to the new law comes mostly from total abstinents,—then it is to us utterly incredible, because contradictory to all we see and know.

‡ Entire abstinence from it is also quite legitimate; and is practiced by many men who believe themselves to be temperate

¶ The distinction here made between temperate and temperance men is legitimate. But modern temperance men have generally aimed to discourage the use of such liquors altogether, on the plea that it is dangerous, and leads to excess.

‖ True, there may be no intermediate course; but there is a third one, viz.: free trade in liquor.—Perhaps the Maine people will try it; but present appearances are against it.

¶ The State of Maine ought to know,—but we have always understood it otherwise. The law was enacted, on the petition of men of all parties, by a legislature with large democratic majorities in both branches, and signed by a democratic governor. Yet we never heard it claimed as a democratic measure. Next year came a whig governor, and a sort of coalition legislature; and they did not offer to repeal the law, but merely amended it somewhat. Yet we have not seen it claimed by the whigs as their measure. Nor are we aware that the free soil party claim it as theirs.

Notwithstanding these notes and exceptions, we consider the article above quoted, the best argument which has yet been presented against the Maine Law. As such we invite public attention to it, in the hope that the whole matter, being thoroughly discussed, will be wisely handled in New Hampshire, when it comes up for action at the polls or elsewhere. This article in the State of Maine, evidently speaks the guarded language of the most respectable portion of the liquor interest, and is to be taken as their view and plan.

A VOICE FROM PORTLAND.

This voice comes from Mayor Cahoon of that city, who was elected Mayor of Portland in opposition to Neal Dow, the father of the Maine Law. The opponents of the law have declared that more liquor was drank, and injurious results had followed the enactment and execution of the law, than were previously witnessed in the city. The practical testimony, then, of Mr. Cahoon, elected in great measure by liquor sellers themselves, is certainly of the utmost value, and will tend to clear away the mist that has overspread this subject. The letter was written in answer to a letter of inquiry from a gentleman of Cincinnati, as to the operation of the Maine Liquor Law:

CITY OF PORTLAND, }
Mayor's Office, Aug. 12, 1853. }

Dear Sir:—The liquor law has been and is still enforced in this city. We have no public drinking houses or shops where liquor is publicly sold, and our city is very quiet. But few cases of intemperance are seen, and cases of crime before our last court were much less than for some years previous. Liquor can be purchased freely in our neighboring State, New Hampshire, and the city of Boston.—Any of our citizens can purchase there, and take it to their houses for use, but not for sale. I have no doubt there is much drinking in private, which the law cannot and does not try to control. So far as meets the public eye there has been a very great improvement in our city, under the operation of the law. Yours, &c.,

J. B. CAHOON, Mayor.

Here the whole case is presented within the compass of a nutshell. Such testimony from such a source seems unimpeachable. The "State of Maine" says of it:

"We believe that Mayor Cahoon states the case very fairly, but he cannot be supposed to know the full extent of the evils that now exist under the present law in our midst, in the form of private drinking."

Well: he does not pretend to. He says he "doubts not there is much of it,"—but as it is private, no man can accurately tell how much.

We have now the testimony of the Mayor, of the Catholic priest, the Minister at large, and of the three daily papers in Portland, the Advertiser, Argus and State of Maine, all agreeing in the fact that public drinking is suppressed;—and the reliable balance of their testimony is, that the operation of the law in Portland is salutary in a very high degree.—It has taken some time to get at it: but here it is at last, under the hand and seal of the Mayor himself.

NEW CASTLE.

The appearance of Great Island has much changed within a few years. Many of the citizens have left the fishing business to engage in shoemaking, much to the regret of vessel owners there, who think the change has worked to the disadvantage of the place. But a better class of dwellings has risen up, and the town presents altogether a neater appearance than formerly. Nearly every other house has a little shoemaker's shop in or near it, the occupants resembling so many bees. We like to see men or boys at work on sale shoes—they move as though on a wager—so like an imated machines. Most of the work done here is for the South ultimately, though in many cases furnished by Massachusetts dealers.

It seems a pity, that with the natural advantages presented on the Island, for carrying on the fisheries to a large extent, the business should be allowed to fall off; though under favorable circumstances otherwise, the troubles at the Bay for a year or two past, would soon suffice to kill any enterprise.

The inhabitants much need a regular public conveyance to and from this city, similar to the Kittery Point Stage. Several attempts to establish such a line have failed, on account of the difficulty of getting reasonable tollrates over the bridges.

The Daily Chronicle is thoroughly circulated over the Island every morning,—so the dwellers there keep posted up pretty well in the news at home and abroad. New Castle is in reality the Fourth Ward of our City, though not formally declared so as yet.

DENTISTRY.—Any man who adds to the comfort or convenience, or improves the appearance of his fellows, is a benefactor—no matter what his motive. And such an one, in an eminent degree, is a thorough dentist—a man who understands his business, and whose soul is in his work—who labors as much for the sake of suffering humanity, as for a livelihood—in whom can be placed all confidence. We have had special occasion to observe much of the dental art and science, for several years, and would advise all who value their health and comfort, to watch well their teeth—take care of them while good, consult a good dentist respecting them when defective, and get the best substitute when gone.

We are often astonished at the heedlessness in this respect, of persons otherwise very careful of their own comfort and appearance; and are more particularly led to speak of the matter at this time, from having seen some beautiful specimens of work from the laboratory of Dr. Fuller in this city. We never saw better, though we have examined work from Boston and New York. Dr. F. is an excellent mechanical and surgical operator—fits a plate to perfection, uses the best tools and materials, and adapts the color and size of false teeth to a nicety. We say this in no disparagement of any other dentist, but we desire to render a small tribute of thanks to Dr. Fuller, for grateful services rendered.

With good dental operators in our midst, there is no excuse for suffering with or for want of teeth, and no need of going out of the city to have an operation performed.

A SUCKER.—This is the name of a fish which swims in some waters;—and also of a sort of biped found on dry land, and now and then on Green-land. One of these bipeds, in dress and manners every inch a gentleman, recently put up at a large hotel, delightfully located in a neighboring town, where he soon found himself quite at home, pleased with the fare, delighted with the landlord, and enchanted with the cigars. He was so struck, morover, with the natural beauties of Greenland, animate and inanimate, that he had actually made up his mind to spend the remnant of his days there. He had some funds in Portsmouth, and would shortly transfer the balance of his property to this city, but would like the trifling sum of $10 as a loan from the landlord. This was readily granted from a pocket seldom empty, and transferred, amid a shower of compliments on house and fare, to the shining wallet of the visitor, who next expressed his regret that Greenland had no clock, and suggested that he might do something in the way of giving one. This very naturally introduced the landlord's gold watch, which the visitor greatly admired, and thought he would buy one exactly like it. It was loaned to the stranger, and gracefully deposited in his side pocket.

The landlord, who by the way is one of our most active and shrewdest business men, had some call into Portsmouth, and left his happy guest at home; but sad to say, on his return, the $10 in cash, the watch, worth $80 more, the cigars—and the gentleman, had all gone off together, leaving not a wreck behind, of about $100, out of which he had swindled a live Yankee in the coolest manner possible.

☞ Mr. and Mrs. Clark's Concert, advertised for Thursday evening in the Temple, will be a musical entertainment worthy of encouragement by their friends and the lovers of music generally. And we hope it will be properly encouraged and duly appreciated by the same fashionable and musical public, which so recently gave a good house at one dollar a ticket, to the Ole Bull troupe. The price of one ticket then, will carry in a whole family now. "Encourage your own."

A RISE IN WAGES.—We are told that not long ago, a Roman priest in a New England town, exhorted the servant girls in his congregation to rise 25 cts. per week on their wages, and give this 25 cts. to the church.—About 50 of the girls met, however, and resolved that they would do no such thing.—This is a remarkable and gratifying piece of independence in the girls; but this case of meddling with wages by the priest, may open the eyes of some citizens who are slow to see such things, and may possibly also explain one reason why household wages are kept high.

SAD ACCIDENT.—In Hampton, on Saturday last, an infant son of Dr. A. B. Lord, aged 15 months, fell into a tub of hot water, and was scalded in so dreadful a manner that he died on Sunday.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. William Pinkham of Dover, was badly injured by a fall, at the Cocheco Print Works, on Saturday 15th inst., occasioned by the sudden giving way of the purchase to a Press which he was screwing down at the time. He fell backwards out of a doorway, about fifteen feet to the pavements, striking on his head, breaking and fracturing his elbow, and otherwise injuring him.

NEW HAMPSHIRE REGISTER.—The Register for 1854, has just been furnished to us by the publisher, Mr. G. Parker Lyon, of Concord. It contains the usual matter found in a Register; and also a valuable statistical account of Courts and Judges, which shows a frequent legislative tinkering of our judicial system.

MARRIED,

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of all parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

☞ All Postmasters will act as Agents, and any person sending five subscribers, with pay for a year, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

Dr. J. P. Woolley's All-Healing and Strengthening Salve.

THIS salve is a sovereign remedy for lame back, local rheumatism, pain in the side and breast, scalds, burns, freezes, fresh wounds, bruises, sprains, weakness in the joints, crick in the back, old sores, chilblains, swellings, numbness, ague in the face and breast, cracked hands, biles, corns on the feet, and occasional sores of most kinds which the human kind is subject.

This Salve is a rare and valuable combination of warm, stimulant and anodyne ingredients, and will be found far superior to any other articleof the kind heretofore discovered for the above complaints. There has never appeared a medicine which possesses the penetrating and healing power in so great a degree, while at the same time it cannot by any possibility produce injurious effects. By its action on the skin it moves all obstructions to the insensible perspiration—excites a healthy circulation of the blood—strengthens and invigorates the nerves—gives elasticity to the joints, and imparts strength to any part of the system which may have been weakened by sedentary habits or disease. SECRETARY GUTHRIE.

This gentleman has written another letter to Ex-Collector Bronson of New York, giving the latter his walking-ticket, and condemning his rebellion and contumacy. The paragraph best worth copying is as follows:

One suggestion appears in your letter which demands animadversion. You allege, by implication that I have desired you to appoint free-soilers to office, and in doing so, you strangely misunderstand or misinterpret my letter of the 3d instant. I neither entertained nor expressed any such desire. It has been my pleasure and my duty, not to inquire into the opinions which may have been held by yourself and others as far back as the year 1848, but to regard the claims to consideration of all who have acted with fidelity to the principles and organization of the democratic party since the Convention at Baltimore in 1852 and those only. And with these views, I must condemn your course when in this letter you inform me that you have selected free-soilers for office, without having given me notice of the fact, which would have enabled me to withold my approbation from any such appointments. I will add, that the imputation that I have required you to act with reference to controversies of a local or State character, is wholly gratuitous. My letter was intended to guard you against distinctions between democrats, founded upon local politics and local divisions.

There is a an attempt at making a nice distinction, in these last two sentences; but if the Soft letter has not been misunderstood by the whole country, it was meant to show a distinction, and to regulate the the distribution of offices between the divided parts—giving less to the hards and more to the softs.

THE POLITICAL QUARREL.—The Albion, in referring to the dissensions among the New York politicians and letter writers, turns the matter to account, and says of the discussion: "We learn three things—who it is that now writes hence for the leading journal of Europe—that the President and his Administration are very desirous to stand well before the British public—that when you sweep down the back-stairs of political life, you run great risk of being smothered in dust."

A TRICK OF TRADE.—One day during the past week, a dry goods store in Washington street, Boston, kept by a "nice young man," doing a profitable business, was closed, and the door festooned with crape, as in cases of "death in the family." The store remained in this condition so long as to excite suspicion, when some of the creditors of its proprietor assembled to "compare notes," and making forcible entry, they found the goods all minus. Active search being made, a portion of the goods were found in Blackstone st., which Sheriff Bayley attached. The proprietor is non est inventus.—Mail.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE,
ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

The Fall Session of this Institute will be held in the VESTRY of the 1st Congregational Church in EXETER. The exercises will commence on MONDAY, Oct. 31st, at 10 o'clock A. M.,
and close on Saturday, November 5th. The usual hours for commencing will be half past 8 o'clock in the morning, and 2 and 7 o'clock P. M.

The services of the following eminent instructors are engaged:
Prof. DANA P. COLBURN, in Arithmetic and Geography,
Prof. J. G. HOYT, in Algebra;
" S. S. GREEN, of Brown University, in Grammar;
Prof. T. J. WHITTAKER, in Drawing and Penmanship;
DANIEL BARNARD, Esq., in reading;
JAMES W. CLARK, in Music;
CALVIN CUTTER, M. D., in Physiology and Hygiene.

There will be a lecture on Monday Evening, by Rev. ASA MANN, of Exeter. The other evenings will be occupied by Lectures of a general character, by some of the Instructors, on subjects connected with their respective departments.

Each member of the Institute is requested to have present a Bible, Dictionary, Russell's School Reader or Town's Fourth Reader, and a small Blank-book; and to have his or her full name and residence written on a slip of paper or card, ready to hand to the Committe of Reception, on entering the Institute, so as to expedite the organization. Arrangements will be made for commodious boarding places, at reasonable rates.

Committee of Arrangements, Visitation and Report: Rev. A. MANN, WM. PERRY, M D., C. F. GERRY, A. B., and E. G. DALTON, A. M.

Arrangements have been made to render the institute every way worthy of the hearty support of the Teachers of the County. The interests of our Common Schools demand such a support. It is therefore earnestly desired that every resident teacher of the County, and those residing in other counties who propose to teach in this, young and old,—the patriarchs of the profession, as well as the fresh candidates for its hard earned honors, should be present at the opening of the Institute, and continue to its close.

Prudential Committees are respectfully requested to defer the commencement of the Winter Schools so far as to allow the Teachers to attend the Institute; and it is hoped that they will encourage their attendance. And the Commissioner invites the attendance of Superintending and Prudential Committees and parents, of the older pupils in our Schools, and of the friends of our Common Schools generally, upon the Institute.

☞ The Committees and other citizens, who receive circulars, are requested to see that they are suitably distributed through their towns, and posted up in the most public places.

EXETER, Oct. 4th, 1853.
A. H. HOYT,
School Commissioner for Rockingham County.

HANDSOME MEN.

Fanny Fern, a correspondent of the Boston Olive Branch, thus replied to an individual who said somebody was not calculated to win a lady's heart because he was not handsome:

"Begging your pardon, Solomon, that's a great mistake! It is quite unessential that a man should be handsome. Let him pray the gods, in the first place, to make him a gentleman; a gentleman at home as well as abroad. Let him stipulate for a fine figure and courtly manner, and leave it to their discretion after that, to shape his eyes, nose and mouth; provided they don't make them perfectly hideous.

"Save us from your plain-panted, bordered-vested, big-cravated, moustached, cologne-sprinkled, bejeweled, brainless exquisite.—Give us a well-informed, plainly-dressed, self-possessed, intelligent masculine; perfectly at home upon all subjects, foreign and domestic; neither cringing to the great, nor opposing the little; who puts one hand on his sword and the other on his heart when a woman's name is mentioned; who raises no blush on the cheek of humble innocence; who holds in contempt no living thing God has made; who can pity the weak and erring without a pharisaical reviling; who can argue without a loss of temper and dignity; who scorns a bribe or an oath; who has an arm for trembling age, a smile for prattling infancy, and a strong brave heart for the oppressed and defenceless. But a 'pretty man;' 'a pink and white Sir Brainless!' the united work of a tailor, shoemaker and perfumer! Heaven save the mark! Women know better!"

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS, a16 12 and 14 Daniel st.

The "Sagamore."

THIS is the name of a new and beautiful COOKING STOVE, manufactured expressly for the subscriber, of the best quality of castings,—and which he offers to a discriminating public for their approval and favor, believing that an examination of this the latest production of the oldest Stove establishment in the State, will meet the wants of all interested in this important apparatus.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it, and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and merits than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it alone removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as it is perfectly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER AND KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. R. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Duncan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant—of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"[800 05] On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

ANOINTING THE BODY WITH OIL, A CURE AND PREVENTIVE OF DISEASE.—The scriptures speak of anointing the sick with oil, and throughout the whole Sacred Volume there is abundant evidence to show that there was much oil used for the person by outward application. The employment of cod liver oil as a remedy for consumption, has been a favorite penacea for twelve or fourteen years past, by thousands of eminent physicians, and there is plenty of testimony to prove that its virtues have not been overrated; but it has always been taken internally. Recent researches made by Simpson, of Edniburgh, the first applier of chloroform as an anesthetic agent, go far to prove that when oil is applied to the outside of the person, it acts both as a curative and preventative of disease, and there is, therefore, some prospect of oil annointing being revived. Having heard that none of the workers in a woolen factory in a neighboring town were attacked with cholera while it visited that place, that consumption was not known among them, he paid a visit to the place, (Gatashicls) and by personal inquiry found these hearsay statements corroborated. He also learned that weakly children were frequently placed in such factories for the recovery of their health, which was usually affected. He then made inquiries respecting the health of the workers in woolen factories, in a number of places, and found the same immunity from diseases to prevail among them; hence he came to the conclusion that the cause is the great amount of oil which is used in such factories—so great quantity, indeed, that the clothes of the workers soon became saturated with it.—In cotton factories the workers were found no more free from infection than any other people, and he therefore now firmly believes that anointing with oil is an excellent thing for consumptive people. Cod liver oil is supposed to be the best, because it is the strongest, and only for its loathsome taste it would be more abundantly used. It is our opinion that sweet oil, and by this we mean nothing but pure fresh olive oil, is the best which can be used for such purposes. The ancient iron Romans used a great deal of oil, and we have no doubt but a more abundant use of it as an ointment, with frequent bathing, would be a great benefit to weakly persons, and tend greatly to render more vigorous the strong.—[Scientific American.

THE WAY TO GET AN OFFICE.—The following has come to us through a source that entitles it to entire credit:

A huge two-fisted, broad shouldered son of North Carolina appeared a few days ago in the treasury building, and enquired for the Secretary. He was directed to the proper door, but when about to enter the ante-room was stopped by the messsenger, for not observing the usual ceremonies.

"What's the matter now?" asked Rip Van Winkle.

"You can't go in sir," replied the messenger.

"We'll see about that," replied Rip, as he gathered the messenger in his brawny arms, and set him aside. Arrived in Mr. Guthrie's room, and finding several gentlemen present, he asked:

"Which is the Secretary?"

"I am," said Mr. Guthrie to the intruder, rather sternly. "How did you get in here?"

"Oh! we'll talk about that after a while," said Rip. "I've come on business, and we'll attend to that first. You see, Mr. Secretary, I am a democrat from North Carolina, and there is a light-boat at ———, and a whig has the keeping of it now; and I want it. Mind now! It won't make any difference in my voting if you don't give it to me. I always vote right anyhow. Here's my papers; look at 'em and speak out."

Mr. Guthrie was quite taken with his honest simplicity, and replied that he would give him an answer at twelve.

"Mind now," said Rip, showing his watch to the Secretary, "you see that little finger? Well when it gets to 12 I'll be here certain.—No mistake now!"

"Where are you stopping?" inquired the Secretary.

"Stopping, you may well say that. I've got no money to fool away stopping anywhere. I got my breakfast at the market house this morning. And you see I want to start home in the mail-boat this evening, for if I stay here long I can't get home at all.—Now mind Mr. Secretary, 12 o'clock, you know?" So saying, he took his leave.

During his absence Mr. Guthrie examined his papers, and finding him properly recommended, directed his commission to be prepared accordingly. Punctual to the minute our friend appeared, and was handed his commission. He warmly thanked the Secretary, took his leave, and now is doubtless at home, attending to his duties. We dare say that Uncle Sam has not a better officer.—Washington Star.

TURKS AND TEA.—The following curious description of a Turkish tea-party is given on the authority of a recent traveller. The writer had just dined with the Turks, and thought to give a treat in his turn: 'As we had brought apparatus in our baggage, we now procured some hot water, and entertained our hosts with a dish of tea, which they had heard of, but never tasted. We sweetened a cup in the most approved manner with sugar, and softened with milk, and then presented it. A Turk never takes anything of this kind but coffee without milk or sugar, which is as black, thick, and bitter as soot; when, therefore, he filled his mouth with the mawkish mixture we made for him, his distress was quite ridiculous. He could not swallow it, and he would not spit it out, for a Turk never spits in company; so he kept it churning in his mouth, till he could keep it no longer; he then made a pretext for going out, which he did as fast as a Turk can move, and got rid of it over the stairs. When he returned, however, he said the ladies of the harem requested to taste of our tea also. So we sent them in a specimen; we soon heard them bursting into loud fits of laughter at the extraordinary stuff, and we are informed they liked it as little as the men.'

Editorial Correspondence of the Chronicle.

LIQUOR LAW, &c.

SOUTH BERWICK, Oct. 25, 1853.

There has been quite an excitement in town to-day, occasioned by the arrest and examination of a number of ramsellers for an alleged violation of the Maine Liquor Law. All of the accused but one, plead guilty and paid their fines, amounting to about thirty dollars each; he, having formerly been the agent of the town for the sale of liquors, still continues to sell, it is said, although his license long since ran out. He plead not guilty, and is to have a trial.

Some of the former pupils of Aurin M. Payson, A. M., late Preceptor of Berwick Academy, and now teacher of the Boys' High School in Portsmouth, have presented him with a beautiful silver pitcher, as a testimonial of the high esteem they have for their late instructor. The loss of Mr. Payson is deeply regretted by a large circle of his friends in South Berwick.

The new Academy, which is to take the place of the old one destroyed some time since by fire, is now nearly completed, and we understand, is to be dedicated in a few weeks.

The grading of the Great Falls and Eliot Railroad is nearly completed, and is progressing rapidly. It is thought the road will be in running order some time in December.

While in South Berwick we had the pleasure of attending a meeting of a social singing party, and judging from what few pieces they sang during our short stay, we think with a little practice they could give a concert that would do credit to the singers of the town.

SHIP WESTERN WORLD.—The packet ship Western World, Capt. Moses, ashore on Squan Beach, will be a total loss. She was built here, by Messrs. Fernald & Pettigrew, in 1850, 1354 tons, is owned by Messrs. D. & A. Kingsland & Sutton, of New York, and is valued at $80,000, on which there is insurance to the amount of $70,000, in four offices in New York. Her cargo, which is very valuable, is insured in whole or in part. On the 23d, 4 P. M., the tide ebbed and flowed in the ship, and all her cargo was wet. It consisted of 200 tons dry goods, 400 do iron, 800 sacks salt, 150 crates, &c. She was much hogged, and it was feared the steam pumps would not be able to free her. The steam tug Achilles, which returned to New York on Monday morning, reported that the ship had bilged, and had ten feet of water in the hold. She has, ever since built, till now, been run successfully between Liverpool and New York. How the accident happened we are at present unable to say, but probably the entire matter will be laid before the public in a few days.

The vessel lies six miles north of where the Cornelius Grinnell was cast on shore about three years ago. The morning she ran on shore the moon shone with great brilliancy, and the wind, which was blowing from the south east, was a fair one for vessels going into the port where the Western World was bound. It was wonderful, considering the circumstances, that no lives were lost, which was owing, in a great measure, to the coolness of the officers on board, and to the delightful state of the weather, while if it had been bad or the wind blowing fresh from the east or northeast, the loss of life would have been awful, and a repetition of the fatal and heart-rending shipwreck of the Robert Mintarn would have taken place.

☞ The Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, Judge Metcalf presiding, has decided that Timothy Pearsons, Esq. of Dracut, has no jurisdiction in a liquor case in Lowell, but that the Police Court of the city of Lowell had jurisdiction in all cases of violation of the liquor law originating in that city.

This seems to be a reasonable decision.—but it must be remembered that "Tim. Pearson's Court," so called, was got up in consequence of a former silly decision in the Court for Middlesex County, that the Police Court of Lowell could not legally impose fines which were payable to the city, because the Justice had an interest in that fine as a citizen. We have forgotten the name of the Solon who made the decision; but it ought to be celebrated somehow. The Boston Judges have never sanctioned it, but gone on under the contrary opinion.

Fred. J. Fuller, an Englishman, died at New York on Thursday, in an obscure lodging room, from want of proper nourishment and medical attendance. Nearly three thousand dollars in savings bank books were found in his place of deecase.

The Philadelphia coal dealers have resolved to give after the first of December, only 2000 lbs. for a ton, although they require and are allowed 2400 lbs. for a ton at the mines, besides five per cent. for loss.

Charles Dickens computes that one-sixth of the English people gain their livelihood from the trade with the United States.

REVERSE OF FORTUNE.—A lady, well known and long respected as an eminent teacher in this city, died at the advanced age of 80, a few days since, in the City Alms House. I knew this lady as the directress of a fashionable boarding school in this city.—For 25 years she was very successful and had accumulated 50,000 dollars, which she invested in Fire Insurance Stock, in 1835. Her losses by the great fire ruined her fortune and prospect, and too proud to apply to friends, she went to the City Alms House, where she has lived some years, and died as stated.—This lady was highly educated, possessed polished manners, led an exemplary life, was a most useful member of society, had educated hundreds of young ladies, and yet doomed to die in an Alms House. Alas! we know not what we may come to in this changeful world. —New York Mirror.

Very just reflections;—but we wish to add another, viz.: that such a woman as she must have been, would be treated in the Alms House with the highest consideration by the paupers, and also by the keepers, if the latter were fit for their places; and a mind of real dignity, in her circumstances, would not feel abused by receiving the aid which her previous industry had earned, and her previous taxes paid for.

The fact that a woman goes to the Alms House, settles nothing as to her character, and does not settle much as to her happiness. The first may be better ascertained, when we know, as in this case, the reasons why she goes thither; and the latter depends almost entirely on the temper she carries in with her. If this be sunny and cheerful, the alms-house will not be very dark; if it be gloomy and fretful, no matter whether the building is called alms-house or castle, it is the Cage of old Giant Despair to such a troubled and troublesome spirit. The true springs of happrise not in the House, but in the Heart. The old schooldame died full of days, and we must say, full of honors,—not those which come from men perhaps, but those which God bestows on a well-spent useful life.

INFORMATION WANTED.—Yesterday morning a suspicious looking wagon, containing two men, was seen to drive through this city, and take the road for Marblehead. They were pursued by the police, and traced to the barn occupied by Mr. Newcomb, landlord of the famous "Our House," on the road to Marblehead. A search-warrant was obtained, the barn searched, and a quantity of merchandise of various kinds found secreted under the hay. The horse and wagon belonged to Mr. Newcomb, had been out all night.—When it left home, the son of Newcomb went with it to Lynn with vegetables for Lynn market. The son got scent that the police were on his track, and cleared out. The father was taken before Justice Fabens of Marblehead, and gave bail for his appearance to-day at 10, A. M. Any person who has lost goods in this vicinity since the 22d inst., may get some information by calling on the City Marshal of Salem, at the police station, Town Hall, or on Deputy Sheriff Orne of Marblehead.

An axe was found on Newcomb's premises, with which an apple orchard of young trees was cut down last Friday night.—Salem Register.

The Newcombs appear to be a couple of precious scoundrels.

SCENE ON BOARD A STEAMBOAT.—Quite a startling affair occurred on board the steamer Connecticut last Thursday night, on her trip to Boston from New York. During the evening a man was observed on the lower deck, kneeling as though in prayer. After remaining in this position about an hour, he arose, and drawing a dirk knife, began striking at the passengers, who were thrown into great consternation as a matter of course. Capt. Williams was instantly called, and they finally succeeded in getting the desperado upon the forward deck, and closing the door upon him. The Captain then proceeded to the upper deck, intending to draw up the ladders and prevent any assault in that quarter. In the mean time the fellow had rushed up the ladder, knife in hand, and all who were near started in a regular stampede. He met Capt. Williams in the forward saloon, and made a pass at him, cutting his clothes and grazing his skin slightly. The Captain jumped back, seized a heavy double chair and hurling it at his assailant, knocked him heels over head in the most approved fashion. A severe struggle then ensued—the ruffian resisted desperately; but he was finally secured and the knife taken from him; after which he was put in a place of safe keeping and there retained. He was probably "rum crazy." We understand he was a mechanic belonging to Norwich; and but for the prompt and resolute conduct of Capt. Williams, he would doubtless have done some serious, if not mortal harm, among the passengers.—Lowell Cour.

One hundred young men left Richmond, Me., last week, en route for Kentucky, where they intend to cut timber and build vessels.—This is a new enterprise, and with the bone, sinew, and go-aheadativeness of Maine mechanics, it cannot but succeed. More mechanics will follow soon. The vessels built will be floated down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

USES FOR MOLASSES.—Some people imagine that the West India trade would be ruined, if it were not for the manufacture of N. E. Rum. Look at the facts! Maine imports more molasses than Massachusetts, and there is not a distillery in the state; Portland imported 159 cargoes of molasses last year, which was more than Boston, and the Portland Sugar House alone consumed more than all the distilleries of Boston.

Mrs. Rowley, of Danville, N. Y., slowly recovering from the effects of a broken limb, was shot through the heart by the accidental discharge of a pistol in the breast pocket of a nephew while lifting her on to a bed, a few days since.

THE EVENING SCHOOL.

On Monday evening next, the Free Evening School will be resumed in the basement of the Universalist Church. It is believed by those who have watched the operation of this school for the last three years, that it has been productive of great benefit, both in the amount of instruction that has been imparted, and in the high moral influence that has been exerted. But our experience has established two important facts as regards the administration of such a school. First, it cannot be served except by regular, punctual and diligent teachers. We want no others; and should any take classes without intending to retain them, they will be regarded as doing a serious injury. Second, the fewer the pupils in each class, the greater will be the good accomplished. We therefore can find employment for as many as are willing to engage in the good work.

Those who intend to be teachers for the ensuing year, are invited and requested to meet at the school-room on Saturday, (29th inst.,) at 3 P. M.; and we would earnestly invite the general attendance of all who are willing thus to employ either two evenings or a single evening in each week. *

BEAUTIFUL PICTURES.—Mr. Moses, at his room next the Chronicle office, has a fine collection of Crayon paintings of various styles, —landscapes, portraits, &c., original and copied. Happening in, a day or two since, we found portraits of Paul Jones, George and Martha Washington, the artist himslf, and others, with most delicious landscapes and seascapes. Mr. M. had just finished the portrait of Martha Washington—to match that of George Washington, exhibited at the late State Fair. This we regard as even finer than those which won so much admiration and the highest premium at Manchester. Any one with an eye for the beautiful, will find a most agreeable hour's study in Mr. Moses' picture gallery. He will be happy to receive such, we dare say.

☞ A fine specimen of copying may be seen in Mr. Shores' window, executed by Mr. C. M. Meinerth.

REAL ESTATE.—The fine new house on Chapel street, opposite St. John's Church, advertised at Auction on Tuesday, was not put up, as no purchasers assembled;—but is now advertised at private sale.

☞ During the late storm, on Monday night, when we had rain, our neighbors in Concord are said to have enjoyed a considerable fall of snow. There was also a mixture of snow several degrees to the south of us, at Washington.

NEW HAMPSHIRE DAILY PAPERS.—The editor of the Manchester Daily Mirror, in his issue of Friday evening, indulges in a little self-gratulation regarding the success of his Daily. It has now been established nearly three years, and Friday was the first anniversary of the ownership of the present editor, John B. Clark, Esq. He says the success of a daily paper in Manchester has become a fixed fact, and his readers will be glad to learn that during the coming season the Mirror is to be greatly enlarged. It is now of the same size as the Chronicle. We are glad to hear of its success—but we do wish the publisher would "use Parsons & Co.'s Exterminator" on those "monstracious" cuts in his columns. They are a blemish in any paper, and spoil the looks of a small one.

We feel the more interest in the Mirror, from its being the only permanent Daily in the State besides our own, though Concord turns out some good specimens on special occasions. Its best friends feared a speedy failure, at the outset, as did some of ours—but both have been agreeably disappointed, and New Hampshire has now two well established Daily papers, and will have more and not less. Concord, Nashua, Dover, &c., must keep up with the times. There is nothing like having the news in season.

THE BOSTON HERALD.—We omitted to "notice," a few days since, though we couldn't help observing, that this flourishing Daily has donned an entire new and beautiful dress.—The Herald is unsurpassed among the Dailies for enterprise and energy in its management, and is one of the most popular "pennies." Owing to a difficulty between some of the officers of the Eastern railroad and the proprietors of the Herald, it is not now circulated along the line of the road. We have ever found the management of the Eastern Road, most liberally disposed towards the press.

The Cheapest and Best.

THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary away" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

Dr. J. P. Woolley's All-Healing and Strengthening Salve.

THIS salve is a sovereign remedy for lame back, local rheumatism, pain in the side and breast, scalds, burns, freezes, fresh wounds, bruises, sprains, weakness in the joints, crick in the back, old sores, chilblains, swellings, numbness, ague in the face and breast, cracked hands, biles, corns on the feet, and occasional sores of most kinds which the human kind is subject.

This Salve is a rare and valuable combination of warm, stimulant and anodyne ingredients, and will be found far superior to any other article of the kind heretofore discovered for the above complaints. There has never appeared a medicine which possesses the penetrating and healing power in so great a degree, while at the same time it cannot by any possibility produce injurious effects. By its action on the skin it moves all obstructions to the insensible perspiration—excites a healthy circulation of the blood—strengthens and invigorates the nerves—gives elasticity to the joints, and imparts strength to any part of the system which may have been weakened by sedentary habits or disease. THE JAPAN EXPEDITION.—The following is an interesting extract from a letter published in the New York Courier and Enquirer, dated—.

"Napa Keang, Great Lew Chew, June 30. This island of Great Lew Chew is remarkable for its picturesque appearance, its peculiar laws, and the extraordinary perfection to which the cultivation of the land has been brought. The prejudices of the people against us are strong, but Com. Perry has done much to remove those prejudices. They objected to the least intercourse with strangers, but a proper admixture of firmness, persuasion, and kindness, has succeeded in removing many of the silly restrictions, and they now furnish the ships daily with such supples as they can provide, and receive payment for the same.

Our Commodore is on the best terms with the Regent (the King being a minor) and has been received and feasted at the Royal Palace, with an escort of fifty officers. Some of the dignitaries have been on board and dined; on which occasion presents were interchanged, and every thing went on swimmingly.

Great Lew Chew is a kingdom directly dependent upon Japan, and having as dependeucies the Majicorsimi islands and others lying south of this latitude. We see here, in miniature, the empire of Japan; but don't expect to make such progress in gaining the good will of the officials and people of the Imperial government as we have with the more simple inhabitants of the Island.

We expect to sail on the 2d July for Jeddo, in company with the Mississippi, Plymouth and Saratoga. We have not heard any thing of the ships which were to have followed us immediately.

MELANCHOLY SHIPWRECK.—By yesterday's mail, the owners of the bark Leonie, of this port, received from their correspondents in London the melancholy intelligence of the loss of their vessel, and the loss of all on board.

The Leonie was commanded by Capt. Leslie, and charter bound from Matanzas to Cowes and a market. After a detention at Cowes of about three weeks, she proceeded on her voyage to St. Petersburg, in the prosecution of which she stranded on a part of the coast of Holland, known as the Eyerlands, in the vicinity of the entrance of the Texel.—Capt. Leslie was an experienced shipmaster, had sailed for many years from this port, and was universally respected and esteemed. He was accompanied by his wife and two lovely and accomplished daughters, widely known and beloved in our community.—Their sudden and terrible death has cast a gloom over a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

The Leonie was formerly the ship Prentice, on board of which two cargoes of cotton were successively destroyed by fire in this harbor, and the ill fortune which has so continuously pursued her would seem to countenance the prejudices entertained by seamen against an "unlucky ship."—Charlestown Mercury, 20th.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA. —NORFOLK, October 25.—The steamship Northern Light, from San Juan de Nicaragua for New York, put in here to-day for coal and provisions.—She brings San Francisco dates to the 1st instant and 700 passengers, together with one and a half millions of dollars in gold. The general news presents no feature of importance.

The San Francisco markets were dull, and prices were favorable to buyers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The utility of the Sandy Hook Magnetic Telegraph Line was well illustrated on Saturday last on the occasion of the stranding of the packet ship Western World at Squan Beach, some forty miles from this city; the vessel went ashore at about 5 o'clock on Saturday morning and at an early hour in the forenoon the particulars of the disaster were telegraphed to the owners and board of underwriters, by which means time was gained in sending the needful assistance.

A DEAR KISS.—Parisians are noted for their suicidal extravagance. What an English woman would laugh at, the Parisian considers an intolerable grievance:

"A young woman suffocated herself with the fumes of charcoal, on account of a slight misunderstanding with her husband. He offered to kiss her on parting in the morning; she playfully refused; he failed to insist as usual; she ran after him down the street, and not finding him, adopted instantly the resolution to end her days."

New Orleans, Oct. 25.—The steamship Texas has arrived below this port, from Vera Cruz, bringing California dates of 30th Sept. She reports the departure from San Francisco of the steamer Pacific, for San Juan del Sud, with 460 passengers and $1,500,000 in gold, and the steamer Panama, with $1,100,000 in gold.

In the San Francisco market, of the 30th September, Gallego flour was reported at $12 a $13; adamantine candles 20c; hams 12c, clear pork $28.

Providence, Oct. 25. A steam boiler in the print works in Smithfield, R. I., burst with a terrible explosion about 8 o'clock this morning, instantly killing two operatives, entirely destroying the boiler and engine house, injuring the engineer and several others, probably fatally. One half the boiler was sent crashing through the bleach house and dry-house.

THANKSGIVING.—Rhode Island and Indiana must be added to the list of States—Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Alabama—in all of which Thanksgiving is appointed for Thursday, Nov. 24th. In Maine it is a week earlier, Nov. 17.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE,

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

The Fall Session of this Institute will be held in the VESTRY of the 1st Congregational Church in EXETER. The exercises will commence on MONDAY, Oct. 31st, at 10 o'clock A. M., and close on Saturday, November 5th. The usual hours for commencing will be half past 8 o'clock in the morning, and 2 and 7 o'clock P. M.

The services of the following eminent instructors are engaged:

Prof. DANA P. COLBURN, in Arithmetic and Geography,
Prof. J. G. HOYT, in Algebra;
" S. S. GREEN, of Brown University, in Grammar;
Prof. T. J. WHITTAKER, in Drawing and Penmanship;
DANIEL BARNARD, Esq., in reading;
JAMES W. CLARK, in Music;
CALVIN CUTTER, M. D., in Physiology and Hygiene.

There will be a lecture on Monday Evening, by Rev. ABA MANN, of Exeter. The other evenings will be occupied by Lectures of a general character, by some of the Instructors, on subjects connected with their respective departments.

Each member of the Institute is requested to have present a Bible, Dictionary, Russell's School Reader or Town's Fourth Reader, and a small Blank-book; and to have his or her full name and residence written on a slip of paper or card, ready to hand to the Committe of Reception, on entering the Institute, so as to expedite the organization. Arrangements will be made for commodious boarding places, at reasonable rates.

Committee of Arrangements, Visitation and Report: Rev. A. MANN; WM. G. PERRY, M.D., C. F. GERRY, A. B., and E. G. DALTON, A. M.

Arrangements have been made to render the institute every way worthy of the hearty support of the Teachers of the County. The interests of our Common Schools demand such a support. It is therefore earnestly desired that every resident teacher of the County, and those residing in other counties who propose to teach in this, young and old,—the patriarchs of the profession, as well as the fresh candidates for its hard earned honors, should be present at the opening of the Institute, and continue to its close.

Prudential Committees are respectfully requested to defer the commencement of the Winter Schools so far as to allow the Teachers to attend the Institute; and it is hoped that they will encourage their attendance. And the Commissioner invites the attendance of Superintending and Prudential Committees and parents, of the older pupils in our Schools, and of the friends of our Common Schools generally, upon the Institute.

☞ The Committees and other citizens, who receive circulars, are requested to see that they are suitably distributed through their towns, and posted up in the most public places.

EXETER, Oct. 4th, 1853. A. H. HOYT,
School Commissioner for Rockingham County.

THEY SAY THOU ART POOR.

They say that thou art poor, Louise,
And so I know thou art!
But what is wealth to noble minds,
Or riches to the heart?
With all the wealth of India's mines
Can one great deed be bought?
Or can a kingdom's ransom bring
One pure and holy thought?
No! vain your boasted treasure,
Though earth to gold is given—
Gold cannot stretch to measure
The love bestowed by Heaven!

They say that that art poor, Louise,
And so I know thou art;
But why should lack of sordid pelf
Thrust me and thee apart?
The pearls that sparkle on the lawn
Our jewels bright shall be;
The gold that frets the early dawn
Shall fill our treasury!
Ask ye the proudest minion.
Whom gold gives rule o'er earth,
Doth not our own dominion
Outbeggar all he's worth?

We'll rove beside the brook at eve,
When birds their vesper song
Of gentle truth and guileless love
To woods and winds prolong!
And from the morning's jewelled cup
Such healthful draught we'll lave,
As never met the fevered lips
Of fortune's gilded slave.
Could Lydian Cræsus, dearest,
As wide a kingdom see,
As the fair realm thou hearest
Belongs to thee and me?

I know that thou art poor, Louise,
And so indeed am I,
But not the hoards of ocean's caves
Our poverty could buy;
For wealth beyond the miser's thought
We both alike control—
The treasures of a priceless love,
The riches of the soul!
Then at this hour divine, love,
To holy echoes given,
Let thy true vows and mine love,
Be registered in Heaven!

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. He sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves. Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

The "Sagamore."

THIS is the name of a new and beautiful COOKING STOVE, manufactured expressly for the subscriber, of the best quality of castings,—and which he offers to a discriminating public for their approval and favor, believing that an examination of this the latest production of the oldest Stove establishment in the State, will meet the wants of all interested in this important culinary apparatus.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. 4&w6m jc22*

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as it will be easily palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($500 00) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

MORNING CHRONICLE.

BY MILLERS & GRAY. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1853. VOLUME 3. NO. 77.

THE DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE is published by
FRANK W. MILLER, SAMUEL GRAY, & THOS. W. MILLER,
At No. 4 Exchange Buildings,
Pleasant Street,.....PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

TERMS $4 a year, payable half-yearly; or $3 strictly in advance. If payment is made for a year, within six months of the time of subscribing, fifty cents will be deducted.

The Weekly Chronicle,
A family newspaper, containing the news of the week, with carefully selected miscellany, &c., is published every Saturday morning—at $1 a year in advance.

ADVERTISING.—For a Square of sixteen lines nonpareil, or less, one insertion 50 cts., three insertions $1, and liberal terms for continuance.

Yearly, quarterly or monthly advertisers liberally accommodated—and their advertisements inserted in both papers without extra charge, thus affording unequalled facilities to business men.

JOB AND CARD PRINTING promptly executed.

YOUNG WOMEN.

The saying of Solomon, "he that goeth with the wise shall be wise," can have no better application to young men than to young women. There is a tide in the affairs of young ladies upon which much of their future prospects depend.

A few years, yes, a few days, frequently decide the company and prospects of many young women. This is too true to be doubted.—Facts stand thick on every side to confirm the fitness of the application of the proverb. A word, an act, a look, frequently turns the scale, and all future is joy, or tears and grief. These things being so, I wish to say a few things by way of advice.

1. Indulge not a haughty spirit. If you do you will soon find your seat with the scornful, and be scorned in return. No matter how wealthy, or aristocratic you may fancy yourself. Wealth and aristocracy will not save you from your share of the measure you mete to others. Then disallow this spirit in yourselves and shun the company of such as indulge in it.

2. Avoid the company of the low and vulgar. Clownish young men and women corrupt good manners. If you begin to go with this low society, in all common probability you will be obliged to stay in it ever after. Joining this class to sing a few low songs, or in low entertainments, decides the case in community, and the farther you become acquainted with the decision in your case, the more sensible you will be made to feel that you have given a kind of entertainment, which, while it caused the company to praise you for the moment, and made you feel pleased at the time, will give you a low place in that company's estimation, and a life of sorrow.

The state of community is such that almost any young woman may go in good society if she shows a proper regard for herself. You should, therefore enquire, when invited by young men or young women, what is the moral standing of the leaders of this movement?—What will the more intelligent and virtuous say?

There is a floating, loafing class, which may praise you. Depend upon it if you lend your influence and company to this class, it will be your future society. It is much easier to enter this company than to get out of it, after you have committed yourselves to it. Better not go in society at all for the present, than to throw yourselves away to your future sorrow. For if you shun the base you will, at no distant day, find yourselves happily welcomed to that better and more influential society.

3. Every young woman should have a moral sense of right. Virtue is beautiful everywhere but with none does it appear more excellent than whom found firmly impressed upon the heart—glowing upon the affections—ornamenting the countenance and brow of young women, who have closed their eyes and ears against corruption.

This moral sense should have its foundation rest upon the Bible. (I am not now contending that you must be religious to have any moral sense—I am aiming at correct morals, and moral sense in its bearings upon every person who will be virtuous, religious, or not.) The Bible is the best book for good morals, correct manners and true usefulness. Let this book teach you what is right. Exercise denial of all it denies. Walk in the path it clears before you. Let your hearts be deeply fixed in moral sense. Then say to yourselves and to all persons male and female, who would draw you aside—or whose society would poison this moral sense, "your society is too dear for us."

When any person or persons would draw you into those places where you must forfeit your moral sense of right, give them to understand that you cannot sell it for their company. Be firm here. Prize your sense of right of more worth to you than the good graces of those who would corrupt it. No young man or woman, whose company is worth having, will respect you less because you respect your own sense of propriety. Every body who is not lost and callous in crime, has respect for virtue: and hence you will command respect from that vicious society you shun, and secure the esteem and company of the truly virtuous too. But change this. Show to the world that you will go with anybody for the sake of going, show that you hold your moral sense so loosely that you will trifle with it to suit others, and you take the downward course. You will lose the society of the virtuous and become the scorn of that you are compelled to take. Your youthful charms may receive a sideway notice for a short time and then all is lost. Your having trifled with what others knew was your moral sense, none will respect you. And for this good reason; if you will trifle with your own heart you are prepared to trifle with anybody. None can trust you; you cannot trust yourselves.

4. Learn to respect virtue rather than wealth. Rev. Dr. Hawks says, "he is a bad man who is ashamed of his parentage because he is poor." That is a bad young woman who despises the virtuous poor The virtuous poor are the truly rich. Virtue makes way to true greatness. Then be careful how you speak of the poor. If your parents or others are poor, respect them and you will respect yourselves. But few things appear worse than to see young ladies despising the poor. Who would wish to make a companion of one of such for life? Wealth being uncertain, if a reversal should come, then that man who has made a wife of one of this spirit, knows he shall share the same blessings that his wife has bestowed upon the poor around her.

Respect virtue then and you will go with the wise and be wise.—Herald of Gospel Lib.

CARPET FOR THE WHITE HOUSE.

The North British Mail contains the following description of an English Carpet, which is to go on a floor of our National Palace or President's House. It would strike us more agreeably, if we saw it announced that our best American Carpeting was to be used for that purpose. Messrs. Templeton & Co., Mile-end, Glasgow, the patentee of their Axminster fabric, have just completed a gorgeous carpet in this style of manufacture, commissioned for the White House at Washington, the official residence of the President of the United States. This magnificent piece of textile manufacture is the largest ever produced by the Messrs. Tmpleton. It measures 80 feet long by 40 broad, the portion woven in the loom without seam being 72 feet by 31, and the remainder consisting of a handsome border sewed on. The filling in of the carpet is a ruby and crimson damask, with three tasteful medallions in the centre, and rich corner pieces to correspond. The medallions are filled up with bouquets of flowers, designed and executed with exquisite taste. The entire piece weighs upwards of a ton, and its value is between £450 and £500 No description can convey an adequate idea of the rich velvet-like texture and the brilliant and harmonious colouring of this truly beautiful fabric, which would have proved an attractive object could it have been exhibited to the public, but this, we learned with regret, is impossible, in consequence of the necessity of despatching it to its destination by this week's American packet (to Messrs. A. T. Stewart & Co., of New York, through whom the order has been received.) Should it find a place in the exhibitition at New York, the citizens of the United States will witness in perfection a specimen of the products of the Glasgow loom which formed a prominent feature of the textile fabrics in the Great exhibition in London, and for which the patentees obtained a medal from the Royal Commissioners.

None of the Axminster fabrics exhibited on that occasion, however, rivalled the palatial dimensions and munificence of the carpet for the White House at Washington. This carpet is the largest of five now nearly completed for the Presidential mansion by Messrs. Templeton, and the whole of which require to be at Washington early in November.

THE SECRET BALLOT.

The law in Massachusetts, requiring a secret, sealed ballot, was passed by the Coalition, and therefore the whigs opposed it, and when they came into power virtually repealed it, by leaving it optional with the voter to cover his vote or not.

The question of a ballot or viva voce election, came up in the great Episcopal Convention at New York, the other day, and was thus debated:

Judge Williams, of Alabama—I hope we will vote viva voce; it is the more manly course. We down South adopt this course upon important occasions like this. I suppose no one here is ashamed to give out his vote publicly. Let the world know how we vote.

Dr. Mead said he thought no question could arise from this subject. The rules provided for an election by ballot if called for. He was opposed to discussing this question, but called for a vote by ballot.

Judge Williams asked for reference to the rule establishing the vote by ballot, the will of the Convention to the contrary notwithstanding.

Dr. Mead did not find this rule, but moved that the House proceed to vote by ballot.

Judge Williams—Then I move to amend by moving a vote viva voce. We have a right to know how every one votes in this House. I hope no one here is ashamed to let his constituents or the community know how he votes.

Rev. Dr. Higbee, of New York—I deny the assertion of the gentleman from Alabama, that every one has a right to know how I vote. If I understand the meaning of the sentence, "voting by ballot," it is making a choice. The first element of a choice is freedom. There is no true freedom when each one is compelled to make his vote known to the whole world. I prefer the voting by ballot.

The question was then taken on Judge Williams' amendment, to vote viva voce, and the motion was lost.

The reverend Doctor Higbee was right.—He has, as he ought to have, vastly clearer ideas of freedom, than his brow-beating lay brother from Alabama; and we are glad to see the motion disposed of so properly by the convention.

The reader will not fail to perceive that Dr. Higbee's argument would be stronger for the secret ballot, than it is for the open ballot for which it was made.

Apropos of the Secret Ballot Law and its amendment, just as we had finished the above paragraphs, we cast our eye on the following circular from the three old parties in Massachusetts, which is better than a thousand arguments in favor of the secret ballot law.

MANNER OF VOTING.

To the Selectmen of the Several Towns in the Commonwealth:

You are aware that it is the right of every voter to deposit his ballot for State officers either openly or in sealed envelopes, while the votes on the Constitution must be deposited in sealed envelopes. This may lead to fraud, unless great care be taken by the selectmen in receiving and counting the votes, as any man may so lose in his envelope a vote both on the constitution and for State officers, and then vote openly for State officers, without the possibility of detection. To guard against this we would recommend to the selectmen of the various towns to provide that the votes for State officers shall be brought in on one ticket in sealed envelopes, or not, at the option of the voter; and the votes on the constitution in separate sealed envelopes—that separate boxes be prepared and properly labelled—one for the votes on State officers, and the other for those on the constitution; and that no vote should be counted that is not deposited in its appropriate box.

This we deem the only course to prevent the possibility of double voting, and secure the just rights of every citizen.

THE FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE IN ST. LOUIS.—The case of Carrol, White & Co., of New Orleans, vs. James Edwards, colored boy, came off before Commissioner Benjamin F Hickman, Esq., yesterday afternoon. It will be remembered that the case was continued from the latter part of September till yesterday, to allow both parties to obtain evidence to establish their claims. They were ready for trial, and one deposition was read on the side of the claimant; after which the agent for Carrol, White & Co. stated that he would not be able to identify the boy with the runaway, and asked for a stay of proceedings. The defendant was accordingly discharged.—St. Louis Intelligencer, Oct. 19.

That is to say, in plain English, the catchers had laid hold on a freeman instead of a slave, a kind of mistake which is always liable to be made. This is the first case under the new law, where a suit of this kind has been brought in a slave State.

A TOAST.—At a festival the other day, in Portland, the tenth regular toast was:

Woman—The best investment is in the bank of woman's affections—where the profits are large and the dividends punctually paid.

Mr. Ilsley, of the Eclectic, responded in the happiest imaginable vein, closing with a sentiment handed in by a lady, which brought down the house. It was as follows:

Bachelors—The poorest kind of fancy stock, from the fact that it never reaches to par.

SECRESY.

Cincinnati, Oct. 25—Judge McLean's order, prohibiting the publication of the Martha Washington trial, continues to excite much attention. The Daily Sun set the order at defiance, and published a full report this morning. To-day Judge McLean ordered the Sun's reporter out of Court, and the proprietors threaten to bring a civil suit against the Judge. The reporter had taken his notes outside the bar. The press here contend that the order is unconstitutional, and smacks of despotism.

To us it smacks of folly more than anything else. The day of secret trials, and of secret debates, is virtually over. Newspapers seven days in a week, and three or four times in a day and night,—a corps of reporters that neither slumbers nor sleeps,—and telegraphic despatches winged by lightning, disclose judicial and legislative secrets to a whole country, before a Senate or a Court has time to turn round.

Secret diplomacy, cabinet secrets, are whispered by a leaky vessel into the ear of a high public functionary. As if by magic, these secrets are revealed in a distant city paper, and come back to the capital. Years after, that functionary in exposing others, exposes himself, and shows why no such secrets can be kept.

There are, rather let us say there used to be, secret caucuses and mysterious machinery in preparing for an election. But now some crafty expositor steps out in front of the whole people, and applying a powerful solar microscope, lets us see that what we have generally supposed to be Vinegar, and Cheese, and Figs, were really a collection of insects whose name is legion. Having seen this, will anybody hereafter offer to buy these articles without a quizzing glass?

If any one wishes a secret kept in these days, let him keep it himself.

If any one wishes to make or to receive a nomination, let him do or say so openly.

STORMS AND SPIRITS.—The late storm was quite extensive, and in many directions very violent. Telegraph wires were blown down. The Railroad Bridge at Blackstone was blown down on Sunday evening.

Mr. Renton of Gloucester, who went out in a small boat to Ipswich river on Sunday, for a gunning excursion, is supposed to have been overset and drowned in the storm. His boat has been picked up.

The Charleston and the Savannah papers state that the late gale was very severe on the coast, doing an immense damage to the shipping. Among the disasters mentioned is that of the schooner Advent, of Portsmouth, N. H., which was abandoned at sea.

This last item, about the schr. Advent, puts us in mind of her being a haunted vessel.—We believe she does not belong here; but this port and the adjacent seas were witnesses to the pranks of the spirits on board her.—The seamen were generally afraid of such ghosts as rarely do any harm except walking about in white sheets: but they were not at all afraid of such as wreck vessels, and sometimes make wrecks of men.

The schooner Advent seemed to be infested with both kinds. We are sorry for her loss—but she was an unlucky craft. The last Captain, Tobey, is a steady man.

Schr. Fawn, at Baltimore from Porto Rico, met a heavy N. N. E. gale 14th inst, lat. 33, lon 75 03. It continued until 26th; on the third day it was so violent that the deck load, 40 bbls molasses, was thrown over for the safety of the vessel.

Sch. Advent, from Portsmouth, N. H. for Jacksonville, was abandoned at sea, no date, &c. The crew are supposed to have arrived at Savannah or Charleston.

Ship Western World, ashore at Squau, is stated to have had a pilot on board, but he was not in charge when the vessel went ashore, the captain having declined to pay the off shore pilotage. On Tuesday she laid as when she went ashore.

THE DESTRUCTION OF THE FORT HAMILTON HOTEL.—This extensive summer resort on the Long Island shore, at the entrance of the bay of New York, was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday morning last. The hotel was kept by Mr. H. D. Clapp, and composed of wood and brick. It was four stories high, and afforded accommodations for five hundred boarders. The fire is supposed to have originated in the kitchen.

The commander at Fort Hamilton, sent sixty men to assist in saving the hotel, but the only aid they could render was to remove the furniture from several rooms.

The only persons in the building were Mr. Clapp, Mr. Henshaw, and a servant girl; all the boarders having left it last month. The furniture was valued at $25,000, about $13,000 of which is insured. The building was insured for $30,000.

The persons in the house were awakened from their slumbers by a faithful dog, who made all the noise he could, by barking and rattling the doors, and thus saved their lives.

PROGRESS OF CIVILIZATION.—The Tennessee Senate has passed a resolution prohibiting smoking in the Senate chamber during business hours. No such practice ought to be allowed there at any hour.

The pleasure trip of the steamer North Star to Europe, is said to have cost Com. Vanderbilt $230,000.

LOCAL.

MUNICIPAL.

In Board of Aldermen, last evening, gas lights were asked for on corner of State and Water sts. and in the Bridewell, both at the expense of the city—granted.

J. E. Gove asks for a lot on Cotton's Burying ground, for a Tomb—referred.

Committee on claims reported that the health committee's bills could not be approved until the end of the municipal year—adopted.

On the subject of Mr. Moulton's chaise, damaged by the falling of the 4th July staging, they award 30 dollars to be paid by the city—adopted at the discretion of the Mayor, after consulting the city solicitor.

Several bills were presented and approved.

COURT C. P.—ROCK. CO.—Adj. Term.
HON. GEO. Y SAWYER of Nashua, Presiding Justice.

THURSDAY, Oct. 27.

In the case D. Griffin vs. William H. Fellows & al. which was given to the jury in the afternoon of yesterday, the jury reported this morning that they were not able to agree.

In the case Patrick McClay vs. David Parshley—verdict for the Plff. Damages 47 cts., and 6 cts. interest, above and beyond $29.53, the amount in pleading by the Deft. confessed.

This case was given to the jury before the dinner bell sounded, and the verdict was ready as soon as the Court came in this afternoon. The deft. admitted the debt at $29,53, but the plf. demanded $5 more. The verdict when announced, produced a visible smile on the countenances of all present: not a laugh; it was too small for that: but litigation for such a trifle was in this case shown to be any thing but wise, on both sides.

No. 142—A. F. Hildreth vs. Trustees of Pinkerton Academy, Derry, N. H. Assumpsit. Verdict for Plf. for amount claimed, subject to opinion of the Superior Court. Stickney & Tuck for Plf.; Marston and Porter for Deft.

No. 147—Hayes vs. Thorn, Assumpsit, is now on trial. Stickney & Tuck for Plf.; Bartlett and Porter for Dft.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.—The Fall Term of the Teachers' Institute for Rockingham County commences at Exeter, Monday next, and will continue through the week. By the advertisement in another column, it will be seen that the most complete arrangements have been made, for the comfort and improvement of the members. Mr. Hoyt, the School Commissioner, is a most capable and assiduous, and therefore successful officer.

MATRIMONIAL.—We this morning give publicity to several connubial alliances just formed in this city. We hear mention of several others—but have learned that it is not safe to depend on rumor in such affairs. We hope the stories are all true, and that all the marriages now mentioned, including those of which we give official report, may be true—that each will prove

"Two souls with but a single thought,
Two hearts that beat as one."

☞ We understand that the Germania Musical Society, numbering about twenty-five Performers, and a gentleman and lady vocalist, propose giving a series of Concerts at the Temple in this city, this season, if sufficient encouragement is given, and that the first concert will be given on the 19th of November next. Particulars hereafter.

LECTURES ON ATHENS.

At the close of Mr. Robinson's lecture, in this city, on Wednesday evening, October 26, 1853, one of the gentlemen present expressed his own gratification with the lectures, and suggested the propriety of a formal expression of opinion as to the merits of the course.

In accordance with this suggestion, Rev. Dr. Peabody was called to the Chair, and Mr. S. M. De Meritt was chosen Secretary.

The following resolutions were then offered by Samuel P. Long, Esq., and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we, the members of the class, have listened with both pleasure and profit to the highly valuable course of Lectures on Ancient and Modern Athens, just concluded, by the Hon. John P. Robinson. That they fully sustain his character as a ripe and finished scholar; and are worthy of the attention and patronage of all those who desire correct and useful information on a deeply interesting subject, conveyed in a style both elegant and attractive.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, duly signed, be communicated to Mr. Robinson, and that they be published in such journals of this city as the Chairman and Secretary of this meeting may select.

ANDREW P. PEABODY, Chairman.
S. M. DE MERITT, Secretary.

LIFE IN PORTSMOUTH.—As we were passing along Market street, last evening, about six o'clock, we saw a drunken man trying to distinguish himself by swearing and making all the disturbance possible. He was very valiant, offering to fight with any of the spectators. He soon found an opponent, and learnt that "When Greek meets Greek, then comes the tug of war;" his antagonist quickly laid him sprawling on the pavement, and after holding him a few moments let him depart in peace, to repent of his folly.

A few hours before, we saw a man endeavoring to navigate his way up Spring Hill; he appeared rather weak in the knees, and we suppose the poor fellow had been drugged. We hope the Sunday evening temperance lectures will commence soon. *

☞ The Free Democratic State Convention at Concord on Thursday, unanimously nominated Hon. Jared Perkins for Governor. The convention is said to have been well attended and spirited.

DESTRUCTIVE CONFLAGRATION IN PROVIDENCE.—A very serious conflagration took place in Providence, R. I., on Wednesday night, by which Howard Block,—one of the finest buildings in the State—the Museum building, and ten or twelve other buildings were consumed. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

Dr. J. P. Woolley's All-Healing and Strengthening Salve.

THIS salve is a sovereign remedy for lame back, local rheumatism, pain in the side and breast, scalds, burns, freezes, fresh wounds, bruises, sprains, weakness in the joints, crick in the back, old sores, chilblains, swellings, numbness, ague in the face and breast, cracked hands, biles, corns on the feet, and occasional sores of most kinds which the human kind is subject.

This Salve is a rare and valuable combination of warm, stimulant and anodyne ingredients, and will be found far superior to any other article of the kind heretofore discovered for the above complaints. There has never appeared a medicine which possesses the penetrating and healing power in so great a degree, while at the same time it cannot by any possibility produce injurious effects. By its action on the skin it moves all obstructions to the insensible perspiration—excites a healthy circulation of the blood—strengthens and invigorates the nerves—gives elasticity to the joints, and imparts strength to any part of the system which may have been weakened by sedentary habits or disease. Liverpool dates to the 15th inst. are received by the Niagara.

The Parisian police have made a search for Kossuth in the house of M. Kif, a Hungarian; Kossuth, however, was not there.

The Emperor Napoleon is reported to have stated on the 12th, that unless Russia yields, war must be proceeded with.

A letter from Turin says that the Piedmontese government had been requested by Austria, not to admit M. Foresti, a naturalized American, as Consul disciple of Mazzinis.

Corn may be imported into the Papal states duty free, until February next.

The Emperor of Russia had authorized the free importation into any port of Finland, of all material for equipping ships; the privilege to endure five years.

The Times Paris correspondent states that in the private letters from Constantinople the Eastern question is examined in every point of view, and the conclusion come to is, that there is no escape from war.

Russian agents are actively at work stirring up insurrections in Turkey.

A number of English officers, most, if not all, belonging to the East Indian service, are moving between the Turkish camps, and a number are also on their way to Constantinople.

The Globe's Paris correspondent says notwithstanding all that we hear of preparations for war, the impression there that peace will be preserved is very general.

The offers for aid that have been made to the Turkish government from Poles, Hungarians &c., are almost incredible. The offers are not confined to the Refugees in France, but they have come from the United States, from Hungary, Poland and Italy.

Liverpool, 15th.—LATEST FROM CONSTANTINOPLE.—The Sultan has announced that if the Russians do not evacuate the Principalities within fifteen days, Turkey will consider it a case of declared war and will act accordingly, but will not at present cross the Danube.

The proclamation of war is posted on all the Mosques. The Sultan has invited the combined fleets to Constantinople.

Deaths in California.—Herman R. Haste, aged 34, formerly of Boston; Daniel Lovell, 18, formerly of Barnstable, Mass; Calvin Edes, aged 84 years, formerly of Plymouth, Mass. At Hawaii, Samuel Rice, aged 45, formerly of Massachusetts.

Captain Benjamin Glover, of Sag Harbor, died at sea, on the 23d May, on board the bark Harriet Thompson.

Dates from Utah to August 25 had been received at San Francisco. The Indians were very troublesome among the Mormons, committing many depredations and murders.

Salt Lake was to be enclosed by a mud wall.

John M. Bernhisell had been re-elected to Congress, by 1280 majority.

The King had refused to dismiss his ministers, Messrs. Judd and Armstrong.

A large number of Russian emigrants had arrived at Honolulu. The whaling season had thus far proved very bad. The whaling fleet had agreed to rendezvous at the Islands about the middle of October.

The ship Liverpool, supposed whaler of New Bedford, had been ashore near Bhering's Straits, but was got off.

The small pox continued its ravages in the Islands.

Pittsburg, Oct. 26.—Last night a bloody riot took place about dusk three miles west of Washington between a party of Irish railroad laborers, Corkonians and Connaught men. Two men had their skulls broken and were otherwise injured; one of them is not expected to live. The military and police were called out and fifty arrests were made.

These poor fellows bring their sectional and sectarian hatreds over the sea with them; and their priests come after them to stimulate the latter kind of hate, which would otherwise soon die. And to cap the climax, nearly all of them indulge freely in bad liquor, and then proceed to break skulls.

FIRE ON THE RAILROAD.—A dispatch dated at Greenwich station, published in the Cleveland Plaindealer, from one of the conductors, says:

Here I am with the still burning wreck of the car. Trunk bottoms and tops; remnants of mail bags, and fragments of newspapers and half burnt letters, strew the ground for some distance. As the return train is waiting, I have no time to ask the Postmaster here what, if any, parts of the mail have been saved. Shall try to give you full particulars by next train.

P. S. The Express Co. lost $15,000 worth of jewelry, which lies all melted together. An $800 package of money, bills, is lost also, and much other express matter.

The Postmaster at Cleveland states that the mail lock bags from that office for Columbus and this place were put on the wrong train, and by that means saved. (Mails have been in the habit of getting on the wrong trains up that way, we judge, from their irregular arrival here.) Express Messenger Steel, and Mr. Root, of Painesville, were in the car, which can be entered only at the side, and when the flames broke out were in a critical situation, hanging on the sides of the car while the train was in rapid motion. The brakeman discovered the fire and checked the train. The loss of baggage was large, and cannot be estimated with any certainty. One peculiar unfortunate individual lost nineteen trunks!—Cin. Com., 20th.

Lucy Stone, at last dates, was lecturing to "young men" on intemperance and the use of tobacco.

The Cheapest and Best.

THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE,

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

The Fall Session of this Institute will be held in the VESTRY of the 1st Congregational Church in EXETER. The exercises will commence on and close on Saturday, November 5th. The usual hours for commencing will be half past 8 o'clock in the morning, and 2 and 7 o'clock P. M.

MONDAY, Oct. 31st, at 10 o'clock A. M.,

The services of the following eminent instructors are engaged:

Prof. DANA P. COLBURN, in Arithmetic and Geography,
Prof. J. G. HOYT, in Algebra;
" S. S. GREEN, of Brown University, in Grammar;
Prof. T. J. WHITTAKER, in Drawing and Penmanship;
DANIEL BARNARD, Esq., in reading;
JAMES W. CLARK, in Music;
CALVIN CUTTER, M. D., in Physiology and Hygiene.

There will be a lecture on Monday Evening, by Rev. ASA MANN, of Exeter. The other evenings will be occupied by Lectures of a general character, by some of the Instructors, on subjects connected with their respective departments.

Each member of the Institute is requested to have present a Bible, Dictionary, Russell's School Reader or Town's Fourth Reader, and a small Blank-book; and to have his or her full name and residence written on a slip of paper or card, ready to hand to the Committe of Reception, on entering the Institute, so as to expedite the organization. Arrangements will be made for commodious boarding places, at reasonable rates.

Committee of Arrangements, Visitation and Report: Rev. A. MANN; WM. G. PERRY, M.D., C. F. GERRY, A. B., and E. G. DALTON, A. M.

Arrangements have been made to render the institute every way worthy of the hearty support of the Teachers of the County. The interests of our Common Schools demand such a support. It is therefore earnestly desired that every resident teacher of the County, and those residing in other counties who propose to teach in this, young and old,—the patriarchs of the profession, as well as the fresh candidates for its hard earned honors, should be present at the opening of the Institute, and continue to its close.

Prudential Committees are respectfully requested to defer the commencement of the Winter Schools so far as to allow the Teachers to attend the Institute; and it is hoped that they will encourage their attendance. And the Commissioner invites the attendance of Superintending and Prudential Committees and parents, of the older pupils in our Schools, and of the friends of our Common Schools generally, upon the Institute.

☞ The Committees and other citizens, who receive circulars, are requested to see that they are suitably distributed through their towns, and posted up in the most public places.

EXETER, Oct. 4th, 1853. A. H. HOYT,
School Commissioner for Rockingham County.

DRUNKENNESS IN PORTLAND.

THE RECORD.

The Watch House records show the cases of arrest for drunkenness during six months, from April to October, of the last five years, as follows:

Marshal.	Year.	Arrests.	Mayor.
Thompson,	1849	282	Cahoon.
" "	1850	194	"
"	1851	127	Dow.
Little,	1852	159	Parris.
Huse,	1853	113	Cahoon.

It will be remembered, that during Mr. Cahoon's first administration, public attention was called to the alarming extent of the evil of drunkenness, and a united effort was made for a more rigid enforcement of the existing laws against grog shops. This effort resulted in a very material change for the better, as the second year shows. In May, 1851, the existing law passed, and the improvement is made manifest by the record. Under Mayor Parris, the record shows a slight "relapse" from the condition of the former year, attributable principally to the idea which prevailed, immediately after his election, and which it was difficult to remove throughout the year, that Mr. Parris, having been elected in opposition to Mr. Dow, would not rigidly enforce the law. The record of the present year is certainly encouraging—and especially when it is known, as is the fact, that previous to this year no cases were entered on the watch-house records except those which occurred in the night, while that of the present year embraces all cases by day and night.

The 113 who have been arrested for drunkenness during the last six months are classified as follows:

Irish,	65
Americans,	38
English,	5
Swedes,	2
Scotch,	2
	113

It is supposed that the Irish constitute about one eighth part of our present population.—Portland Advertiser.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves. Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a pint upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the planest and most effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceeding palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER AND KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a palid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($00 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

THE POETRY OF POVERTY.

We hear often of the "poetry of the seasons," of "the stars," of "old ocean," and the "hoary forest;" the "poetry of childhood, youth, and mature years;" the "poetry of life," common, and uncommon, and the poetry of death itself! But who has ever heard of, or written about, the poetry of poverty?

And yet poverty opens the pathway for many a little rill of the waters of poetic inspiration sent up from nature's gushing fountains. Ah! how many words and acts among the extreme poor do we often see, that make the prosy artificialness of many even in high life, blush for shame. And from what do these acts flow, but from that extreme sensitiveness of feeling which poverty oftimes engenders—that experience of want which alone teaches how "to feel another's woe?"

See yonder lad; a noble, manly boy of eight years. His clothes are whole and clean, yet extremely faded, out-grown and unfashionable. He is the son of a poor widow, who has long striven to keep her family of four children, of whom he is the eldest, together. He goes to the ship-yard to procure some fuel; he respectfully yet timidly asks the owner of the chips, if he may fill his basket! Being answered in the affirmative, he hastens to accomplish his work, but presently falls in with a little girl. He knows as by intuition, that she at least is no stranger to the shadows that fall upon his pathway. He helps her to fill her basket, then taking up his own, and taking hold of one side of hers, they trudge along together, keeping their eyes turned from the noisy crowd in the streets, as if they perfectly understood each other and the world. Is there not speaking, living poetry here?

Go with that little pale-faced girl to her home,—the home provided by the inebriate, for those who in vain look to him for protection and support. As she places her well-filled basket upon the hearth-stone, a sigh escapes her, not unnoticed by her pale yet patient mother.

"Well, daughter, you have got a nice parcel of chips this time."

"Yes, mother; John Seldon helped me to get them, and brought them part way for me; but I wish we did not have to get chips."

"Why, my child?"

"O, nothing, much."

"But tell mother, dear, why you dislike to get them; are they so heavy?"

"O no, not that; but mother, all the people will think we have'nt any wood!"

"And we have not, Lettie dear," said the mother, as she brushed away the fast-coming tears least her little sensitive plant should see them; "we have not any wood, but the good Father knows what is best for us, and we must try not to complain."

"No mother," says Lettie, "I am sure they are nice chips; what a nice fire they will make. Now Bennie can have some gruel, so he wont be sick any more. Lettie can get more chips when these are gone, the man said I should have all I wanted; how kind he is!"

But what has so changed Lettie's voice? what has so lighted up her little pensive face with cheerfulness? Was it her mother's sermon about the good Father! not that alone. Lettie saw those tears, and as they fell from the mother's eyes, they fell upon Lettie's burning heart, cooling at once the fever of pride and discontent which there struggled with o'er-mastering power. We see filial love displayed often, but poverty only clothes it in the rich drapery of poesy.

A life devoid of want and corroding care, does confer great advantages in the formation of character; but would you have a life not only true and beautiful, but highly poetical in the best sense of the term, you must look for it where poverty leadeth her children, through the thronged pathways of her severe discipline,—where the shadows fall more than the sunshine.

Ten years have passed; Lettie has now three brothers and two sisters, all younger than herself, but the means for their support have not increased a farthing. Lettie does all she can, but with the disadvantages under which she labors, she can do little more than to support herself. One day about the middle of July—one long day, to that suffering family, for they had nothing to eat through all its wearisome hours—just at night Lettie says, "Mother, give me the kettle; I mean to have some supper!" This was said in a hopeful, cheerful tone. Her mother says, "Where are you going? Mr. S. will not trust your father, and there is not a penny in the house." Lettie knows all this, but for the sake of those she loves, she is resolved to try once more. She walks along with a heavy heart, toward the store of Mr. S.—Presently she meets John Seldon; alas, he joins her! What if he should accompany her into the store, and she should be refused! Her heart beats quicker at the thought. Does John read that thought? May be;—may be, he has only to read his own, at least, John does not go in,—he never had a thought of doing it—he has been educated in the same school with Lettie.

Lettie walks in and steps up to the counter with a firm manner. "Will you let me have seven pounds of flour, sir, and place it to father's account?" The answer was, "Well I suppose I must, seeing it's you; but your father owes me now, more than he will ever pay." Ah, how glad is she that John did not hear this, and that her poor mother was not a listener. She hastens home, prepares the supper, and sits down with those to whom her soul is linked by the blessed chain of love; sits down to what? To that which is to satisfy her own physical wants! not that alone,—her repast is "angel's food," and the simple aspirations of her unselfish nature rise in clouds of incense toward the great source of inspiration, and returning as the "dew upon the tender herb," refine, and bless all within their hallowing influence.—[Freeman and Visiter.

NUISANCES.

The act has gone into effect in London, which requires that factories and mills and manufactories of all kinds shall burn their smoke. Coal smoke is declared a nuisance which ought to be abated, and smoke is condemned to be burnt. If smoke can be burnt in London, the Pittsburg papers think that it can be burnt in that city; and they suggest that the City Councils institute a commission to learn the principle and success of the English experiment, and its adaptedness to their wants.

In an action for damages arising from nuisance occasioned by an offensive smell, it was shown that the odor was not prejudicial to health: but Lord Mansfield decided that it was not at all necessary to prove the odor to be unwholesome, and that it was enough if the plaintiff was interrupted in the enjoyment of that universal blessing, a pure air, and his pleasure in breathing it sensibly diminished.

If there is not power enough in the common law, it would seem to be high time for some statutory provision against sundry grievous nuisances, which, if they were not abatable by law, would not only continue to fill the atmosphere with a disgusting stench, but actually diminish the value of real property in this vicinity. Take, for example, a currier, in which the operator burns leather for fuel, filling the whole neighborhood to leeward, according as the wind may blow, with an abominable stench.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, OCT. 29, 1853.

News Extra.—The New Hampshire Patriot stated, not long since, that Wm. H. Seward was said to have written articles recently, in the New York Herald, against the Administration. The supposition seemed to us absurd.

Now the Nashua Gazette says:

Bennett, "the soldier of fortune," and editor of the N. Y. Herald, has recently gone over to the Seward whigs. He generally makes it his main object to throw his paper into the scale that has the most likelihood of winning.

Where Mr. Bennett may have gone himself, personally, we know not. But editorially, in his paper, he has done no such thing as going over to the N. Y. Seward whigs. So far from this, the Herald ridicules Mr. Seward and the whig party of New York, and harps upon "the Union and the rights of the South," about as steadily as Paganini fiddled on one string of his violin. No paper in the country saves the Union oftener, and few papers if any, pretend to more patriotic zeal.

We cannot imagine what the Patriot or Gazette has seen or heard to justify the assertions alluded to: but if either will tell us any thing of Mr. Bennett personally, bearing that way, we will "correct our reckoning." But the Herald itself is as decidedly anti-Seward, as Mr. S. is anti-slavery.

John Neal, of Portland, as our readers know, writes against the Maine Law, in the newspapers; yet out of doors he is aiding in the execution of the law.

By a report of the Municipal Court in Portland, published in the Advertiser, we perceive that Mark E. Jose, landlord of the Elm House, for keeping intoxicating liquors for purpose of sale, was tried before said Court on Thursday; and that the complaint on which was issued the warrant in this case was signed by John Neal, James Neal and Benjamin Norton. The two latter were witnesses in the case. James Neal testified to having drank whiskey and brandy four or five times in the house of the defendant within nine weeks past. Had drank there with guests. Knew a party to go to a room where he knew liquor was kept, for the avowed purpose of getting liquor, and to come out of the room with bottles filled.

Benjamin Norton also swore to having seen liquor delivered to James Neal and a guest of the defendant, by a servant at the Elm House, and to the payment therefor.

The officer's return on the warrant states that several small enumerated parcels of liquor, about a barrel in all, were found in the cellar of defendant, but who says he only had it for mechanical and culinary purposes.

Defendant was adjuged guilty and fined, but appealing, gave bonds in $200 for an appearance at the November term of the Supreme Court.

Reported for the Chronicle.

FREE DEM. STATE CONVENTION.

About two hundred twenty-five delegates of the Free Democracy of New Hampshire assembled in the Representatives' Hall in the State House at Concord, on Thursday, the 27th instant. The Chairman of the State Convention, Joseph P. Morse, of Portsmouth, called the Convention to order; and Hon. Wm. Claggett, of Portsmouth, was chosen Chairman pro tem of the Convention. Upon taking the chair, after a few prefatory remarks, he said it did his heart good to meet so numerous an assembly of enlightened delegates from the different parts of the State, representing as virtuous, enlighted and patriotic a party as was ever formed in New Hampshire.

F. Fletcher, Esq., of Nashua, was chosen Secretary, and a committee appointed to nominate officers, &c. John H. White, Esq., of Lancaster, was reported by the committee for President; and upon taking the chair, mentioned that as he had been a candidate for the office of Governor, he wished it to be understood that he declined being again a candidate. Hon. Wm. Claggett and Hon. Nath. S. Berry of Hebron, were chosen Vice Presidents.

In the afternoon the Convention balloted for a candidate for Governor. Nearly all the votes were cast for Hon. Jared Perkins, of Richmond, late Member of Congress from the Third District of New Hampshire.

Spirited resolutions were adopted, and a number of good speeches made. The party adopted measures for a complete organization throughout the State, and it is said that all its public speakers intend to take the stump, and all battle for what they deem to be the true political faith.

A Democratic Governor in Vermont.—A telegraphic despatch informs us that "John S. Robinson, democrat, was elected governor of Vermont, on Thursday, by a majority of one vote."

This was brought about by a coalition between the democrats and the free democrats, after numerous ballotings.

Episcopal Convention.—Sixteenth Day. A committee appointed at the last General Convention reported four long canons as substitutes for others relating to the qualifications of candidates for church offices. The substance of them is thus stated in the New York Evening Post:

"Canon A, 'Of the Ordination of Deacons' requires those functionaries to be well acquainted with the Holy Scriptures and the Book of Common Prayer.' Canon B forbids the ordaining of any one as priest unless he can, in addition to other qualifications, 'read the Old Testament in the Hebrew language, and the New Testament in the original Greek; is adequately acquainted with the Latin tongue; and that he hath a complete knowledge of Natural and Moral Philosophy, and Church History, and hath paid attention to Composition and Pulpit Eloquence. The bishop and standing committee of the diocese, however, have permission to dispense with the knowledge of Greek and Latin, as well as other acquirements not strictly ecclesiastical. Canon C requires that no one can be considered a candidate for priestly orders without having graduated at some college, or, if not, without passing a satisfactory examination in the usual college studies. Latin, Greek, Hebrew and other not strictly ecclesiastical branches of knowledge may be dispensed with, provided it be shown that the applicant possesses extraordinary strength of natural understanding, a peculiar aptitude to teach, and a large share of prudence; and the bishop, with the consent of the standing committee, shall have granted the dispensation. The preparatory exercises of a candidate for priest's orders are laid down in Canon D."

These canons were debated at much length and passed almost unanimously. The report in the Post says:

'Dr. Burgess of Maine, and a few others, opposed them as lowering the character and reputation of the ministry, by admitting into that profession uneducated men. Dr. Vinton spoke in advocacy of them, as conforming the church to the primitive system; and Judge Huntingdon, of Virginia, said he was not afraid to assert that one-half of the delegates in that House could not read a single page in the Hebrew Bible without assistance. He sincerely believed that men could be as good ministers without classical education as with it. Indeed, he believed it could be proved that more souls had been saved by men who did not know Latin and Greek, than by those who did."

The Convention finally adjourned at New York, on Wednesday, after a session of exactly three weeks and a day; to meet next in Philadelphia, in 1856.

Music.—A Philadelphia correspondent of the Boston Transcript says:

How little confidence many of the wise and good seem to have in the worth of those things which address only the innate refinement of the soul—the susceptibility to be impressed by the beautiful. An instance is given in the doings of the School Board on Saturday last. Madame Sontag had promised to give a free Concert to the pupils of the public schools, and Col. Small offered a resolution of thanks, but another member deemed it impracticable to get the scholars together, and Mr. Ingraham considered it beneath the dignity of the Board to notice the matter at all! An excellent subject for a novel in this same matter of Dignity. To give thousands of children a happy day by the gift of the richest strains of song, beneath the dignity of the School Board! Then let the Board alter its idea of dignity, or the member his.

Afflictive Dispensation.—A family in Boston have recently been bereaved under circumstances of a very peculiar and distress ing nature. On Wednesday, the 12th inst., Dr. Lothrop, of the Brattle-street Church, married the daughter of a well-known citizen to a young merchant of Boston. The party went upon a bridal tour, and in New York, they were joined by the father and family of the youthful bride. On Saturday last the whole party started upon their return home. The young bride was taken ill in the cars, and stepped into the ladies' room at one of the station-houses on the New Haven railroad, where she soon after expired. It is thought that the cause of this sudden event was an internal hemorrhage. The body was brought home to her afflicted father's residence, and the friends of the family who called to welcome the bride, found her dead, and the whole household plunged in the deepest affliction.

Remarkable Incident.—About three weeks ago, the wife of Mr. Henry Colvin, of Coventry, rose in the morning, complaining of a pain in her side. She soon after fell asleep, and died, as supposed. When her friends came to attend the funeral, they were struck with the remarkably life like appearance of the corpse, and the funeral was deferred. Since then, she has laid in the same condition, and many have visited Mr. Colvin's house, none of whom can discover any signs of decay. There had been no alteration on Friday, 21st, a period of about three weeks. —Providence Post.

For Africa.—The Abingdon Virginian announces the departure from that place, on the 12th inst., of about forty free persons of color, big and little, for Liberia. They were all well equipped for their long passage, and went off as cheerful and merry as a flock of black birds. They will sail from Norfolk on the 4th of November. There were several old men in the company who go for the sake of their children.

The house in which Benedict Arnold, the traitor, was born, in Norwich, Conn., has been pulled down within a few days.—Exchange.

Yes; but the old wooden fish-stores that Benedict Arnold built at Campobello (on the English side) just opposite Lubec (on this side) at the time when he was carrying on the smuggling business between St. Johns and this vicinity, are standing yet in good preservation. What a capital smuggler and deceiver in both countries, Arnold must have been! —Eastport Sentinel.

LOCAL.

THE LYCEUMS.

There are to be two distinct Courses of Lyceum Lectures, for our citizens, the coming winter. The New (or Mechanic Association) Lyceum is to be opened at the Temple, on Tuesday the 8th of November, by Rev. T. Starr King; and he will be followed by a very able and popular corps of lecturers, most of them favorably known in this city. Indeed, we think it would be difficult to make a selection which could give better satisfaction. The managers have made most liberal arrangements for the course, and extended the courtesy to the press usual in other places. Tickets $1.

The City Lyceum, at the Cameneum, is to commence with a lecture from Rev. Dr. Burroughs, on Thursday the 10th November.—Rev. Messrs. Lamson and Moore are also to fill each an evening of this course—and they will all bring out most valuable lectures. But few of the lecturers are announced as yet, although the course is to consist of fourteen lectures. The tickets to this course are put at $1 for gentlemen, 50 cents for ladies.

It is to be hoped that both courses will be well patronised. The price of a ticket is but a trifle to give for the information to be gained from a series of good lectures; and there are certainly enough persons in Portsmouth, to whom such would be of interest and advantage, to fill both houses on different nights, once a week for three months. It is the wish of the managers of both, to sell no evening tickets—the purchase of season tickets tends to the advantage of all concerned. We advise all who have not yet provided themselves with such, to do it at once—taking their own choice of the lectures, houses and evenings. Both courses will be richly worth attending.

☞ Rev. Mr. Moore, we are informed, will commence a Course of Sermons on "The Lord's Prayer," to-morrow afternoon, in the North Church. A more beautiful subject than this, could scarcely be chosen; and it is one in which all christian families should feel a deep interest.

☞ We are desired to give notice that there will be no religious services in the Pleasant Street Church to-morrow. The Society have engaged the services of Rev. M. Bryant, of Eastport, Me., for six months.—His ministrations are to commence on the next Sabbath, Nov. 7.

☞ The Methodist Church in this city has been thoroughly repaired and greatly improved in appearance outside. On the inside, the walls and ceiling have been whitened, the wood work painted and varnished, the pulpit, altar and aisles new carpeted, and every thing placed in good order. It will be opened tomorrow morning with fitting services by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Spaulding. As the Pleasant Street Church is to be closed, the Methodists will have an opportunity to return the courtesy recently extended to them, by accommodating both societies to-morrow.

Under which King?—Some of our Democratic readers insinuate that we are a little "too federal" now-a-days—probably because we have noticed the dissensions in the ranks of their party. And some others, who sail under a different flag, tell us we are altogether "too locofoco" for them—doubtless because we talk most of the opposing party. Well, the fact is, we are pretty well aware of the existence of at least one "Democratic" party; but as to the Whig party, we havn't heard much of it lately—when we do, we'll make a note of it. Till then, our anxious friends will please remember that we are entirely independent, and of course not bound to please any party, though we mean to be perfectly fair towards all. The Chronicle aims to be a news-paper; and half the news in this country, for the present, must be political. In this department, as in others, we aim to give the latest and richest news. And while we do so, everybody must expect to be offended a little, now and then, as the wind shifts.

Our Umbrella.—We mean the last one we lost—it was of blue, cambric perhaps, with whalebone frame tipped with ivory or bone; and moreover, besides other claims on us for protection, it was ornamented in bold hand, with the name of the owner, the aggrieved writer hereof. It was the last of a large family, who have all departed—nobody knows how, when or where; and it the rain is to fall every evening, the rightful possessor would be grateful for the return of the same, or the receipt of information where it may be found. He prefers giving his autograph in some other way. F.

☞ The rain and darkness of Thursday evening, kept away many persons who would have attended Mr. & Mrs. Clark's concert;—but there was a respectable audience notwithstanding: and the performances were received with frequent applause. Had the weather been favorable, there would have been a large audience.

The Howard Dramatic Company are having good houses at Newburyport, and everybody is pleased with their performances.

Reported for the Chronicle

COURT C. P.—Rock. Co.—Adj. Term.
Hon. Geo. Y. Sawyer of Nashua, Presiding Justice.

Portsmouth, Friday, Oct. 28.

147—Haynes v. Thorn, was closed this morning upon an agreement of the parties for a verdict for Deft., subject to opinion of Superior Court.

159—Eaton v. Collins. In this case the Pltf. alleges trespass by the Deft. in taking his cow. The Deft. justifies as a field-driver, and the alleged taking under a by-law of the town of South Hampton, which subjects the owner of animals running at large in the highway to a fine of fifty cents. The Pltf. contended that the cow was not in the highway, and was not running at large within the intendment of the by-law. Verdict for Pltf. Damages for $22.92, value of cow; she having been sold under the Statute.

Exceptions taken by Deft to ruling of Court, and case transferred to Superior Court.

Marston for Pltf., Stickney & French for Deft.

☞ No. 156—Cilley v. Mathes & Rollins, now on trial is an action of assumpsit to recover the sum of $59.12 for lumber.

McMurphy for Pltf., Small for Deft.

☞ The trustees of Berwick Academy, have invited Mr. Isreal Kimball, late teacher of the high school in Portsmouth, to the preceptorship, with a salary of $1000 a year, $300 more than has been before paid. He has not accepted the offer, but will probably continue the private school which he has commenced here.

Iron Fence.—P. Drake, Jr., at his Foundry in this city, manufactures, among other things, all styles of Cast Iron Fence. See a fine specimen, at the new house of Col. Stearns, on Islington st.

☞ A week or two since, in a heavy gust of wind one night, the high portable staging built by the city for constructing the 4th of July arches, which was standing in the yard in the rear of Mr. Edwin A. Moulton's store on State street, was blown down. In its fall it crushed a chaise and covered wagon belonging to him —and that accounts for the thirty dollars allowed by the Aldermen on Thursday night for damage to Mr Moulton's chaise.

Dr. J. P. Woolley's All-Healing and Strengthening Salve.

THIS salve is a sovereign remedy for lame back, local rheumatism, pain in the side and breast, scalds, burns, freezes, fresh wounds, bruises, sprains, weakness in the joints, crick in the back, old sores, chilblains, swellings, numbness, ague in the face and breast, cracked hands, biles, corns on the feet, and occasional sores of most kinds which the human kind is subject.

This Salve is a rare and valuable combination of warm, stimulant and anodyne ingredients, and will be found far superior to any other article of the kind heretofore discovered for the above complaints. There has never appeared a medicine which possesses the penetrating and healing power in so great a degree, while at the same time it cannot by any possibility produce injurious effects. By its action on the skin it moves all obstructions to the insensible perspiration—excites a healthy circulation of the blood—strengthens and invigorates the nerves—gives elasticity to the joints, and imparts strength to any part of the system which may have been weakened by sedentary habits or disease. FROM THE NORTHERN SEAS

The whaling bark Harriet Thompson, Capt. Fordham, arrived at San Francisco on the 26th ult., from the Arctic Ocean. Capt. Fordham reports that:—

The success of the whaling fleet had been but poor this year. Capt. Fordham thinks that out of 130 whaling vessels employed during the past season in the Sea of Okhotsk and in Behring's Straits, about one hundred have not averaged 100 barrels each. There has been a remarkable scarcity of whales during the present season, not only in Behring's Straits, but in the whole northern whaling region. This, Capt F. thinks, is owing to the wanton destruction of the calves along the Russian coast by the whalers, who thus sacrifice for a few barrels of oil, the future prospects of the whole fleet. It has only been within a few years that whalers have penetrated as far north as Behring's Straits in pursuit of their occupation, the supply is fast giving out, and there are fewer whales this year than during the past two seasons. The whole whaling fleet will be in rendezvous at the Sandwich Islands by the middle of October. Many vessels had not captured a single whale.

The Search for Sir John Franklin.—Capt. F. thinks that all further search for the Erebus and Terror is useless. On the 15th August, he saw one of the ships of the searching expedition, supposed to be the Plover. She was then in the Arctic Sea, between Prince of Wales Head and the Diomede Islands. She was bound north, and would probably winter in Plover Bay, (named after her,) which was her place of refuge last winter. Capt. F. exchanged signals with her, but the signals were mutually misunderstood. At the time she was seen, the sea was entirely clear of ice, though the same dense fog which had hung over the waters for two months still prevailed. Another ship belonging to the searching Expedition was in Port Clarence on the 19th of July.

Opinions of the Esquimaux.—Capt. F. held numerous conversations with the Esquimaux Indians at places where he landed with his boats. So many expeditions had been sent there during the last five years, that many of them could talk intelligibly on the subject of Sir John Franklin. Their arguments were such as to discourage all further search for the missing navigators.

Probable Fate of the Missing Ships.—It was thought by such whalemen as have navigated these regions, that the Erebus and terror were not crushed by any icebergs or field ice, but were capsized by being forced upon the surface of partially submerged ice. It was the opinion that the exploring fleet could not penetrate further this season than 72° N. The Arctic Sea has been unusually clear of ice, and the winter has been comparatively mild. The mountains surrounding the Arctic Sea showed but little snow at the time the whaling fleet left—not so much as was seen on the Alenthian Islands two months before.

ARTFUL SMGGGLING.—The following notice of a "business transaction" comes in a San Francisco paper:

"We learn that one A. S. Mansfield, of the good city of Boston, shipped in a vessel from that port to Honolulu, two hundred barrels, marked 'New York mess beef,' all consigned to order. On reaching its destination, it was entered at the custom house as beef, and nothing else, and the duties on this article were paid. Soon after the entry, orders came from Mr. Mansfield to store that beef, but in no wise sell it until he was heard from again. In the meantime, while the beef was being discharged from the vessel, one unlucky barrel slipped from the slings, and its head was stove in by the fall. That tell tale barrel was a secret revealer. Lo! hid away among the beef, was a ten-gallon keg of liquor! Every one of the two hundred barrels was then examined, and found to contain the same precious deposit.—two thousand gallons of liquor encased in beef, was thus attempted to be smuggled in—the duties on which would have been some twelve thousand dollars. The entire consignment was, of course, seized by government."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Letters have been undoubtedly received here from which the conclusion is drawn that large English and French fleets will be despatched to the gulf as soon as circumstances permit.

The Union has good grounds for its assertions as regards Cuba.

The Secretary of the Treasury will urge Congress to establish a new bureau charged with the construction of custom houses, marine hospitals, &c. The Secretary's report will be ready on the first day of the session.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The failure of H. Dwight, jr., was announced to day. He is said to be largely involved in railroad liabilities.

The weather at Haggerston, Md., has been very severe; the snow is a foot deep.

Mr. McLean, Minister to China, expects to sail on the 19th of Nov. via Havre. Mr. Mason, Minister to France, and Mr. O'Sullivan, Charge to Lisbon, are also making arrangements to sail in the same vessel.

James Stuart and Robert Thompson, of Boston, were the Californians who were robbed of their gold dust after their arrival at Norfolk, on Monday.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27.—President Pierce visited the Cattle Show this morning, and returned to Washington to-night.

Six large derricks used at the shipyards of Richmond, fell yesterday, dangerously wounding six men.

TWO DEATHS FROM FIREARMS.—A son of Mr. Redmond, of Victor, Ontario county, aged 8 years, got hold of an old pistol a few days since, which he snapped several times at his little sister, aged 5 years, not supposing it to be loaded. It finally, however, went off, and its contents lodged in the head of the child, which lingered for twelve hours and died.

A Mr. McAdam, while shooting on the lake at Canandaigua, drew his gun by the muzzle towards him, when it went off, killing him almost instantly. He was an experienced sportsman, very careful, and the accident can only be attributed to thoughtlessness.—Albany Eve. Journal.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE,

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY.

The Fall Session of this Institute will be held in the VESTRY of the 1st Congregational Church in EXETER. The exercises will commence on and close on Saturday, November 5th. The usual hours for commencing will be half past 8 o'clock in the morning, and 2 and 7 o'clock P. M.

MONDAY, Oct. 31st, at 10 o'clock A. M.,

The services of the following eminent instructors are engaged:

Prof. DANA P. COLBURN, in Arithmetic and Geography,
Prof. J. G. HOYT, in Algebra;
" S. S. GREEN, of Brown University, in Grammar;
Prof. T. J. WHITTAKER, in Drawing and Penmanship;
DANIEL BARNARD, Esq., in reading;
JAMES W. CLARK, in Music;
CALVIN CUTTER, M. D., in Physiology and Hygiene.

There will be a lecture on Monday Evening, by Rev. ASA MANN, of Exeter. The other evenings will be occupied by Lectures of a general character, by some of the Instructors, on subjects connected with their respective departments.

Each member of the Institute is requested to have present a Bible, Dictionary, Russell's School Reader or Town's Fourth Reader, and a small Blank-book; and to have his or her full name and residence written on a slip of paper or card, ready to hand to the Committe of Reception, on entering the Institute, so as to expedite the organization. Arrangements will be made for commodious boarding places, at reasonable rates.

Committee of Arrangements, Visitation and Report: Rev. A. MANN; WM. G. PERRY, M.D., C. F. GERRY, A. B., and E. G. DALTON, A. M.

Arrangements have been made to render the institute every way worthy of the hearty support of the Teachers of the County. The interests of our Common Schools demand such a support. It is therefore earnestly desired that every resident teacher of the County, and those residing in other counties who propose to teach in this, young and old,—the patriarchs of the profession, as well as the fresh candidates for its hard earned honors, should be present at the opening of the Institute, and continue to its close.

Prudential Committees are respectfully requested to defer the commencement of the Winter Schools so far as to allow the Teachers to attend the Institute; and it is hoped that they will encourage their attendance. And the Commissioner invites the attendance of Superintending and Prudential Committees and parents, of the older class in our Schools, and of the friends of our Common Schools generally, upon the Institute.

☞ The Committees and other citizens, who receive circulars, are requested to see that they are suitably distributed through their towns, and posted up in the most public places.

EXETER, Oct. 4th, 1853. A. H. HOYT,
School Commissioner for Rockingham County.

The New Lyceum.

AGREEABLY to published arrangements, a Course of fourteen or more Lectures, under the direction of the MECHANIC ASSOCIATION, will be given

A PALPABLE PARODY.

"'Tis the last rose of summer."—Moore.

'Tis the last golden dollar,
Left shining alone;
All its brilliant companions
Are squandered and gone;
No coin of its mintage,
Reflects back its hue—
They went in mint juleps
And this will go too!

I'll not keep thee, thou lone one,
Too long in suspense;
Thy brethren were melted,
And melt thou, to pence!
I ask for no quarter,
I'll spend and not spare,
Till my old tattered pocket
Lies centless and bare!

So soon may I foller,
When friendships decay,—
And when from beggary's last dollar
The dimes drop away!
When the Maine law has passed,
And the groggeries sink,—
What use would be dollars,
With nothing to drink!

The New York Herald says of the National Theatre: "The same never-ending, never-tiring, and very profitable drama called "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which has drawn crowded houses for nearly four months, is again announced for Monday evening, and for aught we know it will be continued for a month to come."

The Cincinnati Gazette says the supply of coal in that city will be exhausted by the end of three weeks, and there will be much suffering for want of fuel, unless there should soon be a rise of water in the river.

A LARGE FAILURE.—A letter from Cuba announces the failure of the brothers Diago, for the sum of 1,700,000. They offer to pay their creditors at the rate of $150,000 per annum, with interest at six per cent.

BREACH OF PROMISE.—Robert Parkhill has been ordered by the Supreme Court of Rhode Island to pay Rebecca Boyd $500 for not fulfilling his promise to marry her.

The Albany Journal says, it has not witnessed so much activity as now prevails in river and canal commerce since 1847, the year of the Irish famine.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot: 2nd manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w8m je22*

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER,

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attention of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in the health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and IS WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.
JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy to be found without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($00 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.
WILLIAM DEVINES."

THE SORROWS OF AN IDEALIST.

(Auto Biographical.)

I have always been an Idealist. Whether the configuration of my brain, or the largeness of my eyes, or the force of education made me so or not, I am unable to say, but despite of all philosophical explanation, the fact is certain, that Idealism has numbered my head among its habitations. If it be nearly akin to abstraction, you may get some light on the subject, by momentary attention to a trifling circumstance that signalized my nursery history. A fine large toy drum was brought home to me. The thumps soon made the heavy music leap out of it. I was amazed. The solution of the mystery must be had, and so, prompt to the bid of an investigating spirit, I knocked my round little fist into the drum-head to see what gave the sound. I afterwards heard about killing the goose for the egg.

School days came. The disposition to Ideality grew. It showed itself particularly strong in my amusements. I was so prone to it that I flattered myself that I could swim without learning; but when the experiment was made and the waters gurgled death tones in my ear, and the sky seemed to be shivering over me, and a strong hand grasped my hair to draw me out, I concluded that my arguments had some false premises about them. Human experience is seldom transferable from one thing to another, and especially from land to water or from water to land. So I soon got into other difficulties, such as giving a boy a blow on the head with a stone, and not expecting it would bleed; or running over melting ice in the Spring, without calculating I should break through and be chilled uncomfortably. Then followed a more dignified period. I had a great fondness for literature. So I resolved to have a paper established in our school. Without type or press, I got one under way—published it every Saturday—wrote it out and out—claimed all the dignity of editorship—arraigned offenders at its tribunal, and exerted no trifling influence in the external harmony of our Institution. One extract committed my taste to the muses, for which I hardly expect to be forgiven, viz:

"Solomon Hill, he built a mill,
On Pinchback Sandy-plain,
There was no water, within a mile and a quarter,
Unless there came a rain!"

If Solomon Hill was not an Idealist, then find a representative! That mill without water! How many things have I seen and done like it! Rely upon the clouds to turn a mill! Had Solomon anticipated the philosophic Barker? No matter—the poetry went off, if the mill did not. Clouds have since been used for various purposes. The heavens have been filled with castles based upon their snowy foundations. Symmes, Owen, and Fourier have laid some corner stones up there, but Solomon Hill, "he built a mill," and claimed the patent right in all such exalted fancies.

Weary of all else, and still trustful in itself and hopeful of outer things, Idealism took another direction and sought fuller gratification. Boyhood was yet fresh within me. It looked forth out of dark eyes and smiled in rose bud cheeks, but chiefly showed its vigor in the early culture of spiritual pleasure. I was progressing in classical study under my good Presbyterian minister, and bounding off before my classmates, read Virgil in two weeks, and rushed on for larger conquests.—Dinner was daily neglected. Midnight darkened down over my books and wrapped its folds around my pillow, but still, I clung to study. Health failed, and sickness succeeded. To dwell in a still chamber for long months, to know not the graceful roll of the seasons, to feel the hopes of earth all wither amid autumnal leaves, to be tortured by fears of madness, to be parched with fever and wrung with pain, to see mournful faces bending over me and often have warm tears to run o'er my pale brow from other eyes, was my silent history for nearly two years. Heaven was merciful at last. They tell me that my dear pastor invited the church to its altar and prayed for me, as men seldom pray. I felt the power of that act then. I feel it now. Wherever I have wandered in quest of health or pursuit of usefulness, I have never forgotten that I am probably more indebted to prayer than any living man. That kind heart now beats heavily. That spiritual eye now looks languidly. The voice that then led the prayer for me, is now faint and low. Would that I could intercede for him as he did for me! A noble genius is his intellectual distinction, but nobler spiritual gifts adorn him. The one is earthly; the other is heavenly. Beauty, sublimity, majesty, all forms of imagery, all resources of argument, all power of language dwell, as far as humanity permits, in his expanded mind, and hundreds rejoice in his great talents, but who knows him? Who comprehends genius and piety, the highest bestowments of goodness? Finite they are, but abiding amid the effulgency of the Infinite, the glory is communicated to them, and they move in its brightness.

Hidden pleasures are in such men—powers, that spring not into life—praises, that are hushed within the bosom—affections that are silent for want of a better language—ocean-pearls, that cannot be reached;—and thus they walk to the tomb, looking around with dim eyes, but upward with a clear vision, and learning from the mourning dove, a song, in which, gentle sadness may breathe itself and yet murmur not at the bitter allotment.

Literature charmed me again. I turned to its inviting paths. What a scene met me! Books and men! Newspapers flying about as sport for winds, some so light, that zephyrs bore them hither and thither. Steam-presses hurrying to gratify popular demands. Authors wearing solemn looks. The whole world appear to be passing by in an immense procession to be pictured in books & sent down to future ages. The miserable Indian came along with his blanket—the Laplander hastened on—the Chinese—the African—the European—the American—all marching past for portraiture—and then all earthly things and all firmamental charms—bending low or swelling high—for literary embodiment. I entered on the more recreative departments of literature. Article after article was written and re-written—words were weighed and fitted to their fellow-words—but oh, the stubbornness of language!

Fancy would turn itself into a Kaleidescope, and lo! the multiform variations! Rising to its lofty region, imagination would embrace the sublime and seek to descend with the choice thought or figure, but lo! the sad changes when the pen sought to give it a palpable revelation. I was at last satisfied with some productions, and they were sent to my favorite publication, but on their appearance, I was made "to suck up the stream of time," instead of "sail," as I had written, with numerous other blunders, that imposed perfect Munchausen tasks on my possibilities. Years passed. Essays and reviews were elaborated with toil and pains—given to the world—and adopted occasionally by others without credit, so that I was compelled to see them trading on my capital, and not even the small interest yielded of acknowledgement. The odious habit! And yet, good men do it. Ministers borrow skeletons and the like, but ah, skeletons can't be embalmed! Flesh and blood alone have the privilege. Thus the Ideal lost more and more of its celestialness. It was certainly dust-ward.

And then, Ideality assumed a new enchantment. It turned to domestic life. A smile came to it from the early Garden-home; the pages of Poetry, in which my delight was, reflected it over my whole nature; and I concluded, that the long-sought was certainly here. I had loved a young lady for many years, but had resolved to defer all efforts to engage her heart, until I had accomplished several objects. The first time that I saw her, the impression was made upon my mind, that she would be my wife, and ever afterwards, that impression was gathering her looks and tones into itself and acquiring strength from all my personal reflections. We were married. Without indulging in dreams of romance, we believed that happiness awaited us; for our religion taught us that happiness is the destiny of every one on the earth, if he will not oppose the plan of Infinite Love, and our instincts, by their desire for it, showed that unless life be a mockery, and law a cheat, it was in store for us. A wise philosophy, acquired from the volume of Grace, instructed us to look to ourselves for the larger portion of bliss; and so we determined to avoid little faults, to watch over each other, and to feel a deep responsibility for the peace and comfort of our wedded hours.—The hope was not vain. We were happy. The price of pleasure was paid and it was experienced. How those charming scenes return to my heart now! How those seasons of quiet communion, morning and evening worship, twilight musings, buoyant spirits, and free, fearless thoughts, come around me in softest beauty, like paintings mellowed by age! The joy was soon crushed. The wife of my youth was called to a better home. I remember the anxious watchings. I remember the tears, the sighs, the prayers, the struggles of that eventful period. I walked abroad at midnight and it seemed to be light to me. I looked upon the sun and his splendor had departed. I never knew till then, that one thought, one feeling, one absorbing object can fill the world or make the world its own.

* * * And thus life progressed, and thus life had at last only a grave left of all its cherished hopes and selectest bliss. Her tomb is the sepulchre of the whole past to me. There slumber plans and prospects, mirth and music, beauty and blessing! All are gathered and garnered within its narrow compass. With her precious dust, how many faded flowers mingle, how many dear treasures are buried! All things are blended here. The communion of death is wider and closer than the communion of life. The shadowy and spirit land is now embraced within the sphere of my daily existence; for she, who has departed, has given me a personal interest in the grave, and made its silent gloom a portion of my constant history.

MONDAY, OCT. 31, 1853.

NEW YORK HERALD.

The present political condition of New York, may be inferred from the following extracts taken from an article in the New York Herald.

There is no party in this State Canvass, in the true sense of that term—no whig party, for it is annihilated; no democratic party, for that too is demoralized, divided, confused, and broken up. It is the contest of factions, and can only be compared to a guerrilla battle between the scattered fragments of two disbanded armies, fighting upon their own hook, without concert, or order, or any definite object in view; and were it not that the great interests connected with our State canals are somewhat involved in this election, we doubt whether the sober, rational, and law and order portion of the people, would take any part in it whatever. Possibly the Maine ticket may succeed in the melee.

We have the four State tickets of four local and sectional factions in the field. We have the free soil abolition ticket, descended in a right line from the Van Buren and Adams ticket and the Buffalo platform of 1848. We have the Cabinet free soil Van Buren ticket of 1853, and the Dickinson ticket, which, although most nearly identified with the true principles of a great national party, is still supported only by a faction—the Dickinson, Bronson, and O'Conner faction. Last, though not least, we have the ring streaked and speckled whig ticket, so called, supported by an incomprehensible faction, reorganized on the basis of Sewardism, from the floating rubbish of the whig battle of the Nile of last November.

Such are the factions arrayed against each other in this local canvass of ours. Their principles may be readily disposed of. The Seward organization is for the spoils of this solitary election. Their estimates go no further. The Cabinet free soil faction, thankful for small favors as well as large ones, are anxious to deserve a little more of the public plunder through their support of their new platform as laid down by Guthrie & Co. The Dickinson faction, having been thimble-rigged out of their fair share of the spoils, are simply beat upon revenge, and the breaking of all the crockery in the kitchen cabinet, regardless of the original cost. The legitimate Van Buren free soilers, of the Buffalo platform, now under Halo, have alone the consistency of an abiding organization, and their ticket is put forward, not with any hopes of electing it, but with the view of keeping their faction together for the great contingencies which they foresee all parties will soon have to meet again, face to face, on the slavery question.

Such are the factions and such are the principles inexplicably mixed up in the State election. The Seward whig ticket will probably be elected; but in such an event nothing can be more fallacious or absurd than the hee and cry which will probably be raised upon the resurrection of the whig party. It is dead and done for, now and forever, as a national organization.

Then, speaking of several questions, likely to come before Congress, the Herald says:

Let the friends of the Union and of the rights of the South under the constitution, try the ground upon some of these questions as soon as possible after the meeting of Congress. * * * *

And the sooner the friends of the Union, of both the old effete parties, are prepared for the struggle, the better.

THE NATIONALS AND COLLECTOR BRONSON.—The Adamantine Club of New York, James T. Brady presiding, have passed some strong resolutions respecting the removal of Mr. Bronson, two of which we copy below:—

Resolved, That in the removal of Judge Bronson from office, for daring to assert the sacred right of private opinion, and the legal rights appertaining to his position, the present administration has violated every pledge given to the National Democracy, trampled under foot the solemn obligations of the Constitution, and sullied the dignity and decency of the executive and cabinet offices.

Resolved, That by the removal of Judge Bronson, (an act unprecedented in the annals of this Union,) we are unwillingly compelled to believe it to be the settled policy of the administration to endeavor to force the National Democracy of this country into a hated and unholy alliance with men, whose mercenary treachery is only equalled by their unblushing impudence, and whose political faith and doctrines we believe to be antagonistic to that compact of civil liberty which was so dearly purchased by the precious blood of our fathers, antagonistic to the stability and harmony of a well ordered government, and friendly only to disorganization, agitation and violence.

This looks like open opposition to the President and cabinet. But we are somewhat at a loss to know what treacherous and mercenary men they are, into alliance with whom these Adamantines are thus to be driven by the administration. Are they freesoilers? or whigs? and if whigs, what kind of whigs? One thing about these hard men is quite odd, viz: that not a few of them, by their own statements, "were freesoilers in '48."

The New Hampshire Patriot says of the hards and their movements:

"Their proceedings not only tend to a renewal of the slavery agitation, but they are designed for that end. * * * The words slavery, free soilism and abolition, would never have been heard in the discussion of our party affairs, after the election of General PIERCE, if these disorganizing brawlers had not resolved to renew the slavery agitation to promote their own mercenary and revengeful purposes. * *

And finally they can have no hope of success in their ultimate object, except so far as they may be successful in renewing this agitation and in forming a sectional party upon the question of slavery. And to that end their main efforts are now directed."

IMPORTANT LEGAL DECISION.

Some time ago we published what we have always deemed a very silly decision, made as we now perceive by one Judge Merrick, at Cambridge, Mass., in the Court of Common Pleas,—which decision was, that the Police Court of Lowell could not legally impose fines on criminals, because the Judge, as a citizen of Lowell, had an interest in those fines which were payable to the city.

This decision rendered "Tim. Pearson's Court," or something like it, absolutely necessary. Timothy Pearson, Esq., is a Justice of the Peace in Dracut, in the same county of Middlesex in which Lowell is situated;—and he has sent up a great many light cases, from Lowell, to the higher courts.

Now, the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, has just given a decision, said to be written out by Chief Justice Shaw, and published in the Boston Chronicle, which knocks Tim. Pearson's Court into a non entity, as far as Lowell is concerned, and at the same time completely demolishes Judge Merrick's famous decision.

The Law School at Cambridge ought to have an elegant leather medal struck in honhonor of Judge Merrick's legal acumen in the case above referred to, on condition that he should give half of it to Judge Pearson, of whose court he must be considered the illustrious progenitor.

But all jokes aside, here is an extract from the decision of the Supreme Court, which puts a new face on the law in the City of Lowell:

"This jurisdiction was given to judges of of Police Courts, and that jurisdiction they must exercise, unless disqualified by the supposed interest, in cases where the penalty is given to the town. But this objection, we think, is obviated by a well settled rule, founded as well in nature as in authority, that in a minute, theoretic and remote interest, arising in a participation in penalties, either payable to the town, county or state, does not disqualify one from acting as a judge, wherever all are so interested who can act, and where the law would remain unexecuted without it. Com. v. Ryan, 5 M R. 90, Wills v. Hill, 6 P.

We may go farther and add, that it being quite competent for the legislature to provide as they have in many cases, that such a municipal, minute interest shall not disqualify a judge, juror, appraisor, or similar officer, that when a jurisdiction is given to a magistrate who, by force of the same act may have such remote municipal interest, it was their intention to remove such disqualification.

By the act amending the Revised Statutes, it is expressly provided that no person shall be disqualified from acting as a magistrate, juror, appraisor, or officer of any kind, in any suit or process in which the city of Boston is interested, by reason of any interest that he may have as an inhabitant of said city. Rev. St. 808.

This provision applies, it is true, to the city of Boston; but it declares a general principle, that if the legislature considers the exigency such as to make such a provision proper, they may do so by an act of legislation manifesting such intention.

On the whole the court are of the opinion, the Judge of the Police Court of Lowell had exclusive jurisdiction of the offence for which this prosecution was instituted, that that jurisdiction was not divided by supposed interest, which said judge had in the penalty by reason of his being a tax-paying inhabitant of said city; that Timothy Pearson, Esq., though a justice of the peace of the county of Middlesex, living in Dracut, had no such jurisdiction, and on these grounds that the judgment must be arrested."

ANOTHER VOICE FROM PORTLAND.

We copy from the Advertiser, the following semi-official document, with a few of the leading signatures, out of nearly five hundred names contained in the Advertiser. The reader will see that this statement directly contradicts that of John Neal, and comes from the highest and best authority.

STATEMENT OF CITIZENS OF PORTLAND.

PORTLAND, Oct. 1853.

Our attention has been recently called to statements made by two citizens of Portland, in relation to the operation of the liquor law in this city and State. These statements are, in substance, that there is more intemperance, and more liquor sold and drank, in this city and State, at the present time, than before the passage of our existing liquor law. One of them goes even so far as to say that there is more intemperance "in this city and neighborhood, and probably throughout the whole State, with here and there a doubtful exception, than there has been at any other time for twenty years!"—and both give representations of the condition of things in Portland, calculated, if believed, to affect injuriously the fair reputation which our city has heretofore sustained abroad. If these statements had been published and circulated only in this city and State, we should not feel called upon to notice them. But having been circulated abroad to the injury of the reputation of our city and State, and in a manner calculated to work serious mischief, we feel it our duty to unite in saying—as we do, in the most unqualified terms—that we deem these, and all similar statements, as most grossly and palpably erroneous and unfounded must be manifest, to every candid and unprejudiced citizen of our city, not only from the apparent condition of things, but from that very sure test as to the existence of intemperance, the records of pauperism and crime.

We deem it proper to add that the personal position, which most, or all of us occupy, in regard to the practical business and pursuits of this city, enables us to speak in this matter from actual personal knowledge of facts.

(Signed) James B. Cahoon, Eliphalet Greely, J. J. Carruthers, D D. Russel Streeter, W. T. Dwight, D D., J. C. Aspinwal, R. P. Cutler, B. D. Peck, Wm. McDonald, J. S. Eaton, J. R. French, W. H. Hadley, John M. Wood, Ira Crocker, Nathan Cummings, William W. Thomas, J. B. Osgood, Thos. Hammond, Luther Jewett, W. P. Fessenden, S. J. Smith, T. C. Hersey,

Following these names are a long series of others, nearly 500 in all. The first signed is the present mayor; the second an ex-mayor; then comes most of the ministers in the city; and then political and business men.

CHINCHA ISLANDS.

A letter from Valparaiso received at New York, states that the Peruvian government had offered Capt. McCerran $20,000 as his compensation for the outrage committed on him at the Chincha Islands, which he had refused.

This statement may be true; but it has a most improbable air about it.

If the Peruvian government has any peace to make, it ought to be with our government, which will surely call it to account for the improper action of its understrappers at the Chincha Islands: and in the meantime somebody ought to have a reckoning with Capt. McCerran for his mis-conduct. Every account, which has been published of the transactions, shows him, and the Peruvian captain also, in a very unfavorable light. Both of them ought to be brought to the gangway, have a dozen a piece from the boatswain, and then have their grog stopped for six months. Meantime let sober men take their places.

NAVAL.—Lieut. Benjamin F. Shattuck has been detached from the Navy Yard, Charlestown, and ordered to the slooop-of-war Cyane, now fitting for sea at Philadelphia.

Lieut. Henry French has been ordered on duty at the Charlestown Navy Yard.

Master Abner Reed has been ordered to Portsmouth N. H.

☞ Putnam's Monthly, for November, via Fetridge & Co. Boston, and J. F. Shores, Jr., Portsmouth, is on our table in excellent season, with a good table of contents. J. P. Morse has also furnished us with a copy. The publishers announce their intention "to provide in each number one or more articles of ability, well considered, impartial and independent, on public affairs or matters of national interest." This number contains a well written paper on the "Pacific Railroad and how it is to be built." With its large circulation the Monthly must exert a great influence in the affairs of the nation.

Michael McCoy, and James Duffy, who have been undergoing an examination during several days past, for the rape and murder of Catharine Quigley at Jamaica, Long Island, were discharged on Thursday. Many circumstances were strongly against them, but the witnesses could not identify them in the most important places.

LIVERPOOL AND PORTLAND STEAMSHIPS.—Arrangements are made for the running of the new line of steamships between Liverpool and Portland, the coming winter, beginning with the "Sarah Sands," which is announced to leave Liverpool, Thursday Nov. 17, and Portland, Dec. 17, followed by the "Cleopatra," which will leave Liverpool, Dec. 15, and Portland, Jan. 14, 1854. Other boats of the new line now building, are the "Ontario," "Erie," and "Huron." In the summer season, the boats will ply twice a month between Liverpool and Quebec, and Montreal. The first class cabin fare from Liverpool to Portland, is eighty dollars.

POTATOES.—Mr. Wm. W. Wiggin of Dover, gives the following method of cultivating potatoes so as to prevent the rot.

Plant your potatoes just as early as the ground will admit, and put nothing but a spoonful of plaster in the hill. He observes that after the ground is once clear of frost, there is not much danger of its being frozen deep enough to spoil the seed, and if the crop grown is so early in the season, it will lie in the ground in the fall, and be sound, while the later grown and manured ones will rot.

WITNESSES.—In Phiadelphia, a singular scene was presented in an Alderman's office lately. A collection of children, whose ages ranged from 12 to 15 years, were arranged to testify on oath against a man for selling them liquor, each one distinctly testifying to the ready furnishing of the dram when the three cents were laid down by them! He was bound over to answer at Court under $500 bonds.

POPULAR INFLUENCES IN THIS COUNTRY.—The Bishops of the Episcopal Church, in their pastoral address, remark that "Besotted ignorance cannot long prevail in a land of free schools. Servile superstition must gradually decline in a land of free inquiry.—Priestcraft and imposture cannot long flourish in a land of newspapers."

A new married couple went to Niagara on a visit—and the gentleman, in order to convince his dear that he was brave as well as gallant, resolved to go down into the "cave of the wind." She, of course, objected; but finding that he was determined, affectionately requested him to leave his pocket book and watch behind.

Jenny Lind's baby, according to the Musical World, begins to manifest musical capacity. Its cries are so melodious, that even to the refined ear of the Queen of Song herself, they are seldom unpleasing.

Buffalo, Oct. 28.—The steamer Southerner, bound down loaded with pork, flour, &c., went ashore below Ashtabula, last night; is badly broken and making water fast; hogs and flour are going ashore fast; nothing has been heard of her passengers or crew yet.

LOCAL.

Reported for the Chronicle

COURT C. P.—ROCK. CO.—Adj. Term.
HON. GEO. Y SAWYER of Nashua, Presiding Justice.

PORTSMOUTH, Saturday, Oct. 29.

Case 156—Cilley vs. Mathes & Rollins, which was begun yesterday, occupied the whole forenoon. In the afternoon at half past two o'clock, the Court came in and gave the case to the jury, directing them to return a sealed verdict to the judge, as soon as they agreed; which verdict is to be opened in Court on Monday morning at 11 o'clock, to which time the Court stands adjourned. The jury soon found a verdict and went home.

FIRE.—On Friday evening, 28th inst., the dwelling-house of Mr. Ezra Barker, in Stratham, was entirely destroyed by fire, with most of the furniture, as were also the wood house, cider house and corn house, adjoining, with their contents. The fire commenced between eight and nine o'clock, while the men of the household were all absent at a neighbor's husking.

An old lady, nearly ninety years of age, had taken a light and gone to bed as usual; but being dim-sighted, probably set some clothing on fire by a spark or otherwise.—Some young women below soon smelt fire, and bearing the old lady out from the smoke and flame with which they found her chamber filled, saved her life: but for lack of help and skill could not save the house.

Among the valuables destroyed were 150 bushels of corn, 40 bbls. nice apples, and the other miscellaneous good things usually found in a first rate farmer's house and granary.

The large barns belonging to the establishment, being on the opposite side of the road, escaped, and stand uninjured.

The fire was very distinctly visible in this city, ten miles distant.

Loss estimated at about $4000—insurance $1700.

☞ Why don't the Messrs. Flagg, of Exeter, build a steam mill at their paper manufactory? All the papers in this city, and others, are repeatedly inconvenienced by the lack of water at their works. We print this morning on stock of a poorer quality than usual, for this reason.

☞ Our umbrella has got back—thanks to the advertisement in the Chronicle. It was restored before our carriers had finished their lists.

☞ On the outside this morning, will be found a finely written original essay, on "The Sorrows of an Idealist."

☞ The Free Evening School opens this evening at the Vestry under the Universalist Church.

MARINE CHRONICLE.

PORT OF PORTSMOUTH.

SATURDAY, Oct. 29th.

Sld Br brig Elsinore, Quereau, Granville, NS.
Br brig Zebron, Dart, Maitland, NS.
brig Zenobia, Savannah.
sch Cocheco, Knowlton, for Boston.

A survey has been had on the sch Gertrude, now at this port, fm New York for Boston, and she is ordered to be discharged here and repair.

STEAM-TUG AJAX.—The sch Gertrude now in this port was in company with a steamer, supposed to be the Ajax, Oct. 24, at 11 o'clock, a.m, off Chatham, and remained in sight until 6 o'clock, p m, being then off Race Point, Cape Cod, when the steamer hauled in for Provincetown. At this time it came on to blow heavy from the SE, and the schooner lost sight of the steamer; but at 8 o'clk saw two lights supposed to be on board the steamer. The lights were then visible about half an hour; but were lost sight of, and the fears of the loss of the Ajax as expressed in the Boston papers are doubtless well grounded. There were about a dozen people on board the Ajax, among whom were Capt. Timothy Baker, coast pilot, and Wm. Skidmore, Hurlgate pilot. The steamer was about twenty-five years old.

LOWER HARBOR.

Oct. 27. Ar sch Endora, Means, Boston for Ellsworth.

sch Nancy Hewett, Leach, Boston for Castine, sch Pearl, Sanborn, Boston for Brooklyn.
sch William H. Turner, Snowman, Boston for Portland.
sch Six Brothers, Farmer, Boston for Boothbay.
sch Brutus, Orcutt, Boston for Bangor.
sch Elizabeth, Soule, Weymouth for Bangor.

Ship Mary Pleasants, Kennard, fm Liverpool, ar at Philadelphia, Oct. 27.

Ship George Raynes, Penhallow, ar at Callao, Oct 1, fm Chincha Islands.

Accounts from wreck of ship Western World, at Squan, are to 25th inst. when she was broken in two amidships. The hull forward of the main mast appeared firm, while the afterpart is all loose. People are engaged saving the baggage, anchors, rigging, &c. The cargo is floating about in the ship, and little of it can be got at until she goes to pieces which will be during the next easterly blow.

Dr. Treadwell

HAS REMOVED to 117 State street, where he may generally be found, except from 11 A.M. to 2 P.M., as which time he may be found at his Office, 28 Pleasant street, in the rear of Mr. Thacher's Drug Store. 1awc29x

ARRIVAL OF THE CALIORNIA MAIL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The steamer Ohio from Aspinwall, arrived at 4 o'clock this P. M., bringing $928,000 on freight and $200,000 in the hands of her passengers; also the United States Mails. The Ohio left Aspinwall on the 18th inst.

The steamer Falcon for New Orleans also left Aspinwall on the 18th.

An accident happened on the Panama railroad on the 1st inst. While the train which contained the passengers and mail by the Illinois were passing over it, the locomotive came in collision with a bull while crossing the bridge near Tarbenilla, and were thrown off the track, tearing up the bridge and precipitating the cars into the ravine, nineteen feet deep. The locomotive and five cars were smashed, and the bridge completely destroyed. An Irishman and a native were the only persons killed. Patrick Howard, passenger, had both his legs broken. Several others, chiefly attached to the railroad, were more or less bruised.

The eighteen deserters from the U. S. frigate Columbus, had been arrested on the Musquito coast where they had been creating a disturbance, and were to be carried to Aspinwall in irons.

AUSTRALIA.—The news from Australia is of an interesting character. It appears that there is a little dislike among a certain class for Americans, and that feeling showed itself very plainly when the Yankees in Melbourne proposed to celebrate the Fourth of July.—Such celebrations are customary in all countries, but the Melbourne Herald thought the observance of the anniversary of the day when America broke loose from English domination not a proper day to be observed in Australia, which now occupies a position somewhat similar to that of America 77 years ago. The Melbourne Argus takes fire at such expressions of illiberality, and says that it knows no reason why Australians should object to or should not take part in the celebration of the anniversary of American independence. It thinks that independence a blessing, and a very proper cause of rejoicing, particularly for Australia, who looks upon America as an elder brother.

Mr. Hargraves, the discoverer of gold in Australia, will receive $25,000 from the government, as a reward for his discovery.

UTAH.—Lieut. Beale in passing over the table land between the Colorado and the Gila, discovered a number of ruins of human habitations. Some of them were very extensive of stone, and showed that a numerous and industrial population once existed where all is now barren. A multitude of remains of crockery and domestic utensils were found.—It is supposed that the ruins are of Aztec origin. The Yuma and Cocopa Indians are at war. They had a battle about the 1st of the month; the Yumas were victors. Thirty five thousand sheep have been brought into the State by the Southern route from Chihuahua. Major Holdman made a treaty with the Indians on the Humboldt.

FISH STORY.—A short time since, some trouble was discovered in the running of the turbine wheel under the Great Falls Manufacturing Company's Bleachery. The water was shut off and a man sent into the wheel pit to ascertain the trouble, when to the utter astonishment of all, the wheel was found to be completely jammed full of eels.

We learn that the same wheel was again filled and completely stopped by eels yesterday morning.—G. F. Journal.

Dr. J. P. Woolley's All-Healing and Strengthening Salve.
THIS salve is a sovereign remedy for lame back, local rheumatism, pain in the side and breast, scalds, burns, freezes, fresh wounds, bruises, sprains, weakness in the joints, crick in the back, old sores, chilblains, swellings, numbness, ague in the face and breast, cracked hands, biles, corns on the feet, and occasional sores of most kinds which the human kind is subject.
This Salve is a rare and valuable combination of warm, stimulant and anodyne ingredients, and will be found far superior to any other article of the kind heretofore discovered for the above complaints. There has never appeared a medicine which possesses the penetrating and healing power in so great a degree, while at the same time it cannot by any possibility produce injurious effects. By its action on the skin it moves all obstructions to the insensible perspiration—excites a healthy circulation of the blood—strengthens and invigorates the nerves—gives elasticity to the joints, and imparts strength to any part of the system which may have been weakened by sedentary habits or disease. Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c., but none of them are equal to it in weight, or in quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves. Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS

With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,

No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, TWENTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——.

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S

Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Founded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 960,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest praise has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discounts to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S

SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.

The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it can remove ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as Nature's Kindest Remedy for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner,—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 70th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.

JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($800 00) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

WILLIAM DEVINES."

THE SLIGHTED SCHOLAR.

Cases like the one I am about to relate are much too frequent in our country, and they are such, too, as should be guarded against by all who have an interest in education. The incident was brought to mind by hearing a complaint made by the parent of a poor boy, who had been grossly neglected by the teacher of the village school,—neglected simply because he was poor and comparatively friendless!

Many years ago, when I was but a small boy, I attended school in the town of ——,—.

Among the scholars there was a boy named George Henry. His father was a poor, drinking man, and the unfortunate boy had to suffer in consequence. George came to school habited in ragged garments—but they were the best he had; he was rough and uncouth in his manners, for he had been brought up in that manner; he was very ignorant, for he had never had an opportunity for education.

Season after season, poor George Henry occupied the same seat in the school-room,—it was a back corner seat, away from the other scholars,—and there he thumbed his tattered primer. The ragged condition of his garb gave a homely cast to his whole appearance and what of intelligence there might have been in his countenance was beclouded by the "outer covering" of the boy. He seldom played with the other children, for they seemed to shun him; but when he did, for a while, join with them in their sports, he was so rough that he was soon shoved off out of the way.

The teacher passed the poor boy coldly in the street, while other boys, in better garbs, were kindly noticed. In the school, young Henry was equally coldly treated. The teacher neglected him, and then called him an "idle blockhead" because he did not learn. The boy received no incentive to study, and consequently he was most of the time idle, and idleness begat a disposition to while away the time in mischief. For this he was whipped, and the more he was whipped the more idle and careless he became. He knew that he was neglected by the teacher simply because he was poor and ragged, and with a sort of sullen indifference, sharpened at times by feelings of bitterness, he plodded on his dark, thankless way.

Thus matters went on for several years.—Most of the scholars who were of George Henry's age had passed on to the higher branches of study, while he, poor fellow, still spelled out words of one and two syllables, and still kept his distant seat in the corner. His father had sunk lower in the pit of inebriation, and the unfortunate boy was more wretched than ever. The look of clownish indifference which had marked his countenance, was giving way to a shade of unhappy thought and feelings, and it was evident that the great turn-point of his life was at hand. He stood now upon the step in life from which the fate of after years must take its cast.

At this time a man by the name of Kelly took charge of the school. He was an old teacher, a careful observer of human nature, and a really good man. Long years of guardianship over wild youths had given him a bluff, authoritative way, and in his discipline he was strict and unwavering. The first day he passed in the teacher's desk of our school was mostly devoted to watching the movements of the scholars, and studying the dispositions with which he had to deal. Upon George Henry his eye rested with a keen, searching glance. But he evidently made little of him during the first day, but on the second day he did more. It was during the afternoon of the second day that Mr. Kelly observed young Henry engaged in impaling flies upon the point of a large pin. He went to the boys seat, and after reprimanding him for his idleness, he took up the dirty, tattered primer from his desk.

"Have you never learned more than is in this book? asked the teacher.

"No, sir," drawled George.

"How long have you attended school?"

"I don't know, sir. It's ever since I can remember."

"Then you must be an idle, reckless boy," said the teacher, with much severity. "Do you realize how many years you have thrown away? Do you know how much you have lost? What sort of a man do you think of making in this way? One of these days you will be too old to go to school, and then, while your companions are seeking some honorable employment, you yill be good for nothing. Have you any parents?"

"Yes, sir," answered the boy, in a hoarse, subdued voice.

"And do they wish you to grow up to be an ignorant, worthless man?"

The boy hung down his head and was silent, but Mr. Kelly saw two great tears roll down his cheeks. In an instant, the teacher saw that he had something besides an idle, stubborn mind to deal with in the ragged scholar before him. He laid his hand upon the boy's head, and in a kind tone, he said:

"I wish you to stop after school is dismissed. Do not be afraid, for I wish to assist you if I can."

George looked up wonderingly into the master's face, for there was something in the tones of the voice which fell upon his ear that sounded strangely to him, and he thought too, as he looked around, that the rest of the scholars regarded him with kinder countenances than usual. A dim thought broke in upon his mind that, from some cause, he was going to be happier than before.

After the school was dismissed, George Henry remained in his seat till the teacher called him to the desk.

"Now," said Mr. Kelly, "I wish to know how it is that you have never learned any more. You look bright, and you look as though you might make a smart man. Why is it that I find you so ignorant?"

"Because nobody never helps me, sir," replied the boy. "Nobody cares for me, for I am poor."

By degrees the kind-hearted teacher got the poor boy's whole history, and while generous tears bedewed his eyes, he said:

"You have been wrongly treated, George—very wrongly; but there is yet time for redemption. If I will try to teach you, will you try to learn?"

"Yes,—O, yes," quickly uttered the boy in earnest tones. "Yes,—I should love to learn. I don't want to be a bad boy," he thrillingly added, while his countenance glowed with unwonted animation.

Mr. Kelly promised to purchase books for the boy as fast as he could learn to read them, and when George Henry left the school-room, his face was wet with tears. We scholars, who had remained in the entry, saw him come out, and our hearts were warmed towards him. We spoke kindly to him, and walked with him to his house, but his own heart was too full for utterance.

On the next day George Henry commenced studying in good earnest, and the teacher helped him faithfully. Never did I see a change so radical and sudden as that which took place in the habits of the poor boy. As soon as the teacher treated him with kindness and respect, the scholars followed the example, and the result was, that we found in the unfortunate youth one of the most noble-hearted, generous, accommodating, and truthful, playmates in the world.

Long years have passed since those school-boy days. George Henry has become a man of middle-age, and in all the country there is not a man more beloved and respected than is he. And all is the result of one teacher's having done his duty. You who are school-teachers, remember the responsibility that devolves upon you. In this country of free schools, there should be no distinction between classes. All are alike entitled to your care and counsel, and the more weak the child, the more earnest should be your endeavors to lift him up and aid him.—Gleason's Pictorial.

The American Sewing Machine has been introduced into England, much to the dismay and indignation of a large class of sewing women. At the last accounts a large meeting of the female cloak and mantle makers, had been held in London, to express their opposition to the machine, and they call upon all seamstresses engaged in establishments to aid them in opposing it, as it is likely to be introduced generally into wholesale houses, and the ruin of thousands of females must necessarily ensue. A petition is in the course of signature from them addressed to the employers generally, showing the incompetency of the machine to complete articles of dress requiring excessive neatness, and begging them earnestly to consider the results of the use of this machine as likely to drive women to more "ignoble" pursuits for an existence.

COALITIONS.

The free democrats of New Hampshire have nominated Hon. Jared Perkins for governor.—Boston Atlas.

A regular free soiler whom the whigs supported for, and elected to, congress, at the last election, with the co-operation of the Atlas, whose senior editor requested the people of Massachusetts not to sign a letter sanctioning the sentiments expressed in Mr. Webster's 7th of March speech.—Boston Post.

We believe this is all true. Hon. Jared Perkins was a Methodist clergyman, and a few years ago preached in this place; he was then, and we presume has ever since remained, decidedly "anti-slavery" in his views and action. The whigs did help send him to Congress; and probably the Atlas co-operated.

Now let us look at Vermont, of which the Post says

The democracy of Vermont have done themselves high honor in the making of their governor. They had representatives in their legislature who were too honest to be bribed—too stern to be intimidated. They adhered to their principles in ballot upon ballot. No bargain was made, no offices were bestowed, no treason was incurred. The disgraceful course of Massachusetts was not followed in Vermont. And the democracy of the country can congratulate them on their success without ministering to the pestilence of free soilism.

On Friday on the sixth ballot, J. P. Kidder, the democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, was elected by two majority; and John A. Page, of Montpelier, democrat, was chosen State treasurer.

There was no bargain, no coalition, no compromise; no, no, no. Only democrats enough voted for a freesoiler to elect him Speaker of the House, in the first place, before any thing else could be done. Next by a unanimous vote, a whig clerk was chosen; and lastly, a democratic governor, lieutenant governor and treasurer.

No one party has, or has had, a majority.—Every election has been made by a union of some sort.

We hope the reader will take particular notice that there is no coalition in all this; though for ourselves we cannot see what great harm there is in a coalition, any more than in any other form of political action.

For the Chronicle.

TO THE HONEST MEN OF MASSACHUSETTS.—For once, follow the example of New Hampshire, and reject your proposed Constitution. The editors of the Chronicle will allow a native of Massachusetts to say a few words of his mother State, and express his own opinions of the Old Commonwealth, which has been a model State, an exampler of other States. The writer believes that the people of his native State, have been for more than a quarter of a century, and are now, in the enjoyment of privileges and social comforts as great as ever fell to the lot of any people or nation; that the sun does not shine on a more prosperous and intelligent people; and that these great blessings were enjoyed under, and in a measure produced by, the Constitutions of 1780 and 1820, which were made by the wise, "solid" and sober men of the State. These blessed truths, these noble facts, should teach the sons of Massachusetts to exercise caution, and prevent them from overturning the foundations of its glory by the mere strife of parties for ascendency. We, in this State, required a few simple alterations in our Constitution, and the people called a Convention to do the work; but unworthy intrigues crept into the Convention to aid selfish views, and shape the organic laws to aid political adventurers. This was not the work the people sent the delegates to perform; they sent them to make a Constitution for the whole people; and so disappointed and dissatisfied were the people with the altered constitution, that they rejected every provision of it. So indignant indeed were they, and so suspicious of any change after this experience, that on a second trial of three provisions, only one of them was accepted, and a vast majority of the voters adhered to the old instrument as it was; setting, in our view, a worthy example to Massachusetts in like circumstances. BAY STATE.

The theater at Osacca is of considerable size, and bears a strong resemblance to similar structures in Europe. The costume and decorations are elegant. The subjects for the plays are generally taken from Japanese history and mythology; a few, however, represent fictitious love adventures, and a few are didactic. Revenge and dauntless courage are represented as the highest virtues; and scenes of the most horrid torture are frequently represented upon the stage. Unity of time and place are entirely unknown. One play often includes the birth, life and death of the hero, and finishes with his translation to heaven, if he be a demi-god.—More than two persons never appear at once on the stage. The highest merit in an actor is to appear in a number of characters in one piece. One of the most singular features of the Japanese theaters, is the order in which three or four long pieces are given in one day: the first acts of all the pieces being performed, and then the second acts, and so on through.

GIBRALTAR.—A steam tug boat is regularly stationed at the rock for the purpose of towing vessels through.—This will be a great convenience, as vessels are often detained at the Straits, by adverse winds.

MORALS OF PORTLAND.—The "State of Maine" of Monday, after publishing the document in answer to Mr. Neal's statement, says:

Very many who have signed this paper, have been and are still the most decided opponents of the law. They still entertain the same belief, as we are informed, but they are of opinion that the statement of Mr. Neal was an exaggerated one. This is all that the certificate amounts to. They do not in terms or by implication even, favor the liquor law. They desire, however, that the fair fame of our city should not be injured by a belief that drunkenness is on the increase.

Exactly: the paper means what it says; it kills Mr. Neal's statement.

The value of this testimony in opposition to the statements of Mr. Neal and of the Rev. Mr. O'Donnell depends upon the means of knowledge which the parties signing this paper possess. In our estimation, the knowledge which the Rev. Mr. O'Donnell possesses on this subject is ten fold more than that of all these parties together, the Rev. Mr. Hadley included in the number.

Yes; of the Irish, to which Mr. O'Donnell expressly confines his statements.

Portland, we believe, is the most temperate place of its size in the country, not in consequence of the Maine law, but in spite of it. Temperance is a sentiment here, founded more in the judgment of the people, than in any reliance upon statutory enactments.

The sentiment, in Portland and elsewhere, made the law.

Notwithstanding the objections to the law, it may be gravely questioned whether it would be wise to repeal it altogether until a proper license system could be perfected.

If so, the law will probably remain for some time to come. Perhaps it comes as near being a finality, as almost any statute that can be named.

BRANDY AND GRAPES.—The Boston Courier has letters from the famous vine-growing and brandy-distilling districts of Cognac and Rochelle, in France, which state that the price of brandy is still advancing, and the vintage is wretched, on account of the blight of the grape, which has been raging in the southern districts, and has completely destroyed most of the grapes in that part of France.

The proprietors, in order not to lose the whole crop, had commenced gathering them in an unripened condition. Made under such unfavorable circumstances, the wine will be of poor quality, and will yield but little brandy when distilled. The prices for new brandy, deliverable the middle of November, have advanced, and it is certain now that the quantity of brandy made from the crops of the present year will be small, and as there is not any stock remaining in the country, whatever may be the demand, prices cannot decline, whilst they may advance considerably.

This is all in favor of the manufacturers of liquor in this country. Prices will be high—our chevaliers d'industrie can make very strong and very red brandy, without being dependent on any body for grapes—and freemen enough can be found to quaff the fiery beverage.

GOOD NEWS FROM A NEWBURYPORT SHIP.—Five weeks ago Lloyd's List reported the ship North Atlantic, Cook, of Newburyport, to have been spoken at sea, much out of her course, and with the loss of her captain.—News of her safe arrival at Melbourne, July 19th, has just been received in Boston. This will be joyful news to her owners, and to the family and friends of Captain Cook.—Boston Transcript.

By this, we suppose we are to understand that Lloyd's report was all error, and that Capt. Cook is alive and well. But the "paper don't say" so.

HEAVY MARINE LOSSES.—The marine losses have been very heavy during the past week, says the Boston Transcript:

Upon the barque Francis of Marblehead, burnt at Constrandt, we hear of $82,000 insurance. The ship President was valued at $60,000. She is insured for $50,000. The owners had a policy for $10,000 upon the freight list. The ship William Sturgis, was insured for $35,000. The ship Lapland was insured for $48,500. The losses foot up at a sum which exceeds a quarter of a million of dollars.

IN "AGONY."—The editor of the Lowell Christian Era says he is in agony to know what "Young America" means. To this the Lowell Herald replies:

We think we can relieve him. "Young America" embodies a character like that of the boy who wouldn't turn out for the stone that lay in the road—and so broke his wagon.

CHINCHA ISLANDS.—From Peru we learn that, in reference to the affair at Chincha Islands, Mr. Clay, our representative at Lima, had demanded the dismissal of the commander of the guardship, and $15,000 damages.—With the former part of the request the Peruvian government complied, and they offered $10,000, which was refused, and the whole matter referred to the department at Washington. The Bogota brings a special messenger of the Peruvian government with despatches for the Peravian minister in the United States.

We find the above in the Boston Post, and the same thing for substance in other papers. In the Post we also find the following paragraph, rather contradicting the above. We shall see which is right, sometime.

Capt. McCerran is still at Callao, limping about. The government has offered him $20,000 for his part and $60,000 for the U.S. government; but McCerran refuses to receive the amount.

Several weeks ago an old man named Nolan drew $400 from the Belfast Bank, and started for Bangor to place it in the Veazie Bank, where somebody told him it would draw interest; since then he has not been heard of.

LOCAL.

MONTHLY LECTURE.—Rev. Dr. Peabody's second monthly lecture, at the Stone Church on Sunday evening, was attended by a good congregation, of all sects and opinions.

The text was, "The promise is unto you and your children." The sermon commenced with a brief review of Rev. Edward Beecher's new book, the Conflict of the Ages. Dr. Peabody prized the book highly as a complete refutation of the Augustinian or Calvinistic scheme, but gave no countenance to Mr. Beecher's theory of our coming into this world polluted with the guilt, and suffering for the sins, of some previous existence, in an imagined, but unknown or unremembered world.

The preacher then reaffirmed his postulate, which he laid down in his first lecture, that the moral character of the present generation is the Aggregate of the Ancestral Influences of all former generations. This position he explained and fortified, with his usual earnestness and ingenuity; quoting, as a scriptural support, several verses from the fifth chapter of Romans, and particularly the last four verses, maintaining that as the reign of sin through Adam and his progeny was gradual and successive, and cumulative, so the reign of righteousness through Christ will also be successive and progressive.

He also quoted the language of the second commandment, "visiting the iniquities of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generations of them that hate me, and showing mercy unto thousands [of generations] of those that love me, and keep my commandments." In this manner, he suggested, might the apostle's saying be fulfilled, that where sin abounded, grace might much more abound.

He closed with a poetic quotation embodying the latter thought, and by a brief and simple exhortation to consider what sort of persons we ought to be, in all holy conversation and godliness.

Case 168, Levi B. Tucker v. Daniel S. Peaslee—an action on a promissory note—is now on trial. Marston for Plff, Stickney and Tuck for Deft.

☞ We are informed that a very rare and critical operation in surgery was performed in this city a few days ago by Dr. Folsom, with the assistance of Drs. Oliver and Curtis. The case was one of Strangulated Hernia; and the operation was one entirely successful, and reflects much credit upon the skill of our townsmen. The patient is nearly well.

BOWDOIN COLLEGE.—We are indebted to our young friend Edward A. Rand, of this city, for the Catalogue of Bowdoin College, at Brunswick, Me., just issued. It is finely printed, and has a handsome engraving of the College buildings. The total number of students this term, is 239—Medical 63, Senior Sophisters 37, Junior Sophisters 43, Sophomores 42, Freshmen 54. E. A. Rand and J. J. Laighton are all who hail from Portsmouth. They are talented, industrious, and promising scholars; have entered college with honor, and we doubt not will prove ornaments to their instructors and society. Success to them.

☞ We are indebted to Mr. Charles E. Rand, formerly of this city, for files of San Francisco papers up to the sailing of the last steamer.

FIRES IN NEW YORK.—On Sunday morning a great store, corner of Nassau and Fulton streets, occupied by T. L. Rogers, for clothing; T. W. Strong, Bookseller; a jewelry store, and several printing offices; was entirely destroyed by fire; and two or three firemen were killed by the falling of some great safes from the upper story. Losses $341,000: insurance $107,000.

In the afternoon the Grain store houses at the Atlantic Docks, occupied by T. Shortland & Sons, were burnt, together with 70,000 or 80,000 bushels of Wheat and Corn. The total loss is about $90,000.

THE FIRE IN PROVIDENCE.—The Providence papers give full accounts of the recent destructive fire in that city, which has never been equaled since the great conflagration of January 22, 1801. The whole loss is estimated at $240,000, of which 130,000 is insured.

HORSE WORSHIP IN KENTUCKY.—The Louisville Courier, in its notes of the recent State Fair, at which 20,000 persons were present on the last day, speaks thus of the celebrated stallion Grey Eagle:

Grey Eagle, the great Kentucky blood horse, and the most magnificent animal ever seen, won the universal admiration of every body. When he ran his famous career on the turf fourteen years ago, he was a dark dapple grey, now he is almost milk white. The appearance of Grey Eagle in the ring created the utmost excitement and furore among the thousands of spectators, and when the premium was awarded to him over all competitors, the act was greeted by a universal shout of approbation.

At the noon recess, in accordance with the desire of the ten thousand ladies present, the officers had Grey Eagle re-conducted into the exhibition ring. As he appeared at the entrance, the band struck up "See the Conquering Hero Comes," while a myriad of voices made the welkin resound with their acclamations. He was triumphantly led over the space, and exhibited all the mettle of a yearling in his gamesome antics. While his groom was conducting the veteran around, bouquet after bouquet was cast at him from the amphitheatre, tributes from fair beings to the matchless beauty of this noble steed. Altogether it was one of the most exciting scenes we have ever witnessed.

LOSS OF SCHOONER PLEDGE, OF PROVINCETOWN, AND SEVERAL LIVES.—Capt Chapman, his brother and two men, belonging to the fishing schooner Pledge, of Provinceton, which was run down and sunk on Grand Banks, by Hamburg ship Donan, have arrived in Boston. They were the only survivors of the crew; the remainder, five in number, were lost with the vessel. The names of those drowned were Patrick Murphy, aged 40; Cornelius Mahony, 40; Bartlett O'Brien, 23; Neal McKennon, 23; and Joseph Silva, 18—none of whom were Americans. They were in the cabin when the vessel went down.—The Hamburg ship took off the survivors, who after being transferred several times to different inward bound vessels, finally reached Townsend Me., where they secured passage in the steamer Eastern city. The Pledge was insured at the Union office, Provincetown, for $1700

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The Express train upon the Hudson River Railroad going west, was thrown off the track on Saturday evening near Yonkers, owing to the negligence of a switch tender. The train consisted of 13 passenger cars, one baggage car and two powerful locomotives, and contained 700 passengers. When the accident occurred, the train was going at the rate of 35 or 40 miles an hour. The engineers discovered the misplaced switch a short distance ahead, and immediately reversed their engines and leaped off, followed by the firemen.

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ———.

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully,
Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK,
Commissioner of Patents."

FOUR DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE ARCTIC.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The United States steamship Arctic from Liverpool 19th inst., arrived at this port about four o'clock this P. M., bringing 200 passengers.

Constantinople was tranquil on the 5th inst. Part of the Russian army was going into winter quarters at Bucharist.

PARIS, Oct. 18th.—The Bourse opened dull, closing with a rise in prices.

It is reported that Prussia and Austria will both remain neutral and France quiet. The French and English diplomatists therefore consider that war, being confined to the Turkish frontier, will not spread in Europe.

The first conflict it is supposed will ensue on the Black sea, or Georgia.

The Circassians under Schanryall, had been defeated by the Russians on the 27th, and had retreated to the mountains. There had been great loss on both sides.

Russian subjects in Turkey had been placed under Austrian Protection.

Austria and Prussia had recalled their subjects from Turkish service.

The Japan expedition had returned from Jeddo, Aug. 17. Commodore Perry had an interview with two imperial princes and delivered the president's letter. The Americans and Japanese parted with mutual expressions of good will and interchange of civilities, present, &c.

The bark Henry Harbeck foundered at sea Sept. 13th. The crew were rescued from a raft by a Spanish steamer.

The strike in Lancashire had become serious. All the mills had been closed, and 25,000 persons thrown out of employment.

The Turkish declaration of war had been published in full. It is temperate and high spirited. It does not lay an embargo on Russian ships, and fully protects all the rights of commerce. When the Czar of Russia heard that Turkey had declared war, he fell into a fury, and swore that he would wage a war of extermination against the Turks.

Omar Pacha had notified the Russian commander to retire from the Principalities before the 25th inst., or he would commence hostilities. Old Gen. Paskeiwitch, of Polish celebrity, had taken the chief command of the Russian army in the Principalities.

On the 5th the combined fleets were observed preparing to advance to Constantinople.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 11th.—Exchange on London 38 7-8 to 39. The demand for shipping is unabated. Freights higher than ever.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.—The Times says that the Turkish manifesto is one of the strongest and most unanswerable state papers issued during the present century.

The Post says that morally Russia is already defeated, and that she will be so materially.

Hostilities on the Danube, and on the shores of the Caspian sea are inevitable.

Gold is 0,48 per cent. dearer in Paris than in London, and 0,65 per cent. dearer in Hamburgh than in London.

A despatch from Vienna of the 17th says, that Gottschakoff has replied to the Turkish summons, that he has no authority either to commence hostilities, to make peace, or to evacuate the principalities; he therefore refused to do one thing or the other.

The Turks will allow neutral flags to sail on the Danube to the 20th instant, and no longer.

Agitation begins to manifest itself in Italy. The quality of the Port wine crop is represented as being good; but the quantity is considerbly under the average. Prices were high.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 18.—On the 15th trade was in a quiet state. By this day an active inquiry again sprang up for wheat and flour, and the full prices of last week were paid, for the latter 6d a 1s per bbl. advance on that day's quotations.

THE WRECK OF AN EMIGRANT SHIP WITH THE LOSS OF 350 LIVES.—By the steamer of Oct. 8th, we had a brief account of the loss on the coast of Ireland, of the emigrant ship Annie Jane, from England for Quebec, with a cargo of railroad iron, and nearly five hundred passengers. The Glasgow Herald gives the particulars of this disaster. After the ship struck an attempt, was made to launch the boats; the life boat was lost, and the other boats were of no use, for they were all fixed down, or secured, or lay bottom up. While the passengers were thus clustered around the boats, the ship was struck by a sea of frightful potency, which swept off one hundred of them. The bottom of the ship was soon beaten out of her, and while thus weakened and dirsupted, another dreadful sea broke on board and literally crushed that part of the deck situated between the mainmast and mizzen mast down upon the berths below, which were occupied by women and children.

They were killed rather than drowned, as was evidenced by the mutilated bodies which were afterwards cast on shore. About one hundred and two persons floated ashore on fragments of the wreck. The number lost is estimated at not less than 350, and some put it as high as 400. Almost all the Cabin passengers perished, including Capt. Munroe of Quebec and his wife.

Only one child was saved. It belonged to a humble Irishwoman, who, with her two children, was about to join her husband in America. She struggled hard to preserve them both, by binding one on her back, and grasping the other in her arms; but, when the ship parted, the latter was dashed into the sea, and the other remained.

At daylight the next morning, the bay was strewed with dead bodies to the number of three hundred, many of them greatly disfigured. Capacious pits were dug close to the lonely shore and the poor sufferers were deposited therein exactly in the state in which they were cast from the wreck. Two only were buried differently, viz: a French Canadian clergyman, and Mr. Bell, the first mate, for whose bodies rough coffins were made from the wreck.

The emigrants were mixed English, Irish, and Scotch. A hundred house carpenters and joiners from Glasgow were of the number—fresh, able young men.

The Cheapest and Best.

THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisement—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

Dr. J. P. Woolley's All-Healing and Strengthening Salve.

THIS salve is a sovereign remedy for lame back, local rheumatism, pain in the side and breast, scalds, burns, freezes, fresh wounds, bruises, sprains, weakness in the joints, crick in the back, old sores, chilblains, swellings, numbness, ague in the face and breast, cracked hands, biles, corns on the feet, and occasional sores of most kinds which the human kind is subject.

This Salve is a rare and valuable combination of warm, stimulant and anodyne ingredients, and will be found far superior to any other article of the kind heretofore discovered for the above complaints. There has never appeared a medicine which possesses the penetrating and healing power in so great a degree, while at the same time it cannot by any possibility produce injurious effects. By its action on the skin it moves all obstructions to the insensible perspiration—excites a healthy circulation of the blood—strengthens and invigorates the nerves—gives elasticity to the joints, and imparts strength to any part of the system which may have been weakened by sedentary habits or disease. The most tyrannical government can exist only so long as the great majority of the people, either from contentment, ignorance or delusion, assent to it, or at least are indifferent to it, and there may be many reasons why the people submit to a bad government rather than incur the risk of a change. Often a change has been made from bad to worse, and no people are so ignorant as not to be aware of this.

In the Roman States, where no doubt political and ecclesiastical tyranny bears upon the people with a harder grip than any other part of the civilized world,—a few weeks ago, in Terni, the Papal Governor was murdered by the indignant people, for having insolently said, "If there is no more flour, the people "should eat straw." He was pulled out of the window and choked with straw.

FLOUR MILLS.—A conical Flouring mill has been invented in England, which is said to be fast coming into use, and makes better Flour, and an increased quantity from the same wheat, over the old flat mills. It is baked into bread, too, with much more facility. The weight of the mill stones, by this invention, is reduced from 14 cwt. to 1 1-2 cwt., and the conical mills, besides turning out better Flour, and more of it, from the same kind of wheat, than the old mills, will manufacture more than twice the quanity of Flour in a given time. While the flat mill is grinding three bushels, the conical mill grinds over eight bushels.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Funnel, &c., for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS, a16 12 and 14 Daniel st.

The "Sagamore."

THIS is the name of a new and beautiful COOKING STOVE, manufactured expressly for the subscriber, of the best quality of castings,—and which he offers to a discriminating public for their approval and favor, believing that an examination of this the latest production of the oldest Stove establishment in the State, will meet the wants of all interested in this important culinary apparatus.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 250,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidence of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Connected in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22*

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as Nature's Known Remedy for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 28, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. S. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.
JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of Dyspepsia.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parent of that fatal disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($00 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.
WILLIAM DEVINES."

NOTES OF JAPAN.

The American Expedition appears to have opened a great many sources for the scanty information we have of Japan. The following we translate from a German newspaper, which probably derives its information from the Dutch. The original article is very long and is entitled the "Hollanders in Japan," but the greater portion being devoted to the ceremony observed by the Japanese officials, is of little interest. This will account for the fragmentary character of what we present here.

All Japanese cities are regularly built, and present a very beautiful appearance, every house having its garden. The houses are only one story; the height, and the number of windows are prescribed by law. The houses are generally of frame, filled in with a kind of a mortar. A peculiar feature about Japanese cities is the care taken to avoid loss by fires. Every house has a separate store-house to receive the valuables in case of conflagration. These store houses are built of wood, but are covered about a foot thick with lime or mud. These fire-proof store-houses are so well contrived that in a great conflagration in which eleven streets were burnt in Nangaski, not one store-house was destroyed.

Conflagrations are frequent in all the Japanese cities; and the houses are re-built with great rapidity. During the sojourn of Doeff, the Hollander, in Jeddo, a great conflagration took place, and in the course of it Itsigoya, a very rich Japanese lost 100,000 pounds of spun silk. This was clear loss, for they have no insurance companies in Japan, but Itsigoya nevertheless sent forty servants to wait on Doeff during the course of the fire. The second day after the fire he had rebuilt his house. Doeff thus describes the great conflagration which he saw:—"About 10 o'clock on the morning of the 22d of April we heard that a fire was raging in the city about two miles distant. We paid no attention to the report, knowing the frequency of conflagrations, but the fire kept getting nearer and nearer, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon it reached our dwellings and we were compelled to fly. We reached the open fields where we found multitudes of the houseless people. We were on a small eminence from which we could overlook the fire, and I have never seen any similar sight. The city appeared to be a sea of flame. The fire was extinguished the next day at noon by a rain. The palaces of thirty-seven princes had been burned, and twelve hundred persons lost their lives. The deaths however, were principally caused by the breaking down of a bridge under the weight of the flying crowd."

Earthquakes are frequent, and are sometimes very destructive. Their frequency is probably the cause that the height of the houses is prescribed by law. Volcanic eruptions occur from time to time. The Japanese historians say, that in the year 1796, an eruption, and the waterspouts caused by it, destroyed thirty-five thousand lives in Simabana and Figo.

The roads are good and very wide, but over the mountains are not passable for wagons. Most of the roads are lined with trees on each side, and kept in a very clean condition. A large number of persons may be seen upon the high ways at all times. Many of these persons are manufacturers of straw shoes for horses and oxen. Straw is the only material used to protect the hoofs of these animals, and many thousands of persons find occupation in making these shoes.

"MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE."—Such was the simple announcement in The Tribune yesterday, of a girl lost. 'A good-looking, rather tall girl, seventeen years of age, dark complexion and dark hair, was lost.' 'She was well dressed, and started to go from her father's house in Spring street, near Broadway, to her brother's, in the same street. And she was lost.' Some stranger who reads that simple announcement, one who has spent a night at one of the three great hotels on the corners of Spring street and Broadway, may wonder that a girl should be lost in such a respectable neighborhood. He does not know that the guests of the biggest of the three hotels look down on one side upon one of the worst gambling hells, and one of the police permitted gambling lottery offices in the city and on the other side still worse premises; houses which the vocabulary of infamous language has no words black enough to describe; houses which are ever open for innocent young girls to enter, from which innocent young girls never return. They are 'lost.' This is not the first girl lost in New York. These are not the first parents who have been deeply afflicted; who have appealed in vain through the press for any information of 'a girl lost.'

We have a little incident to relate of a girl lost. A few years ago No. 000 Church street, was accounted the luckiest house in the street. There are a great many unlucky ones in that street now, and that particular one is estimated the most unlucky of all of them. It should be so. It was in that house, about three years ago, that a girl was lost. For the sake of her parents, brothers and sisters, and large family of relatives, we will not give her true name.—We will call her Julia Montgomery. She was just such a girl as the one described in the 'item' of yesterday. She was tall and handsome, just seventeen, with dark hair and eyes, and well dressed. She lived in one of the river towns, and came down upon one of the barges that float down such a multitude of things produced by farmers, in company with her father and mother, who brought some of their own produce to market. On the same boat were two young men who had been up the river they said, on a sporting excursion. This was true. But they might have added, 'What is sport to us is death to you.' They were gamblers. On the passage they made the acquaintance of Julia, and by their bland manners completely won the confidence of the old folks. When they arrived, they were very anxious that Julia should go home with them and see their sisters. They were not so anxious that her mother should go, but they insisted very hard that she should, because they knew she would not; she had her butter and eggs and chickens to sell, and lots of shopping to do, so Julia went alone. She came back towards night, to tell her mother what nice girls the Miss Camptowns were; and that they wanted she should go with them to the theater, and then, as it would be late, stay all night.—The mother consented, as Mr. Camptown was such a fine young man. After the play they had an oyster supper and wine, and Julia became very much elated. Then they went home, to Mr. Camptown's home, which was no other than that notorious Church street den, and the 'sisters' the most notorious sinners in it. Of course more wine was drank, and Julia became oblivious of what transpired.

She waked to conciousness next morning to find herself—"a girl lost." Almost delirious she flew from the wicked scoundrel at her side to the street door, to find it barred against her. In vain she begged and prayed, and cried to be let out. The soul incarcerated in the infernal regions might as well pray for egress. She finds in both cases only scoffing at the victim's agony. Then she grew wildly furious, and they tied her hands and feet and carried her down into the coal cellar "to let her get over her fit," 'and keep her out of sight till the old woman was out of the way." For three days Camptown watched her father and mother, and then they gave up and went home with heavy hearts, for 'a girl was lost." Yes, she was 'lost.' Then Camptown went back to enjoy the 'country beauty.' She was lost to him also. In some of the pullings down and diggings up in that street, all that remains to earth will make another 'item' to a daily paper. It will be headed "human bones found." The inmates of that house soon left. It was no longer a lucky house. The ghost of that murdered girl walked through every room. One in particular, it never allowed any one to occupy. It is said that that ghost still haunts that house. The old harridan who kept it—well known in that street when that girl was lost—went off to N. Orleans, lost all her property and then was lost herself. Camptown still lives. We saw him a few days ago in the very street where that girl was lost, noticed in the "item" of yesterday. Has he any connection with her loss? Reader, there is a girl lost. Ask where and why? Rum and gambling can answer.—N. Y. Tribune.

CUBA.

The press in the United States is greatly "exercised" at the present time, with the reports about Cuba,—that Great Britain has persuaded Spain to adopt the apprenticeship system in Cuba,—that gradual emancipation is to be commenced there forthwith,—and that Great Britain guarantees the existence of slavery in Cuba for fifty years, and so forth.

We do not know which of the stories to believe. It is impossible to believe them all;—and we rely very little on any of them. Nevertheless we notice a part of them. The Washington Union noticed the gradual emancipation scheme, and seemed to think it was some concern of ours, whether the negroes in Cuba were to be slaves or freemen. We didn't suppose it was, politically or nationally. We knew it was morally. Or rather, perhaps we should say, we have been educated to have a general good will toward freedom everywhere, and a consequent dislike to the very name of bondage.—But a few years ago, when we attempted to manifest some sympathy with bondmen, and to express hopes of gradual emancipation, we were met with a stern and forbidding speech, "You of the North have nothing to do with slavery; we of the South will take care of that ourselves." The Statesmen, the DDs, the LL Ds, and a host of lesser lights all said the same. We stood corrected, and still stand so;—but presto change! (as Magician Potter used to say,) now somebody tells us, that we, the people of the United States, must make ourselves busy with Spanish affairs, and go into fits lest Spain should either steal more negroes from Africa, or else gradually emancipate those whom she has already stolen. Not only so, it is insisted that our New Hampshire President shall not only keep the "hardshells" from battering the softs at home, but shall also do we hardly know what, to keep Caba right side up.

It is rather odd, that we should have so much to do with an agitation in Cuba, when we must not whisper on a similar topic here.

On this subject the Natonal Intelligencer remarks:

The movement disclosed by the Union is certainly of deep interest to this country, especially to our Southern States, and will arrest universal attention. It is calculated to startle, but it should hardly surprise us. When we consider at what immense pecuniary cost England abolished slavery in her West India possessions, that anti-slavery is a great and ever active principle in her Governmental policy, whenever and wherever there is an opportunity for its exercise; when we add to this that slavery has been long extinguished in the large French Island of Hayti, it would have seemed an inevitable event, in the law of progress, that sooner or later slavery would share the same fate in the great contiguous Island of Cuba, containing a population of eight hundred thousand colored, bond and free.

We may regard the knell of slavery in the Antilles, to have been sounded the day that the Parliament of England rashly, unwisely, and unfortunately enacted its extinction in her West India colonies. Circumstances might retard, but nothing could prevent its final consummation through some instrumentality or other. If, as is now stated, the initial steps are taken against slavery in Cuba, backed by the power and influence of England, the event has approached sooner than we expected, and has been accelerated by the buccaneering expeditions fitted out on our shores for the conquest of the island, and the plots still avowedly meditated, and openly encouraged by high public functionaries, for wresting the island from the dominion of Spain.

If, however, the statements of the Union are unsupported by official information, and are mere newspaper speculations and deductions, we should consider it an artful plan to alarm and stimulate the fillibustering elements which now swarm in our seaports, concocting plans for another invasion. But, taking the facts to be authentic and announced in good faith, they present a very grave conjuncture for the decision of our Government."

According to the above views, it is the "manifest destiny" of Cuba to be free: but we are gravely called upon to consider whether we ought not to go to war to resist and postpone that destiny.

A Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Journal of Commerce says:

Our Government have received further information from Havana, corroborating the rumors of arrangement made between England and Spain for the introduction of Africans into Cuba, as apprentices, and for the guaranty by England, of the Spanish dominion over Cuba. The Union confirms the statement, and it is evident from their remarks, that they place entire reliance upon the accounts thus received of this arrangement.

We have advices too, that these measures will be extremely unacceptable, as a whole, to the Cubans, and they will probably rebel against them. Should the measure of abolition be considered in Cuba as one likely to be enforced, it will produce a convulsion in that district, leading to its independence of Spanish dominion.

A writer in the Traveller says:

Can it be that the great "immediate abolitionist" power of all the earth, the British nation, has actually bound itself by treaty, to sustain slavery in Cuba for half a century?—The treaty, we are told, contains "an agreement that slavery shall cease to exist in that island, at the end of fifty years,"—which implies an agreement that it shall not cease to exist there sooner. All doubt of the correctness of the interpretation is precluded by the stipulation that during these fifty years, British ships-of-war shall protect the importation of slaves, under the name of apprentices from Africa. There they are to be called apprentices, and their time of service is to be ten years; but the Washingson Union is correct in considering it as a virtual slavery for life, for, as a general rule, little will be left of them after serving ten years on the sugar plantations of Cuba.

We do not see anything strange here, except the great misnomer of calling Britain an "immediate" abolitionist. She is gradual enough—her emancipation was so in the West Indies; it has been so on her own soil; and altogether too much so in Ireland. She did not emancipate us, her thirteen colonies, till she was obliged to do it.

As to her fifty years guarantee of slavery in Cuba,—if it is true,—she has our own illustrious example; for we, in our much boasted Constitution, guaranteed the Foreign Slave Trade for a term of years, without naming it: and, if we may believe some modern expounders, guaranteed the existence and blessings of slavery itself in perpetuam.

The Traveller remarks, editorially:

If the consideration for this guaranty, on the part of Spain, is to be the abolition of slavery in Cuba, will it not present a strange spectacle to the world, for the United States to assume a tone of menace, and perhaps resort to arms, to compel Spain to maintain slavery in her colony.

We think the nesting at Washington is designed to aid some new fillibuster movement. And while we look forward to a probable extension of our territory, including Cuba, we cannot regard it as a calamity that bondage should cease in that island or elsewhere.

A JUDGE IN A FIX.

An upright judge, one who deliveres his legal opinions according to his honest conceptions of the merits of the case before him, will seldom have a difficulty in deciding as to the law and the evidence involved; but one who allows himself to be influenced in his decisions by his personal biasses and prejudices, will once in a while find himself in a sort of a "fix." For instance:—Judge Grier of the U. S. Circuit Court, now in session in Philadelphia, for the Eastern District of Penn. has rendered himself somewhat notorious for his partizan rancour against the anti-slavery party in that State, and his connection with a recent matter brought before the court, in respect to a fugitive slave, has been published far and wide, not much to the credit of the position he holds as judge. He has now before him a case which involves him in some difficulty as to which way he shall decide, so as not to disturb his personal feelings in any way.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe has brought suit against F. W. Thomas, editor of the German Free Press, in Philadelphia, to restrain him from publishing "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in the columns of that paper. If Judge Grier decides in favor of Mrs. Stowe, he does her a pleasure, as well as allow a right in law; if he decides against her, he assents to the publishing of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," still more widely. What will he do? ***

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for November, 1853, contains a richly and beautifully illustrated article, by Thomas Ewbank, entitled, A Visit to the Land of the Cocoa and the Palm, viz. Brazil, and especially Rio; which is highly interesting and instructive.

Another valuable article stands next on Sugar, and the Sugar Region of Louisiana, by T. B. Thorne.—Then comes a short piece on His Shooting. And then a chapter of the everlasting book of Saint Napoleon Bonaparte, written by his admirer and devotee, John S. C. Abbott, embellished by several engravings descriptive of his divorce from Josephine and his subsequent marriage. We have not read this chapter: it makes an honest man feel sad to look at the pictures.

History and Incidents of the Plague in New Orleans,—and a dozen other articles, complete the number, which is for sale in Boston by Fetridge & Co., and in this city by J. H. Foster.

☞ Lovers of wit and humor, if they don't care who's hit, may read in the Knickerbocker, for November, "In Search of a Place."—Those of another vein, may read "Harpings on Hades." Lovers of Literature, in almost any department, can find something to their taste in its varied contents.

COLLECTOR BRONSON.—New York, Oct. 31.—A meeting of the merchants of this city was held to-day, to consider the question of the removal of Collector Bronson. G. B. Lamar, Esq., was chosen chairman. A set of resolutions denouncing the removal was passed. Several gentlemen were called upon for speeches, but none were made, and the meeting adjourned sine die. The meeting was very fully attended.

We do not attach any great political importance to this movement. If merchants, as a class, irrespective of party, had any considerable influence in appointing Custom House officers, there would be but few changes among them; and those for causes very unlike those which ousted Collector Bronson.

LOCAL.

Reported for the Chronicle

COURT C. P.—ROCK. CO.—Adj. Term.
HON. GEO. Y. SAWYER of Nashua, Presiding Justice.
PORTSMOUTH, NOV. 1.

The entire day's sitting was occupied with Case 168, Tucker vs. Peaslee, which was commenced on Monday.

☞ We are informed that the North Parish in this city, at a meeting on Monday evening, voted unanimously to build a new meeting house, and appointed the requisite committees to carry their vote into operation.

The present house was built in 1712, and was remodeled in 1837, at a cost of about $5000

LIBERALITY.—Mr. Ogden, the principal owner of the new ship Dreadnought, headed a subscription for the family of the carpenter who was accidentally drowned the day after the launch of that ship at Newburyport, with the sum of $200.

A WIFE SHOT BY HER HUSBAND.—From the Exeter News Letter we learn that a man by the name of Jonathan Tibbets, of Kensington, shot his wife and infant child on Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Thirteen shots were lodged in the head of his wife, and five shots in the child. It is not known as yet whether they will recover. The wretch is now lodged in Exeter jail.

From other sources we learn that the wife had just been confined, and that the husband was intoxicated.

SONS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.—Suitable preparations are made for the festival of the Sons of New Hampshire in Boston, this day. Fitchburg Hall is the place of meeting, and abounds in decorations, among which are the flags of the Sons of Portsmouth, which were borne on their late visit at "home." They have never before been publicly seen in Boston.

FATAL RAILOAD ACCIDENT—A WARNING TO BOYS.—Tuesday evening, at the Dover Depot of the Cochecho Railroad, a boy, named Weeks, eleven years of age, was run over by the train and both his legs crushed, so that he died in a few moments. He had been in the habit, with other boys, of jumping upon the train as it started and riding a short distance, and he had often been warned and driven off. Last night, as he jumped on, the train suddenly backed and threw him off under the wheels. His parents reside in Dover. This should be a warning to boys, for there are many Depots besides Dover where they hazard their lives by jumping on and off from the cars while in motion.

CAPT. EBEN. KNIGHT.—We see by the following extract from a California paper, that Capt. Knight, formerly of this city, is returning from his agency in California, to reside in New York:

By the mail steamer which leaves to-morrow for Panama, this gentleman departs for the east. He has dissolved the connection with the P. M. Co., we understand, and we learn intends to reside permanently in New York. By his departure, this community will not only lose an active energetic, public-spirited, and large-minded man, but the Company for which he has so long and successfully acted as agent will lose a man whose equal, in all the qualifications required for that position, can hardly be found. When we do find them, our conceptions of the intrinsic dignity and worth of human nature, becomes enlarged and we take a new hold on our once strong, but now lapsing faith in its essential nobility. As we go to press, we learn that Capt. Knight is severely indisposed; consequently he will not leave in the steamer to-morrow, as was his intention.

A RASCALLY TRANSACTION.—Several years since a widow lady left her home in one of the Provinces, for Portland. Soon after her arrival there, she became acquainted with a fellow named Johnson, who appeared to possess some show of respectability. After a somewhat lengthy acquaintance, a proposal was made from Johnson to the lady, and she no doubt imagining it would better her situation, and enable her better to bring up her children, accepted, and they were married. After they had been married some three years, she having meanwhile two children, Johnson left Portland for Bath, where he worked until fall, in a ship yard. His wife then received a letter from him, containing a small sum of money, and saying that he was going into one of the Western States for the winter, cutting ship timber, and could not visit her before going, as the vessel sailed the very day which he wrote. The winter passed, and Johnson's wife heard nothing from him. She attributed this to his being in the woods, and unable to get a letter to any post office.

Johnson, it seems, did not go into the woods; he went South and located himself in Baltimore, where he made the acquaintance of a young lady of respectable parents, but we should judge of no very great discernment, and made an offer of marriage to her. Her parents would not consent to the union of their daughter with a stranger, of whom they knew nothing; but receiving a hint that Johnson had a wife in Portland, the young lady's father addressed a letter to Messrs. Johnson, and received an answer, with a description of the fellow, just as he had perfected his arrangements to elope with the girl. The affair was of course broken up, and Johnson lodged in jail, to await his trial. Mrs. Johnson has been sent for, and will proceed to Baltimore, as a witness in the case.—State of Maine.

If the laws of Maryland permitted, it would be a good thing to sell this fellow to some "Legree" or other.

The Boston Chronicle says:—"A scorpion's sting or the bite of a rattlesnake can be cured; but a love for intoxicating liquor, or for that disgusting and noxious weed, tobacco, can never be wholly eradicated. If our young men in the dew of youth and health, could hear the united voice of drunkards, smokers and chewers, they would hear: if you love health, contentment and commendation of friends, never touch intoxicating liquor or tobacco."

An alderman once called on Dr. Francis, when the following dialogue took place:—"Doctor, I have a strong tendency to the gout; what shall I do to arrest it?" "Take a bucket of water and a ton of anthracite three times a week." "How?" "Drink the former, and carry the latter up three pair of stairs."

He that can get everything he wants is not a whit better off than he that never wants anything. The only difference between wealth and contentment, is that one is liable to be stolen and the other isn't. The richest man in the world should be considered him that sleeps the soundest.

IT is no joke to be a New York fireman.—One company has been known to expend in a single year as much as six thousand dollars in entertaining their brethren from other cities.

The best of men are sometimes short. We know a clergyman who isn't above three feet, and a deacon who never has a sixpence about him.—Mail.

A Boston paper states that Mathew Hale Smith is about to connect himself with the Episcopalians of Virginia.

New York, Nov. 1.—Collector Bronson.—Mr. Bronson has vacated his office.—His valedictory, addressed to Mr. Secretary Guthrie, appears in the papers this morning.

City Reform Meeting.—The great municipal reform meeting took place at Metropolitan Hall last evening. The room was densely crowded, and all the proceedings were marked by an uncommon degree of enthusiasm. The venerable Peter Cooper presided. All the municipal nominations were unanimously ratified, but the judiciary ticket, after some discussion, was withdrawn.

Bank Robbery.—The Bank of the State of New York was robbed yesterday of $37,000 in bills of its own issue. A reward of $5000 is offered. Among the bills are seventeen of, the denomination of $1000 and eight of $500

The Burnt Mail.—About six bushels of semi-destroyed, blackened, charred, and partly burnt letters and newspapers—the result of the recent accident by fire on the railroad—have been received at the post office. In the wreck has been observed a draft for £100 from England, payable to Thomas Richardson. There were also portions of the manuscript of a religious work, written by a gentleman in Chicago, directed to a minister in this city. Many of the fragments of letters bear the stamp of the steamer Humboldt, the mail of which for the whole western country was almost totally destroyed.—Cincinnati Commercial, Monday.

More Striking.—The distillers and liquor dealers of Boston and New York, have recently raised the price of liquors. The milkmen, who supply our market, some of them, are endeavoring, without any reason, to get Milk up to six cents a quart. Eatables have all along been up, up to the highest notch—and now, the drinkables are fast following after. If this state of affairs is to continue, how is a man to live? And again, one can hardly afford to die, for our neighbor, a few doors up Chestnut Street, who makes Coffins, tells us that he has got to rise on the price of his wares, "lumber is getting so high."—Biddeford Journal.

Metropolitan Hotel.—The Metropolitan Hotel in New York has recently changed hands at the enormous price of $550,000. The purchaser is A. T. Stewart, whose marble store near the Park is well known. Whether he intends to move his establishment up town when the lease of the Metropolitan to the Messrs. Leland expires, is a matter which that part of the public who attend to other folk's business have not yet ascertained.

Episcopal Restoration.—By the Churchman we learn that Rev. Oliver S. Prescott, who was tried for heresy in Trinity Church, in Boston, has terminated the sentence of suspension in his own case, by signing his name to the paper of conditions dictated by Bishop Eastburn, upon which such termination was made to depend. He is now a presbyter of the Episcopal Church in regular standing.

Miss Cunningham.—The latest news from Tuscany, received in London by telegraph, reports the release of Miss Cunningham from prison. No particulars are given. This Scotch lady, it will be remembered, was arrested and imprisoned by order of the Grand Duke of Tuscany, for the crime of distributing among his devout subjects, the Bible and Pilgrim's Progress. Papists may distribute their books and their libels against Protestantism, in any Protestant country, ad libitum, without let or hindrance; but let a Protestant attempt to do the same in a Popish country and he will find himself in trouble at once.

October.—Authors frequently speak of the Indian summer. The late Dr. James Freeman, in a volume of sermons published in 1812, thus alludes to this season in a note to a sermon on the close of the year:

"The southwest is the pleasantest wind which blows in New England. In the month of October, in particular, after the frosts, which commonly take place at the end of September, it frequently produces two or three weeks of fair weather, in which the air is perfectly transparent, and the clouds, which float in a sky of the purest azure, are adorned with brilliant colors. If at this season a man of an affectionate heart and ardent imagination should visit the tombs of his friends, the southwest breezes, as they breathe though the glowing trees, would seem to him almost to articulate. Though he might not be so rapt in enthusiasm as to fancy that the spirits of his ancestors were whispering in his ear, yet he would at least imagine that he head the small voice of God. This charming season is called the Indian Summer, a name which is derived from the natives, who believe that it is caused by their great and benevolent God, Cantantowwit, or the southwestern God, the God who is superior to all other beings, who sends them every blessing which they enjoy, and to whom the souls of their fathers go, after their decease."

Good Sleighing in October.—The telegraph reports good sleighing at Sand Lake, Rensselaer county, N. Y. The Utica Herald says that there is very tolerable sleighing in the northern part of Oneida county.

We learn from the Green Mountain Herald, published in West Randolph, Vt., that snow fell to the depth of one foot on the high lands in that vicinity on Monday last.

Snow to the depth of four or five inches fell in Northern New Hampshire on Monday night.

The Baltimore Sun of Wednesday morning has the following paragraph:—

Persons who arrived in the city yesterday from western portions of the State and from Pennsylvania, report a depth of snow of some 8 or 9 inches on the ground, and over which they had a merry sleigh ride, some of them eight or ten miles in coming to the cars.—The country people generally—that is, such as were not of the immense throng coming to Baltimore to attend the Agricultural Show and Institute Fair, were getting out their jingling teams for a "good time" among the lads and lasses in sleigh-riding. In the upper part of Montgomery and Frederick counties there was quite a hard crust on the snow. Southward the storm on Monday extended as far as Richmond Va., where snow fell in the afternoon, and fires and overcoats were very necessary.

The Cheapest and Best.

THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of all parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

Dr. J. P. Woolley's All-Healing and Strengthening Salve.

THIS salve is a sovereign remedy for lame back, local rheumatism, pain in the side and breast, scalds, burns, freezes, fresh wounds, bruises, sprains, weakness in the joints, crick in the back, old sores, chilblains, swellings, numbness, ague in the face and breast, cracked hands, blies, corns on the feet, and occasional sores of most kinds which the human kind is subject.

This Salve is a rare and valuable combination of warm, stimulant and anodyne ingredients, and will be found far superior to any other article of the kind heretofore discovered for the above complaints. There has never appeared a medicine which possesses the penetrating and healing power in so great a degree, while at the same time it cannot by any possibility produce injurious effects. By its action on the skin it moves all obstructions to the insensible perspiration—excites a healthy circulation of the blood—strengthens and invigorates the nerves—gives elasticity to the joints, and imparts strength to any part of the system which may have been weakened by sedentary habits or disease. LOLA MONTEZ.—This world-wide celebrity, who sometime since retired to private life, and bought a romantic cottage in the pleasant village of Grass Valley, has concluded to throw off the hymeneal bonds, and made application for that object. It is probable that the graces of the "Spider Dance" will shortly again be vouchsafed to an admiring public; meanwhile the love of excitement may be gratified by another divorce case, rivaling in interest the famed suits in which a Fanny Kemble and Edwin Forrest have figured.

It was stated in the telegraphic summary of the foreign news that the Austrian government had requested the government of Sardinia not to recognize Mr. Forresti, the newly appointed consul to Genoa. We learn from the New York Express that Mr. Forresti is very quietly living in the city of New York, never having left the country since his appointment. The consul, so far from being in Turin or Genoa, has not even received his official exequatur from this government, and of course nothing has been done in the country to which he has been appointed.

Bayard Taylor is still with the Japanese Expedition. He writes:

"I have a mighty hunger to get back to Civilization. I am tired to death of barbarians, especially of the Chinese, with their monstrosities and abominations, and I suppose the Japanese are not much better. What I see of the operation of Japanese laws in Loo Choo, disgusts me."

The amusing performances, says a London paper, of some of the lucky diggers in Australia, who never possessed property before, are scarcely credible. The best story we have heard is of a digger who came down with seven hundred pounds, and paid a man eight shilling a day as his companion to help him spend it.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.
R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot: nd manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&w6m je22

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom
AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.
JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full fatal effectual to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not a quack nostrum, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

FOUR CHAPTERS OF A WHITE LIE

CHAPTER I.

"How unfortunate! Mamma writes me that she cannot find her emerald bracelet.—Now I don't dare tell her that I have lost it as you remember I did, returning from Mrs. Lacy's party, It is the last gift of my father, and very valuable. I'm sure I don't know what to do." And Lena Atley threw the letter impatiently down.

"It's well you are here in New York, replied her queenly cousin, shaking the heavy curls from her shoulders, as she looked up unwillingly from her book—"what does aunt say?"

"She wishes to know if by mistake I could have brought it on, or if I remember when I last saw it, and where?

"Easily answered little simpleton. Just tell, in a general way, that you wonder at her for thinking you so careless as to bring it on here, and say that before you went to the party, you saw it fastened to the toilet cushion in her room—you know you dressed there."

"But won't that be a falsehood, almost?" urged Lena, timidly.

"A fiddle-stick, you little puritan; where's the lie? You havn't brought it to New York, have you? You did see it on your mother's toilet table, didn't you? You must learn to distinguish between a prudent way of getting over a matter, and a sheer falsehood, you little country bit of perfection."

Lena seemed satisfied—she could not brook the sneer of her beautiful cousin—nor could she bear the term puritanical, which her fashionable New York relatives styled her acts of conscience. The letter was written, sealed, and sent; but that night, in the midst of splendid throngs, Lena's heart beat with shame for the deed at which conscience rebelled.

CHAPTER II.

"Mary, come here; I want to see you alone a moment; and Mrs. Atley entered her dressing room followed by her handsome, innocent looking little chambermaid.

"Mary, I have lost my emerald bracelet," she said firmly, when she had seated herself.—"I want to know if you remember seeing it?" Mary turned pale; she was extremely timid, and the thought she might be even suspected, frightened her exceedingly.

When she answered her voice trembled,—"Indeed, ma'am, I don't think I've seen it at all."

"But, Mary," and her voice grew sterner, "Lena writes the last time she saw it, it was in this room, on last Wednesday week. That night I left you here alone. I am positive that no one but yourself has since been in. I missed it that night—tell me if you have taken it—find it—return it to me, and I will forgive you."

"Oh! Mrs. Atley, indeed I don't know anything about it," exclaimed the girl, beginning to wring her hands with a look of terror; I never was a thief—my mother will tell you that. She brought me up to the Sunday school and good things. I'd sooner spill my heart's blood than take it."

"Hush. Mary, protestations will do no good your looks are guilty: the bracelet could'nt have gone without hands—reflect a moment. The best of girls give way sometimes to temptation. You said first you did'nt think you had seen it."

Oh! now indeed I remember. It seems as if Miss Lena had it; repeated the girl, trembling so she could hardly stand upright. "I do think—I believe I saw it on her arm; yes, I am sure Miss Lena must have taken it to wear to the party."

"That is the coolest impudence I have heard yet," exclaimed Mrs. Atley, her lips quivering with passion; "I might have forgiven you had you been candid and told the truth. But the charge you make against my daughter! I am astonished! confounded at your duplicity. No honest girl would blush and stammer, and then turn pale, or turn her guilt upon another. I shall dismiss you if you do not restore the bracelet. I heard you speak of it, I saw you look at it that evening, but the thought never entered my mind that you would steal. If I do not get that bracelet soon, very soon, I shall write to Geo. Harmon, and do you think he will marry you when he learns that you have been suspected as a thief? You may take till to-morrow to restore me the property—you know I do as I say."

With a cheek as white as any corpse, and a wild light in her glazed eyes, Mary tottered from the room, felt her way along the entry, (for darkness seemed to have fallen upon her) up the stairs, into her own little chamber. There falling headlong on the floor, she laid in a silent, bitter agony. Her spirit was almost broken. Where now were all her happy dreams? Dashed, like a temple by some wind, their ruins choked up her heart. The long sunny road was darkened. The little cottage with its honeysuckles, its garden, its fruit trees, struck by pitiless lightning. The priest and the altar, the manly form of William, with his honest dark eyes, shut from her guileless thought by the cloud of doubt—of horrid accusation. Visions of officers, and jails, and witnesses, and disgrace, floated before her.

For a long time she laid there; but at length, slowly rising, her brain beating with a dull, heavy throb, she] clasped her hands, and broke into the wildest grief.

"I'll never go home—it'll kill mother! The little children shall never think they have had a thief for a sister; and as for William—God help me! we were going to be married so soon—and I was so happy; but I can't meet his eye now—I cant be his wife now; I can't prove any thing—I was in the dressing room; I did ask Miss Lena what did the pretty thing cost, and when she said five hundred dollars, I did say, "O how nice it would]be to have all that money." O, I'm ruined—I'm ruined! Mother, did I leave home for this?

Away, in the dark night, has that poor girl gone, the burden of suspicion crushing her life out. On, on she hurries—she is so fearful of the dark—she who had nursed a hundred idle superstitions of ghosts and faires. Night, with its cloudy arms welcomes her now, and covers her innocent shame from the sight of even inanimate things by the wayside.

CHAPTER III.

"Mrs. Lacy's compliments, ma'am, and here is the bracelet Miss Lena wore. She heard she had lost it ma'am, but had no idea it was in her house—but it got dropped between the cushions on the sofa, she expects, and she's very glad she's found it, ma'am, for Miss Lena felt so bad."

"That poor child!" was Mrs. Atley's first exclamation, as she took the parcel, mechanically returning it to her room,and placed it upon her toilet table; "I have almost broken her heart, I have sent her away desparing, I shall never forgive myself."

And had her own daughter deceived her thus?—The thought was death to her fond hopes. She threw the bundle on her dressing table, and sat down overwhelmed with distress. Her first thought was to write to Lena, her second to inform poor Mary by letter, speedily as possible, and she had just seated herself for the latter purpose, when a hurried knock startled her, and a pale woman stood before her, exclaiming, with startling voice and manner: "Mrs. Atley, where is my child? I heard nothing from her—I came to see if she was sick, and the servants tell me that she gone—gone where? Tell me, or I shall go crazy!"

Her distress was fearful, when she had listened to Mrs. Atley's broken words of self-accusation.—"Where shall I go? where shall I find my poor child? Oh, Mrs. Atley, I hold you responsible for the life of my poor girl. And she had such a dread of the jail—and had'nt any courage at all!—Where shall I find my poor child? Oh, Mary, Mary, where are you this hour?"

It is a fearful thing to charge the innocent unjustly—to listen not to the prayers of the helpless—to judge with harshness those who have none to plead their cause.

CHAPTER IV.

"Why Lena, you look like a ghost. An hour ago your cheeks were as red as roses. What is the matter, my petite cousin?"

Lena said nothing; and her face assumed a deadlier hue as she pointed to a single paragraph.

"I have found the bracelet; but I fear its loss, and your deception, has caused the death of Mary Gree. Nobody knows where she is; we have been searching for two days; and have come to the conclusion that she has destroyed her life through fear and too great sensitiveness. My child, what an awful lesson is this?"

The evil counsellor kept silence. She dared not reply when charged with tempting her to wear the bracelet and then to cover her fault. In an hour Lena was ready and on her way home. Early in the morning she was driving rapidly through the town adjacent to her own. Her path lay through a thick woods. The sun shone red and warm on the wayside flowers. The birds sang as if they were singing the first jubilee song of creation. Everything seemed happy and holy but that young heart.

She had reached within a mile of her mother's house, when a haggard face passed close by the carriage. She knew it. It was poor Mary's lover; and a deathly faintness dimmed her vision as, on looking back she saw him crouching forward and]beating his forehead, as if in great agony and utter despair.

Other voices was heard, and the tramp of many feet. And they bore near the carriage, that slackened in speed, as the mournful group passed by with a dead body. It was poor Mary: she had perished in the woods, a victim to angry suspicion, and a "harmless white lie."

THURSDAY, NOV. 3, 1853.

MESHECH WEARE.

A heavy block of hewn granite was drawn through our streets on Wednesday morning by six stout oxen, on the way from Mr. Allen Treat's Stone Yard, to Hampton Falls, where it is to form the base of the monument to be reared to the memory of Meshech Weare.

Many of our readers know very well who Meshech Weare was; but there are also not a few who do not. For the benefit of the latter class we give the following brief sketch of him, condensed from Belknap and Farmer.

Meshech Weare was the first President of the Colony and State of New Hampshire, and held his office through the whole of the Revolutionary War.

The revolution dislocated the spine of the old royal government here, paralyzing it most effectually. Yet the people must be governed somehow, and therefore they, being great lovers of law and order, set up a new governmental skeleton of their own, into which liberty and energy speedily breathed a living soul, and at the same time gave it flesh and sinew, form and comeliness.

Every body must have its head; and the head of this new body was Meshech Weare, at once wise in council and prompt in action. The new government was got up in a hurry, and very naturally, in its constitution there were some material defects. One was the want of an executive form of government.—To remedy this, the two houses, during their session, performed executive as well as legislative duty; and at every adjournment appointed a committee of safety, to sit in the recess, with the same powers, as had been given in the preceding year, by the convention. The number of this committee varied from six to sixteen. The president of the council was also president of this executive committee. The person chosen to fill this chair was an old, tried, faithful servant of the public, the honorable Meshech Weare, Esquire, who was also appointed chief justice of the superior court. So great was the confidence of the people in this gentleman, that they scrupled not to invest him, at the same time, with the highest offices, legislative, executive, and judicial; in which he was continued by annual elections during the whole war.

The family of Weares was an early one in New England, although not among the earliest. Peter Weare, probably the first ancestor of the President who came hither, died 12th of October, 1653, at Newbury, Massachusetts, in which place he had resided some time. His son, Nathaniel Weare, resided in that place several years, and afterwards removed to Hampton.

Peter Weare, the son of Nathaniel, was born at Newbury, 15th November, 1660, and was appointed a counsellor of New Hampshire in 1698. The father of the President was Nathaniel Weare, who was probably son of Peter Weare, the counsellor. He had four sons and eight daughters. Meshech Weare was the youngest of the sons, and was born at what was then Hampton, in 1714. He graduated at Harvard college, then under President Wadsworth, in the year 1735, and devoted some time to theological studies, which he relinquished for the calls of civil and political life. He was chosen speaker of the House of Representatives in 1752; and in 1754 was appointed a commissioner to the congress at Albany, and was afterwards one of the justices of the superior court of New Hampshire. In 1776 he was chosen president of the state under the new constitution, adopted that year to continue during the war, and was annually elected to the same office during the contest with Great Britain. He was also appointed to the office of chief justice in 1777, which he held at the same time he sustained the office of chief magistrate. In 1784, he was elected the first president under the constitution which was adopted in 1783, and which went into operation the following year; but on account of his declining health, he resigned his office before the expiration of the political year. He enjoyed not only civil honors, but was complimented with those of a literary kind. In 1782, he was elected a fellow of the American academy of arts and sciences, which two years before had gone into operation in Massachusetts, under very favorable auspices. His election was announced to him by the corresponding secretary, Rev. Joseph Willard, the president of Harvard college.

Being worn out with public service and the infirmities of age, President Weare departed this life at his residence at Hampton Falls, on the 25th of January, 1786, having entered on the 73d year of his age.

In speaking of this character, Dr. Belknap, who personally knew him, says, "he was not a person of an original inventive genius, but had a clear discernment, extensive knowledge, accurate judgment, calm temper, a modest deportment, an upright and benevolent heart, and a habit of prudence and diligence in discharging the various duties of public and private life. He did not enrich himself by his public employment, but was one of those good men, 'who dare to love their country and be poor.'"

CHINA AND JAPAN.

These two countries, hitherto so hidden from the view of the outside barbarians, are hereafter to be much more easy of access; we may enlighten them: and they—(let nobody be frightened at the idea)—may enlighten us, or at all events, make us wiser, as we read their books, understand their superstitions, examine their history, and fathom their character.

By the Arctic we learn, overland, that Amoy was still in possession of a branch force of the rebels, who had had a naval fight with the Imperialists, and had come off successfully, though it was said the latter would again make an attack, with more chances of success.

A commercial circular says of other things besides business matters:

In regard to political affairs we have only to report as fully reliable, further indications of the spread of the rebellion, and of the prostration of the power of the Tartars; but there are reports of the fall of Pekin, and as there seems no doubt that large bodies of the revolutionists had passed the Yellow River a long time since, we think it probable that the capital has fallen.

We have great pleasure in advising the return of Commodore Perry from his initiative visit to Yedo, which resulted in the successful fulfillment of that portion of his missioh, leaving its conclusion to a period indicated for his return there about six months hence. In the meantime the forces under his command will be of the greatest service in this country, and their presence in this part of the world is most opportune; it may, indeed, be said that they are doing double duty by the moral effect of their presence, whether they fire a gun or not.

The circular quotes from the North China Herald of July 23d, as follows:

Intelligence reached us yesterday through private channels that Pekin was taken, but whether by the Insurgents or by a rising in the North, we have no particulars.

We have no means of verifying the rumor, and can only give it as such—but it will be recollected that rumors of the taking of Nankin arrived here many weeks before it was possible to verify that fact, and such may probably turn out in the present instance.—We have more reliable information that two large bodies of the insurgents have moved northwards from Nankin, and that but a small force had been left to guard that city, whilst the Imperialists remain inactive, although in large force outside. The fearful state of the country about Shantung, mentioned in the Pekin Gazette of the 21st ult., is very likely to precipitate a rising in the north, if the people have any energy remaining, and are not quite paralyzed by destitution and weakness. Since we wrote the above, we have credible information that the army of the insurgents was in the vicinity of Pekin when the last scouts left; and our next accounts will, in all probability, bring us news of its seige, and possibly its capture.

The Americans in China have requested Commodore Perry to station a ship at Canton or Whampoa. The Mississippi is at present there, the Susquehanna at Macao, and the Saratoga at Shanghae.

☞ We have just received No. 11 and 12 of the beautiful Illustrated Weekly Record of the New York Exhibition of Industry of all Nations, containing statuary, carriages, vases, book cases, chairs, candlesticks, mirrors, and various household utensils and ornaments.

Putnam & Co. publishers, Crystal Palace, New York.

We wish for Double No. 8 and 10 to supply a deficiency.

☞ The New Bedford Standard learns, that a gentleman who recently applied to Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, of Brooklyn, New York, to lecture before the Lyceum in New Bedford, was informed that he had received over seven hundred similar invitations from different literary associations throughout the country, to address them during the lecturing season.

STEAM-TUG AJAX.—Capt. Jackson, of barque Marmion, at Boston, states that on Sunday Cape Cod W. by S. 40 miles, he saw part of a wheel box, an oil can, and other parts of a wreck, apparently belonging to a steamer. There can be no doubt that this wreck stuff was part of the missing steamer Ajax, which is supposed to have foundered in the gale of Oct. 24.

FAT SALARIES.—The Boston School Committee have just made a new tariff of teachers' yearly pay, viz.:

Masters of Normal School	$2400
Sub-Masters of Latin and English High Schools, present incumbent	1800
do do new teachers, first year	1200
Annual Increase	100
Ushers	1500
First year	1000
Grammar Schools, principal masters	1800
Sub-Masters	1200
Ushers	900
Head Assistants	450
Female Assistants	250, 300, 350 and $400

for four years.

A system of annual increase and merited promotion is established throughout.

A case is on trial in the Supreme Court, Providence, for damages resulting from the bite of a dog. The complainant, Lemuel Vinton, was passing through one of the streets of that city, in June last, when a dog, belonging to John A. Littlefield, without any provocation, flew at and bit him. Partial hydrophobia supervened, but the patient recovered.—The damages are laid at $5000.

LOCAL.

Reported for the Chronicle

COURT C. P.—ROCK. CO.—Adj. Term.
HON. GEO. Y. SAWYER of Nashua, Presiding Justice.

PORTSMOUTH, Wednesday, Nov. 2, 1853.

In the case Tucker v. Peaslee, the verdict of the jury was in favor of the plaintiff, for $212.62.

The following sentences were passed:—Henry Hutchinson of Epping, for breaking and entering the store of Prescott & Pike, in the night time, with intent to steal, and for being a second comer, sentenced to 7 years in the State Prison.

Wm. Currier of Exeter, for assaulting an officer,—one day's imprisonment in Co. jail, and $40 fine.

Case 169—Andrew Marshall v. David Demeritt—was taken up for trial. This is an action of trover for a Concord wagon. Defence is that it was purchased by the defendant of an agent of Marshall's. Marston for pliff., McMurphy for deft.

CHIPS, CHIPS.—What shall I do with the chips? said the teamster. With some little ado, and by the aid of a son of Erin, we stowed them away, and then looked about to see who had perpetrated such a deed of kindness as to replenish our stock of kindling stuff with a cord of dry chips. From circumstantial evidence we have come to the conclusion that they were made in a ship-yard; though we will not depose, that they came from the old Boyd place. We make a note of the circumstances, that others may be on their guard;—and if a few other cords should drop into our family wood-house, we should probably make a Note of Admiration.

NARROW ESCAPE.—An Englishman, named Warburton, living in the suburbs of this city, had the sole of his boot cut from his foot, and himself knocked off the track of the Portsmouth & Concord Railroad, on Monday, by the cow-catcher of a train of cars. He did not hear the whistle—but came a great deal too near being cut up. He was not much hurt, as the engineer had checked the speed of the train to save him.

EVENING SCHOOL.—Messrs. Editors:—Will you please ask your Portsmouth readers if they will rummage their book cases and attics and send us any Spelling Books and Readers they may have to dispose of, for the evening school. They may be left at Joseph H. Foster's. Yours, &c., A.

DEATHS IN OCTOBER.—The number of deaths in this city during the month of October, was 11. Males six—aged 1 year, 2, 4, 4, 11, 67, 72. Females five—aged 24, 39, 67, 74, 79.

"BLOWING."—Probably the strangers in our city do not generally know what the sounding of tin horns is all about at this time. Well, it signifies that Pope Night is coming—the 5th of November. The boys will blow till it comes, and when it has come—and if they stop with its departure, 'twill only be "for want of wind." These energetic youngsters make altogether more of a blow-out than Guy Fawkes did.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.—The Institute at Exeter is enjoying a very interesting and encouraging session. Over one hundred ladies and gentlemen have given in their names as members; the highest interest is manifested in the exercises, and a gentleman who has attended on many such occasions, informs us this will be one of the most successful and valuable terms ever held.

NEW CASTLE.—We shall publish the first of the series of articles on this ancient town, to-morrow.

MORE PARTICULARS OF THE KENSINGTON TRAGEDY.—The Newburyport Union says that Tibbetts, while intoxicated, abused his wife and family, when the woman fearing violence fled from the house with the child in her arms. As she was leaving the house he fired a gun at them, from a chamber window, and the shot took effect both upon the mother and the child. The mother was not seriously injured, but the child was wounded fatally in the head. Tibbetts is reported to be a quiet, peacable citizen when sober, and the murder is justly chargeable to rum.

☞ Rev. Hubbard Winslow, formerly pastor of the First Church in Dover, and afterwards of the Bowdoin street church in Boston, but latterly the teacher of a young ladies' school, has taken up his residence in Brooklyn, New York. The latter fact he himself announces in a letter to the Mayor of Boston, resigning his seat in the school committee.

INDIA RUBBER.—The Boston Courier says, The Everlasting Elastic Rubber Cases have got another stretch, having got across the Atlantic. A commission has been issued by Lord Campbell to Messrs. Stevens, Aspinwall, Lawrence and Clifton, for taking testimony in this country to be used in the Court of Exchequer at Westminster, England. Messrs. Webster and Wilcox, distinguished council from London, are in attendance before the Commissioners, now in session, on behalf of the plaintiffs; and Mr. H. F. Durant and Mr. A. F. Cooke of Boston, for the defendants. The amount at issue in the result of this case is said to be a million pounds sterling.

THE PATRIOT ON BURKE.—The N. H. Patriot says of Hon. Edmund Burke:

It is fortunate that a thoroughly corrupt man, under exposure, always becomes desperate, and that his desperation always leads to further exposure. Of this Edmund Burke is a rare example. Mercenary, corrupt, false hearted, treacherous, unprincipled and cowardly, only desperation on his part was needed to furnish a most perfect exhibition of him in all his deformity. And this exhibition of himself he has made in the last two numbers of his "Old Guard." * * * *

To deal with a villain is dangerous only when his true character is unknown. Fortunately there was no lack of knowledge on the part of Gen. Pierce as to Burke's true character. Burke has private letters from Gen. P. written in reply to letters from himself, but they are letters from the publication of which their author has nothing to fear; they contain nothing derogatory to his character as a gentleman or a politician, and their publication, which Burke has so often basely threatened, in connection with his attacks upon the President, will do much to confirm the now very prevalent idea that Burke is a common liar and an uncommon scoundrel.

Yet this same Mr. Burke has been a Representative in Congress, a Commissioner of Patents, and was President of the last Democratic Convention in New Hampshire.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Government this morning received a voluminous despatch from Commodore Perry, giving a detailed account of his visit to Japan. The contents have not yet been made public.

There are indications that a batch of removals at Boston will be announced in the morning, but their names and other particulars of general interest and importance are refused to all papers except the Union.

The Star asserts that James Gordon Bennett's application for the French Mission is on file in the State Department.

Commander Downing will be court martialed on his return to the United States, for aiding in the escape of Commodore Coe, in opposition to the wishes of the Argentine Republic.

Secretary Marcy, on behalf of the President, has written to Commander Ingraham approving of his conduct in the Koszta affair.

FROM MEXICO.—The papers contain the detail of Mexican news received from Vera Cruz up to the 21st ult.

The battle between the Yucatan revolutionists and the Mexican troops continued eight days. A remnant of the revolutionists had fled to the mountains.

The Diario officially announces that money had been sent to London to meet the dividend under the Convention of 1850.

263 robbers, murderers, pickpockets, &c., were sent from Mexico to Vera Cruz under a strong escort.

The Spanish ambassador was still at Vera Cruz. The particulars of his difficulty with the Mexican government had not transpired.

AUSTRALIA.—A private letter from Melbourne, mentions that a Unitarian church is now in process of erection in that place. The writer states that prospects are not very encouraging for new-comers, unless they have sufficient capital to embark in business on their own account. Hundreds of young Americans who were lured there by the delusive hope of making a fortune, are wholly unable to find employment. This is owing in part to the jealousy which the English residents entertain towards them. Many having spent all their resources, have no other covering than the open sky. Some imitate the Eastern fashion of living in tents. The best buildings, which are required to be of stone, do not compare in point of comfort and convenience with those of New England. The excessive depth of the mud every where renders all locomotion unpleasant, while the nights are disturbed by the visits of fleas, which are to be found in great numbers, as well as other unwelcome intruders.—Boston Advertiser.

LOW LIFE IN BOSTON—In the Police Cout in Boston on Tuesday, Patrick Abbott, a lame man, and Mary and Margaret Moriarty, were arraigned on a joint charge of assulting Mrs. Joanna Moriarty, the mother of the girls. It appeared that Mrs. Moriarty has but recently arrived from Irelaud, and that upon reaching Boston she found her daughters keeping what she supposed to be "bad company." Abbot who had for some time past been "waiting" upon the girls, took offence at the old woman's insituations, seized and held her while her daughters assaulted her. Abbot, subsequently, upon finding that Mrs. Moriarty was determined to go to Court with the matter, married one of the girls. This softened the mother's asperity, and the defendants were let off with a fine of one cent and costs.

Mary Sullivan, who was arrested on Monday as a common drunkard, and who attempted to kill her child and hang herself, was sent to Deer Island.

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT.—At the late term in Hillsborough County Court of Common Pleas, as we learn from report in the Manchester Mirror:—

Moses B. Ferson plead nolo contendere to the indictment of an attempt to kill his wife, at Nashua, on the 16th of September, with a knife. He was sentenced to one day's solitary confinement in the State Prison, and ten years to hard labor in the same place.

His wife tried to get a divorce a short time before the affray occurred, and a discussion of the allegations made in the libel led to it.—With a jackknife he struck with all his might at her, hitting her on the jaw, the blow glanced and reached her throat, causing the blood to flow copiously, and throwing her down. He supposed he had killed her and attempted to take his own life, and plunged the knife three times into his own throat. His wounds were much more serious than hers. She has entirely recovered.

ABRAHAM G. THOMPSON'S WILL.—It may be remembered that Mr. Thomson, of N. Y., who died some time in the fall of 1851, left over two hundred thousand dollars to various religious and benevolent institutions, while to his own relatives and friends he left only about $30,000. The heirs at law have been endeavoring ever since the old man's decease to break the will, on the plea that Thompson was deranged, and unfit to make a will at the time the instrument purporting to be his last will and testament was drawn up. There has been one investigation or more already; and now it is undergoing another, before the Surrogate in New York. It has been shown by the heirs that Thompson was a miserly, eccentric old man, who believed in various kinds of humbugging nonsense:—such as, mineral rods— Kydd's treasurers—spirits in the atmosphere and in the moon—and in charms and spells, &c. &c.; and furthermore, that he did various odd things, which were more like the actions of a mad man than a sane one. The case is not yet decided.

A SHORT VISIT.—The Hartford Times says:—"A wealthy bachelor of that city, who had not seen his brother for twenty-five years, who resides in Western Ohio, took the cars last week to visit him. He arrived at his destination about dark, remained at his brother's residence one night, and took the cars next morning early for home.

THE SACRIFICE.—We see it stated that ex-collector Bronson will clear about about $4000 as his share of the penal duties collected during his brief administration. This added to $3000 salary, and ordinary fees, makes $7000 for six months services!

The Cheapest and Best.

THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of all parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth, resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

Dr. J. P. Woolley's All-Healing and Strengthening Salve.

THIS salve is a sovereign remedy for lame back, local rheumatism, pain in the side and breast, scalds, burns, freezes, fresh wounds, bruises, sprains, weakness in the joints, crick in the back, old sores, chilblains, swellings, numbness, ague in the face and breast, cracked hands, biles, corns on the feet, and occasional sores of most kinds which the human kind is subject.

This Salve is a rare and valuable combination of warm, stimulant and anodyne ingredients, and will be found far superior to any other article of the kind heretofore discovered for the above com plaints. There has never appeared a medicine which possesses the penetrating and healing power in so great a degree, while at the same time it cannot by any possibility produce injurious effects. By its action on the skin it moves all obstructions to the insensible perspiration—excites a healthy circulation of the blood—strengthens and invigorates the nerves—gives elasticity to the joints, and imparts strength to any part of the system which may have been weakened by sedentary habits or disease. RAT KILLING.—A match against time came off at Cincinnati on the 21st inst., at Hubbard's rat pit on Western Row, between the bull terrier slut Rose, belonging to officer Rose, of the Police, and the terrier slut Fanny, belonging to Julius Brandt. The Atlas says: "The match was for $50 a side, the dogs to kill fifty rats each, and the one accomplishing the work in shortest time to be considered as the victor. Rose killed her entire number in two minutes and thirty five seconds. Fanny killed thirty rats in six minutes, and gave out, letting the rest go unharmed. Mr. Rose offers a challenge to any dog in the United States to compete with Rose."

EXILED ROYALISTS AND DEMOCRATS.—England is the Asylum alike of kings and red republicans, who are compelled to flee from their country. Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves. Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a little of $50,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot 2nd manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wém je22*

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any characteristic of other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of persons who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high character of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.
JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box.

"(800 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.
WILLIAM DEVINES."

THE ARAB HORSE.

To mention an Arabian courser is to the common mind, to speak of all the excellencies attainable in horseflesh. The geographies, anecdotes of animals, and natural histories, instil into the youthful mind the idea of surpassing excellence, regarding the horses of the Arabs; and, perpetuated and revived in various ways, it is seldom forgotten. But, though the breed of horses most in use in Arabia, are in some points, superior, yet the English horsemen are disposed to contest with them regarding the state of perfection to which the thorough-bred English horse has been brought by scientific crossing and training.

The peculiar trait of the Arab horses is endurance. A race has just been run at Alexandria, between an Arab horse belonging to Hallem Pasha, son of the Viceroy of Egypt, and an English mare. The match came off on the 9th of August, for £350 a side, distance 9 1-2 miles, (4 miles 6 furlongs out and same back again) without stopping. The run out was accomplished in 15 3-4 minutes, and the Arab returned home in 11 1-2 minutes, having performed the distance in 27¼ minutes. The English mare about a mile from home, swerved from the straight road, and the jockey in trying to turn her, upset her into a cane fence; she thus lost the race. The English party engaged therein wish to take it up again, but Hallem Pasha, owner of the Arab horse, refuses to run for less than 14 miles, and for a sum of £1,000 to £10,000; and they therefore address themselves to the sporting world in England, in hopes that some party may think it worth while to try the stamina of the English horse against the Arab on the above terms.

The English mare had already beaten every Arab horse tried against her in short distances up to three miles. But in this last race her backers say there was not sufficient time for training. The Arab horse, who ran against the mare, has constantly been used in travelling with him, coursing gazelles, and has beaten in bottom, all other horses. He is a sorry looking animal, 6 years old, bright chestnut, and without one single point that would catch the eye of a connoisseur. Yet he showed game enough in the race, as he was scarcely ever touched with the whip; and after he came in his rider did not pull up, but galloped on about a mile and a half further, to take the news of his success to his owner, who was ill in bed! This is the horse that Hallem Pasha now offers to run against any thing that can be brought against him for the distance of from 14 to 40 miles, and for a sum of from £1,000 to £10,000. Parties in England are preparing to match him.

A BAD STORY.

It is all bad; part of it very bad. But in common fairness it ought to be given. We think the fishermen should be protected in lawful fishing,—but not in unlawful depredations. The St. John New Brunswicker has the following:

We are happy to find, that owing to the promptness and stern determination of Lieut. Jankins, R. N., commanding H. M. steamer Tender "Rose," two unruly American fishermen have been brought to punishment in Prince Edward Island.

The harbor of Cascumpec is much resorted to by American fishing vessels; at one time this season there were 70 sail there, with crews of 12 to 18 men each. These men being idle in port, ramble over the country in that vicinity, committing all manner of pranks, and sometimes very serious depredations. Their favorite amusements are tearing up bridges, barricading roads, and other trifles of that sort. Last month, two of these worthies entered a farm house, where one of them committed an assault upon a married woman, with intent, &c., while the other assaulted the husband outside. They were tracked to their vessels in Cascumpec harbor, and complaint was made to Lieut. Jenkins, of the Rose, then in port. He at once determined that no vessel should leave the harbor until the men were given up; and they were delivered over to him. Last week, these men were tried before the Supreme Court at St. Eleanor's, when the principal offender, John McPherson, was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment, with hard labor, and the other, Charles Venson, to two months imprisonment.

It is all very well for the Americans to say that we do not prosecute the fisheries on our own shores, but "play dog in the manger" with them. Let it be borne in mind, that when British boats have gone out a short distance from land, and began to take mackerel, they would quickly be "sailed over" by a fleet of Yankee fishing schooners, and driven off the ground. So also if they set out nets, these same schooners would sail over the nets, destroying or carrying them off, by hooking them in the space between the stern post and rudder. Owing to the presence of British cruisers, these outrages have not been so frequent the past season, but the fishermen on the coast have been tired from a long course of oppression and annoyance, and are scarcely yet assured that they can prosecute their own fisheries without molestation. The example made of the two men above will, we hope, have a beneficial effect on others of their class.

HOW TO CHOOSE A DOMESTIC.—Housekeeping is not so full of sunshine and rose-colored bliss as many imagine. It is hardly possible to get along without cooks, scullions and chambermaids; and what with their waste, wittles and impudence, says Aunt Sally, they are plaguy drawbacks on domestic peace and comfort.

Old Peppergrass was the "customer" for discriminating between the useful and the careless. Peppergrass sent word to the Register-office that he wanted a good girl for general house-work. About the time he expected an applicant, he laid a broom down in the yard, near the gate. Presently a girl comes up to the gate, opens it, and strolls up to the house; the broom being immediately in the path, Miss Betsey strides over it. The old man was on the watch, and the first salute the girl got was, "I don't want you.

The girl sloped, and suddenly bullet-headed Nancy appears. Seeing the broom in her way she gives it a kick, and waddles up to the house. "You wont suit me, that's certain, Miss Mopsy!" bawls Peppergrass. She disappeared in a hurry, and finally a third appears; opening the gate, and coming into the yard, she carefully closes the gate behind her and walks up—the broom is still in the path; this she picks up, and carries along to the house, where the deposits it alongside the wood shed.

Before the girl could explain her business there, Peppergrass bawls out, "Yes, yes, come in, you'll suit me. And she did; for that girl lived with Peppergrass seven years, and only quitted him to go to housekeeping on her own hook; and a capital wife she made. Peppergrass was right.

FRIDAY, NOV. 4, 1853.

SONS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The grand festival of the sons of New Hampshire in Boston, came off on Wednesday, and is thus happily described in the Boston Post.

The procession moved promptly at the hour specified, and entered the hall about half past four o'clock, where a sumptuous feast had been spread for about two thousand people. The aggregate of granitular humanity, seated, presented a most gratifying spectacle.

Hon. Marshal P. Wilder presided, with characteristic dignity and urbanity. Rev. Dr. Stowe invoked a blessing upon the feast, at the conclusion of which Rev. Dr. Peabody returned thanks. President Wilder, in a beautiful and impressive speech, welcomed the sons of New Hampshire to the festival, and extended the right hand of fellowship to all. He called upon the party each to grasp the hand of his neighbor and thus form an electric circle of brotherly love, and accelerate its vital current in all the hearts present. He spoke of the position New Hampshire has occupied in the affairs of the land, and the devoted patriotism of her sons. He alluded to the singular fact that in the great national conventions of different parties, five of the candidates were from New Hampshire. Last in his enumeration but first in the race for honors, he said, was Franklin Pierce, the man of the people's choice, the man who now occupies the proudest position in the world. (Cheers.) Mr. Wilder paid an eloquent tribute to distinguished sons of New Hampshire, deceased since their last gathering, concluding with an affectionate sentiment for his native state.

Then followed the regular toasts of the evening, the first of which was—

The President of the United States.

This was received with immense applause. After the cheering had subsided, the president read the following telegraphic despatch just placed in his hand:—

"To the Sons of New Hampshire—The most precious treasures of memory will be brought out with you to-night, and my heart's warmest sympathies will mingle with yours. He who, amid all the changes of fortune and locality, loves his native town, his native county and his native state, can hardly fail to love his whole country, and to revere and uphold with steady devotion this glorious union.

FRANK PIERCE."

This was received with immense enthusiasm, and Hon. Charles H. Peaslee was called upon to respond. He began with an eloquent tribute to the President's ability and worth, predicting for him a triumphant future. He spoke of the services of New Hampshire in war; and said her heroes were remembered at every fireside. He went into a review of names, familiar to every New Hampshire heart, crowning the list with the name of Meshech Weare, the friend of Washington, in whose patriotic services the country found its real strength in revolutionary times, concluding with a reference to a monument to Meshech Weare.

The second regular toast—"New Hampshire"—in the absence of Gov. Martin, was responded to by Hon. John S. Wells, in a patriotic and eloquent speech, eulogistic of New Hampshire patriotism; boasting her early position in revolutionary resistance to Great Britain, and her present influence upon the world, basing that influence upon the church and the school, and the direction of New Hampshire mothers.

A sentiment from the president called up Ex-Governor Kent, of Maine, a native of New Hampshire. His speech was one of the most pleasant of the occasion. It was rich with amusing memories—the school, rural sports, Webster's spelling book, and the ferrule. He spoke gravely of his early reverence for Noah Webster, Jr., Esq., and his profound admiration of the pictures in his spelling book. He alluded to his old earthen inkstand with its wooden stopple, his goose quill and lead plummet, a cross between a broad axe and a tomahawk, used when he first set down among the writers of his day, with a felicity that touched most closely, as was evinced by the rapturous applause that attended his various reminiscences.

Hon. John H. Wilkins responded to a regular toast complimentary to the commonwealth.

The city of Boston was toasted among the regulars, and Mayor Seaver made a capital speech in response thereto, during which, in complimenting the sons of New Hampshire, he said it was impossible for such men to emigrate to a mean city, which neat compliment as Boston was happily received.

Dartmouth College was answered for by Profs. Sanford and Brown, in eloquent speeches, which we have not room to follow. Prof. Sanborn saying that it was the vocation of Dartmouth to raise men, and that the New Hampshire brand was a guaranty of worth.

Rev. Benj. Huntoon, of Marblehead, gave an eloquent tribute to the great preachers of New Hampshire—the Worcesters—whose names are associated with the great moral movements in the world.

Hon. Henry Wilson responded to a regular toast of New England.

The clergy was represented by Rev. A. A. Miner, who made a very pleasing and affecting speech, alluding to the late Hosea Ballou who, he said, had done more than any other man towards liberalizing the theology of New England. He closed with the sentiment, "The theology of our time—if less prim in its gait, it has a no less loving heart."

Further speeches were made by Wm. M. Chandler, from Detroit—who proposed the "health of Lewis Cass, of New Hampshire and Michigan"—Deacon Greele, Horton D. Walker, Esq., mayor of Portsmouth, and others, of the most happy character.

The president, at a late hour, vacated his seat, to Deacon Greele, who made a very amusing speech upon assuming the honors.

A poem was read by Mr. Kent, of New Hampshire, very pleasing in its tone, and, after a further pleasant and profitable interchange of sentiment, the festival adjourned.—It was a time long to be remembered by those who participated in it.

THE ADMINISTRATION.—The Boston Post suggests that the key to the rumors of removals of office holders under President Pierce in Boston, may be found in an article in the Union of the 30th, which breathes sentiments similar to those of Mr. Cushing's letter. The Union says that if any office holder enters into a coalition with free soilers, "he will be instantly, and by that we mean telegraphically treated as an enemy of the administration and of the democratic party, and promptly removed from office."

The Washington correspondent of the New York Courier intimates that if Collector Peaslee is not nimble in removing any coalitionists under him, he will be removed.

Some things we can understand. One of these is, that General Cushing was appointed Judge of a Massachusetts Court by the Coalition State Government, and held that office until he was called into the Cabinet of President Pierce.

Other things we do not understand. Secretary Guthrie lectures Collector Bronson of New York, because he is too hard. Secretary Cushing lectures the Coalition democrats in Massachusetts because they are too soft. The consistency between these two courses of lectures may be quite apparent to those who understand them; but they are a puzzle to us.

To understand them better, we look into the Newburyport Union, published in Mr. Cushing's own city. There we find his letter; and there the editor, himself an antislavery democrat, and a custom house officer of the port of Salem, thus remarks on the letter:

"We give a very important manifesto relating to the connection of the national office holders with the coalition. The letter will speak for itself, and if it would not, we have nothing to say about it. The letter has been pretty generally denounced in the streets as a hoax to make up for the dearth of news; but we have no doubt of its genuineness."

Would have nothing to say about the letter! Why not?

In the same paper, we find the following item, on which we offer no comment.

Some democrats, who are doing all they can to prevent coalition—though every sane man in the world knows that this is the only means by which the whigs can ever be driven from power in Mass.—are mightily pleased that a democratic governor is elected in Vermont, by a union of the free soilers on the same candidate. What should make an act wrong in this state that is so commendable in another?

CONGRESS.—On Monday, Dec. 5, Congress will assemble in the Capitol at Washington. Being a new congress, a Speaker of the House must be chosen; and as there is no Vice-President, we suppose the Senate must also choose its own President.

We have as yet seen no mention of proposed or probable candidates for either office. As the Democratic Party is largely in the majority in both Houses, the successful candidates must belong to it. And as the President belongs to the same party, we ought to expect that he will give us, in his message, a programme of business for the session, which the two houses will speedily and harmoniously carry through.

The programme we do expect: but beyond it, all is uncertainty.

FOR RE-ELECTION.—The Boston Post speaks of the favor with which "renegade democrats" are received by the whigs, and instances James Watson Webb.

"Just so with Berrien of Georgia, Bell and White of Tennessee, Wickliffe of Kentucky, Rives of Virginia, Ingham of Pennsylvania, Branch of North Carolina, and a host of others who deserted "Old Hickory" during his first term. But this did not lessen the hero of New Orleans in the love of the people; it drew them closer to him, and rallied about him the honest hearts of the country, forming an impregnable barrier against all the assaults of traitorons, designing, ambitious aspirants, while the grateful voice of his country bore him triumphantly, a second time, into the presidential chair. So it will be now, the whigs will run the same race again—so will the traitors—and so will the President."

By which we understand, that—as the desertion of all those men drew the people closer round the Hero of New Orleans, and bore him the second time into the big chair—so the desertion of Burke and the Hards will draw voters closer round the Hero of the Mexican War, viz., Gen. Pierce, and elevate him also the second time to the presidency.

SHARP PRACTICE.—The Concord, N. H. Independent Democrat, states that "after full consideration—of the charge of tampering with the Jury, the Court, last week, decided to set the verdict, State vs. Dearborn, aside."

To understand this it is needful to go back a little. Dearborn was charged with shooting from his own premises at some animals, the property of a neighbor. The defence was that he could not have hit them from the place alleged. And the Democrat stated that Col. George, County Solicitor, showed the jurymen, out of Court, in recess, by pointing a blunderbuss out of his window, how it might be done. And now it states that the verdict is set aside, and adds, that "it is due to Col. George, however, to say that he excuses himself on the ground, that Gen. Pierce did the same thing, when he, George, was reading law in his office."

This sounds like a tough story. We don't know whether to believe it or not.

LOCAL.

For the Chronicle.

NEW CASTLE.—No. 1.

Agreeably to a recent suggestion in the Chronicle, should its readers, in anticipation of "articles of historical interest from Newcastle," not unaptly ask, "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?" it may be replied in the spirit of candor, "Come and see."

In pursuance of this we may glance at the subject of learned and eminent men, and education generally, in this ancient town.

While for more than half a century, it is not known that this place has furnished but a single graduate of any College, viz.: G. W. Prescott, Esq., of Dartmouth College, yet, in earlier periods, few places of its size can present a more brilliant constellation than has arisen from this romantic Isle.

Not to mention early residents from Europe or elsewhere, such as Robert Cutt, Esq., brother of President Cutt; Edward Cranfield, Royal Govr. under King James 2d; Judge Walter Barefoote; Hon. Charles Story, Royal Judge of the Court of Admiralty; Hon. Elias Stileman, Counsellor, Secretary of the Province and Commander of Fort William and Mary; also the six former venerable Pastors of the church, five of whom graduated at Harvard and one at Yale College; we may specify, more definitely, a very respectable number of native citizens, who by their talents, learning and labours attained to the highest eminence among the worthies of their day. The following may be mentioned.

Hon. George Jaffrey, born at Newcastle and graduated at Harvard College 1702; a Counsellor in 1716, Treasurer of the Province in 1726, and Chief Justice of the Superior Court until his death in 1749.

Hon. Sampson Sheafe, born 1681; graduated at Harvard College 1702; an eminent Merchant; a Counsellor from 1740, 21 successive years, and died in 1772.

Hon. Theodore Atkinson, born 1697; graduated at Harvard College 1718—an Officer in the Militia and a Naval Officer; Secretary of the Province; a Counsellor and a Delegate to the Congress of the Colonies at Albany 1754; Chief Justice of the Superior Court—distinguished for his high intelligence and brilliant wit; in his will making a bequest of 200 pounds sterling to St. John's Church, the income to be expended for bread, to be distributed of a Sunday, among the poor of the Parish.

Jacob Sheafe Esq., son of the Hon. Sampson Sheafe—born 1715; a Merchant of high reputation and success; a Commissary at the capture of Louisburg; a Representative of Portsmouth for 7 successive years from 1767, and died in 1791.

To the above may be added two sons of Reverend and Major Samuel Moody, both born in Newcastle, about the close of the 17th century, both educated at Harvard College; the one a Magistrate, the other a Physician, each eminent in his profession, and settled with their father at Falmouth, now Portland, Me., who, after being successively a preacher at Newcastle and at the Isles of Shoals, entered the army, was a commander in the Indian Wars, first stationed at Newfoundland and afterwards at Casco, finally settled with his sons in Portland and was regarded as the leader of the infant Colony there, and died in 1729.

Such have been some of the men of learning and eminence among the native citizens of this ancient place—originally the chief Town of the beautiful Laconia. And while the Geographer not inappropriately designates it as "a rough and rocky Island," yet with her younger and prolific sisters—the inland Town's of the Granite State—"the Alma Mater" of the Websters, the Woodburys, Mason, Cass, Pierce and others, she may say in language as truthful as poetic—

"Man is the nobler growth our soil supplies,
And souls are ripened 'neath our northern skies."

To be continued. *

Reported for the Chronicle

COURT C. P.—ROCK. CO.—Adj. Term.
HON. GEO Y SAWYER of Nashua, Presiding Justice.
PORTSMOUTH, NOV. 3.

The Case—Andrew Marshall vs. Daniel Demeritt, was closed by a verdict for the Plaintiff, for $56,31.

☞ An arrangement has been made between the different congregations in our city, to hold the Sunday services during the winter at the present hours. Instead of making the morning service a quarter of an hour later, and the afternoon service a quarter of an hour earlier, as heretofore, the former will continue to commence at a quarter past ten, and the latter at a quarter before three o'clock.

ALFRED BUNN IN AMERICA.—The Philadelphia publisher, Mr. A. Hart, announces as in press, in one duodecimo volume, "Alfred Bunn in America;" "Old England and New England;" by Alfred Bunn.

We would like to see the book; and hope it will contain a portrait of the author, as he appeared on the stage of the Lyceum in this city last winter.

CITY COUNCIL.

In board of Aldermen last evening, Gas lights were asked for on the corner of Islington and Cabot sts., and on corner of Elm and Russell sts.;—granted and referred to locating committee.

Petitions for repairs on sidewalk in Vaughan st. near the depot—granted.

A representation was made to the city that a house on Dennett st. was in an unsafe condition—referred to the Fire Department.

Samuel Lord, Esq. petitioned for a sidewalk from corner of Vaughan street to land of Samuel M. Dockum, in Hanover street—granted.

Several bills were approved, among them one for 49 M. brick for school house at Gravelly Ridge, and 30 M. for reservoir on Pleasant street, at $5.25 per M.

In the Common Council no quorum was present.

MECHANIC ASSOCIATION.

At the Annual Meeting of the Association the following officers were elected for the current year—being the fifty-first of its existence:

Jonathan Barker, President;
Thomas Norton, Vice President;

☞ The alarm of fire last evening was caused by a slight burning of the Rope-walk of Messrs. Johnson & Handy, at the south end.

In connection with this matter, we must be allowed to say that the noise of the horns, which have been so plenty for a few evenings past, caused a general opinion that the alarm was false. The horns should be stopped as a nuisance.

Rapid travelling in the dark is very dangerous. Every citizen would do well to show a light at his window, at an alarm of fire on a dark night. Such an arrangement would add greatly to the safety of all, and by saving time might prevent much loss of property. Some careful old ladies always do this—and the plan is worthy general adoption.

THE TALLEST GRAFT.—A graft in the front yard of Mr. James Nowell, set last spring in a plum stock by Mr. R. Shillaber, measures now 8 ft. 6 inches on one branch, and 6 ft. on the other. They are both of good size, not slender.

ALBANY, Oct. 1.—The Southern Express Train from New York, last evening, when near Tarrytown, N. J., was stopped by the breakage of one of the forward wheels of the locomotive, which threw the forward driving wheel off the track, and bent the connecting rod like a hoop, and did considerable other damage. The train at the time was on a causeway, crossing over one of the indentations of the river, and it was a miracle that the whole was not thrown over the embankment, when a fearful loss of life would have ensued. As it was, no lives were lost, nor bones broken.

SLAVE STAMPEDE.—The slaves in Mason county are becoming migratory in their habits. Within the last fortnight, eight have made their escape to parts unknown. We presume owners in Mason are to share the fate of slave-holders in this vicinity—have their property wrested from them without remedy or redress.—Fredericksburg (Va.) Gazette, 15th ult.

DAMAGES FOR FALLING UPON AN ICY SIDEWALK.—At Hillsborough, N. H., William W. Morris obtained a verdict of $33 against the city of Manchester, for injuries caused by his falling down upon the icy sidewalks of that city and breaking his leg.

Among the property destroyed by the recent fire at Providence, R. I., was the Museum building, a large and handsome hall, the cost of which was $80,000, and a vast amount of other property. The entire loss is estimated at half a million of dollars.

DEATH OF A BOY FROM DRINKING CHERRY RUM.—The Worcester Transcript states that a few days ago, a boy about fifteen years of age, having been turned out of a mill at East Brookfield, procured a bottle of cherry rum, and in company with another boy went into the woods and drank nearly the whole of it. One of the boys succeeded in getting home, but the other when found was insensible, and died at 10 o'clock the next day.

THE CHINESE ACTORS.—Mr. G. G. Dennis of Boston, publishes the following appeal to the Merchants of New York in the papers of that city, from which the generous conduct of some of our citizens will be seen :—

The undersigned is prepared to forward immediately to their native land, free of cost, the Chinese Dramatic Company, now in New York in a state of destitution, and supported by the city. The only remuneration we claim is, that the merchants of New York contribute the expenses of fitting up berths, mattresses, and other fixtures necessary for their accommodation, the cost of which will be $450.

Of this sum, $145 has been handed me by R. B. Forbes, Esq., and others, engaged in the India trade in Boston, and $125 has been contributed by Peter Cooper, Esq., and others of New York, leaving a balance of $180, which the merchants of New York will be asked to make up.

The Commissioners of Emigration have not decided to furnish these people with the necessary provisions for the voyage, but have the matter under consideration.

It is due to myself to state that the sum of $950, raised in the city by voluntary contribution towards defraying the expenses of forwarding these people to their own country, has been retained by the proprietor of the Shakspeare Hotel, on account of their board.

G. G. DENNIS. Boston, Oct. 29, 1853.

CATAMOUNTS.—Mr. W. F. Chapman of Newmarket, shot in Lee, (N. H.,) Nov. 2, a catamount weighing nearly 200 pounds, which is now considered so great a curiosity that it is advertised for exhibition. It is said that this is the only one killed in New Hampshire for a number of years, but we believe that Mr. Downing, of Portsmouth, killed two, about a year ago, between the towns of Eliot and York. Some years ago they were abundant in the wilds of Maine and New Hampshire, and now, once in a great while, the adventurous sportsman brings to the ground, by a skilful shot, one of these animals, formerly so noted for its ferocity that its cry excited more dread in the heart of the traveller in New England forests than that of any other animal.—Boston Herald.

The catamount was exhibited in this city on Thursday afternoon. The two animals shot by Mr. Downing were not catamounts, but wild-cats; animals of the same family, but of a much smaller species.

Mr. Chapman informs us he was gunning foxes, and had but a charge of duck-shot in, when his dog treed the varmint—Bruno being careful to keep at safe distance from the tree. When the catamount caught sight of Mr. C., he crouched; but before he could spring, if such was his intention, the duck-shot lodged in his head brought him dead to the ground. He is of a tawny color, with long tail tipped with black—and very much resembles a young lioness. All who have seen him, would prefer something bigger than duck-shot to gun him with. His exact weight is 198 pounds, and his entire length seven feet.

The Cheapest and Best.

THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party bias will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

☞ All Postmasters will act as Agents, and any person sending five subscribers, with pay for a year, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

Dr. J. P. Woolley's All-Healing and Strengthening Salve.

THIS salve is a sovereign remedy for lame back, local rheumatism, pain in the side and breast, scalds, burns, freezes, fresh wounds, bruises, sprains, weakness of the joints, crick in the back, old sores, chilblains, swellings, numbness, ague in the face and breast, cracked hands, biles, corns on the feet, and occasional sores of most kinds which the human kind is subject.

This Salve is a rare and valuable combination of warm, stimulant and anodyne ingredients, and will be found far superior to any other article of the kind heretofore discovered for the above complaints. There has never appeared a medicine which possesses the penetrating and healing powers in so great a degree, while at the same time it cannot by any possibility produce injurious effects. By its action on the skin it moves all obstructions to the insensible perspiration—excites a healthy circulation of the blood—strengthens and invigorates the nerves—gives elasticity to the joints, and imparts strength to any part of the system which may have been weakened by sedentary habits or disease. A CHILD EMBRACING ITS MOTHER.

BY THOMAS HOOD.

Love thy mother, little one!
Kiss and clasp her neck again—
Hereafter she may have a son
Will kiss and clasp her neck in vain—
Love thy mother, little one!

Gaze upon her living eyes,
And mirror back her love for thee—
Hereafter thou may'st shudder sights
To meet them when they cannot see.
Gaze upon her living eyes!

Press her lips the while they glow
With love that they have often told—
Hereafter, thou may'st press, in woe,
And kiss them till thine own are cold,
Press her lips the while they glow!

Pray for her at eve and morn,
That Heaven may long the stroke defer,
For thou may'st live the hour forlorn
When thou will ask to die with her.
Pray for her at eve and morn!

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as ever. So great is the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves. Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash. E. A. STEVENS,

PATENTS.

American and Foreign Office.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS
With the U. S. Patent Office, Washington,
No. 22 State Street, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal thereof within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries: besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1852, was within a tride of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, were recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, and Wm. Brown, Boston. d&wfm je22*

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant,

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETIZER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the best manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!

The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the best family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. R. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Duncan, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.
JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant ——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of Dyspepsia.

I am respectfully yours,
VERNON ESKRIDGE, Chaplain U.S.N.

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish, as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Consumption, Coughs, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

"($00 05) On demand I promise to pay to the bearer FIVE MILLS for value received.

COL. GREY'S OX-BOWS.

Col. Grey was a wealthy down-east farmer, of fine personal appearance, and of a disposition so completely at ease with itself and all the rest of the world, that it always did one good to spend even a few hours in his company. Col. Grey was none of your coarse-grained, hard-hearted, unfeeling kind of men, but on the contrary he was made of the very finest material, full of wit, and sometimes a little poetical in his feelings. He would frequently, after being engaged for some time in the most sprightly conversation and laughter, repeat with the most perfect sang froid, the following stanza:

"A little nonsense now and then,
Is relished by the wisest men;
And if you laugh at this or that
Your sure to gain a little fat."

The Col. had a wife that a man might well be proud of, for she was at home in the kitchen and in the parlor; in the dining room and in the pantry; in the sitting room and in the dairy. Wherever her lustrous eye was seen, her soft step heard, or her sweet voice resounded, there was peace and happiness. With such a woman, a man would not be unhappy, any-way, especially a man of Colonel's disposition.—They had three children—James, a young man of some twenty-five years of age, Jane, a young lady of some twenty summers, as beautiful as a man might wish to look upon, and Sarah whose dark lustrous eye, and graceful ringlets told how much she was like her mother. These two young ladies were waited upon by two as fine young men as the town of P. could boast of; and the arrangements were quite satisfactory, not only by the persons most interested, but also by the Col. and his amiable lady. The Colonel would drop a joke and a wink, after the young men had visited them, which told them plainly that all was right.

The Colonel one day purchased a pair of ox-bows, which upon trial in wet weath- proved to be rather green, (and beaux are so sometimes,) and were with some difficulty forced into the yoke, (beaux are not always so.) One Monday morning James and his father were at the door, while Jane and Sarah were in the kitchen getting breakfast. On listening a moment, Sarah heard the sound bo. The girls were, of course, all ear, excepting a little fluttering in the region of the heart. James was heard to say, as distinctly as words could speak, "Father what is to be done with those bows! they do act strangly." Jane bit her lips, and Sarah opened her eyes so wide that she really looked frightfully. In this manner, stood in breathless silence the two young ladies, waiting to hear the reply of their father, which came in the following words: "They appear to be decidedly green, and if they act so any more I wish you to take them out, without any further ceremony; for it does not now appear, that they will ever be good for anything." As these words died away upon the ear, the warm blood came rushing to their faces, and they looked at each other in perfect astonishment. At last Sarah said, "what does father mean? I should think that he had changed his mind very suddenly!" Jane replied, "I do not know anything about it, I never was more surprised in my life—I never once dreamed but all was satisfactory." Two sadder countenances one might never wish to see, not even at the death of a friend. The Colonel and his son were finally summoned to breakfast. When seated at the table, the Colonel observed that something had gone wrong. After thinking a moment he said, "what is the matter girls? I am surprised to see you looking so sad this morning. I hope things passed off pleasantly last night. How is it, Jane, anything wrong? if so you know it may all come round right in the end. I hope neither of you got the mitten last night." Jane replied seriously, "I should think you would ask what the matter is." James remarked, "Well I should like to know what has taken place, really I am quite in the dark." Sarah replied, "I should think you too would ask what the matter is." "I should like to know father, what you have seen or heard to make you change your mind so, all of a sudden." "I am sure," said Col. Grey, "I do not know what you mean." "Yes," said James, "If you will come down to the comprehension of ordinary mortals, I shall be very glad to give any reasonable explanation that is in my power." Jane looked very seriously at James, and then asked, "Did I not hear you say, what is to be done with those beaux! they do act strangely?" "Well" said James, "what if I did?" I was speaking about the ox-bows." "Yes," said Sarah, "and father said they appeared to be decidedly green."

The truth at once flashed upon every mind; the Colonel roared and stamped as if he would split himself with laughter.—He acted upon his motto:

"And if you laugh at this or that,
Your sure to gain a little fat:"

The girls blushed anew, covered their eyes, burst into laughter, left their breakfast half eaten, and half uneaten. The serious dog even raised up his head to see what was the cause of this early excitement.

After the general excitement had subsided, tears had been wiped up, and ringlets had been readjusted, Mrs. Gray said, in her mild motherly manner, "I hope girls, hereafter, whenever you hear the word bow spoken, you will not think it means your sweet-hearts. You must not think because your minds are so much upon such things, that everybody else is thinking and talking about the same things. Your father's bows were green, and troubled him very much. I hope yours will prove better. G. W.

FRENCH ALIENS.—In the Vermont Legislature on Wednesday, a message was received from the Govrenor, transmitting a communication from the State Department of the United States, calling the attention of the Legislature to the seventh article of the Consular Convention of the 23d of February last, between the United States and France, and recommending the passage of a law to enable French aliens to hold real estate in Vermont. A similar communication was received in the Rhode Island Legislature on Tuesday. In both Legislatures the subject was referred to committees.

The Massachusetts statute on the subject of the holding of real estate by aliens was passed in 1852. It is as follows:—

Be it enacted &c.—Aliens may take, hold, convey and transmit real estate. (Approved March 5, 1852.)

This is said to be the briefest law in existence, and some lawyers are of the opinion that its meaning would not be impaired by the omission of all the verbs except "hold."—Boston Adv.

PRAYER PROMPTLY ANSWERED.—The Petersburg Democrat, tells a story of a little boy of that city, who, having recently lost his father, found himself debarred thereby from attending school as formerly, and, in the fullness of his faith, he determined to seek the wherewithal, at that footstool to which he had doubtless been taught to look for other and higher things. In the simplicity of his heart, he sat down and gravely wrote a letter to his Redeemer, thinking, perhaps, that so formal a mode of preferring his request, would meet with great attention. What was the surprise of the postmaster, Wm. N. Friend Esq., on discovering among the contents of the letter box, one morning, lately, a missive directed to "Jesus Christ." Opening it, he read the story of the boy's wants, and with a noble kindness, which we are not selfish enough to deprive our readers of the pleasure or profit of hearing he deposited in the envelope the amount required, and directed it to the young applicant.

LONG SERMONS.

"He preached, and preached, and PREACHED."

Thirty or forty years ago, the old donors and fathers of Andover Institution were all living, and most of them lived in Newburyport. Bartlett, the great money parent, Spring, the great theological director, Brown, Bannister and Dana—(the latter is still living, and long may he live!)—all lived there. Students from Andover often preached there; and when, in the lapse of years, Rev. Mr. Giles went to England on a visit, Mr. Bartlett supplied his pulpit by contract, paying the money in to the Institution, and having the work done by professors and students.

Not far from the same time, Dr. Spring failed in health and died, and during his sickness and after his decease, students abounded, not only from Andover, but from other quarters, as candidates or supplies.

Evening lectures were very common; and as some young men who thought they were great, were really small, audiences sometimes got sold.

One came, on a fine evening, in summer, when the time was short, and there were no other public meetings. The house was filled crowded. The singing, prayer, and singing again, were as usual. The text was named, and the young man went on for half an hour, very much as might have been expected; the gentlemen were pleased, and the ladies gratified. The clock struck nine, and ceased; but the sermon didn't. The watches began to come out of the gentlemen's pockets, and said, fifteen, twenty, twenty-five minutes, half past nine o'clock; but on went the sermon. The watches went back into the fobs, the men looked round, and the women fidgeted, fanned themselves, laid down their fans, took them up again, and sighed. Some hearers were sleepy, others were cross, and all were tired. It seemed as if the preacher would never leave off. He did, though, and the people got out of the house just as the clock was striking ten.

Did you like it, aunt Marcy? said a dutiful nephew. O, I don't know, was the answer, for he preached, and preached, and preached, so long, that I forgot the beginning before he got to the end. So he did, responded a clergyman who was one of the crowd; he preached us into a good frame, and then kept on till he preached us all out of it again.

The young preacher had used up his audience, and also used up himself for that place, where he was not invited to repeat his performance.

We have not thought of that long sermon for a long time, till a day or two ago, when we took up the Portland Expositor, and found it almost engrossed by long articles from the pen of John Neal, who, as our readers know full well, began, some time ago, the task of writing down the liquor law, in the new Portland daily paper called the State of Maine.—He went into the work as if he meant to do something—and he did something—but not exactly that thing. He made statements and drew inferences, which have been contradicted and controverted, on authority far better than his; and thus drew out statements from authentic sources, showing that the Maine law, though very far from being perfect, has on the whole operated favorably on the morals of the State.

In so doing, he can hardly be said to have exhausted the subject; but he exhausted all his ammunition against the act itself, long ago; he has since exhausted the State of Maine; and now he and father O'Donnell together, bid fair to exhaust the public patience. They would exhaust themselves, were it not that in a war of words, they, like the nice young preacher, seem absolutely inexhaustible.

We copied their early articles, because they had some spirit in them, and contained statements, which if true, were important. But the statements prove to be erroneous or exaggerated; their spirit has become weak, and their aim wavering.

From their last half-dozen documents, we select only one short paragraph by Mr. Neal, and that for the purpose of contradiction.

"But twenty years ago, though most of our people drank, there was much less of drunkenness, or what is called intemperance. Maine was then like the British Provinces, and somewhat like the wine countries of southern Europe, where all the people drink, even women and children, but still there was very little of drunkenness."

Here are two grand errors. Twenty years ago, most of our people, (in Maine or New Hampshire) did not drink. Then, 1833, the old pledge, to abstain from distilled spirits, but not mentioning wine or cider, had been in active operation some years, and had done nearly what it could do in New England, which was a great deal. The time when all drank, must be carried back to thirty or thirty five years from the present. And when we get there, the drunkenness was far greater than it is now, or ever has been since.

About 38 years ago, viz. 1815, when the war expenses made a direct tax necessary, Licences to sell spirits were Taxed by the United States, and in the town of Portsmouth 240 such licences were issued and paid for.—And the drunkenness and profanity, the fighting and the accidents, were in full proportion. So farewell to such statements, unless they hit the nail nearer on the head than this. We have given all their argument long ago; and cannot afford to repeat mere words, lest we tire our audience also.

CHERRY RUM.—We published in the Chronicle of yesterday, an item from the Worcester Transcript, stating that the death of a boy in East Brookfield, was recently occasioned by drinking a quantity of the above named liquor. A friend informs us in connection with this matter, that nearly all the cherry brandy, and cherry rum, at present sold, derives its cherry flavor from the addition of the essential oil of bitter almonds, which contains a large proportion of hydro-cyanic or prussic acid, one of the most deadly poisons in existence, and the same with which Dr. V. P. Coolidge perpetrated the diabolical murder of Mathews, in Maine, some years since.

EXECUTION.—Thomas Board was executed at Richmond on Tuesday, for the murder of the Barker family. When the drop fell, the rope broke, and the criminal was precipitated to the ground. The sheriff re-adjusted the cord, and the murderer jumped off the platform, causing his death in a few moments.

The poor man committed suicide after all, and the sheriff was aiding and abetting before the fact. Grave questions arise here: Was the law fulfilled? Was the Noachic requirement carried out? And was the suicide criminal? We do not propose to answer either of the questions. But we must be allowed to remark that if men are to be hung, they ought to be put out of their misery at once, and not killed by inches.

REV. JAMES GALLAGHER DEAD.—This eminent man of God died at Brunswick, Missouri, on Tuesday last, the 18th inst., of dysentery, contracted some weeks ago, during his great revival labors in Kytesville. His last days were comforted by the presence of three of his children and numerous friends. His age was just sixty-one years; and he had spent forty years of that time in preaching the Gospel in the company of such congenial spirits as Nelson, Blackburn and Hall. He was very extensively known in the west; and has a national reputation as a writer and late chaplain in Congress.—Louisville Journal.

Mr. Gallagher was well known in some parts of New England, as a revivalist.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.

There are two sides, not only to every question, but also to almost every story. We published, not long ago, one view of the revolutionary movement in the Sandwich Islands. This view was taken by the revolutionists, from their own stand-point, on the spot. Now we give another, a bird's eye view, taken from San Francisco, by a correspondent of the Christian Freeman, from one of whose letters we make the following extracts:

Of late we have had accounts from the Sandwich Islands, showing that the "fillibusters" were busy and clamorous for annexation in that quarter. Mr. Judd, and the missionaries, who have had the principal control in those Islands for some years past, are in favor of having them become a part of our Federal Union at some future time. But there appears to be another class of fast spirits who are not willing to wait. Under the plea of immediate annexation, they have been and are still using their utmost endeavors to bring odium upon Judd and his co-adjutors. They assert that "the islands are not so prosperous under their management as they would be under a different legislation;" that "the natives are diminishing in numbers, and are not so happy as before the advent of the missionaries." But this excitement looks very much like being brought about by the same class of restless spirits who are more anxious for political place and the spoils of office, than they are for the welfare of the Islanders. Mr. Judd may have erred in some things. He has no doubt been too exclusive. But it is well known that he used all his efforts to exclude intoxicating drinks from the Islands, and for a long time with success. Nor can it be doubted by the most sceptical, that the natives have become more enlightened, and their minds better fitted for the enjoyment of a greater amount of happiness, since their nominal reception of Christianity. But it is to be regretted that three dreadful diseases always follow the introduction of Christianity and intelligence among a barbarous people: rum, venereal diseases, and the small pox. These have been the very scourge of the Islanders. But for these evils the missionaries were not at fault; they have even used their best efforts to prevent them. These three curses are fast sweeping away the Digger tribes of California; but every one knows that they are introduced by a class of people who, though their skins may be white, are yet a curse to the world. All honor, be it said, to the missionaries, who are willing to leave their homes and the comforts of enlightened society, to bear the cross and the precepts of the loving Jesus to heathen lands! Would that the missionary spirit might burn with more ardor in the ranks of our own Zion! The world is groaning under bondage,—enslaved by error, passion and superstition, thick and dark as midnight; and it becomes those whose own feet are free from the shackles, to let their light shine before men, even can they free but one weary soul.

Punch, speaking of the ridiculous manner in which the ladies now wear their bonnets, says that low as their gowns are, the bonnets will soon be lower; and that the ladies, for convenience sake, will shortly be wearing them tied on the end of their dresses.

LOCAL.

Reported for the Chronicle.

COURT C. P.—ROCK. CO.—Adj. Term.

PORTSMOUTH, NOV. 4.

The jurymen were dismissed in the morning,—and the remainder of the day was spent in calling over the docket, and disposing of cases by continuance, and in many instances, by having them withdrawn to be settled elsewhere by the parties. And the term closed.

Police Court—Nov. 4.

[Before Justice Parker.]

Five boys were charged with stealing and destroying fowls and other property, belonging to A. K. Warren, at his farm near the Plains. Four of them were discharged for want of evidence to convict. One, James Capen, was convicted, and sentenced to pay a fine and costs, also three times the value of the property; in the whole $35.04. No one appearing to pay this sum, he was committed to jail.

The boy convicted is only about 14 years old: but a parcel of such truant boys, keeping out of town among the farms, have greatly annoyed the farmers most exposed, all the past season. Such boys ought to be either in school or at work, for

Satan finds some mischief still,
For idle hands to do.

And when they get it done, the prison is their reward.

☞ Rev. Mr. Willis, of the Universalist Church, will deliver the 2d lecture of his Doctrinal series, to-morrow morning; on Hell—as a translation of Gehenna and Tartarus in the New Testament.

☞ Rev. Charles Bryant, late of Eastport, will preach in the Pleasant Street Church in this city, to-morrow; as the commencement of his pastoral labors here.

MESHECH WEARE.—A correspondent, subscribing himself "a Daily Reader," notices in our paper of the 3d inst., that Meshech Weare, was born at what was then Hampton, in 1714, but that it did not state what town it is now in. He therefore informs us that it is in that part now called Seabrook, about a mile south-west from where the Monument is to be erected, and a quarter of a mile west of Dearborn Academy.

COMMON SCHOOLS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—New Hampshire has the smallest number of native citizens who cannot read or write, of any of the States. New Hampshire was the first State to start the plan for the education of all the children. In 1802, the Legislature enacted a "school district act" compelling each school district to raise and expend a certain amount in every district, so that every child in the State could have the benefit of it. It worked well. Mr. Carrigain was then Secretary of State, and he states that nearly every State in the Union sent to him for a copy of the act.

ANOTHER DEATH FROM SPIRITUAL RAPPINGS.—We learn from the Buffalo Courier, that some nine months since, a young man and woman in Evans, N. Y., upon being informed by a medium that it was the will of the "spirits" that they should become man and wife, although scarcely acquainted with each other, went before a justice and were married. The woman, whose health had already been impaired by the exciting influences of "spiritual manifestations," grew worse and finally died. During her sickness she was attended by a spiritual physician, under whose direction she would stretch herself upon the ground, face downward, remaining in that position hours at a time, for the purpose of "getting the electricity from the ground"—and go through various other equally absurd performances.

Subsequent to her death the body showed no symptoms of decay, and was kept for a week or more without burial, owing to fears which her friends entertained that she was not dead. At length her physician and spiritual friends quieted all doubts, by asserting that her spirit was too happy in the sphere where it had gone, to return to the cares and pains incident to the flesh, and she was buried.

THE WONDERS OF BABYDOM.—A correspondent, writing to the Auburn Advertiser, tells of two remarkable babies, one "eight months old, that can sing more than twenty tunes." (Nobody will doubt the truth of that statement.) The other baby, he says, is two years old, and never made the least noise, "not even a whisper." It can make a proper face to cry, but can't cause the noise. He also speaks of another in Niagara county that ain't a baby. Though it is twelve years of age, the child "never had a tooth or the sign of one."

MR. MCLANE, our new Minister to China, it is said, will take the overland route to India, and go thence to Hong Kong, where he will run his chance of getteng on board one of the ships of the Japan squadron, and of finding his way to the government of the Celestials. Having no proper ship at command, this is the only way the government can get Mr. McLane to his destination.

IMMENSE QUANTITIES of apples are being reshipped from this city for the eastern and southern markets. There were probaby 7000 or 8000 barrels on the pier and vessels, Friday afternoon—the former waiting shipment, the latter to leave with the tow in the evening. Boston, Philadelphia and New York were the principal receiving ports.—Albany Argus.

Mr. Lackland has been chosen Judge of the Criminal Court of St. Louis by a very large plurality. One of his principal opponents was Solomon Smith, the theatrical manager. Mr. Lackland is a Whig, but the question was not a party one, the principal point at issue being the preservation of peace on the Sabbath, and the putting down of disorderly places.

THE FISHERIES.—The time for cod and mackerel fishing is now about over, and the season has been a very hard one for the fishermen. The Boston Transcript is informed that the average wages earned by the men who have been voyages where the hands had a share of the profits, willl not be more than twenty-five cents a day. A few vessels have been quite fortunate, and we hear of one captain whose share will be about $1600 for the season. In the fishing districts, there is much discussion respecting plans for the future.—Many of those engaged in the business will quit it, as there is not enough profit to warrant its prosecution. The fishermen have seen with great disappointment, that they have been virtually abandoned by the General Government. Not one Massachusetts vessel in twenty on the grounds, either saw or heard from the United States sent for their protection.

The Gloucester Telegraph remarks:

You cannot make the fishermen believe, from the evidence they have had, that the government cares anything about their interests. They have about given up all hopes of any protection from their own flag, and expect to give up their whole business.

Washington, Nov. 2.—$1300,000 will probably be disbursed from the New York Sub-Treasuary to-morrow, and nearly $900,000 in payment of United States stocks bought by the Treasury Department; the balance, in ordinary business. It is estimated that over a million of stocks will be received and cancelled at the Treasury Department this week.

Baltimore, Nov. 3.—MARYLAND ELECTION.—The Democratic state ticket is elected; but the Whigs have undoubtedly carried both branches of the Legislature, thus securing the State Treasurer and United States Senator. The Whigs gain four Senators and ten Delegates. The Congressmen elect are John K. Knowlton, Whig; Jacob Sharer, Democrat; Joshua Vansant, Democrat; Henry May, Democrat; W. T. Hamilton, Democrat; A. R. Sollers, Whig.

THE BARRISTER MATCHED.—At a late quarter session, a man was brought up by a farmer and accused of stealing some ducks.—He said he should know them anywhere, and went on to describe their peculiarity.

"Why," says the counsel for the prisoner, "they can't be such a rare breed—I have some like them in my yard."

"That's very likely, sir," said the farmer, "They are not the only ducks I have had stolen lately."

E. C. Swift, of West Topsham, Vermont, went to California in debt, and has just returned with $20,000, upon the strength of which he called his creditors together, paid them off, principal and interest, and gave them a good dinner besides. Sweet be the sleep of Swift!

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE AFRICA.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The steamship Africa, which left Liverpool on the 22d ult., arrived this morning, bringing three days later intelligence from Europe, and 116 passengers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 13.—The combined fleet has not entered the Dardanelles yet, but it is momentarily expected. The fleet in our harbor which had gone into winter quarters has been ordered to prepare for sea with all possible despatch.

St. Petersburg despatches state that preparations for war are proceeding rapidly. The Emperor had returned from Berlin on the 12th.

Two hundred ships were lying at Odessa loading with grain.

Eastern affairs are unchanged.

Omar Pacha's summons to the Russians has been published. It is temperate and manly; whilst Gortschakoff's reply is short and boorish. Hostilities were expected to commence about the 25th inst., in Asia probably.

Abdel Kader has been offered a command by the Turkish government.

The Turks are voluntarily pouring immense treasures into the treasury.

The combined fleets are ordered to the Dardanelles, but are not to enter the Black Sea except on the hostile advance of the Russians.

The French Transatlantic Mail Steamship Company of Dieppe have ordered twelve screw steamers from London builders.

Statements are in circulation that Koszta is not released.

The import duty on wheat into Sardinia is reduced to fifty centimes per hectolitre.

A bread riot had occurred at Turin.

Another earthquake had been experienced in Greece.

LONDON MARKETS.—Baring Bros & Co. report rather more firmness in the London Corn trade during the week, but in Colonial and foreign produce markets great dulness prevailed, and lower prices had been accepted for many articles. Western Canal Flour 37s 6da38s6d, Ohio 39a40s.

The Sultan had granted a firman to an English company to construct a ship canal from Bassora to the Black Sea, thus superseding the mouth of the Danube.

FOR LIBERIA.—An associatton of colored men in Pennsylvania called "the Liberia enterprise Company," design to embark in a few days for Liberia, whither they go as a missionary family. The number includes a clergyman, farmer, teacher, mechanic, and merchant, and they settle about twenty miles from Monrovia, upon the St. Paul's river.—Twenty one slaves, all young and valuable, freed by the will of their late master, James Wardlaw, of Fayette County Ky., have left Lexington for Baltimore, in charge of an agent of the Colonization Society, to embark for Liberia. Their master left them ample provision for sending them, as well as means to begin life with in Liberia.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

SINGULAR DEATH.—Lemuel Pomeroy died at his residence in Copake, Columbia county, N. Y., on Sunday morning, after an illness of only eight hours, aged 50 years.—Mr. Pomeroy was formerly a resident of Pittsfield, was largely engaged in the iron business, and was well known throughout the western part of the State, and in New York. He did not seem to be afflicted with any distinct ailment, but was borne down with drowsiness, and died in a sleep from which his family were unable to awake him. He was a remarkably corpulent man, his weight being some 375 pounds.—Springfield Republican.

THE CRYSTAL PALACE.—The directors of the Crystal Palace have determined to keep the building open this winter for the exhibition of products of arts and industry. The Tribune states that the directors have been impelled to announce this on account of the pecuniary success they have steadily met with since the exhibition was complete, and by the consideration that an early close must deprive an immense number of persons of the pleasure and benefit of visiting the Palace.—From the first of September to the present day the receipts have averaged $4000 per day, while the expenses are $600. The receipts for the fortnight ending on the 22d inst., were $58,000. The Palace is to be heated with stoves.

In the court of common pleas, at Worcester Mass. on Tuesday, the jury, after an absence of sixteen hours, returned a verdict of guilty against Jasper R. Robinson, John Williams, and William Smith, as principals, and George Gardner, alias Charles Southwick, and Pliny H. Babitt, (deputy sheriff,) as accessories in the burglaries at Barre. The counsel for the prisoners moved that the verdict be set aside for the reason "that Mowry R. Thayer, one of the jurors on the panel to try the issue aforesaid, was at divers times, during said trial, drunk and intoxicated, and so unfit to discharge the duties of a juryman as aforesaid." The judge's decision was not given.

DEATH OF A MANIAC.—Agostino Rabello, the Portuguese maniac, who had been seventeen years in the Connecticut State prison, died on the 30th ult., aged about 50 years.—He was born in Madeira, and had a good education, but it is supposed had committed some crime there, for which he was sent away, and came to the United States in one of our men of war. After strolling through the country, living upon charity and sleeping in grave yards, he was taken into the family of Mr. Beardsley, of New Preston, and there murdered his only son, aged 12 years. He confessed the deed, but contended that he had a right to kill the boy because he had troddon on his toe. His insanity was undoubted.

The New York Journal of Commerce states that A. T. Stewart & Co. have not purchased the Metropolitan Hotel, for the purpose of removing their fashionable dry goods store there, for which the building is of course quite unfit, but for an investment. The price paid was $550,000. The present occupants, the brothers Leland, have already acquired an ample fortune from the income of the establishment, though it has only been open about a year. Their lease has several years yet to run.

The Cheapest and Best.

THE approach of another Winter, with its usual leisure for Farmers and others, induces the publishers again to call attention to the

WEEKLY CHRONICLE,

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

At $1 per Annum, in advance.

Being published in connection with the DAILY MORNING CHRONICLE, we are enabled to offer a record of news more thorough than Weeklies generally; and being entirely independent of the "arbitrary sway" of any and all parties and sects, our record of passing events we trust is clear and impartial.

The coming year seems big with events of great political interest, and a paper having no party ties will be found interesting as a chronicle of the doings of ALL parties.

LOCAL MATTERS

Have a prominent place in the Weekly Chronicle, so that natives of Portsmouth resident at home or abroad, will here find mention of all matters of interest in this vicinity.

The Weekly Chronicle is of medium size, printed on good paper, and contains but few advertisements—giving twenty columns of news and miscellaneous reading each week, at the low price of one dollar a year.

Dr. J. P. Woolley's All-Healing and Strengthening Salve.

THIS salve is a sovereign remedy for lame back, local rheumatism, pain in the side and breast, scalds, burns, freezes, fresh wounds, bruises, sprains, weakness in the joints, crick in the back, old sores, chilblains, swellings, numbness, ague in the face and breast, cracked hands, biles, corns on the feet, and occasional sores of most kinds which the human kind is subject.

This Salve is a rare and valuable combination of warm, stimulant and anodyne ingredients, and will be found far superior to any other article of the kind heretofore discovered for the above complaints. There has never appeared a medicine which possesses the penetrating and healing power in so great a degree, while at the same time it cannot by any possibility produce injurious effects. By its action on the skin it moves all obstructions to the insensible perspiration—excites a healthy circulation of the blood—strengthens and invigorates the nerves—gives elasticity to the joints, and imparts strength to any part of the system which may have been weakened by sedentary habits or disease. KEEP QUIET.—Last night only, I was about to make a little difficulty—and as Fred says, difficulties are the worst things people can make, they so improve with practice—I was about to object to something, when Fred suddenly desired me to watch and learn of Prince, the landlady's dog that had come into the room. The evening sky had been overcast; the dog lay at my feet; suddenly the sun shone, and a little patch of sunlight brightened the corner of the carpet. Immediately Prince got up and with a wise look, trotted to the bright spot and laid himself in it. "There's philosophy" said Fred, "only one patch of sunlight in the place, and the wise, sagacious dog, walks out of the shadow and rolls himself round in the brightness. "My dear Lotty," said Fred, "there's a lesson for folks who love to make difficulties.—Don't be proud in your humanity—take no arrogance to yourself because of woman's wisdom—but be instructed even by a lap-dog. Let the teaching of Prince, my beloved one, be not cast away upon you, so that wherever there shall shine one patch of sunlight, there make it out, and with all your best enjoy it." The easiest of all trades is to make difficulties."—Our Honeymoon.—Punch.

The members of the Peace Society, in England, which numbers in its ranks many distinguished men, is laboring to check the strong current of hostile feeling which has manifested itself in England, and threatened to force the government into a war with Russia. They may do much to restrain this blind, popular impulse, at the present time.—Mr. Bright, one of the leaders of the English Liberals, declares in a public letter, I can conceive nothing more unwise than to endeavor to excite public opinion to drive the government into a war with Russia to defend Turkey. If such a war should be undertaken, I believe our children and posterity will judge us precisely as we judge those who involved this country in war with the American colonies and with France—with this difference only, that we shall be held to be much more guilty. War will not save Turkey, if peace cannot save her; but war will brutalize our people, increase our taxes, destroy our industry, and postpone the promised parliamentary reform, it may be, for many years.

Bay State Stoves.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has for sale all sizes of this favorite Stove. Having sold them in this city for five years past, they have been thoroughly tested with wood and coal, and are found perfect in every respect.

—Those put in operation four and five years since have had no repairs made upon them, and are to all appearance as good as new. As a proof of the popularity of these Stoves, that many imitations of it are put into the market, such as the Granite State, Empire State, &c.; but none of them are equal to it in weight or quality of castings, cooking facilities, or economy of fuel.

To all who are in want of a GOOD Cooking Stove, we would say—buy a BAY STATE, and you are sure to get THE BEST STOVE IN THE WORLD.

The subscriber has for sale, also, a variety of other Cook Stoves, Cooking Ranges, Parlor Grates, Office and Parlor Stoves, Funnel, &c. for sale low for cash.

PROF. ALEX. C. BARRY'S
Tricopherous, or Medicated Compound.

FOR beautifying, curling, preserving, restoring and strengthening the Hair, relieving diseases of the Skin, curing Rheumatic Pains and healing external wounds. Bounded by no geographical lines, the reputation of Barry's Tricopherous pervades the Union. The sales of the article of late years have increased in a ratio that almost exceeds belief. Prof. Barry, after a careful examination of his sales book, finds that the number of bottles delivered to order, in quantities of from half a gross upward, during the year 1853, was within a trifle of 950,000.

It is unnecessary to present at length the evidences of the wonderful properties of the Tricopherous when the public have furnished such an endorsement as this. The cheapness of the article, and the explanations given of its chemical action upon the hair, the scalp, and in all cases of superficial irritation, first recommended it to the attention of the people. This was all that the inventor desired. Every bottle advertised itself.—The effects of the fluid exceeded expectation. It acted like a charm. The ladies would not be without it. Country dealers in every section of the United States found they must have it; and thus was built up a wholesale trade of an extent hitherto unheard of as regards articles of this kind.—The highest point has not yet been reached, and it is believed that the sales this year will be a million and a half of bottles.

Depot: nd manufactory, No. 137 Broadway, New York. Retail price 25 cents a large bottle.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity, and by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the United States, and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c., and by Weeks & Potter, Brewers, Stevens & Cushing, Brown & Brown, Boston. d&wóm ₁e22

DR. CONINE'S
SYRUP OF GINSENG & MALVA.
The Great Chinese Remedy.

THIS Medicine depends more upon its own virtues and actual merit than any other ever before offered to the public.

The recipe is from Dr. CONINE, a gentleman who travelled many years in China, and in the islands of that vicinity where this compound is the potent and effectual remedy for the numerous diseases arising from a disordered or debilitated stomach, and

Affections of the Lungs.

But what will particularly attract attention is its astonishing

DISSOLVENT POWER.

By which it at once removes ALL PHLEGM or extraneous matter from the Throat, Stomach or Lungs. It is therefore

Anti-Expectorant.

And from attentions of trial here, it is now offered as NATURE'S KINDEST REMEDY for the removal of Consumption, Whooping Cough, and all Coughs, by precipitating the Phlegm, instead of creating irritation by expectoration.

It is AROMATIC, and increases the general warmth, possessing the exhilarating qualities of the Tea Plant, which is one great cause of its universal popularity in all India beyond the Ganges, where as an

APPETISER

It probably has no equal in the Vegetable Kingdom

AS A DYSPEPTIC REMEDY, IT IS UNEQUALLED.

Its natural, genial warmth keeps the digestive powers ever in proper tone, soothing all irritation of the nerves, &c.

It will prove a more pleasant, safe and effectual Tonic than any Sarsaparilla or other boasted tonic remedy, and even nutritious, as well as exceedingly palatable. It will continue to be prepared in the manner—no expense being spared—and in quart bottles.

Besides the numberless testimonials which we are receiving daily, of the good effect of the above medicine, we are allowed to refer to several physicians, who are now using the Syrup of Ginseng and Malva with great success.

DR. HAMPTON'S
VEGETABLE TINCTURE!
The Great Restorative and Invigorator of the System.

THIS article, which has made so many wonderful cures, was discovered by DR. JESSE HAMPTON, of Louisville, Ky., now in fine health in the 79th year of his age, and is acknowledged by those who have used it to be the BEST family medicine in use, and is WARRANTED FREE FROM ALL MINERAL SUBSTANCES. By its mild action on the STOMACH, LIVER and KIDNEYS, it will cure the diseases of those organs, with all chronic complaints, as

Dyspepsy, Cough, Asthma, Bronchial & Lung Affections, Pains in the Back, Side and Breast, Consumption, Scrofula, Fits, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Fistula, Fits, Bowel Complaint, Worms, Nervous Debility,

With all Diseases arising from Impure Blood.

As a FEMALE MEDICINE it has no equal! It will change the Complexion from a pallid to a blooming one.

Wherever introduced its success is unbounded. It has certificates from Hon. Henry Clay, Hon. R. M. Johnson, Vice President of the United States; Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore; the Spanish Consul; Judge Davis; Lund Washington; from a Chaplain of the U. S. Navy; from the State Department, Washington; from the brother of the Physician to the Emperor of France, who was cured by it after all other remedies had failed; and from hundreds of others, making up an amount of Testimony never before given to any other discovery of Medicine. A trial of it will convince the most skeptical.

We invite the public to call and get Pamphlets and see certificates of Cures. Read the following certificates of undoubted testimony:

From Hon. John H. T. Jerome, Mayor of the City of Baltimore.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, Baltimore, Aug. 23, 1852.

I take great pleasure in stating, that I have examined the names of those who have signed certificates respecting Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, and among them I recognize gentlemen of the first respectability, viz: Jos. K. Stapleton, William A. Schaffer, G. Dunn, and others. I also cheerfully testify to the high standing of the house of Messrs Mortimer & Mowbray, who, for the past twenty years, have enjoyed the entire confidence and esteem both of our merchants and citizens generally.
JNO. H. T. JEROME.

A Voice from the Birth-place of Christopher Columbus, the Discoverer of America.

U. S. SHIP CUMBERLAND,
Genoa, Sardinia, January 17, 1853.

Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray—Gentlemen: The first Lieutenant of this ship, who has been suffering many years from the Dyspepsia, and who has been nearly restored to his usual health by the use of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," desires you to send him one dozen bottles of that medicine.

Lieutenant——, of the U. S. Navy, now on board this ship, also wishes you to send him one dozen of "Hampton's Vegetable Tincture," by the store ship which leaves the United States in February or March, for Spezzia.

The Tincture you sent me was received in good order, and I take pleasure in informing you that it has been used with great success by several of our officers in cases of DYSPEPSIA.

I remain, respectfully yours,

"A Splendid Remedy."

THE GREAT REMEDY is at last discovered. Consumption can be cured!! and Coughs and Colds, the parents of that fell disease that so often brings woe to the homes of our land, vanish as if by magic, before this SOVEREIGN REMEDY. This is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a certain cure for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma and Consumption, and will in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial, but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted CAN BE DONE!

N. B.—BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS, and observe the following Promissory Note, with the fac simile signature of the proprietor, on every genuine box:

AARON BURR AND GRATTAN.

We extract from Judge Barrington's "Personal Sketches of Ireland Fifty Years Ago" the following interesting account of an interview between Randolph and Burr and the Irish orator, Grattan:

Col. Burr, who had been Vice-President of America, and probably would have been the next president, but for his unfortunate duel with Gen. Hamilton, came over to England, and was made known to me by Mr. Randolph of South Carolina, with whom I was very intimate. He requested that I would introduce him to Mr. Grattan, whom he was excessively anxious to see. Col. Burr was not a man of very prepossessing appearance—rough featured, and neither dressy nor polished, but a well informed, sensible man; and though not particularly agreeable, yet an instructive companion.

People in general form extravagant anticipations regarding eminent persons. The idea of a great orator and an Irish chief carried with it, naturally enough, corresponding notions of physical elegance, vigor and dignity. Such was Col. Burr's mistake, I believe, about Mr. Grattan, and I took care not to undeceive him.

We went to my friend's house, who was to leave London the next day. I announced that Col. Burr, from America, Mr. Randolph and myself wished to pay our respects, and the servant informed us that his master would receive us in a short time, but was at that moment much occupied on business of consequence. Burr's expectations were all on the alert. Randolph also was very anxious to be presented to the great Grattan, and both were impatient for the entrance of this Demosthenes. At length the door opened, and in hopped a small, bent figure, meagre, yellow, and ordinary; one slipper and one shoe; his breeches knees loose; his cravat hanging down; his shirt and coat sleeves tucked up high, and an old hat upon his head.

This apparition saluted the strangers very courteously, asked, without an introduction, how long they had been in England, and immediately proceeded to make inquiries about the late Gen. Washington and the Revolutionary war. My companions looked at each other; their replies were costive, and they seemed quite impatient to see Mr. Grattan. I could scarcely contain myself, but determined to let my eccentric countryman take his own course, who appeared quite delighted to see his visitors, and was the most inquisitive person in the world. Randolph was far the tallest and most dignified looking man of the two, gray haired and well dressed. Grattan, therefore, of course, took him for the Vice-President and addressed him accordingly. Randolph at length begged to know if they could shortly have the honor of seeing Mr. Grattan. Upon which our host, not doubting but that it was James for whom they inquired, said he believed he had that moment wandered out somewhere to amuse himself.

This completely disconcerted the Americans, and they were about to make their bow and their exit, when I thought it time to explain; and, taking Col. Burr and Mr. Randolph respectively by the hand, introduced them to Right Hon. Henry Grattan.

I never saw people stare so, or so much embarrassed. Grattan himself, now perceiving the cause, heartily joined in my merriment. He pulled down his shirt sleeves, pulled up his stockings, and in his own irresistable way, apologized for the outre figure he cut, assuring them that he had totally overlooked it in his anxiety not to keep them waiting; that he was returning to Ireland next morning, had been busily engaged packing up his books and papers, in a closet full of dust and cobwebs! This incident rendered the interview more interesting. The Americans were charmed with their reception, and after a protracted visit, retired highly gratified, while Grattan returned again to his books and cobwebs.

JULLIEN AND THE YORKSHIREMAN.

It was in the middle of July, 1853, when all London was stirred by the grand ovation which had just come off in honor of the "Lion Concert giver," that a tall, raw-boned man might have been seen walking down one of the narrow streets of that foggy metropolis, alternately humming to himself little snatches of melody, and stopping to look at the signs over the store doors. Pretty soon he came to the music store of Cramer, Beal & Chapple, and strode heavily in, the large nails in the bottom of his shoes making music "in that part of the town."

"Hallo, mun!" said he in the broad Yorkshire dialect, to a tradesman behind the counter, who was intently examining a new and beautiful engraving that was designed as a frontispiece to Jullien's last polka, "Con ye tell me if Measther Jullien's in?"

"No, he is not, Sir. He left about half an hour since," said Mr. Chapple, (for he was the one addressed;) and as he replied, he raised his eyes from the design, and scanned the rough-looking person who stood before him.—He was coarsely clad, a man of brawny limb, with a complexion of that peculiar ashy color, slightly begrimed with coal, which indicated that he had toiled for years beyond the light and warmth of the sun.

"Wull 'ee be in again to-day?" inquired the Yorkshireman.

"No, he will not—not before to-morrow.—Did you wish to see him?"

"Wull, ya'as, aw wood loike to," said he hesitatingly. "They talk summat about ees gooin, to America," he continued.

"Yes, he sails next week; but how does that interest you?" said Mr. Chapple, who began to be curious about the motive that could prompt such a rough-looking customer to see the man of immaculate white kids and irreproachable vest.

"I'd loike to ga ower wi' um," was the reply.

"Like to go over to America with him!—Pray what could you do for him?" said Mr. Chapple, with a expression as near contempt as was consistent with good breeding.

"Wull, aw think aw cood do 'um a good deal o' good," said he with a knowing twinkle of the eye.

"How? You certainly do not look like a musician."

"Wull, as to looks, thot's nowthere here nor there, but aw blaw t' ophicleide sum—they say at whoam, betther thon ony mun in t' county."

"Ah, indeed! What's your business?"

"Aw works in the cooal moine."

"Yes; well, how much do you earn a week?"

"Aboot saxteen shillin'. And then, too, aw belong to a brass bond, and we make summat by gi'en yan, or two concerts a week."

"I think, sir, that Mr. Jullien has engaged all the help he wants, and will not require your services; and the music publisher, having satisfied his curiosity, turned away to his business, as if he had already spent too much time to little purpose.

The Yorkshireman awkwardly scratched his head, and stood for a moment, as if undecided what to do, but at length took a few steps towards the end of the counter, and peering over a pile of sheet music, behind which Mr. Chapple had taken refuge, said to him:

"Perhaps ye moight jus' loike to hear me play a bit. 'Gin ye'll gi' me an instrument, aw'll show you what aw con do."

The request was so good-naturedly made that Mr. Chapple could hardly refuse; so he led him up stairs, and gave him an old ophicleide, which, after a moment's inspection, he threw down, jocosely exclaiming:

"Gang awa' wi' yer owd brass! Coom, mun, gi'e us a good un."

Chapple obligingly complied. The Yorkshireman took the piece of shining metal in his huge hands, that were hardened, cracked, and blackened with toil, and raising it to his lips, played a legato air with such a purity of tone and beauty of expression, that it was hard to tell which emotion was strongest in the mind of the listener, surprise, or delight. "But all this may be by rote," thought Mr. Chapple. "Here, let me hear you play that," said he, as he placed before him a new and very difficult solo for his ophicleide. The Yorkshireman glanced it once through, and then astounded his listener by executing it with marvelous accuracy, capping the climax by improvising a florid and appropriate cadenza.

"Zounds!" said Chapple. "Monsieur Jullian must hear you. Call to-morrow noon, and he'll be here."

"Ye thought aw di' n't play ony, eh?" said the performer, as he strode out of the room; and he gave vent to a broad guffaw as he tramped down stairs.

The next day, at the appointed hour, Jullien, with his publisher and the Yorkshire ophicleidist, was in the same upper room. Jullien, after hearing him play, was in extacies, which he endeavored to express in half a dozen languages.

"Bravo!" he shouted, rubbing his hands. "Capital! Mon Diev, c'est extraordinare.—Engage him to go out with us, Mr. Chapple, and give him five pounds a week.

"Five pounds a week!" exclaimed Mr. Chapple. "Why, he'll be glad to go for one quarter of the money."

"Never mind that," said Jullien, "never mind that—hire him, and give him five pounds ($25) a week. He's worth it!"

On the northeast side of the orchestra, gentle reader, away back upon the highest platform, you will see, if you attend Jullien's concerts at Castle Garden, (as of course you will) this same raw-boned Yorkshireman. He is better clad now, his countenance wears a healthier hue; and, our word for it, you will hear no provincial brogue in the tones of his ophicleide.—New York Musical Review.

CATHOLIC CHILDREN.

We have received from West Amesbury, South Newmarket, Randolph, and other places, letters complaining of sectarian doings in the common schools. In some, the children are forced to read the Protestant version of the Bible. In others, they are compelled to learn and to repeat sectarian prayers.—We do not know whether the law is the same in New Hampshire as here, respecting the schools, but we fancy it is. Our advice is this. Send your children to the school with the Catholic Bible, or New Testament. The Testament is generally sufficient. Forbid them to read from the Protestant translation. Forbid them also to recite sectarian prayers. For the teachers have no right, in law, to introduce anything sectarian into the schools. If they then punish your children, to compel them to conform to sectarian practices, have recourse to law at once. Consult an experienced lawyer, and spare no pains to procure redress.—Pilot.

The public attention is invited to the above advice, which is calculated, under the appearance of religion and conscience, to introduce sectarian distinctions, ill will, quarrels, and litigation, into every school district.

The school laws of New Hampshire, however, are such as make the whole matter quite easy and simple. A committee chosen by the people, prescribe the books to be used; and parents and teachers can make them neither more nor less. If pupils will not conform to the rules they can readily be expelled.—There would be no complaint whatever, of protestant bibles or sectarian prayers, were it not for meddling priests, who see their craft in danger.

Practically, there is no difficulty; and some of the statements in the quotation are almost incredible. For example, the "sectarian prayers." We have visited common schools in at least three New England States, and never heard a prayer recited by scholars at all;—it must be uncommon. Possibly the Lord's Prayer may be recited or offered in unison, in some places, and perhaps this may be meant.

There is nothing in the laws or Constitution of this State, by which the common English version of the Bible can be shut out of our schools as sectarian. Litigation on such grounds, would merely empty the laborer's purse into the lawyer's pocket.

The differences between the two versions, though numerous, are by no means so important as some have pretended. An intelligent Catholic said to us not long ago, "Indeed there's not much difference."

We should have no objection whatever, to the reading of the Douay bible in a common school or a church;—but we have, and have often expressed, our strong objections to the meddlesome patrons of ignorance and bigotry, who would narrow down education into a system of exclusiveness, and strain all knowledge for the people through the brain of a priest.

CUBA.—A telegraphic despatch from Washington states that Mr. Crampton, the British Minister, had a long interview with President Pierce on Tuesday, in which he positively denied that there was any truth in the ridiculous rumors that the British government was engaged in any scheme to substitute the apprenticeship system for slavery in Cuba.

There are many people, (says the Boston Courier,) who believe that the Island of Cuba belongs to the circle which is comprehended in the United States of North America, and that safety and mercantile convenience require that Cuba should be annexed to the United States. They will await the time, but the time will come, and the annexation will be made honestly and honorably.

There are some people who seem to believe that the Sandwich Islands also fall within the same circle. If so, we presume the centre is at Washington and the circumferential boundary is at the ends of the earth, or a trifle beyond.

It seems however, in all seriousness, that there is a den of liars at Washington, who concoct and send over the wires a great variety of wholesale telegraphic falsehoods.—The motive for the last batch of humbugs about Cuba, might be to give some aid and comfort to fillibusters; the only effect has been, so far as we have observed, to agitate the subject of slavery, and set a certain lot of papers to saving the Union; which honorable employment becomes flat and insipid when no dangers are in sight. Everything about the Union, outside Washington and the government there, was calm enough,—and so the Anglo-Cuban bugbear was got up to frighten the babies and wake up the sleepy patriots.

☞ The Illustrated Magazine of Art, for November, 1853, is received from Frederick Parker, 25 Washington street, Boston. It contains 32 illustrative wood engravings, descriptive, landscape, moral, humorous, and caricature; with letter press enough to make the whole an interesting study. J. P. Morse, Agent.

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S

SONS AND DAUGHTERS.—Speaking of the late festival of the Sons of New Hampshire in Boston, the Courier says:

"The only regret was that the daughters of New Hampshire could not mingle with their fathers and brothers upon the occasion, and when the latter meet again, they may take care to rectify this apparently important omission, if that can be done. But at the same time it should be observed, that the New Hampshire celebration is essentially masculine in its character. It is a meeting of brothers, and we opine that when the next celebration shall take place—whether it be three years, five years or ten years time, the "Sons" will be content to remember their mothers and sisters in toast and speech, and to do honor to their virtues and excellencies, with all their hearts—but they will do all this in the absence of those whom they so much love, cherish and respect."

Very likely, this is all true; but we would hardly give a copper to be part of an exclusive "gander party," as Mr. Kent calls it in his Poem. (See below.)

A town-meeting is horrible, if it does not come to an end, so that the evening may be spent in mixed company; and trainings and masculine processions, if there were no feminine spectators, would become stale, flat, and about as interesting as the travel of an ox-team engaging in carting gravel on the highway. The sons may pretend to a good time; but Eden was only an elegant specimen of Bachelor's Hall, until Eve came. Then it was Paradise.

At the late gathering of the Sons of New-Hampshire in Boston, the following occasional poem was read by its author, Geo. Kent, Esq., formerly of Concord, N. H.

THE GRANITE STATE GATHERING FOR 1853.

Sons of the Granite border!
Land rich in song and story—
Again we meet, as brothers greet,
Though shorn in part of glory.
Spirits of Webster, Woodbury, Bells,
Miller, M'Neil have fled—
And Appleton, and Dearborn too,
Are numbered with the dead.

Bartlett and Livermore have gone—
Twitchell and Atherton—
But, in their place, a goodly race
Of "Sons" are pressing on.
Though time has thinn'd her social band,
And caus'd dear ties to sever—
As here we meet, we trusting greet
Our fatherland forever!

With such a glorious array
Of brothers, tried and true,
We'll not despair, though cankering care
Our ranks, in years, pass through.
Though death may stretch his icy hand,
And aged lips seal dumb,
With fresh recruits our Granite band
Yet echoes, "still they come!"

They come from farthest borders,
From distant Indian streams,
From Dixville Notch, Chocorua's peak,
Of fabled tale and dream;—
From the deep gorge the 'Mount of Clouds'
O'ershadows, surely, "some"—
From Saco's vale, and Conway's dale,
The cry is, "Still they come!"

From bold Moosehillock's fertile base—
Connecticut's rich vales—
And Baker's stream, the quondam theme
Of warlike Indian tales;
From foot of Cardigan, and Squam—
Franconia's icy home—
And "Lake of the Great Spirit's smile,"
The cry is, "still they come!"

From Kearsarge, veil'd in misty form,
From Mascomy's deep stream,
Beyond Blackwater where to live
Once seem'd an idle dream;
From Pem'gewassets's rapid flow,
And Merrimack's busy hum,
From Contoocook and Penacook,
The cry is, "still they come!"

From grand Monadnock's broad domain,
Ashuelot's dotted vales,
Than which no fairer clime partakes
The healthy mountain gales;
From Sugar River's sweet embrace,
And Nashua's pleasant home,
From Soucook, Suncook, Sunapee,
The cry is "still they come!"

From old Piscataqua's open mouth,
Swallowing all "Oyster Bay,"
From 'Christian Shore,' and ocean's roar,
They cannot keep away.
From Lamprey's stream, it is no dream,
We hear the rushing hum,
From "Clamshell Corner," all about,
The cry is, "Still they come!"

Well let them come!—we've cheers enough,
Or seats in yankee fashion—
Nor fear the good things of the land
At once to make a dash on.
Ours is a "gander party," true,
Just now, for want of room—
The fair will better fare when next
Our cry is, "Lo they come!"

EDWARD BEECHER'S THEOLOGY.—The "Conflict of Ages" is not yet ended. Nor is the author of the book bearing this title quite annihilated. So far from it, the Boston papers of Saturday announced that he would lecture on Sunday forenoon, in the Salem street Church, on the Character of the God of the Bible, defended against Gnostic and modern Infidel assaults.

Every man should remember that he was not born for himself, but for the world, and should see to it, that the world is a little better than it would have been without his existence.

EXHIBITION OF "LIBERAL PRINCIPLES."—At the late election of Cumberland county, Pa., it is said a band of men appeared with bottles slung around their necks, as a manifestation of their anti-prohibition feelings.

When a man is so unfortunate as to become involved in difficulty, he will then learn who his real friends are.

LOCAL.

THE TWO LYCEUMS.

The NEW LYCEUM, at the Temple, is to commence its operations on Tuesday evening next. The spacious room has been refitted, is lighted with gas, and is to be warmed by a furnace. It is eligible every way, for a large audience. Such an audience is richly deserved by the array of eloquent orators whose names appear in the prospectus of the New Lyceum. At the head of the list stands the Rev. Thomas Starr King, who is to deliver the first lecture, and who will doubtless give his hearers an intellectual treat.

The CITY LYCEUM, at the Cameneum, the old classic ground of lyceums, will be opened on Thursday evening, with a lecture on law and lawyers, by M. Hale Smith, Esq., a lively writer and fluent speaker, who takes the place, for that evening, which was to have been occupied by Dr. Burroughs. The latter gentleman however, is to lecture on a subsequent evening; and nearly all the clergymen of this city are also among the lecturers.

This house also has been essentially improved in appearance, and although much smaller than the other, will yet contain, as it often has done, a numerous and fashionable audience.

The employment of half the lecturers from among our own clergy, and the cheapness of the ladies' tickets, are distinctive features in the City Lyceum.

In the New Lyceum, there are no residents announced as lecturers.

Eminent and well known lecturers, are employed in both.—But the entire absence in both of home lecturers from any but the clerical profession, is indeed remarkable. In the Portsmouth Forensic Society, and so extending into several years of the Portsmouth Lyceum, we had, aside from clergymen, such an array of lecturers as Andrew Halliburton, N. A. Haven, jr., Judge Woodbury, Ichabod Bartlett, Samuel E. Cones, Dr. C. W. Cheever, C. W. Cutter, Samuel P. Long, Wm. H. Y. Hackett and Charles W. Brewster. Five of these are dead and two have removed: but Have we raised no young talent to take their places? and, Can any one tell why those among us who used to speak are silent now?

We did not mean, however, to write an essay—but rather to commend both lyceums as worthy of attention and support.

GENERAL WASHINGTON AT CHURCH.—At a late meeting of the general Convention of Unitarians, in Worcester Mass., there was a discussion of the question whether liturgical forms of worship were profitable or desirable in churches. In the course of this discussion, HON. MR. HUBBARD, of Charlestown, N. H, paid a tribute to his pastor, the Rev. Mr. Crosby, who for forty years had preached sound doctrine and enforced his preaching by his pure and upright life. He then dwelt on the value of public worship and the readiness of the laity to sustain it. He felt, however, the want of some form, and assented to the views expressed in the essay read, most heartily. He thought the worship of home was produced by the worship of the church. In the devotional exercises we could not follow the minister, because we knew not what he was going to say. He spoke of the influence upon himself of the Lord's Prayer and Old Hundred. He referred to the obvious advantages of a liturgy to the deaf. Mr. H. closed with a pertinent anecdote to illustrate the want of just ideas connected with the services of the sanctuary. When Washington was in Portsmouth he attended in the morning the Rev. Dr. Buckminster's church and in the afternoon the Episcopal. Dr. B. on rising in the afternoon to speak almost to empty walls, remarked, that if his people thought as much of worshipping the Saviour of the world, as they did of worshipping the Saviour of his country, he should not be as he was, nearly without hearers.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.—A little girl, daughter of the late Wm. P. Edgerly of Dover, aged about 5 years, was burned to death, on Tuesday morning last. The mother had left the room for a few moments only, and it is supposed the little child lighted a newspaper by the stove fire, from which her clothes became ignited, when her screams brought assistance. Water was thrown upon her, and her body immediately wrapped in a quilt, by which means the fire was extinguished, but not until she was horribly burned. The little sufferer lingered through the day, when at night death relieved her from her pains.

A NEW WHEEL BARROW has been invented. Do not laugh, for it is a good invention. It is very wonderful it has not been thought of before. The wheel is placed under the centre, so that none of the weight of the load rests upon the hands. A man can wheel twice the usual weight.—N. Y. Tribune.

A young girl, 16 years of age, named Basset, as the cars on the Saxonville branch of the Worcester Railroad, neared the depot at S. on Tuesday evening, jumped off and her right foot passed under the wheels and was terribly mangled. It was amputated Wednesday morning.

BOY SHOT.—On Thursday in Lowell, a boy of the name of John Adams, about fifteen years of age, belonging on High street, was badly shot in the leg, through the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of a comrade, while they were out shooting.—Herald.

A colored preacher has been denouncing Abolitionism in Preble county, Ohio. He says the agitators have put back human emancipation one hundred years, and tightened the chain of the slave.

Concerning the election of democratic State officers by the Vermont legislature, a correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune, writing from Montpelier, says:—

"This is certain—and every body here knows it—if the whigs had, to a man, been true to their party and its candidates, we could easily have elected most of them, and those who would have replaced the residue are as good whigs as the best of us. These are the figures—whigs in the house, 93; in the senate, 17; total, 110. Freesoil whigs who would have gone with us if their votes would have availed, 14—making a grand total of 124, or three more than half of the members of both houses. There were 18 whig freesoilers ready to go with us, at first; that is, before they were bought off by promises of office."

SILVER MINING IN PENNSYLVANIA.—An ancient silver mine in Pequea Valley, Lancaster Co., Pa., has recently been re-opened under the superintendence of Mr. E. Bowen. The mine is one which is said to have once been worked by English capitalists, who, on the breaking out of the Revolutionary war, buried their tools, and closed up the shafts and tunnels; and in this condition it remained only as a traditional fable, until on the discovery of a few traces of the old works, the present operations were commenced. One tunnel one hundred yards in length has been cleared out, and assays of the ore show that it contains about $500 to the ton, and yields 80 per cent of lead.

FLIGHT OF A NUN.—Great sensation has been caused in Galicia in Spain, by the flight of a nun from a convent at Compostella. A nun in the Carmelite convent at that place, let herself down, recently, from her cell, by means of towels and napkins sewed together, and formed into a cord. The moment the escape was known, a search was made after her, both by the police and the gend'armerie, but no trace of her could be discovered, and it is supposed that she succeeded in reaching Corunna, and in embarking on board a foreign vessel. She is only twenty-two years of age, belongs to one of the most distinguished families of Galicia, and is remarkable for beauty and talents.

GONE TO A CONVENT.—A letter to the Washington Star says: "Two young ladies of Georgetown, one a daughter of Dr. Bohrer, and the other of W. H. Edes, left on Tuesday of last week to visit some friends in Rockville. Miss Bohrer, instead of stopping at Rockville, continued on to Frederick City, and there entered the Roman Catholic Convent. Her friends, it is said, were greatly distressed on hearing the news.

ARREST.—Yankee Sullivan was brought before Judge Edmonds, in New York, last Friday, on a writ of habeus corpus, he having been arrested the day before for the purpose of being surrendered to the authorities of Massachusetts. The Court adjourned the case till Saturday, in order to allow the District Attorney time to consider the objections brought by Sullivan's counsel to his removal. Sullivan remains in custody of the Sheriff.
